The Toronto Mail says:—In the tie which was played at Lindsay on Tuesday to decide the championship of the North-Eastern District between Orillia and Peterborough the game was played under protest, Peterborough protesting Robbins, of the Orillia team, who was suspended from the C.L.A. for playing in the Bradford-Barrie match; also Kean, of Lindsay, and Hewitt, of Bright. Orillia won 2 to 1, although Peterborough expects to have the game declared in their favour by the C. L. A. on account of those men playing.

Personal.

Mr. R. H. Henderson leaves for Toronto in the morning. His position in the C.P.R. freight office will be filled by Mr. D. J. McIntyre.

Mr. George G. Gladman, who has been in town for a few weeks past, preparing to remove to Parry Harbor, left the town for good this morning on the 8.20 G.T.R. express. Mrs. Gladman and family will follow him in about a week.

The congregation of St. Luke's church, and indeed the whole community, will learn with regret that Rev. W. C. Bradshaw has been ordered by his physician to withdraw from active duties during the winter and seek a milder clime, where it is hoped his failing health will be restored. For several weeks past, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw has been suffering from a pulmonary complaint, and it is thought a winter in California will greatly benefit him. As soon as arrangements can be made, probably in two or three weeks, he will leave for the Golden state.

News Nuggets.

—The first regular monthly meeting of the Burns Club takes place this evening in the hall over Welsh's confectionery store.

—J. S. Murphy and part of his "Kerry Gow" company are stopping at the Grand Central hotel, the remainder are at the C.P.R. hotel.

—An Ottawa despatch last night says:—The Department of Justice has been asked to make a requisition for the surrender of John Greenfield, now in Buffalo and wanted in Peterborough for attempted murder.

When Cheek Meets Cheek.

Yesterday afternoon a salesman in a George street dry goods shop, who is somewhat of a "masher," was showing a young lady shopper a piece of terra cotta silk. She was a brunette, and he, holding up the fabric beside the dusky glow of her face, exclaimed, "That's just like your blooming cheek," and, seeing how pleased she was, he added, "That pretty compliment's worth a kiss, —" and the reply came, "And that's just like your 'blooming cheek,'" which latter remark aptly applies to a man who wanted a reduction on the $2.30 quoted as the price of a $4 pair of boots at the store of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men. This is the only instance on record where a man had the impenetrable "cheek" to ask for a lower figure than the firm places on their splendid stock of boots and shoes. The prices are so low that its positive cruelty to animals to ask a salesman for a lower price than the one named. But this man can't be blamed; he had been paying double prices to high price dealers all his life—he felt soured and wanted to take it out of somebody on general principles, and he tried it on gough's, but he missed his mark, for they placed so low a price on their boots and shoes that they would rather give the goods away than lower it. To reduce gough's prices for boots and shoes would be like taking a stone hammer to make the grains in a heap of sand smaller. Remember a $6,000 stock of boots and shoes bought at 40 cents on the dollar, going at paupers' prices. You can't do better on this continent, so go to gough bros., 375 george street, for your boots and shoes. d

THE GLORY OF MAN

"Did anyone remark that it was cold"?—Examiner Sept. 29.

Well, yes. Could anyone be found in our entire population who has not made use of the remark during the past few days?

And has there not been uppermost in everyone's mind the imperative necessity for warmer clothing?

Someone has said that the glory of man is in his strength; but if strength is to be maintained at this trying season of the year, warmer and heavier clothing must be worn.

The man who neglects to attend to this duty at once will discover that his glory has departed, as he finds himself ushered into the presence of Dr. Liverpills.

Therefore, before you spend the price of an entire warm winter outfit on medicine, which depletes the strength, obey the voice of common sense—go to T. DOLAN & CO.'S and buy yourself a set of warm flannels, and order a suit of heavy Tweed Clothes.

Better do it at once, too, rather than run the risk of staving it off from day to day, until you get sick.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

SHERMAN ON ANNEXATION

THE OHIO SENATOR SAYS UNION OR WAR IS INEVITABLE.

Why He Thinks Commercial Union Won't Work—The United States Not Anxious But Willing to Absorb the Dominion.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Sun's Washington special gives Senator Sherman's views on the Canadian question. The Senator said: "Mr. Wiman has strong predilections for Commercial Union. I differ with him a good deal about it. I know of no case in history where Commercial Union has advanced political union. It was tried between this country and Canada twice and utterly failed. It was tried by the American colonies before the Declaration of Independence and utterly failed. It was not until they secured a political union, under the name of a confederacy called the United States, that they were able to make a stand against the mother country. Even that confederacy proved to be insufficient to insure Commercial Union, and so the United States formed a constitution and then for the first time had a commercial and political union. Commercial union followed political union. The Zollverein never promoted union in Germany, it promoted discord. There were treaties of all kinds between England and Scotland for centuries, but they never could unite those people until by accident the crowns of both countries fell upon one head. Therefore I think that these gentlemen, like my friend Butterworth, make a mistake when they look upon commercial union as a road to political union. I think commercial union promotes points of difference, not points of union. It is true commercial union tends to increase trade, and yet political union is the only thing that can bring about absolute reciprocity of trade and communion of interests."

"Do you think Canada is ready for political union now?"

"No; I suppose not. That can come only after long consideration. It cannot be hurried. In regard to negotiations I will say that no proposition has been made. The furthest approach has ever proposed to go at this time is simply to express a willingness on the part of the United States to consider favorably political union. I make no secret or reserve as to my opinion about Canada. I have said for 40 years that the political union of Canada and the United States was their inevitable destiny. When quite a young man I traveled in Canada, and last year I crossed the whole continent from Montreal to Vancouver, and know perhaps as much about it as any public man here.

"I think a political union would be of mutual benefit to both countries, but of special benefit to Canada. The long boundary line of 4000 miles, half of which is an intangible line, and the other half water crossed daily by the vessels of both countries, makes a union necessary or a war inevitable. I do not say there is any feeling that would justify this, but the situation is much the same as it was between the Scotch and English. Wars grow out of trivial things; they do not grow out of anmities, they grow out of accidents. The line between Canada and the United States is incapable of fortification or defence, and Custom houses are useless. As a matter of course, any invading army would go around the forts. As for the Custom house, I know for a fact that a certain amount of smuggling is going on all the time.

"There are more than 1,000,000 native Canadians living in the United States, and citizens of the United States have more than $100,000,000 of capital invested in Canada. The similarity of people in language, descent, habits and institutions makes union easy and natural. The lines of commerce from Canada to this country are lines of longitude, not latitude. I know of no province or section but would gain largely by union, without losing any local advantage it now possesses.

"I think, from a selfish point of view, England would get its compensating benefit. She has now practically renounced the allegiance of Canada. She recognizes the independence of Canada. It might be a great object for her to be relieved from the duty of defending and protecting the Dominion. Her commercial interests are not affected in the least, because Canada would use just as much of the British products as now, but they would be imported into our country. We are altogether the largest consumers of British products. We are her best customers, and the union of Canada with the United States would only add to our trade with Great Britain.

I am not in favor of union with Canada except by peaceful means, by making it the interest of both parties. I don't want to go to war to acquire territory. Territory acquired by war is worth nothing. What I would like to see is that the Provinces of Canada, now organized in separate distinct autonomies, and having sufficient population, should be represented in Congress like our States; then the jealousy and rivalry that now exists between Ontario and Quebec would disappear."

"You are in opposition to the President on the Retaliation Bill?"

"I am not in opposition to him. I differ with him. I think the retaliation measures probably will never be authorized, and would never be put in force by the President if authorized. But the right of American fishermen to enter the ports of Nova Scotia and tranship their catch will always be insisted on."

"Is there a strong desire on the part of the United States for the peaceful acquisition of Canada and Mexico?

"I do not think there is a very strong desire about it, but I think there is a willingness to agree to it. I think that expresses it."

Senator Sherman further states that the public debt of Canada, $600,000,000, would not trouble the United States. Three years of the whiskey tax would pay it all.

The Vacant Senatorship.

QUEBEC, Oct. 6.—It is rumored to-day that Mr. R. R. Dobell, Quebec's leading lumber exporter, and son-in-law of Sir David Macpherson, will receive the Senatorship left vacant by the death of the late Hon. J. G. Ross. The name of Mr. E. K. Price, the surviving head of the great firm of Price Brothers, is also mentioned as a possible candidate for the seat, as the division represented by the late Mr. Ross, the Laurentides, embraces the region from which the Prices have taken their title of "Kings of the Saguenay." Moreover, Mr. Price's brother, the late Hon. David Price, was Mr. Ross's immediate predecessor in the Senate. The names of Messrs. Valin and Landry, ex-M.P.'s, are also put for ward in this connection.

A Thorold Mystery.

THOROLD, Oct. 6.—This village is agitated over a miniature Whitechapel mystery. For some time past ladies walking alone after nightfall have been accosted by a man who, after thoroughly frightening them would strike them a violent blow and then escape in the darkness. Several ladies have been accosted in this manner within the last couple of weeks, and their male friends are on the watch for the perpetrator of the outrages. If he is caught at his ruffianly work it will go hard with him.

A MURDER OR A MISTAKE.

THE MYSTERIOUS POISONING CASE AT GALT.

An Inquest Opens—Strychnine Undoubtedly the Cause of the Cherry Child's Death—No Clue to the Murderer.

GALT, Oct. 6.—The mysterious poisoning of the infant daughter of John Cherry by eating confectionery received through the mails from Toronto, was the absorbing topic of conversation here yesterday. A coroner's inquest was held last night by Coroner Vardon, and several witnesses were examined at considerable length.

All the evidence would lead to no other conclusion than that the candies were sent by some evil-disposed person, although none of the persons who received them can form any idea as to who the perpetrator of the dastardly act can be. It was brought out in evidence that some of the candies eaten by the Cherry family were very bitter and others tasted like the ordinary chocolate. Neither Mr. Lowell's nor Mr. Ridley's families had tasted the contents of their package.

A post-mortem examination was made on the remains of Mr. Cherry's daughter yesterday afternoon, and all the organs of the body found in a healthy state. The testimony of the medical experts who attended the family during sickness was taken, and all of them gave it as their opinion from the symptoms shown that strychnine was the drug used.

After the hearing of the evidence the inquest was adjourned until next Tuesday to get a report upon the contents of the stomach.

The package addressed to Miss May Lowell was not taken out of the postoffice until after the poisoning at Mr. Cherry's became known, the chief of police in the meantime having given directions that all similar packages addressed to parties in the town should be held back. This package contained three chocolate drops, presumably intended for Mr. and Mrs. Lowell and their only daughter. The package addressed to Mrs. Ridley, at the rectory, was taken home by Mrs. Ridley and contained five candies, with two small slips of paper upon which was written "papa" and "mama." The package sent to Mrs. J. Cherry contained six chocolates, the exact number of Mr. Cherry's household.

When Rev. Mr. Ridley saw the contents of the box addressed to his wife he advised that they should not be eaten, as the sending of the package seemed a rather unusual and strange occurrence. He thought no more of the matter until about three o'clock in the afternoon, when he was informed of the mysterious illness of Mr. Cherry's family, and upon visiting them and ascertaining the cause, he lost no time in reaching his home and at once placed the package which came to his wife in the hands of the chief of police. Mr. Cherry is the proprietor of the Dumfries flouring mills in this town, and was for some years a partner with his brother in the Preston mills. He is a man of whom every one has a good word to say and was not aware that he had an enemy in the world. This makes the crime—and nobody here believes that it is anything else than a diabolical crime—the more incomprehensible.

Postmaster Patteson's Theory.

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—A good deal of excitement was created in this city by the despatch from Galt yesterday, giving the particulars of the poisoning of Mrs. Cherry's children by eating confectionery impregnated with strychnine sent through the post from Toronto. Postmaster Patteson is of the opinion that it is probable the chocolates were made by some one who wished to pay a compliment to friends, and in securing some of the ingredients at the chemist's, a mistake was made and strychnine supplied instead of the harmless stuff applied for. Such accidents have occurred and are likely to occur again. He does not at present incline to the belief that it was a case of wilful poisoning, and no action has been taken by him, but he will forward a report to the department at Ottawa giving his views.

The police have not been communicated with, and consequently have made no effort to find out who sent the deadly messages.

At present the case is enveloped in mystery, and it is impossible to say whether the poisoned chocolates were sent by some evil-disposed miscreant or by a friend who had no idea that there was anything wrong with the sweets.

A Deserted Wife.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Madame Alexandrine Laplante, through counsel, entered an action yesterday morning against her husband, Theodule Gauthier, farmer, for separation as to bed and board, on the ground of brutality. She was married in 1882 and up to last June they lived happily together, when her husband suddenly changed without any cause and left her, telling her to go to her father's and he would provide for her and her children. She agreed to this, but he has not fulfilled the conditions and has further sold his property and deserted her. She also alleges that he has brutally treated her and that it is impossible to live with him. She asks for an alimentary allowance and the revendication of some property situated in St. Remi, fraudulently disposed of by her husband.

A Fight at Foxboro.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 6.—Thursday night about 6 o'clock, as H. Sine, baker, was leaving Laird's store he was pounced upon by a man named Gilbert Garrison, another village baker, who lifted a large stone over Sine's head and let it fall. Sine instantly fell to the ground stunned and was bleeding terribly. Garrison, not satisfied with this injury, sprang upon him and commenced pummelling him with a large stone which he held in his hand. By-standers interfered and removed Garrison. Sine was taken to his home, where his wounds were dressed. The attending physicians state that the man is seriously injured and may not recover. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Garrison. The feud resulted from business competition.

Lime Works Burned.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 6.—About 6 o'clock last night the lime kilns at Robertson's Point, at the Narrows, on the St. John River, a few hundred yards from Indian town, were completely destroyed by fire. The fire was caused by the carelessness of a workman, who undertook to fill with oil a lamp which was lighted. About 800 barrels of lime, ready to be drawn, were in the kilns at the time, but will probably be saved. On the wharf were 1400 more barrels ready for shipment, but these were destroyed. Most of the property was also destroyed. Thirty hands are thrown out of employment. The loss is estimated at $8000; no insurance.

Burglars at Farmersville.

FARMERSVILLE, Oct. 6.—Mr. Vanarman's store was burglarised the other night. Entrance was made by prying up a window on Perth-street. The safe door was drilled and blown entirely off. The burglars did not get much, probably $10 in silver and small change. Some jewelry is missing.

Capital Bonus.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—The Dominion Statute of the session of 1888 are being circulated by the Queen's printer.

In The Gazette to-day will be published a summary of the rules of the Senate relating to notices and applications for bills of divorce.

A proclamation will shortly be issued fixing Thursday, Nov. 15, as a day of general thanksgiving.

EMIGRATION FROM BRITAIN.

Decrease in Numbers for the United States and a Large Increase for Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The official returns issued yesterday show a material decrease in this season's British emigration to the United States, while the emigration to Canada increased. Emigration to the States is now only 5½ times greater than the emigration to Canada, though the attractive power in population is twelve times greater. Canada received more British emigrants than Australia and all other countries together except the United States.

A recent London despatch to the Canadian journals stated that the French Government proposed to make Canada a dumping ground for human refuse. I have the highest authority to say that it is absolutely untrue. Canada' strong objection to all worthless immigrants is well understood in Paris.

I have enquired regarding the reported intention of the British Foreign Office to negotiate with Washington after the Presidential election for the formation of a joint commission to settle all disputed matters on the initial understanding that the Canadian bonding privilege be yielded to the States, and the highest official circles know nothing of such a proposal. The British attitude is Canada's attitude, namely, to calmly await the subsidence of the American political fever, in the belief that public feeling in the States will then revert to the decision of the commission as the only just basis of agreement.

Another cargo of 314 Canadian store cattle sold at Aberdeen realized an average of £15 6s. per head. The first cargo of Alberta cattle from the Cochrane ranch is commended, some remarkably well bred steers showing the Hereford cross in a marked degree. The wildness of the cattle made slaughter necessary at Deptford, which rather prejudiced the sale.

Suicide at Laprairie.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—A laborer named Leon Dupuis, residing at Laprairie, committed suicide yesterday morning by hanging himself from a cross beam in an adjacent stable. He had been drinking heavily for some time past and had been ordered out of the house by his wife. The deceased was one of the witnesses in the Laprarie contested election case. The Coroner has been notified.

Kingston Cheese Market.

KINGSTON, Oct. 6.—At the cheese board yesterday, 1,400 boxes of white cheese and 400 boxes of colored cheese were offered. Prices bid by buyers: 8½c., 9c., 9¼c., and 9¾c. The makes of several factories were contracted for.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Sensation in Commercial Circles—Broker Cox Again a Free Man.

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—A sensation in commercial circles is on the tapis. Half-a-dozen well-known business men in Toronto are threatened with legal proceedings by commission men of Chicago, if they do not make good the loss sustained by them in their dealings in September wheat.

Daniel Leaman, who was seriously injured early yesterday morning on the Grand Trunk Railway, at Don station, is considerably better and is now supposed to be out of danger.

A bricklayer named Robert Constable while at work on Thomas Thompson & Sons new building, King-street east, yesterday afternoon, fell from the scaffold to the pavement, a distance of 40 feet. He was badly bruised, but the doctors do not think that he is fatally injured.

At the opening proceedings at Wycliffe College last evening much interest was excited in Principal Sheraton's address on "Christian Unity and the Lambeth Conference."

Police Magistrate Denison yesterday sent Alexander Ritchie, charged with horse stealing, to Peterboro for trial. Sarah Halpering and Bernard Goldstein, the eloping couple from Newark, who stole $100 and a quantity of clothing from their employer, were sent to jail for 60 days for bringing stolen property into Canada.

At the Police Court yesterday afternoon, E. S. Cox was called for the last time to answer to the charge of having defrauded the Central Bank out of $10,000, when Mr. Osler stated that he had no evidence to offer, the deposit receipt of $10,000 being now in the possession of the liquidators of the Bank, and it being impossible to show that the Bank paid for the deposit receipt out of its own funds. The Magistrate at once dismissed this, the last charge against Cox.

Sir John A. Macdonald was in the city yesterday.

An Order in Council.

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—The following Order in Council has been approved of by His Honor the Lieut.-Governor, and will appear in to-day's Ontario Gazette:—Upon consideration of the resolution of the Provincial Board of Health, passed on the 16th of August last, and upon the recommendation of the Honorable Treasurer, the Committee of Council advise that the following regulation be approved by your Honor:—"That every local Board and its medical health officer shall at once notify the Provincial Board of Health of all and any case of cholera or smallpox, and of such outbreaks of diphtheria and scarlet fever as occur within the limits of the jurisdiction of said local Board."

Lucius Rufus Adams, of the Village of Clayton, in the County of Wellington, has been appointed clerk of the Seventh Division Court of the said County of Wellington, in the room and stead of George Allan deceased.

Counterfeiters at Work.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 6.—The police have information that a gang of counterfeiters are operating in this city. Several bogus Bank of British North America bills are in circulation.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Lord George Fitzgerald, private secretary to Governor Blake of Newfoundland, who was in the city yesterday left last night for Toronto. He is visiting Ontario on a pleasure trip.

A BIG GOTHAM SWINDLE.

COLLAPSE OF W. H. INGHAM & CO.'S SPECULATIVE SYNDICATE.

Hundreds of Investors in all Parts of the Country Fleeced Out of Sums Aggregating Over $100,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—One of the biggest swindling schemes that have been worked in this city for many years has been brought to light by the disappearance of one William H. Ingham and the closing of the brokerage office of "Wm. H. Ingham & Co." at 38 Broadway. As yet no accurate estimate of the swindler's profits can be made, and very possibly the extent of the fraud will never be known. But from present indications the losses of the victims of the speculative mania will run well up into the thousands and may aggregate more than $100,000. It is thought that Ingham is not his real name. He came here in 1887 and shortly afterward opened an office in Broadway. He did not personally engage the office, but a man with black sidewhiskers performed this office for him.

His entry on the scene was soon followed by the appearance in the provincial papers of advertisements calling attention to the immense profits to be gained by investing in "Ingham & Co's Speculative Syndicate." The "Syndicate" was briefly described as a mutual pool which was to operate in stocks, bonds and grain under the direction of W. H. Ingham & Co. The shares were to cost but $10 each, the capital stock was to be $25,000 and the managers were to withhold 30 per cent. of the gross profits as a return for the trouble. The unwary nibbled at the bait, sent in their $10 bills and W. H. Ingham & Co. were soon launched on the sea of prosperity.

Pretty soon the new concern began to resort to the old-time scheme of brokerage swindles, and by means of out-of-town directories secured thousands of names to which their circulars were mailed. Before long the clause in the firm's glowing circular calling for agents in every city, town, and village began to bear fruit. Persons who offered themselves as agents were promised $1 on every share of stock they would sell. The agents were allowed to deduct their commissions before forwarding the purchase money, and as this fact was soon noised about the "firm" ere long had an abundance of agents. By means of these appliances for catching game W. H. Ingham & Co. rapidly built up an extensive clientele.

At the end of the first month a printed statement was forwarded to all the stockholders, or "members" as they were termed, showing that the profits for the month of May, 1887, were 52 per cent. As each subscriber was likewise favored with W. H. Ingham & Co.'s check for 52 per cent. of his investment, less the 30 per cent. commission, the deluded members naturally flattered themselves that they had struck a good thing. Most of them promptly subscribed for additional stock and of course advised their friends to invest. When the June statement came along it showed that the month's profit was 30 per cent., and as far as can be ascertained checks for that amount less the commission were also forthcoming.

The business grew with a rush and by-and-by the successful operators had to hire several young ladies to direct and seal the thousands of circulars. In April last statements announced that the managers had yielded to the solicitations of the members of the syndicate and increased the capital stock to $50,000, but must decline to make it $100,000 as they had been urged to do. Members were constantly informed that the syndicate was reaping its large profits through its ability to put up big margins and thus cover sharp declines which would send small operators to the wall.

This statement, colored as it was, evidently satisfied the subscribers and the firm's business never was larger than during last month. At that time a force of half-a-dozen young ladies were constantly busy directing and mailing circulars, and at times a wagon load of mail has been sent away in one day. On one occasion at least 6000 circulars are said to have been sent out in one day. The mail received was also of enormous proportions, and—a noticeable fact—was all delivered at the firm's office as it had no post office box or drawer.

Last Saturday Ingham disappeared. He mailed a card to his victims, reviewing the career of the syndicate and announcing that "in consequence of members' solicitations he had met with heavy losses, which had forced him to suspend with the loss of the entire syndicate membership's capital, and all its business and offices are closed." The card concludes in this way: "As soon as we can get matters arranged and our accounts straightened, with full details and figures of the losses and trades, and open our offices again we will notify you. By the word 'Co.' after the name W. H. Ingham is meant each and every syndicate member who constitute the company of the firm."

All Inghams checks were drawn on either the Seaboard National Bank or the United States National Bank, but he was never allowed to overdraw his account His supposed partner is said be still in town.

In Search of a Husband.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Alfred Deakin of Hamilton is in the city in search of her husband. Deakin came to Canada some time ago and a few months ago sent for his affianced wife and they were married in Hamilton on June 20 last. On Monday of this week he wrote to his wife from St. Thomas, stating that he would remain here for a few days and instructing his wife to address letters here in care of Wm. James. Mrs. Deacon came on to St. Thomas and has since been endeavoring without success to find her husband.

Successful Centreville.

Excellent Annual Exhibition of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society.

On Thursday and Friday the South Monaghan Agricultural Society held its annual exhibition at Centreville, and all concerned are to be congratulated upon the great success that attended it. The first day, of course, was chiefly devoted to making entries which totalled about seven hundred. The favorable weather of the second day brought out a good attendance of both sexes. The display inside the building, was extensive and excellent. Fruit was well represented and of fine arts and of ladies' work of every conceivable variety, there was a large display of exceptionally fine work. Flowers were largely shown, both cut and living. The display of roots and vegetables was extremely good, roots of gigantic proportions being shown in abundance. Cattle were well represented, though the show of sheep and pigs was rather limited. In agricultural machinery, Mr. W. D. Nugent, of Millbrook, showed of his own make a turnip drill, a one horse cultivator and a very simple turnip slicer. Mr. Jewison, of Bellisboro, had on the grounds one of Mr. Peter Hamilton's celebrated ploughs which was greatly admired.

But it is in the horse department that Centreville and South Monaghan come out strong. A splendid half mile track had been made on the farm of Mr. Lang near the village and thither flocked everybody, there being a particularly fine gathering of ladies—by the way, for handsome healthy, graceful, well dressed girls and first class horseflesh, South Monaghan easily bears the palm. The special events in the horse ring were presided over by the following judges who occupied the stand:—Mayor Howden, Thomas Donaldson and James Kerr. The following events were run off with great success and furnished a great deal of keen and exciting sport.

For the Literary Society's prize of $60—$30 1st, $20 2nd and $10 to 3rd—the entries and results were as below:

Harry Winch's "Sleepy Dan"	1	1	1
M Brown's "Lady B"	2	2	2
Jas Natrass' "Gray Nelly"	3	3	3

The special farmers' trot prize of $21—$12 to 1st, $6 to 2nd and $3 to 3rd—brought out the following horse and the appended results:

W Barnard's "Royal George"	1	1	1
J Hutchison's "Brown Jess"	2	2	2
J Bullied's "Climber"	3	4	3
M Rutherford's "Bethel Girl"	4	3	4

The prize for the three year old colt trot, $31—divided into $12, $6 and $3—was contested for with the following result; heats, best two in three:

J Stapley's "Lady Tariff"	1	1
J Heron's "Centreville Maid"	2	2
Geo Berry's "Maud"	3	3

The special saddle horse prize—$5 first horse and $3 to second—was very exciting in the first heat especially. Entries and results as below:

W Kent's "Fred"	1	1
Stapley "Thunder"	2	2
Wallace's "Brown Horse"	3	3

The Bellisboro brass band was on the grounds during the afternoon and liberally supplied good music.

The managers and directors performed their duties well, and Mr. E. B. Truscott, the obliging secretary, by his kindness and courtesy, won the thanks of the representatives of the press as well as exhibitors. At the conclusion of the exhibition a meeting of the directors and officials was held, the prizes were paid and all the busines of the exhibition was wound up in a prompt, business-like manner. In fact, everything connected with the exhibition was well managed. The speeding in the ring was conducted in a prompt, sportsman-like manner, which is a good example to the managers of such events at the Central and other exhibitions and race meets in town. SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body, and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took . . . and . . . Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the pictures in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, 'How to Cure Skin Diseases'), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

CHAPTER III.

WE CAPTURE THE TRAIN.

The Andrews party were greatly crowded in the large hotel at Marietta on Friday night, having to sleep three or four to a bed, but soldiers are not fastidious, and the greater number slept soundly. We had unbounded confidence in our leader, whose part it was to provide for all contingencies.

The names of the men who reached Marietta to take part in the railroad raid were as follows:

James J. Andrews, leader of the expedition and a citizen of Mossneck.

The Second Ohio regiment contributed:

Marion A. Ross, Company A; George D. Wilson, Company B; William Pittenger, Company G; Perry G. Shadrack, Company K.

From the Twenty-first Ohio regiment were detailed:

Mark Wood, Company C; J. A. Wilson, Company C; J. R. Porter, Company C; William Knight, Company E; Wilson F. Brown, Company F; Wilson Bensinger, Company G; Robert Buffum, Company H; E. H. Mason, Company K; John Scott, Company K.

The Thirty-third Ohio supplied:

Martin J. Hawkins, Company A; William Reddick, Company B; John Wollam, Company C; Samuel Robinson, Company G; D. A. Dorsey, Company H; Jacob Parrott, Company K; Samuel Slavens.

William Campbell, also a member of the expedition, was a citizen of Ohio on a visit to the camp, and managed to enlist among the raiders.

Andrews scarcely slept at all that night. He first went to the hotel and saw that those who lodged there had made arrangements for being called on time in the morning. Porter and Hawkins, who had come down the evening before, and had gone to bed much earlier, were not seen, and as they had not paid the waiter any fee for rousing them early, they were left behind; a diminution of our force much regretted, as they were both brave men and Hawkins was an experienced engineer. This left us but nineteen men in addition to the leader.

We were all roused promptly at the railroad hotel a little before daybreak. Andrews, who came back to us, now went from room to room while we were dressing, seeing every man, giving him exact orders as to his part in the work of the morning. There was suppressed fire in his low, almost whispered words, a calm confidence in his tones that was contagious. There seemed to be no doubt, hesitation or shrinking on his part, but, on the contrary, an eagerness and joy that the time was so near at hand

BEDROOM CONSULTATION AT MARIETTA.

When we were ready, as it still lacked a little of train time, we gathered in Andrews' room for an informal council of war. Some were seated on the edge of the bed, one or two on chairs, and the remainder stood around as best they could. We did not speak very loud, as we wished no sharers in our plans. Andrews gave no exhortations—the time for that had passed—but rather cautions to prevent too precipitate action. He said:

"When the train stops at Big Shanty for breakfast, keep your places till I tell you to go. Get seats near each other in the same car, and say nothing about the matter on the way up. If anything unexpected occurs, look to me for the word. You and you"—designating the men—"will go with me on the engine; all the rest will go on the left of the train forward of where it is uncoupled, and climb on the cars in the best places you can, when the order is given. If anybody interferes, shoot him, but don't fire until it is necessary."

Sergt. Maj. Ross, the ranking man of the party, and as brave as any, offered a respectful protest against going further. He said that circumstances had changed since we set out; that it was a day later than planned; that many more troops were at Big Shanty than formerly; that we had noticed the crowded state of the road as we came down, and that Mitchel's movements would make the matter worse. For all these reasons he thought it better to put off the attempt, or give it up altogether.

Our heads were very close together as we talked, and the words softly spoken; the door was locked, and the windows overlooked the railroad, so that we were sure to see the train coming. Andrews very quietly answered the objections of Ross, admitting all the facts he stated, but claiming that they only showed our way the clearer. The military excitement and excitement and the number of train on the road would make our train the less likely to be suspected; and as to the troops at Big Shanty, if we did our work promptly, they would have no chance to interfere. Capturing the train in the camp would be easier than anywhere else, because no one would believe it possible, and there would therefore be no guard.

Andrews could always find a reason for everything; but these plausible arguments were not perfectly convincing. Several others, among whom was J. A. Wilson, joined in a respectful protest against proceeding. Then Andrews, speaking even lower, as was his wont when strongly moved, said:

"Boys, I tried this once before and failed; now I will succeed or leave my bones in Dixie."

The words and manner thrilled every heart, and we assured him that we would stand by him, and, if need be, die with him. He grasped our hands and we hurried to the platform, for the train was now almost due. I had said nothing in the discussion, for I felt that we were under the leadership of Andrews, and should simply obey, leaving the responsibility to rest on him. I am not sure that, on a later critical occasion, we did not carry this principle a little too far.

Although we only needed tickets to Big Shanty, we purchased them to various points along the line that attention might not be attracted by such a number bound to one place. As the train came up we noticed three closed box cars attached. Every passenger train, as I have since been informed by Conductor Fuller, was at this time required to carry empty cars northward, which were brought back filled with bacon and other provisions, vast quantities of which were then being gleaned out of Tennessee and stored in Atlanta. We all took our places close together in one car, that we might be ready to help each other in case of need. Knight sat near the front door, and says that on looking back he saw that most of our men were pale, yet resolute. The passengers had that listless and weary air always seen in the early morning on board a train.

THE WHITECHAPEL HORROR.

Bloodhounds to Be Employed in the Search for the Assassin.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Sir Charles Warren, Chief of the Metropolitan Police Force, has decided to employ bloodhounds in his efforts to discover the perpetrators of the Whitechapel murders.

The police place confidence in the story of George M. Dod; a seaman, who states that in August last he met a Malay cook named Alaska, with whom he had previously been acquainted on shipboard, in a music hall in London, and that Alaska told him he had been robbed of all he had by a woman of the town and threatened that unless he found the woman and recovered his property he would kill and mutilate every Whitechapel woman he met. The police are searching everywhere for the Malay.

Acting on information which has been furnished them, the police who are investigating the Whitechapel murders have seized and occupied several houses in that section.

Ruining a Great Bank.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—It is reported that a large deficit has been discovered in the New Zealand Bank, a part of which is due to the dishonesty of directors who have used their official positions to get possession of a large amount of the funds of the bank, and are, in fact, defaulters. There have also been large losses through very unwise investments of the funds. A meeting of the stockholders here has been held at which it was determined to entirely wipe out the New Zealand Board of Directors. The London Board will also be reorganized. No dividends will be paid for an indefinite period. The shortage will entirely wipe out the surplus of $500,000, and there will be a considerable deficit beside. The bank has been one of the most profitable and important in Pacific waters.

After Forger Foster.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Another of Pinkerton's sharp detectives has arrived in the city to hunt up the noted Foster, the absconding mortgage forger of the New York Produce Exchange. He strolled along St. James-street yesterday afternoon keeping a sharp eye on those who looked American in cut of dress and general make up. Foster was traced to St. Albans, Vt., where he is known to have been on Saturday, and since then all trace of him was lost. It is now conjectured that he came on to Montreal and reached here on Saturday night and is hiding in or near the city. A reward of $250 is offered for information of his whereabouts. Some of the local detectives think Foster reached here on Saturday night, but at once left by the Grand Trunk Railway midnight express for Toronto.

Criminal Libel Case at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6.—Acton Burrows, editor and managing director of The Call, was arrested yesterday morning on the complaint of Attorney-General Martin, for libel for stating in The Call of Oct. 3 that Greenway and he would have suffered a large pecuniary loss by the rejection of the Northern Pacific contract, and that they had procured the support of the House to the contract by undue means. Mr. Greenway arrived last evening. He will proceed criminally against the proprietor and editor of The Free Press for charging that he entered into a corrupt agreement with the Manitoba Central.

Mr. Taillon's $25,000 Libel Suit.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—During the recent electoral contest in Montreal East, La Patrie accused Hon. Mr. Taillon of having tried to steal the election in 1886 by causing the ballots in favor of Mr. David to be spoiled through the connivance of those having charge of the ballot boxes. The leader of the Opposition has just met this serious accusation with an action for $25,000 damages, taken against the paper yesterday.

At Hymen's Altar.

The Blackstock, Cartwright, correspondent of the Post writes:—The wedding of the season came off Wednesday at the residence of Mr. Joshua Ferguson, it being the marriage of their daughter Annie to Mr. Chas. Girvin of Goderich. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Ferguson, M.A., B.D., brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. R. Haszard. The bride was nobly supported throughout the trying ordeal by Miss Minnie Taylor of Peterborough, and Mr. Harriston of Asphodel acted as groomsman. A very large company were present to witness the ceremony, and it would be scarcely necessary to say to any one knowing the popularity of the bride that there was a very large and valuable collection of presents. The happy couple took the train for Peterborough and points east. Congratulations to each couple.

A Saving of $450 per Year.

The Committee of Appointments of the Town Council met last night and decided to recommend to the Council the appointment of Mr. James G. Macdonald as Town Clerk and Clerk of the Police Court at a salary of $800, and that of Mr. C. McGill as Town Treasurer at a salary of $300. This new arrangement means a saving to the town of $450 per annum. The late Mr. Macdonald received $800 as Town Clerk, $400 as Treasurer, and $300 as Police Court Clerk, besides the town paying a guarantee company $50 per year as security—a total of $1,550, as against $1,100 for the same service. The new appointees are required to provide their own sureties. As the decision of the committee was all but unanimous, it is probable the report of the committee will be adopted. Mr. McGill will make an excellent treasurer, and Mr. Macdonald has had a sufficient experience to enable him to fill the other positions satisfactorily.

"Kerry Gow" Again.

The old time favorite, J. S. Murphy, with an admirable company, presented "Kerry Gow" at the opera house last night to a large audience. Murphy has been here before and there are few theatre-goers who have not seen the play before, but it was just as attractive as ever and gave the audience undisguised pleasure. The Irish wit and freedom of speech tickled the people immensely, whilst the deep and thrilling interest in the plot held their undivided attention. J. S. Murphy as Dan O'Hara, the light-hearted Irish lad, was of course the central figure, having entwined about him the charming naiveté and loving tenderness of Nora Drew (Miss Lillian DeWolf). The support was good all through, and at times the audience was infused with the spirit of the play. In the last act, when the dove flies home from the races bearing the glad news that saves the devoted ones from disaster and revives their flagging hopes, a man in the front benches was carried away with enthusiasm, and his long, loud yell of triumph was heard above the noisy shouts and congratulations of the actors on the stage. "Kerry Gow" holds a place in the hearts of the people that is kept warm by the virtu of J. S. Murphy. The introduction of a genuine horse on the stage had to be withheld last night owing to the inconvenient stairways and entrance to the wings. But the play gave every satisfaction just the same.

Lakefield's Excellent Exhibition.

A Successful one in Every Respect.

The annual exhibition of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held in the village on Thursday and Friday and was a better exhibition than last year, at least the entries were more numerous—654 as against 642 last year. The attendance was about 1,200 persons, the sum of $280 having been taken at the gates.

The show throughout was a good one. There was a fine show of cattle, not numerous but containing some splendid specimens, and, as is always the case at Lakefield, the horses were unusually good and, of course, the centre of attraction. The new grounds to the east of the railway track are a great improvement, showing the stock to better advantage and admitting of a better exhibition of goers in the new horse ring which is a very good one.

Inside the hall the display was excellent—in grains, fruit, vegetables and roots, the latter especially. Mr. R. Chapin, showed a collection of furniture, Mr. Henry Owens, Peterborough, pumps, Mr. C. C. McDonald, Chatham fanning mills, and Mr. W. Forsyth, Peterborough, Champion fanning mill and bagger. Mr. Crosby, town, showed two Uxbridge and one Doherty organ, Mr. Graham, of R. Graham & Son, showed the Karn organ, Mr. Hendricks, town, the White Sewing Machines, Mr. G. A. Mitchell, town, the New Williams machine and Thos Gordon exhibited a fine canoe. Altogether the exhibition was an excellent one. The prize list will appear in Monday's issue.

His Surrender Demanded.

The Ottawa Free Press: Yesterday a requisition was made upon the United States authorities for the surrender of John Greenfield, on a charge of attempting to murder a police constable at Peterborough. The chief of police at Peterborough has received the warrant for the delivery of the prisoner, who is now at Buffalo.

Market Memo.

The beautiful weather to-day was the means of bringing a large crowd into town and business was consequently brisk. On the market there was great activity. The usual quantities of vegetables, roots, fruit, meat, fowl, and products of the dairy were offered at prices that have remained stationary for a long time. There was a considerable quantity of wheat and barley brought on, and the prices realized were good. Wheat has taken a considerable jump in price this year. One load of fall wheat went at $1.20 a bushel this morning, but the regular price was from $1.14 to $1.18. Spring wheat brought about $1.12. Barley ranged from 60c. to 75c. The general impression on the market is that barley will fall in price next month.

A Small Fire

Just as the people were leaving the opera house last night, about half past ten o'clock, their minds filled with vague remembrances of "la-aving the country," and of a horse kicking somebody, a "bit of diversion" was created by the ringing of the fire bell. Everyone hurried out, but before most of them reached the scene of the fire the brigade were on hand and working manfully. Smoke was pouring from the doorway of M. T. Ostrom's fruit store, or Smith's market, but fortunately the fire was not a serious one, and was easily extinguished by the Babcocks. The blaze started in some shelving close to the stove, and besides charring the woodwork a quantity of papers and documents were burned. The damage here was slight, but Mr. Ostrom says all the fruit in the store was injured by the smoke and will have to be sold at a sacrifice. The loss is covered by a policy in the London & Lancashire; Wilson & Morrison, agents.

A Determined Attempt at Suicide.

Old Adam Dobbin, who has been a regular lodger at the county boarding house for years past, created no little excitement at the gaol about noon to-day by attempting to end his existence by cutting his throat. Some of the prisoners, from their cell windows, saw the old man, while standing in the courtyard, deliberately draw the blade of a large jack-knife across his throat, and they immediately made an outcry. Turnkey Ray was promptly on hand and in time to prevent the old man from placing his hands in the wound and tearing it open. His windpipe was not reached, the knife being dull and the old man's stroke rather weak, so that only a long gash in the flesh was made. When Doctors Bell and Kincaid, who had been hastily summoned, arrived on the scene, they found the turnkey sitting on the would-be suicide and holding down his hands, while the old fellow kicked and tore around and swore at everyone and everything in frightful language. His made frantic attempts to get his hands at his throat to tear open the wound, and the doctors could do nothing with him. When one of them tried to look at the wound, Dobbin bit fiercely at him and abused him roundly in most emphatic language. The old man was insanely furious, and it was apparent that his injuries had not in the least impaired his strength, but seemed rather to have endowed him with supernatural energy. He was not a prisoner at the present time, his term for vagrancy having expired only yesterday, when he was discharged. To-day he was let in to the gaol to have his dinner, when he made the attempt to take his life. Soon afterwards he calmed down and was arrested and taken to the police station, but was taken back to gaol and re-committed for a term of six months, where he will have the attention of the gaol physician, Dr. Kincaid.

Electric Light Correction.

In a paragraph in yesterday's issue by a typographical error it was stated that the electric lamps at the Central Bridge works, were 200-candle power. It should have read 2000. The mere dropping of a cypher was the cause. The dropping of cyphers or rather whole figures is going on every day at gough bros., 375 george street. The high price dealers charge $2 for a pair of boots, go to gough's and you get the same kind of boots for $1 or less. That's the way it runs all through the multiplication table—a drop of about a hundred per cent. lower than you can get boots and shoes for at any other shop in town. That's the reason of the immense rush day after day at gough bros'. boot and shoe store. The public have good sense. They know a good thing when they see it, and they see it every day at gough bros'.—in the shape of the cheapest and best boots and shoes on the continent. Thousands of bargains of 2000-candle power at gough bros'. 375 george street.

THE GLORY OF MAN

"Did anyone remark that it was cold"?—Examiner Sept. 29.

Well, yes. Could anyone be found in our entire population who has not made use of the remark during the past few days?

And has there not been uppermost in everyone's mind the imperative necessity for warm er clothing?

Someone has said that the glory of man is in his strength; but if strength is to be maintained at this trying season of the year, warmer and heavier clothing must be worn.

The man who neglects to attend to this duty at once will discover that his glory has departed, as he finds himself ushered into the presence of Dr. Liverpills.

Therefore, before you spend the price of an entire warm winter outfit on medicine, which depletes the strength, obey the voice of common sense—go to T. DOLAN & CO.'S and buy yourself a set of warm flannels, and order a suit of heavy Tweed Clothes.

Better do it at once, too, rather than run the risk of staving it off from day to day, until you get sick.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

LONDON'S GREAT MYSTERY

THE WHITECHAPEL MURDERS ABSORB PUBLIC ATTENTION.

"Jack the Ripper" Heard From Again—The Police Assisted by Hundreds of Amateur Detectives.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Nothing that the newspapers can present to their readers receives any attention except the Whitech pel murders. Important political utterances which ordinarily would provoke general discussion are unread, and continental affairs of vital interest to England are thrust aside as of no consequence whatever. The police have adopted the theory that the letter and postal card signed "Jack, the Ripper," sent to The Central News, a week ago Thursday, emanated from the actual murderer. Facsimiles of the letter and card are posted in every police station and upon every dead wall, accompanied by a paragraph begging any person recognizing the writing to communicate with Gen. Sir Charles Warren, chief commissioner of the Metropolitan police. The Central News received another communication from "Jack, the Ripper," yesterday afternoon, announcing his intention to commit more murders to-night, and upon the strength of this the police have ordered every man on duty and are assisted by hundreds of amateur detectives. The reign of terror which has prevailed in the Whitechapel district during the past week still continues and the arrival of day light to-morrow morning will be hailed with joy by thousands of the denizens of that locality.

The sentimental objection to the use of bloodhounds in pursuing criminals has been broken down entirely by the immunity of the murderer. Had Sir Charles Warren six months since ordered bloodhounds he would have lost his place, it being thought that he had already lost his head. But now the public demand enables the police to employ dogs. Nothing more is known of the murderer. His identity is as much hidden as though he possessed the invisible cap of Perseus. Nothing being known enables much to be guessed. Yesterday the theory was that he is a Malay, because Malays mutilate their victims. To-day the police are searching for an American, probably because an American is most removed from a Malay. The coroner's theory, that the murders are due to the offer of an American of rewards for certain organs, has been given up, and the mystery is left more mysterious than ever.

POOR BUT PROUD.

Pitiful Story of a Deserted Wife—She Refuses to Accept Charity.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—A rare scene was enacted at the South St. Louis depot of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railroad last evening. A young woman with a babe in her arms tottered into the depot and sank into a seat, wan and haggard from exposure and want, but bearing all the traces of refinement and beauty. Ticket Agent Walsh was immediately interested, and when the woman asked how far she could ride for forty cents, he kindly but firmly elicited the story of her woe. She had walked from Cuba, Mo., and was endeavoring to reach Delassus, where her father, a wealthy farmer, named Munford, resides. A few years ago Miss Retalie Munford, the broken-down woman, was compelled by her parents to marry a young sawyer, Thomas, though at the time she was betrothed to another, a prosperous young farmer of the village of Delassus. The husband chosen by her parents proved to be dissolute, dragged her down to poverty and want, and finally deserted her, and she had started for her old home, too proud to ask aid of anyone. A purse was made up at the depot but the woman refused to accept it, and burst into tears at the idea of becoming an object of charity. She was finally induced to believe that her money would carry her to Delassus, and the conductor of the train instructed to see that she reached her old home in safety.

JUMPED FIFTY FEET.

Three Persons Leap From the Third Story of a Burning Hotel in Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 8.—A fire broke out in the McClellan Hotel about 4 o'clock this morning and burned so rapidly that the building was almost totally destroyed before the firemen could get the flames under control. A panic occurred among the guests, some of whom found their exit entirely cut off. J. A. Weatherby, of The Evening Chronicle, with his sister and niece, jumped from the third floor to the yard, a distance of fifty feet. Weatherby sustained fatal injuries. His sister had her leg broken and sustained internal injuries. The niece escaped with a sprained ankle.

A Secret Military Order of Anarchists.

WINFIELD, Ka., Oct. 8.—There is great excitement in this vicinity over the discovery that a secret military order of Anarchists, known as the National Order of Videttes, exists in Cowley and Sumner Counties. A man named Pryor, formerly of St. Louis, is given as the leader of the band, and the agitation is increased by the discovery that several well-known citizens are members of it. The discovery was made by a detective employed for that purpose who was initiated into the order.

Charged with Wife Murder.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 6. Detectives have arrested Calvin M. Dellinger on suspicion of having murdered his wife, Kate Dellinger, whose dead body was found on the banks of the little Conestoga Creek yesterday. The relations of the couple had been very unhappy for some time past, and the murdered woman recently sued her husband for assault, subsequently withdrawing the suit.

Frightened the Denizens.

ROANOKE, Oct. 6.—Shortly before 6 o'clock this evening Brown's powder magazine blew up, giving the entire city a terrible shock, breaking a great number of plate store fronts and hundreds of panes of glass in private residences. The magazine was situated about a mile from the city, and contained 400 kegs of powder and 2500 pounds of dynamite. The entire population was terribly scared, and much excitement prevailed until the extent and nature of the disaster was known.

Canadians Badly Swindled.

ALBANY, Oct. 6.—D. L. Sheppard, barrister, of Carleton-Place, Ontario, came here yesterday on a mission of inquiry. He had in his possession several papers purporting to be searches of real estate in New York City. These searches were dated April 18, 1888, and purported to have passed through the "second office of Albany," the "third office of Albany," and the "fourth office of Albany." Each bore a certificate headed, "Office of Albany," and signed Frank S. West, Registrar." Mr. Sheppard was convinced that the papers were bogus and that his clients had been victimized, but to what extent he did not divulge.

The Colored Masons' Temple.

THE WINNIPEG SENSATION

NUMBER OF WITNESSES SUBPŒNAED FOR THE OCCASION.

Premier Greenway Denies the Accusation in Emphatic Terms—Wheat Away up—The Border Frauds.

WINNIPEG, Oct 7.—In the criminal libel suit against the editor of The Call the latter has subpœnaed Hon. Messrs. Greenway, Cameron, Smart and Pendergast, besides Hugh Sutherland, Duncan McArthur, Laxton, Cobble, Alloway and Beaton to give evidence for the defence.

The proprietors of The Free Press will probably be served to-morrow.

While Premier Greenway denies in the most empathic terms the truthfulness of the accusations the friends of paper say they have affidavits to substantiate them.

Wheat is quoted from 90c. to $1.20 in different parts of the province. Grain buyers say the markets have gone crazy.

The Mounted Police will patrol the southern boundary of the province to prevent further stealing of timber and evasion of customs duties by Dakota settlers.

The Winnipeg Choral Union has collapsed.

THE GALT POISONING.

No Further Developments—Awaiting the Result of an Analysis.

GALT, Oct. 7.—There are no new developments with reference to the death of little Meta Cherry. Opinion is somewhat divided as to whether the poisoned candies were sent by some murderous miscreant or by someone innocent of any evil intent. The result of an analysis of the contents of the other packages is awaited with intense interest, but even that will throw little light on the vexed question which can only be settled by the detection of a fiendish plot or by the confession of a mistake on the part of the sender.

The Package Seized at Toronto a Sample.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—The Galt postmaster was in the city Saturday and called upon Postmaster Patteson, with whom he held a consultation, after which the two gentlemen called at Police Headquarters and interviewed Inspector Stark.

The package of candy addressed to Mr. A. S. McKay, of this city, at Pictou, N. S., which was seized at the postoffice and taken to Headquarters, turns out to be a sample, Mr. McKay being a commercial traveler.

The Mining Commission.

MADOC, Oct. 6.—The Mining Commission continued their enquiries here on Thursday when Judge Fralick gave some evidence with reference to slate quarry that gives a paying yield. Judge Fralick thought the establishment of reducing, stamping and smelting works by the Government would do more than anything to encourage prospecting. He was also of the opinion that there was a want of a "school of mines" where lectures might be delivered to prospectors.

The commission visited Eldorado, where the Consolidated gold mine is situated. Extensive works were erected at this mine, but were afterwards taken out at an expense that for a time caused the cessation of work. But when the mill was worked it yielded $6 worth of gold to the ton. There is complaint here at the dilatoriness of the Geological survey in issuing its report.

He Had Diphtheria.

ORILLIA, Oct. 7.—A man from one of the lumber shanties to the north, reached here suffering from diphtheria, on the way to his home, in the vicinity of Bobcaygeon or Peterboro. The health authorities forbade him proceeding farther. The doctor who saw the man at the shanty, and advised him to go home, deserves severe censure.

Windsor Thieves Captured.

WINDSOR, Oct. 7.—A week ago a quantity of pig lead was stolen from the water works yards. A watch has been kept tightly in expectation of a return of the thieves. Yesterday morning at 12.30 while Joseph Davis was keeping silent guard, three men rowed up to the dock, landed, and began work on the pile of lead. Davis reconnoitered around to the boat, jumped in, and managed to telephone Chief Haines. Before the chief and officers Nash and Moynahan arrived three more had landed. The three officers tackled the six in a hand to hand fight. They shackled two of them. A third made for the river and pulled out for Detroit. The other three hustled for the dock and one jumped in the river. He was fished out and he and his two pals locked up. These three refused to give their names or answer any questions. The two captured first gave their names as Frank Marcel and James Henry. Yesterday Magistrate Bartlett gave them each twenty-three months at the Central Prison in Toronto. The other two will be dealt with as soon as their identity is known. The officers think they shot the man who escaped.

Another Blow Out the Gas Accident.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 7.—A young man named F. Ross, of Warwick, turned the gas off and then on again in his room at the Grigg House. Fortunately he awoke about 3 a.m. and managed to stagger into the hall, where he was found insensible by the night watchman. He recovered.

The Result of the Parachute.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 7.—A youth named Barned, of London South, while attempting the parachute descent the other day, from the roof of his father's house, connected with terra firma speedier than he had anticipated, and a sprained ankle resulted.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Editor Jenkins Must Serve Out His Term—Unsuccessful Attempt at Burglary.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—Arthur Henry Newton Jenkins presented his appeal before Judge MacMahon on Saturday. The imprisoned editor of The Brussels Budget after serving 9 days in the Goderich gaol, applied to the Chancellor, making a sweeping apology for his contempt and prayed to be remitted the remainder of his sentence, as his presence could be required at the Goderich Assizes on the libel suit brought by Mr. Grant, the Brussels postmaster, against him. The Chancellor referred the matter to the committing Judge, who thought that Mr. Jenkins' apology was not sufficient to purge him of this contempt and refused his application. The editor's term of 30 days will expire on Oct. 19.

The members of the Toronto Real Estate Exchange have presented to Judge McDougall a petition praying for the winding up of its affairs. His Honor granted an order returnable to-day, calling upon the company to show cause why it should not be wound up.

An abortive attempt was made on the safe in Mr. William Wordley's store, corner of Carleton and Church-streets early Sunday morning. The door was partly drilled, but the thieves abandoned the job in despair.

The Church of the Sacred Heart, the French Canadian Roman Catholic place of worship, was formally opened yesterday.

Acquitted for Nine Months.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 6.—John J. Corgilson, whose horsewhipping of Judge Richard Reed, of the Superior Court, led to the latter's suicide, was acquitted from imprisonment to-day for the term of nine months. He will then return to jail to serve out a three years' term. The respite is on account of illness.

ANNEXATION.

A Large Appropriation for the St. Clair Flats Canal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—In the House yesterday Mr. Cutchins, from the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, reported the bill appropriating $198,250 for completing the improvements and dredging of the St Clair Flats Ship Canal in the State of Michigan. Congress has always, in making improvements, named the place as in the State of Michigan. The United States assumes that it is within the jurisdiction of the State of Michigan, making that portion of Lake St. Clair west of the Commissioners line a part of Michigan territory. As the lake and the canal are a part of a great water way, over which the commerce of the great lakes continually passes, it is regarded as somewhat peculiar that what belongs alike to all the States should be put down to the cost of the State of Michigan.

The pending appropriation for the completion of the canal will, when it is considered in the Senate and House, give Congressmen an opportunity to discuss freely the point whether the canal is or is not in the waters of the United States, and whether Great Britain has a right to revoke the provisions of an old treaty and make new provisions entirely unfavorable to the United States.

Mutilated in a Shingle Mill.

ROCKWOOD, Oct. 6.—A saw burst in Richardson's shingle mill here this morning, causing terrible injuries to a 14-year old son of the proprietor, who was working the saw at the time. One arm was broken off at the shoulder and one leg badly broken. His recovery is doubtful. Part of the saw went through the roof of the mill.

In Search of his Daughter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—There arrived at the Palmer House on Tuesday, a middle-aged gentleman, evidently English, accompanied by a decidedly handsome young lady, 16 or 17 years of age. He registered as Dr. E. Robbins and daughter, Los Angeles, Cal. They were assigned to room No. 364. That evening Dr. Robbins paid his bill and, accompanied by the girl, left the hotel. Last night he sought the assistance of the police to recover his daughter, who he claimed had been spirited away by agents of the Woman's Protective Association. He says that several years ago he parted from his wife in England and came to this country, drifting to Montana, Idaho and finally California, where he amassed a fortune. His wife meantime had secured a divorce. Learning of this, Dr. Robbins sent for his daughter and met her in New York. He claims that some unknown person telegraphed here that the girl was not his daughter, but that he was leading her astray. Two days ago a woman called on the girl and he has not seen her since. Dr. Robbins did not explain where he had been stopping since he left the Palmer House. A search among all the leading hotels last night failed to locate the doctor. Mrs. Dye, clerk of the Protective Association, denies any knowledge of the man or girl.

A Drug Clerk's Mistake.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Ellen Watts sent to a drug store to get quinine for a child. The druggist's clerk by mistake gave morphine instead of quinine. Three grains of the drug were given the child. When she went to go to bed she found her youngest born breathing strangely and a little investigation showed that he was barely alive. Several physicians were called and worked with him the rest of the night, but he died shortly after daylight.

An Unhappy Marriage.

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—Janet Hart yesterday asked the Wayne Circuit Court to divorce her from Geo. Hart, to whom she was married at Walkerville, Ont., in 1871. The couple have one son, now 16 years of age. Mrs. Hart asserts that about Nov. 1, 1880, her husband left their home for the avowed purpose of going to the Michigan lumber woods, and she has heard nothing from him since. She has since supported herself and son by menial labor, with occasional help from her relatives and friends.

The Belgic Overdue.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Some anxiety is felt here on account of the non-arrival of the steamer Belgic, from Hong Kong and Yokohama. She was due last Tuesday and the owners are inclined to believe some accident has happened to her machinery.

Sad Drowning Accident.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 7.—A woman and three children were drowned to-day in the Wicomico River. They were crossing the river and when in the middle a sudden flaw of wind upset the frail craft.

Ghastly Sight at the Bottom of the Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—A professional diver went to examine the machinery of the steamer City of Chester, which was sunk in the waters of Golden Gate in August last by collision with the Oceanic. The diver located the vessel in fifty fathoms of water, but in two as if by an immense saw. While looking into the steerage the first thing which met his eyes was the form of a man standing with distorted face and tongue hanging from his mouth. The body was swollen to twice its natural size. Going a little further aft he saw another victim of the wreck on his knees grasping a third man around the waist. The diver returned to the surface and reported his discovery, but nothing could induce him to return to the wreck.

A Diamond Robber.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Charles W. Schnell, 40 years old, who obtained several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds on memorandum from Maiden-lane jewellers, was sentenced to State prison for five years by Judge Cowing. The robbed jewellers got back their property at Police Headquarters afterward.

PRAISED WITH A PURPOSE

IMPEROR WILLIAM DELUGED WITH HONEYED WORDS.

Count Douglas' Effusion Taken to Mean That Bismarck's Services are to be Dispensed With.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Emperor William's reception at Vienna has sent a thrill of gratification throughout the empire. Apart from the popular demonstrations, the enthusiasm shown and the scenes at the banquet given to his majesty, the visit has been of immense value in displaying the Emperor's latent qualities. Emperor William has passed through the ordeal of Austrian society in triumph, acquiring new character as a man of cordial as well as kingly presence. But his social triumph is a trifle beside the significance of the exchange of imperial courtesies at the Rietterral and the banquets. The official papers here and at Vienna comment upon the Emperor's speeches as assurances that the German and Austrian armies are practically united and ready for action against a common enemy. Any remotest suspicion of Emperor William's inclining towards the Czar has been dispelled. On the contrary, several incidents have occurred which impel the conviction that decisive action for the testing of the strength of the alliance will not be long delayed. Emperor William studiously showed himself gracious towards the militant and Slavic element in Austro-Hungary.

Emperor William will remain in Vienna until Wednesday, when he will start for Italy.

The interview of Cardinal Galimberti, Papal Nuncio at Vienna, with his Majesty on Thursday lasted only ten minutes. The cardinal, it is said, has freely stated that the Emperor, after expressing the hope that nothing would occur during his visit to Rome to wound the susceptibilities of the Pope, declined to discuss any question pending between the Vatican and Germany, simply referring him to Count Herbert Bismarck. The Nuncio's subsequent conference with Count Herbert Bismarck appears to have been limited to the arranging of the formalities of Emperor William's reception at the Vatican. Advices from Rome received here last evening announce that the Vatican is genuinely satisfied with the program arranged.

The German and Italian anarchists mean mischief. Letters from Zurich which have been intercepted refer to some plot against his majesty and give rise to the belief that he will be attacked during his tour of Italy.

Count Douglas' effusion is about to be published in pamphlet form for distribution throughout the empire. It opens with the declaration that "never before has our Kaiser, the only Prussian Prince, seen so much of practical life." This exaggeration is the key note of the whole eulogy. The author describes the Emperor as having acquired by severity of training habits of conscientious performance of duties, high moral earnestness and a clear perception of that duty toward the country which must cause him to place personal safety and personal affections below the public weal. According to Count Douglas, William, while a prince, showed himself a "begeisterter and schneidiger soldat" amidst the unwearied exercise of his military functions. He went through training in all the administrative departments, showing an intuitive perception and practical sense amazing to old experienced officials."

"As emperor," continues the panegyrist, "he has shown himself impervious to flattery, though open to conviction and honest advice; the champion of religious toleration; an earnest philanthropist; an assiduous friend of the working classes; not ascetic, but healthily pious; a foe to sensual indulgence and sternly opposed to gambling and other prodigalities. Finally, he is averse to war, sympathizes with popular aims and defines progressive legislation compatible with the nation's interests."

Count Douglas did not draw this character without the Emperor's sanction. Every line is meant to impress upon Germans the belief that he is a sovereign able to govern without the assistance of the greatest statesman and to lead armies to victory, relying upon his own strategy. The inference is that the emperor aims to prepare Germany for the retirement of Bismarck.

A Hamburgh dispatch announces that no definite measure has yet been taken to prosecute Prof. Geffcken. It is not true that the authorities have seen a written permit from the late Emperor Frederick authorizing Geffcken to publish the diary. The inquiry resulted in establishing the fact that Geffcken never got a copy from Frederick. It is not known whence he obtained the extracts.

As the inquiry narrows the circle of possible sources of the betrayal of the diary, the Bismarckian papers become more bitter towards the Ex-empress. "Keine frauenhammer politik" is again their cry. Inviting suggestions of complicity on the part of the Ex-empress are common, though no one has dared to make a direct charge that she is responsible for the publication of the diary.

The Reichs Bank, it is expected, will raise the rate of discount on Monday. The stock of bullion has decreased 45,000,000 marks within a week. The withdrawals have largely gone to Russia. Altogether there is considerable strain upon the resources of the banks. There is danger ahead and in the coming liquidation croakers predict a general smash.

The Americanists this morning visited the Polytechnic and afterward the mausoleum at Charlottenburg. In the afternoon they went to Potsdam where they inspected the castles and the grave of Frederick the Great.

The North German Gazette, referring to the report that the English Admiral Fairfax has been ordered to establish a protectorate over Savage Island, says that the British Government cannot assume the protection of the island, since by virtue of the Anglo-German agreement of 1886 the island was declared neutral territory.

The promoters of the Emin relief expedition decline to abandon the enterprise.

It is reported that the government has ordered several warships and 3000 troops to German territory in East Africa.

Campbell's Cathartic Compound.

Complimentary tribute to the virtues of Campbell's Cathartic Compound by J. W. Browett, the well known and popular druggist, of Ingersoll, Ontario.

Extract from the Ingersoll Chronicle, July 12th, 1888.—I have much pleasure in bearing testimony to the efficiency of Campbell's Cathartic Compound and the speedy relief rendered by it in a case of liver complaint, bilious headache, constipation, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, etc., and in all diseases arising from a disordered state of the stomach. I have used it myself, and know it to have brought permanent relief where pills and similar preparations have failed. I think very highly of it, and all those who have used it are unanimous in the opinion that it has filled a long felt want. It is very agreeable to take, and it is as certain in its effects as it is mild in its action. I have sold large quantities of it, and the demand for it is increasing, and I have yet to hear of one case where it did not give entire satisfaction and produce the result sought for. I am conscientious in recommending it, as I believe it only requires a trial to convince the most sceptical of its efficiency.

(Signed), J. W. BROWETT, druggists, Ingersoll.

—St. Michael's new Roman Catholic Church, Belleville, will be dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Kingston on Sunday next. A record of all donors of $1 and over to the building paid will be kept at the door, and the names published, while to those not disposed to be so liberal an entrance fee of fifty cents will be charged. The city papers describe the church as an ornament to the city.

A Good Neighbor.

"Late last fall I was laid up in bed three days with a severe attack of diarrhœa and vomiting. Nothing benefited me until my neighbor, Mrs Dunning, recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and brought me half a bottle which she had in her house. In three hours the vomiting was stopped, and I was able to sit up by night. I would not now think of using any other medicine." Columbus Hopkins, Hamilton, Ont. 2dw40

—The new hospital at Vancouver, B.C., which was opened the other day, as The News-Advertiser remarks, "without fuss or feathers of any kind" has a total of 35 beds. The building is lighted with electric lamps, which can be reduced in power when desired, and in the operating-room these lamps are portable.

DARING AND SUFFERING.

The conductor, whose name we afterward learned was William A. Fuller, entered and began to take the tickets. He looked narrowly at us, for it was an uncommon thing for so many persons to enter in a body as did at Marietta; besides, he had been warned very recently to watch that no conscripts used his train for the purpose of escaping, and ordered, in case of suspicion, to telegraph for help at once. No doubt we looked soldierly enough, but he afterward told me that he did not suspect us of being conscripts. We also scrutinized him carefully, for it was possible that he might, if his suspicions were in the least aroused, endeavor to prevent us from taking his train.

He was quite young for a conductor, being, as we afterward learned, only 26, though he had been for seven years in that position. He had a frank, genial, but resolute face, was of medium size, and looked active and strong.

We had little leisure for looking at the grand form of Kenesaw mountain, which rose on our left, and around the base of which the road describes almost a half circle, and then turns away before it reaches Big Shanty. Here was fought one of the severest battles of the war between Sherman and Johnston; but this, with their protracted struggle over the whole line of this railway, did not come until two years later. The question of deepest interest to us, and one which would be quickly solved, was, "How much of a fight will we have at Big Shanty? If the train is left guarded during breakfast time we will have to overcome the guards; if anybody sees us going on the engine, and a rush is made to prevent, we will have to fight sharply and at close quarters—the most deadly kind of fighting." Every revolver had been carefully examined at Marietta before we slept and every preparation made, so there was nothing to do but to wait as patiently as we could.

It was a thrilling moment when the conductor called out, "Big Shanty! twenty minutes for breakfast!" and we could see the white tents of the rebel troops and even the guards slowly pacing their beats. Big Shanty (now called Kenesaw) had been selected for the seizure because it was a breakfast station, and because it had no telegraph office. When Andrews had been here on the previous expedition, few troops were seen, but the number was now greatly increased. It is difficult to tell just how many were actually here, for they were constantly coming and going; but there seems to have been three or four regiments, numbering not far from 1,000 men each. They were encamped almost entirely on the west side of the road, but their camp guard included the railroad depot. As soon as the train stopped, the conductor, engineer, fireman, and most of the passengers hurried for breakfast into the long low shed on the east side of the road, which gave the place its name. No guard whatever was left—a fortunate circumstance for us, but not at all unusual on southern roads even when not so well guarded by soldiers as this train was. Now was our opportunity! yet for a moment we were compelled to keep our seats and wait the appointed signal by our leader. It required a strong effort of will to keep from rushing forward. We had no desire for eating as we saw the passengers leaving their seats around us and pouring in to breakfast. The moments seemed hours; for we knew that when the signal was given, we must do our work in less than half a minute or be slaughtered on the spot; we also knew that any one of us who failed to get on board with the rest would be lost; but we did not know how long during the twenty minutes Andrews would wait. If anything could be gained by waiting five or ten minutes we were sure that he with his marvelous coolness, would wait and expect us to do the same. It seemed already a considerable interval, for the last passenger who wanted breakfast had left the train and disappeared within the room.

But Andrews did not mean delay. He had been absent from the car for a time as we came up the road and had only just returned, and taken his seat close to the door. Now he quietly rose, and without turning his head toward us, stepped to the door with the crowd that was pouring out. Engineer Knight, whether from natural impulsiveness, or at a signal from Andrews, rose also and went out with him. These two got off on the side next to the camp, and opposite the depot. They walked forward at an ordinary pace until abreast of the locomotive, which they saw at a glance to be vacant—engineer and fireman had gone to breakfast. That was very good! Andrews walked a few steps further forward with Knight still at his side, until he could see ahead of the engine that the track was clear as far as a curve a little way up the road which closed the view. Then they turned and walked back until just in advance of the first baggage car and behind the three empty freight cars, when Andrews said, with a nod, "Uncouple here and wait for me." Knight drew out the pin and carefully laid it on the draw bar. Andrews came back to the door of our car and opening it said in his ordinary tone, not a shade louder or more hurried than usual, "Come on, boys; it is time to go now." Our hearts gave a great bound at the word, but we rose quietly and followed him. Nothing in this was likely to attract the attention of the few passengers who still remained in the car; but it mattered little, for the time of concealment was now past. Andrews glided forward very swiftly, and Knight, seeing him coming, hurried on before and jumped on the engine, where he at once cut the bell rope and, seizing the throttle bar, [stood leaning forward with tense muscles, and eye fixed on the face of his leader.

[TO BE CONTINUED]

CHICAGO ON FOOT.

The Strike of Conductors and Cable Gripsmen Inaugurated.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The strike of street car conductors, drivers and cable gripmen on the North Side was inaugurated according to programme at 6 o'clock this morning. Not a car is running in the entire north division. The sidewalks have been filled with pedestrians in the business portion of the city since an early hour this morning. Express waggons and rattle-traps of all descriptions on which temporary seats have been fixed are being run by the brokers and others and are patronized to their fullest capacity. Thus far no violence on the part of the strikers has been reported and none is expected.

Much bitter feeling against President Yerkes and the cable road syndicate, growing out of the poor service rendered by them to their patrons, has been brought to a focus by the strike, and the public comment resulting is not favorable to the company. A suspicion exists that the strike is regarded as a boon by President Yerkes as affording an opportunity to alter the mechanism of the whole system. For this purpose a stoppage of some weeks is necessary, and could now be had without the odium which such a confession of failure would otherwise evoke. The real struggle will commence on Monday, when the company will probably attempt to run the horse cars.

PUNISHED BY FIRE.

Seven Persons Lose Their Lives in a Nebraska Farm House.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 6.—A special to The State Journal says that a family named Richter, farmers, living between Geneva and Ohlowa, consisting of the husband and wife and five children, were all burned to death with the exception of the husband, who was so seriously burned that he will probably die, at their home last night. A tramp who was spending the night with them was also burned to death. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the supposition is that it is another tribute at whiskey's shrine. The tramp had been around the neighborhood for some time and that day was drunk and Mr. Richter had also been drinking. It is supposed that the former may have gone to sleep while smoking and the fire thus originated. It was not discovered until the house and its entire contents were entirely consumed.

Fire at Rochesterville.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—A fire which broke out in Booth's lumber piles, on Richmond road, shortly after midnight, was alarming at first from its proximity to the suburb of Rochesterville, but it was put out in a couple of hours. Eighteen small lumber piles and the workman's frame dwelling were burnt. The loss is about $3,000; insured.

A $60,000 Fire.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 7.—Fitzgibbon & Crisp's carriage factory was destroyed by fire early this morning, causing a loss of $50,000, which is nearly covered by insurance.

A $60,000 Fire at Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The six-story building, 411 and 414 Atlantic-avenue, owned by Franklin King, was badly damaged by fire to-night. The total loss is placed at between $50,000 and $60,000 partly insured.

BARRY RESIGNS.

Another Vacancy on the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Oct. 6.—T. B. Barry, member of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor, has sent a lengthy letter addressed to the chairman and members of the general executive board of that order resigning his position as a member of the board. In his letter he scathingly arraigns the administration of the affairs of the Knights of Labor. He says that he cannot longer endure to be a witness to the many frauds and deceptions practised upon the innocent masses; that he finds to be one of the members of the general executive board is to be a party to fraud that leads the unthinking masses to hunger and social suffering with nothing for it but promises never intended to be kept. Mr. Barry says he desires to see the order live, but thinks it is impossible for it to survive another year under the methods now practiced by the present administration of the order, and that these practices must cease if the order is to live.

The chief qualifications, Mr. Barry asserts, for membership on the general executive board are falsity, deception and to be able to tyrannize over those whose privilege it is to bear assessments; "to solve the secret problem for ourselves and our families by seeing that the salaries of the board are paid." Instead of calling the general offices of the Knights of Labor "the headquarters of united labor," it would be appropriate, Mr. Barry declares, to call it "the luxurious home of rats."

Mr. Barry concludes as follows: "For my official acts I have neither apologies nor regrets to offer. I did the very best I could to serve the order, and no one can do more. I hope that the common sense of the masses will soon prevail and that the order may be saved from the rocks of destruction it has run against in the past few years."

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,875,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,337.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,140,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	193,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136 976 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,461 89	475,607 24	4,026 373 65
Total in 1887	$495 831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Included in Bengough's new programme is Mark Twain in a characteristic recital and Rev. Sam Jones will make a few impromptu remarks in gettin' thar. Secure your tickets at A. L. Davis & Co.'s book store. 1d

A Novel Curtain.

It is said the merchant tailors of Peterborough, who are organizing themselves into a Tailors' Exchange, intend presenting Bradburn's Opera House with a new drop curtain. It will be a grand affair, and altogether got up "regardless." Not that there is anything strange in that; but the novelty will consist in a list of the names of chronic deadbeats in Peterborough, who are proverbial for their failure to pay their tailors' bills. The names are to be placed in bold letters in columns down each side of the curtain. A member of the Chaugo solemnly assured the EXAMINER the other night that there was no joke in it; the tailors intended adopting this apparently only means of getting even with their delinquent customers. This means, if adopted, might prove a fitting punishment for deadbeats, but, it strikes us, it would be found rather difficult to carry out, and perhaps, not the least difficult thing would be to get the unanimous consent of the tailors to its adoption.

Preserving Autumn Leaves.

A correspondent asks instructions respecting the preserving of autumn leaves. The most important thing is to procure the leaves. To do this: first procure a pair of strong boots at the store of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, 376 george street, so that when autumn leaves and the drifting snows of winter and the sleety slush of spring may come, the serene soul may remain in a sound body. Remember—a $7,000 stock of superb boots and shoes, bought at ruination prices and sold at less than half wholesale cost. Strong boots, Sunday boots, ladies' boots, children's boots, in fact, boots and shoes of every kind at the very lowest prices. Because wheat may rise to 125 cents per bushel, that is no reason why you should waste money by paying double prices for boot and shoes to the high prices dealers. One by one the competitors of gough bros. are leaving the field. Old Mr. High Price is dead, but some of his children keep up a struggling existence, and these will soon pass away, leaving the gough bros. towering alone, a monument of low prices and big bargains. And their great boot and shoe sale is a terrible blow to high prices. Store—375 george street.

Drowned in a Tub.

The little daughter of Mr. Wm. Kempt, butcher, Ashburnham, met with a painfully sudden death Saturday evening in a rather peculiar manner. While the parents, who live on Lake street, a few doors south of Elizabeth street, were at tea the little one was missed but no alarm was felt on this account. In a few minutes a neighbor entered from the back door, and noticed the child's feet protruding over the edge of a tub that sat under a table in the kitchen. She at once pulled the little girl out of the tub, which was about three quarters full of water, and alarmed the family. Quickly a large number of people congregated from all around, and a doctor was summoned, kind friends in the meantime doing all in their power to resuscitate the little one. Dr. Clarke soon arrived and artificial respiration was kept up for fully half an hour, but to no purpose; the child was dead. The little girl's doll was in the water with her, and it is supposed she was trying to wash its face as she frequently did, and the doll, slipping from her fingers, floated to the far side of the tub, and in her efforts to recover it she became overbalanced and fell in in such a position that she could not rise again. Mr. and Mrs. Kempt are deeply grieved over the sad and untimely death of their darling little one, and they have the earnest sympathy of everyone in their bereavement. The funeral takes place this afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery.

The Extradition Proceedings.

On Saturday Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., received a telegram from the Deputy Minister of Justice requesting him to send a warrant, "re Greenfield's case," to government detective Rogers at Toronto. Mr. Dumble took the warrant up with him this morning. It seems that the Dominion government has made a requisition upon the United States government for Greenfield's extradition, the prisoner to be delivered to Chief of Police Rossal of Peterborough. This message would seem to imply that the Ontario government is taking the matter up. The papers had to be taken to Toronto to be certified, and Mr. Wood thinks that perhaps when the Ontario government authorities saw that a good case was made out they decided to help along the proceedings. What this request for a warrant for the government official means is not just clear, because the requisition is to deliver the prisoner to Chief Rossel, and only he could get him. However, it is apparent that the local government is interesting itself in the matter. When the requisition is acceded to by the United States authorities, and the extradition papers made out, Greenfield cannot be brought back until fifteen days afterwards, this time being given the prisoner to appeal, if he wishes. No further steps can now be taken until the U.S. government decides the question of extradition.

A Young Man's Happiness.

A Sermon on the Subject by Rev. M. L. Pearson.

The announcement that Rev. M. L. Pearson, pastor of the George street church, would preach on the subject of "A noble life blasted by women, wine and wealth," drew out a large congregation Sunday night. The edifice was crowded.

The text chosen was, 1st Chronicles, 28-9. Solomon meant prayerful. His early life was spent under the cultivating care of the best people of the day. When eighteen years of age he went out as far as Gibeon and the Lord said unto him, "Ask of me what shall I give." This question the Lord put to every young man and well will it be if they respond as Solomon did, "Give thy servant a wise and understanding heart." At the end of the eleventh year of his kingship the temple was finished. This was the Augustan age of Israelitish history, and Solomon was the Augustus. The king was at the pinnacle of greatness. The immense influence of the king and his country was then referred to, and the sudden blight that came upon the whole land at a time when the nation should have been advancing to still greater influence. Solomon lost his influence with his people and was tormented by foreign rulers, and when he woke up to the realization of his weakness he put forth his hand to feel for the wisdom that signalized his early days but

HIS LOCKS WERE SHORN.

He awoke to the discovery that awaits the sensualist, namely, that when the beast gets the better of the man, the man is forsaken of God. The Bible was explicit as to the causes of his downfall. He forsook God, entered into unholy alliances, became luxurious and licentious. Listen, young men, to a record of his sad experience. He is speaking. He travelled over the road you purpose going, drank at every fountain at which you intend to drink. What a noble beginning he had! The conclusion should be worthy its pure commencement. He was rich, cultured, intellectually great, a man of cultivated mind, skilled in the sciences, a sagacious politician, a wise magistrate, a powerful ruler, an eloquent orator. The experience of such a man is of immense value. The question "How can man be happy?" was the question of the ages. Men had sought for happiness everywhere, and though they failed to find it, they had an apology that seemed satisfactory. But Solomon went out on the search having every advantage. He sought everywhere—in learning, in wealth, in wine, in sensuality, in power, but he failed. He threw into the crucible and when the furnace had cooled, he looked at the residuum of all the costly ingredients, and cried out "Vanity!"; and before he left the laboratory he made ink of the ashes and wrote the saddest words of history. The preacher then exhorted the young men present to accept of the testimony of Solomon, without undertaking the terrible trial. Solomon condemned not scholarship, nor wealth, nor pleasure, nor ambition, but he pronounces these things, without God, incapable of satisfying the desires of the soul. There is danger ahead. Many bright mornings had ended in tumultuous sunsets. Enemies are watching the young men, who are beginning nobly the building up of a grand life plan, and are waiting to hiss forth their contempt, and as they pass by, wagging their heads, exclaim, "This man began to build, but was not able to finish." But God, if He is honored and trusted, will make life successful and useful and happy.

EVERYTHING HE HAD,

As the Dew Unto Israel.

Rev. F. McAmmond's Sermon at the Mark Street Methodist Church in Connection with the Anniversary Services.

The anniversary services of the Mark Street Methodist Church, Ashburnham, were held on Sunday, and will be concluded this evening by a tea-meeting in the village hall from 5.30 to 8 o'clock, followed by a meeting in the church, at which addresses will be delivered by Rev. Messrs. Pearson, Shorey and McAmmond.

The Sunday services were conducted by Rev. F. McAmmond, B.A., of Fenelon Falls, assisted by the pastor, Rev. A. C. Wilson. Rev. Mr. McAmmond preached the sermons, and excellent ones they were, both morning and evening.

In the evening he chose for his text a part of the 5th verse of the 14th chapter of Hosea: "I will be as the dew unto Israel." The preacher described the process of formation and distribution of natural dew, and its invigorating influences. The Lord had said He would be as the dew unto Israel, and this implied that there were parched and withered fields somewhere that needed freshening. The reverend speaker said that during the year he had heard reports of barren and withered fields, devoid of verdure and scorched by the heat, but he could present far more desolate scenes than these by pointing to the fields of the unconverted human heart. It is parched and withered by sin, it is so by nature, that he would despair entirely of ever seeing in it again any signs of verdure but for the promise of God in His own word. The speaker compared the hardness of the human heart to the rock under a waterfall that has withstood the rushing torrent for years and years. He had often wondered how it was that the rock had stood the strain for so many ages, but it was no more to be wondered at than what the human heart can stand without God and without any living hope in this world. But God had promised that His dew would fall on these parched fields; and, like the dew of nature, Jesus comes softly and imperceptibly. There was a mystery involved in conversion that could not be understood, just as there were mysteries in the creation. Conversion comes imperceptibly, conviction creeps over the soul softly, it cannot be perceived or the moment of full realization recognized, but, like the dew, it comes silently and surely and its effect is felt on the withered heart. The reverend speaker put the question plainly to the unconverted sinner, was Jesus seeking to enter his heart in that way now? if so, he urged him to open and receive the Saviour fully and entirely.

Another thought in connection with this was, where was the dew to be found most abundant? Not on the gravel walk or in high places, but upon the thirsty grass in the vale and garden that seems to drink in its life-giving freshness. So the dew of God's love descends most upon the thirsty soul of the seeking sinner, and not upon the hard, stony heart of the wicked. The pride of man must be humbled to the grass to receive

THE DEW OF LIFE.

Then the marvellous change the dew effects upon the grass that looks withered at night, but in the morning is refreshed by the dew that fell in the night, resembled the effects of Jesus' forgiveness and acceptance upon the human heart. The soul becomes renewed, as it were. Religion was one of the things that could not be kept to one's self, and a man's Christianity was patent to the unconverted world. The Christian knew that he had passed from death to life because of the transforming influence of God's gospel. Another thought was that this natural dew may instead become an injurious thing. If in descending it passes through hurtful vapors or too cold an atmosphere, it forms mildew, that is so injurious to the fields. So the dew of God's influence, if it meets with too cold indifference on man's part, is apt to turn to mildew and cause the ruin of the unconverted. Man may bring down his own doom by getting beyond the limit of God's patience, when his soul mildews and corrodes. In conclusion the reverend speaker urged the sinner to give God his heart and accept salvation. At the conclusion of the services a "dew-receiving" meeting was held for the parched souls of the unconverted who were seeking Christ.

THE GLORY OF MAN

"Did anyone remark that it was cold"?—Examiner Sept. 29.

Well, yes. Could anyone be found in our entire population who has not made use of the remark during the past few days?

And has there not been uppermost in everyone's mind the imperative necessity for warmer clothing?

Someone has said that the glory of man is in his strength; but if strength is to be maintained at this trying season of the year, warmer and heavier clothing must be worn.

The man who neglects to attend to this duty at once will discover that his glory has departed, as he finds himself ushered into the presence of Dr. Liverpills.

Therefore, before you spend the price of an entire warm winter outfit on medicine, which depletes the strength, obey the voice of common sense—go to T. DOLAN & CO.'S and buy yourself a set of warm flannels, and order a suit of heavy Tweed Clothes.

Better do it at once, too, rather than run the risk of staving it off from day to day, until you get sick.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

CUSTOMS DIFFICULTY FINALLY SETTLED.

The Argument in the Preeper Appeal Concluded in the Supreme Court—Resignation of a Popular Militia Officer.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9. The difficulty between the Stormont and Valleyfield Cotton Company and the Customs Department has been settled by the payment of full rates of duty and the penalty provided in such cases.

Sir A. P. Caron has returned to the city from Quebec.

Contracts for the St Lawrence improvements have not been awarded.

A Cabinet Council was held yesterday.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Chief Engineer of Government Railway, is expected home towards the end of the present week. He is just completing a tour of inspection of the Cape Breton and Intercolonial Railways.

Lieut.-Col. White, Deputy Postmaster-General, who has sent in his resignation to the Militia Department, is perhaps one of the most popular commanding officers in the Dominion. The Colonel has been associated with the Canadian Militia since 1859, and in 1884 commanded the Wimbledon team.

In the Supreme Court yesterday in the case of Preeper v. The Queen, Mr. Henry, Q.C., replied to the argument of the Attorney-General.

The case of Wyman v. the Imperial Fire Insurance Company was next taken up. Mr. Graham, Q.C., argued the appeal for appellants, and Henry for respondents.

The writ for Cariboo has been forwarded to the returning-officer, Mr. Stevenson, of Quesnelle, B.C. The election day will be fixed by him, he being authorized by law to select nomination and polling days. The nomination must, however, be not earlier than fifteen nor later than thirty days after the posting of the proclamation. The day for holding polls must be not earlier than fifteen nor later than thirty days after nominations.

The election in Shelburne has been postponed for a week—until the 22d—by the returning-officer, owing to delay in getting out the proclamation and the necessary time required by law not having intervened.

THE WHITEHALL INQUEST.

THE REMAINS WERE THOSE OF A FINE WOMAN.

Who Probably Occupied a High Social Position—Balfour Refuses Military Aid to the Clanricarde Evictors.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—At the inquest on the trunk of a woman found in a cellar in Whitehall on Tuesday last, surgeons who examined the remains testified that they were those of an unusually fine woman who had probably occupied a high social position.

Saturday's Daily Telegraph published two sketch portraits from descriptions of the man last seen in the company of the woman named Stride, one of the victims of the Whitechapel murder fiend. The result has been the unceremonious arrest of every man bearing any resemblance to the pictures, and a great deal of discomfort has been caused by this new phase of police activity. Many of the arrests are made by self-constituted detectives or ambitious vigilance committee. The victims are generally discharged from custody as soon as brought before a magistrate, but some are unlucky enough not to be able to satisfy the officials of the circuit and are subjected to more or less annoying detention. One of the men arrested carried a bag, in which was found a razor. This suspect is still held, and will have to give a very good account of himself and his razor. Another perplexity attending the Whitechapel muddle is due to the fact that the regular police do not know by sight the various amateur detectives, and the latter are occasionally "held up" and put to the embarrassment of explaining their presence and mysterious movements in the much watched district.

ANOTHER INQUIRY.

U. S. Senator Blair Throws for Information Touching Riel's Trial.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Blair (Rep., N.H.) offered a resolution, which was laid over till to-day, calling on the President for information as to the trial for treason, conviction and execution in Canada on Nov. 16, 1885, of Louis David Riel, who claimed to have been a naturalized citizen of the United States, and whether the proceedings in the case were according to due process of law, including the presentation of the fact of Riel's citizenship and defence of insanity.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Tariff Bill, the reading in full being dispensed with and the Senate substitute being ordered to be first considered. Mr. Harris asked Mr. Allison (in charge of the bill) to fix a time at which general debate on the bill should close. Mr. Allison declined and proceeded with the statement as to the bill.

A Tariff on Eggs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Senate Committee on Finance in charge of the tariff bill desires to have corrected an impression which prevails to the effect that it has added eggs to the free list. Since that time a gentleman residing at Kirksville had received a letter from the Oliver Chill Plow Company, denying the correctness of his statement and declaring that the works had little or no trade with Canada. He (Hatch) had to-day written to the Oliver Chill Plow Company, reiterating his statements and giving as his authority Mr. Washington, commercial agent at London, Ont. He read a report transmitted to the State Department by Mr. Washington, stating that the Oliver Chill plow, which in the United States cost $16, can be purchased in Canada for $12.

The criminal assizes opened yesterday. Mr. W. G. Murdoch having retired from the case, Mr. C. A. Durand, late of Galt, has been appointed by the Court to defend Thomas Buckley, charged with having murdered the young girl Bertha Usher last spring. The trial will take place on Wednesday.

THE GALT POISONING CASE

WHAT DR. ELLIS DISCOVERED YESTERDAY.

The First Chocolate Drop Examined Found to be Loaded with Strychnine—It Was Intended for the Ridleys.

TORONTO, Oct. 9.—One point in connection with the mysterious packages of confectionery sent through the postoffice from this city to Galt last week was definitely settled yesterday. The candy which caused the terrible death of little Meta Cherry was not the only one that contained a deadly poison.

Yesterday there came to Dr. Ellis the contents of the package sent to Mrs. Ridley and Mrs. Lovell—three candies being included in the former and five in the latter—and the viscera of the Cherry child. Dr. Ellis began an analysis at once of one of the candies sent to Mrs. Ridley and said last night that he found it contained strychnine in a quantity sufficient to cause death

It is evident, therefore, that it was only by reason of Rev. Mr. Ridley's caution in advising against eating the sweets that there was but one victim of the almost inconceivably inhuman crime or the terrible mistake.

The pasteboard boxes containing the poisoned candies were examined minutely in the Attorney-General's office. The pasteboard used in this amateur manufacture was formerly made into handkerchief boxes, or something of that sort. It has been cut down and the corners sewn together with white cotton thread. The sewing is neatly done, and the knot in the end of the thread is not one that would be tied by a man unaccustomed to handling a needle. If the box was made up by a woman the address was written by a man accustomed to writing. The handwriting is not disguised. Not only is the writing on all the boxes identical, but to anyone who has made chirography a study it is the work of a man evidently a mechanic or a farmer, a man whose hand is stiff, one who has not acquired the swing and ease of a penman. The address is written with an indelible pencil, while the names of the different members of the family for whom the candies were intended are written with an ordinary graphic pencil. This handwriting is also different, being somewhat angular, and this is an additional fact to show that there are two persons implicated, a man and a woman.

On the inside of one of the boxes is written in lead pencil, in a hand-writing altogether different from that on the candies or the address, this:

J. C., DUNDAS.

These are the initials of John Cherry, the father of little Meta, who several years ago was a resident of Dundas. Does this tend to prove that the author of the crime was a servant girl in the employ of Mr. Cherry while living in Dundas, who while there possessed herself of a box which had contained some articles purchased from a dry goods house? The girl might have come into possession of the box quite naturally, and when she had made up her mind to poison her former employer and his family had cut up the same box which had remained in her possession ever since. The man who addressed the boxes to Mr. Ridley, Mr. Cherry and Miss Lowell might have done so at her request and quite innocently too. There may be nothing in this, but it is a point that requires a satisfactory explanation. Then there is another bit of writing on the bottom of one of the boxes which might lead to something. This is the private mark of some dry goods house, either in Toronto or some other place.

Detective John Murray, the veteran officer of Ontario, has been put to work on the case.

AN ELECTION DODGE.

The New York Mail and Express's Latest from London.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A London despatch to The Mail and Express says it is reported that an angry exchange of communications has taken place between London and Washington with regard to President Cleveland's retaliation proposals. Under pressure exerted by the Canadian Government, Lord Salisbury has instructed the British Minister at Washington to protest against the retaliation message as an act of hostility toward a friendly government, and as also a breach of modus vivandi agreement which was made with Joseph Chamberlain, representing the British Government, by the Government at Washington.

Will the Mens Strike?

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—John R Halsey, jr., a young Brooklyn lawyer, has developed a new way to insure the freshness of the eggs consumed by people who are willing to pay extra for that guarantee. He is one of the incorporators of the Pioneer Fresh Egg Supply Company, of this city, which had been incorporated at Albany with a capital of $10,000.

This sum of money is to be invested in hens of fruitful nature and docile disposition, who are to be left at the homes of customers every evening in order that the eggs they lay over night will be ready for the breakfast table. Customers will pay a fixed rental for the fowls and take the chances of getting more or less than one egg per bird. The company will not be responsible for the failure of any particular hen to fulfil her duty, but will spare no effort to employ hens that will make a reasonable average.

The birds in the service of this corporation will have their throats operated upon so that they will not disturb the sleeping family at night and will be taken away each morning in the cagelike nest in which they will pass most of their time.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1888.

Lakefield's Excellent Exhibition.

A Successful one in Every Respect.

The annual exhibition of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society was held in the village on Thursday and Friday and was a better exhibition than last year, at least the entries were more numerous—634 as against 542 last year. The attendance was about 1,200 persons, the sum of $280 having been taken at the gates.

The show throughout was a good one. There was a fine show of cattle, not numerous but containing some splendid specimens, and, as is always the case at Lakefield, the horses were unusually good and, of course, the centre of attraction. The new grounds to the east of the railway track are a great improvement, showing the stock to better advantage and admitting of a better exhibition of goers in the new horse ring which is a very good one.

Inside the hall the display was excellent—in grains, fruit, vegetables and roots, the latter especially. Mr. R. Chapin, showed a collection of furniture, Mr. Henry Owens, Peterborough, pumps, Mr. C. C. McDonald, Chatham fanning mills, and Mr. W. Forsyth, Peterborough, Champion fanning mill and bagger. Mr. Crosby, town, showed two Uxbridge and one Doherty organ, Mr. Graham, of R. Graham & Son, showed the Karn organ, Mr. Hendricks, town, the White Sewing Machines, Mr. G. A. Mitchell, town, the New Williams machine and Thos Gordon exhibited a fine cameo. The Magic Bottle Imp.

A very amusing trick, by means of which the performer can do the most astonishing things. It is curiously and cleverly made, and is a regular brain puzzler. It will stand up as perfectly as an egg, and when it does it is impossible to make it lay on its side. But as soon as you take it in your hand, it will be very obliging, and lay on its side as long as you like. It causes heaps of fun, and wagonloads of merriment. Any one can perform it, as there is not a trick about it. The bottle can be handed to any one for examination. Each purchaser receives with each Bottle, Sample by mail, postpaid, 30 cents; 3 for 75 cents. One dozen, postpaid, 75 cents. w11d

DARING AND SUFFERING.

Andrews did not follow, but stood a step back from the locomotive with one hand on the rail, looking at his men as they ran forward. Brown and Wilson (the other engineer and fireman) darted forward at the top of their speed and took their post beside Knight on the engine. As soon as the last of us reached the hindmost box car We saw that its door was wide open. Whether this was a mere happy accident, or whether, as is more likely, Andrews had gone forward before we reached the station and opened it, with his usual audacity, I do not know. But he motioned with his hand to us saying, "Get in! Get in!" We needed no urging. The floor was five feet from the track, but most shoved and lifted the foremost and were themselves pulled up in turn. I helped to throw Shadrack up and had my arm almost pulled off as I was dragged in by him a second after. All this time a sentry was standing not a dozen feet from the engine quietly watching, as if this was the most ordinary proceeding, and a number of other soldiers were idling but a short distance away. All this work was of seconds only, and as the last man was being pulled in, Andrews stepped on board, and nodded to Knight, who had never taken his eyes from his face. Quick as a flash the valve was thrown open and the steam giant unchained—but for an instant which seemed terribly long the locomotive seemed to stand still; Knight had thrown the full power on too suddenly, and the wheels slipped on the track, whirling with swift revolutions and the hiss of escaping steam, before the inertia of the ponderous machine could be overcome. But this was an instant only; none of the soldiers had time to raise their muskets, give an alarm, or indeed to recover from their stupor before the wheels "bit," and the train shot away as if fired from a cannon!

We were now flying on our perilous journey. The door of the box car was pulled shut to shield against any shot that might be fired, but while partially opened afterward to give us some view of what was passing, it was always closed again whenever we neared a station."

THE START.

This capture was a wonderful triumph. To seize a train of cars in an enemy's camp, surrounded by thousands of soldiers, and carry it off without a shot fired or an angry gesture, was a marvelous achievement. There are times when whole years of intense enjoyment seem condensed into a single moment. It was so with us then.

CHAPTER IV.

THE FIRST STAGE OF THE RUN NORTHWARD.

Various manifestations of triumph were made as soon as we were off. Dorsey sprang to his feet, crying: "Boys! we are done playing reb. now! We are out and out Yankees from this time on." But George D. Wilson, who was older than the rest of us, cautioned him, saying: "Don't be too fast, Dorsey; we're not out of the woods yet."

And indeed it soon seemed as if we were to have serious trouble at the outset. The engine ran slower and slower, until it finally came to a full stop. We were not yet far from camp. There had been just one burst of speed, and then this sickening and alarming failure of power. We asked eagerly of those forward what it meant, and the answer was far from reassuring—"The steam has gone down." In a few moments we learned the reason. The dampers were closed on the engine fires when the stop for Big Shanty was made, and they were not opened by our boys in the hurry of the start; consequently, the fire was almost out. A little oil and some fresh wood promptly mended matters. No time was lost while stopping here in this enforced manner, for we had started ahead of time, and had leisure to obstruct the track. The telegraph wire was also cut. This was necessary, for though there was no office at Big Shanty, a portable battery might be found, or a swift messenger be sent back to Marietta, and a single lightning flash ahead would blight our fondest hopes. Breaking a wire is not as easy as it seems; but we adopted a plan which worked all day, and took up no time that was not also utilized for other purposes. John Scott, who was agile as a cat, ran up the pole, and knocking off the insulating box at the top, swung down on it. A small saw found on the engine easily cut the tightly stretched wire close to the box. This did not take more than one or two minutes.

At this first stop Andrews, who had not shared our uneasiness about the fire in the engine, came back and clasped our hands all cordsay, manifesting more excitement than I ever saw in him before; exclaiming that we had the enemy now at such disadvantage that he could not harm us or save himself. "When we have passed one more train," he declared, "we'll have no hindrance, and then we'll put the engine at full speed, burn the bridges after us, dash through Chattanooga and on to Mitchel at Huntsville. We have the upper hand of the rebels for once!"

By saying that we had only one more train to pass before doing this, Andrews did not mean that there was but one train coming toward us. There were three, which had already left Chattanooga; but only the first of these, a local freight, which might be met at any point between this and Kingston, was a real obstacle. Andrews knew the time-schedule of the other two, and could plan to meet them at any given station, even if we were far ahead of our own time. Had there been none but these three trains his triumphing would have been well warranted.

CHEESE MARKETS.

There was a boom in cheese at Utica yesterday and the dairy men are all happy. The demand for September stock has been very active in New York and prices made in all around advance of 1 c. In Ohio was very brisk and for the best factories there was such sharp competition that buyers paid more than New York quotations. It is predicted that the advance will be sustained. Transactions were 13,632 boxes, ruling price 10c. Transactions one year ago 13,523 boxes, ruling price 11¼c.

The figures at Little Falls last night show an advance of about 1¼ cents in cheese over those of last week. The market was very active all day. The transactions were 8747 boxes, ruling price 10½c. The sales of farm dairy cheese amounted to 876 boxes at 10½ to 10¾c, with the bulk at 10½c. Butter—123 packages of farm dairy butter sold at 21c to 22c, bulk 21c, and 15 packages of creamery at 21c to 22c.

Burglary at Orono Post-Office.

ORONO, Oct. 9.—About 2.20 yesterday morning burglars entered the post-office, blew open the safe and secured about $400 in cash and notes of an unknown amount. They were surprised in the act and fired several shots at their disturbers. The building front was badly wrecked by the explosion.

Very Sensible "Japs."

In Japan the old-school physicians are permitted to wear only wooden swords. This is a gentle sarcastic way of expressing the opinion that they kill enough people without using weapons. But the druggist who introduced Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery into the empire, carries a fine steel blade. It was found that all who tried this wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, consumptive tendencies, blood, skin and liver troubles, were, without exception, greatly benefitted. The Mikado himself is said to have "toned up" his system by its use, and the importer was therefore permitted the exceptional honor of wearing a sword of the nobility. b is nearly always induced by neglecting to keep the bowels regular, and is also a frequent sequel to dyspepsia or indigestion. Regulate the stomach and bowels by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which is certain to promptly relieve and ultimately cure the worst cases of constipation. 2dw40

Constipation

Tried and Proved

"I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint, and have proved it, after a fair trial, a sure cure, both in my own case and others of the family." Lauretta Wing, New Dundee, Waterloo Co., Ont. 2dw40

A Terrible Ten Years.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

A Plain Statement.

All poisonous waste, and worn out matter ought to escape from the system through the secretion of bowels, kidneys and skin. B. B. B. cleanses opens and regulates these natural outlets for the removal of disease. 2dw40

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPY OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,000 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $182,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,492 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,366 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,992,934 60
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,677 24	4,029,373 86
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,624 45	$10,873,777 60

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

It is not often that the opera season opens with a company of eighty people—direct from New York City. Such will be the case this season, when the J. C. Duff Comic Opera Company from the Standard and the Broadway Theatres, New York, will open the season at the Opera House on Monday, Oct. 15, under the management of Jas. W. Morrissey, in "A Trip to Africa," produced with all the superb scenery which made it famous at the Standard Theatre. "The rising of the Nile" and "The Interior of Africa" are among the finest scenic effects ever seen in New York. The costumes are of Oriental design, and of the most exquisite material. This opera will be a revelation—its magnitude, its merit and its grandeur stamping it as such. It comes under the auspices of the P.A.A.A., whose enterprise in bringing such a first class company to Peterborough should be rewarded by a bumper house. The people of Peterborough have a treat in this line in store for them, such as they have seldom before had the pleasure of witnessing. The plan of the hall is at Schofield's drug store. Prices—75, 50 and 35c; reserved seats extra.

A Peterborough Firm's Good Luck.

At least, some would call it good luck, but thinking people would call it good business practice. During the past month the sales of gough bros. have been enormous, and why?—because they sell the best of boots and shoes made, for rock bottom figures. That's the reason they succeed, that's the reason the customers throng their shop, 375 george street, day after day, and go away rejoicing carrying their bundles with them. No matter what envious, opposition dealers may assert, no matter what the high price Gradgrinds may say, gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, at 375 george street, sell the best and cheapest boots and shoes to be found in the town or country. Thousands of persons, stepping high (with pride), and dry, too, because they have the best of boots under them, testify to the truth of this claim. gough bros.' boots and shoes are the best—everybody says so, and what everybody says must be true. gough bros. don't buy printer's ink to print weak minded jokes. They deal in facts and the best and cheapest boots in the country, are a solid and undeniable fact.

Central Exhibition Directors.

The directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition met at the council chamber Monday afternoon. President Wm. Rutherford occupied the chair, and there were present, Messrs. Vance, McClelland, Baptie, G. W. Fitzgerald, Fair, Tully, Garbutt, and Secretary Collins. A protest of Mr. Pilkey against Mr. Lipsett entering his horse in the cheesebuyers' race, was on motion sustained, and Mr. Pilkey was awarded first prize. A protest entered by Mr. Redmond against first prize for Shorthorn cow with calf going to Mr. Lister's cow, was sustained until farther proof was shown to the contrary. On complaint of Mr. R. R. Hamilton against booth rent during the exhibition, his account was reduced from $115 to $105. The Secretary was instructed to award the Daubes prize of a bushel of potatoes for the best display of poultry, and he awarded the prize to Mr. Jas. Baptie. There was, besides, other minor business transacted. A large number of complaints regarding prize list errors, etc., were read and the wrongs righted. A large number of accounts were referred to a committee of the President, Secretary and Superintendent for endorsation and payment. The meeting adjourned at the call of the President.

Payton's Pumps.

In the EXAMINER'S notes of the exhibits at the recent Central Exhibition, omission was made of Mr. James Payton's display. His pumps, which were an excellent lift and an equally fine force pump, were not with the other exhibits, but in a well near the stock stables, and thus they were overlooked, which should not have been done, as these pumps attracted much attention and commendation.

A Post Office Burglarized.

The Orono post office, kept by Mr. Robt. Moment, was entered by burglars Sunday night. The safe was drilled and blown open with powder, the thieves getting over $800 in cash and a number of checks and registered letters. The explosion awakened several of the villagers, who hastened to the spot, but some revolver shots from the burglars drove them back and gave the thieves a chance to escape.

A Port Hope Sensation.

The Port Hope Times publishes a sensational story about a case of vitriol-throwing that occurred in that town Saturday afternoon. The story is that a young woman who had been wronged and deserted by a young man of her acquaintance met the author of her downfall and disgrace on the street and, driven to desperation, she attempted to throw a bottle of vitriol over him. A struggle ensued in which the man mastered the woman and the deadly liquid was split on the ground. The wronged woman threatens to foll w her traducer to the ends of the earth if he does not repair the injury, and the young man is disposed to come to terms in consequence.

A Cow as a Racer.

Here is an awful warning against Sunday bicycling. Last Sunday forenoon a member of the club who pretends to "go" a bit went out for a little spin, and in the course of his perginations came across a cow that was peacefully grazing along the roadside. The cow gave a snort of contempt at the "manbeen" and its rider, and undertook to lead the wheelman a pace. This she did so well that she left the bicycle far behind, its rider much chagrined at being beaten by a cow.

The Trent Valley Canal.

A correspondent of the Empire, who accompanied the T.V.C. Commission on their trip from Peterborough to Trenton last week, writes an account of the trip, and concludes as follows:—The part of the canal from Healy's Falls to Trenton will be relatively the heaviest portion of the work, and involving many feet of lockage. It is divided into two sections; the first, or most northerly one, commences at Middle falls and extends to Hoard's creek, where it debouches into Percy Reach, following the line of the valley of Hoard's creek, leaving Campbellford to the west. The canal, reaching Percy Reach, there is again a navigable stretch, passing through one lock at Chisholm's rapids, thence to near the village of Frankford, from which point to the Bay of Quinte at Trenton a canal will have to be built to avoid the numerous rapids that are encountered between these points. At Trenton the Bay of Quinte is reached, which is land-locked and protected from the winds which sweep Lake Ontario. The commissioners have now completed their inspection of the proposed route of the canal. They will probably meet at Trenton early in November for the taking of evidence. Notice of the date will be given when fixed.

Preparing for Housekeeping.

The matrimonial season has begun. In proportion as the thermometer declines so does the matrimonial fever increase. And the scores of young persons who are getting married, of course, must begin housekeeping. The wisest step they can take is to go straight to Belleghem, the furniture king. At his warerooms they can find a complete outfit of the best furniture, made to answer every requirement from parlor to pantry. Parlor furniture, a splendid variety, to answer the capacity of every house. Bedroom furniture of the completest kind, and diningroom and hall furniture in all styles, and at varying prices—all the best of the kind, and all sold at the lowest possible figure for first-class goods. Enough for each; enough for all—"No pent up Utica contracts his powers"—with the large addition to his buildings and his manufacturing facilities, Belleghem is in a position to accept all orders and execute them with punctuality. He has one of the largest, most complete, best equipped factories in the province, and his warerooms are amongst the largest in Ontario, while his stock of furniture, for variety, completeness and reasonableness of price, cannot be surpassed. Buying furniture is something like buying a farm—one transaction lasts a long time. Therefore, he that is wise will make no mistake; and he will make no mistake by going direct to Belleghem, the furniture king, and get lasting, well-made furniture, which will last for years and years. It is strongly made, the wood is thoroughly seasoned, and only the best machinery and most skilled workmen are employed in its construction.

Their Anniversary Tea.

The tea-meeting Monday evening in connection with the anniversary services of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, was a pronounced success. Tea was served in the village hall opposite the church from 6 to 8 o'clock, and the numbers who attended and partook of the recherche viands spread by the ladies of the congregation were phenomenally large. The four large tables were filled at first and others came afterwards. The menu was excellent and ample, and enough was left from the feast to supply a social for the children that is to be held tonight. After supper the people repaired to the church, where a programme of music and speeches was rendered. Dr. Goldsmith occupied the chair and made a few appropriate opening remarks. Then the large and well-trained choir rendered an anthem which was well received. Rev. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, made a neat address, followed by a vocal duet by Messrs. H. S. Armstrong and Best. The Rev. F. McAmmond, B.A., of Fenelon Falls, was next called on and he made a humorous speech full of interesting and amusing anecdotes. A quartette was then given by Messrs. Armstrong, Hill, Best and Wilson with good effect, after which Rev. M. L. Pearson, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference and pastor of the George street church, delivered an excellent address combining humor, wisdom and instruction. The choir rendered another selection, and the meeting was brought to a close by Rev. A. C. Wilson, pastor of the church, moving a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening, the choir, the ladies of the church who had provided the tea and upon whom the success of the anniversary largely depended, and to Mr. Armstrong (of the C.P.R.) who had kindly presided at the organ during the evening. The motion was seconded by Mr. Johnston and carried with hearty unanimity. The anniversary was a decided success, the tea-meeting netting the handsome sum of $75.

Repairs at the Locks.

It has been found impossible to make the necessary repairs to the dam at the locks just now. The water was let out of Little Lake by Mr. R. B. Rogers, engineer, to ascertain the extent of the repairs necessary, and these were found to be greater than was at first anticipated. The apron of one of the sluices had been carried away by the ice in spring, and the stone pier completely undermined. These, with other smaller repairs, would require at least three or four weeks to complete, but, owing to the high water, they cannot be made yet. It is not likely anything will be done this season till navigation closes.

—To-night a formal reception to the new Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., Mr. Harbison, will take place at the residence of the President, Mr. Geo. M. Roger.

Church Congregational Meetings.

St. John's Church, Peterborough.

Rev. J. W. R. Beck, rector of Peterborough, being in bad health and unable to attend to his ministerial duties, a meeting of the congregation was, under the circumstances, convened last night. There was a very large representation of the congregation present. Dr. Burnham, the Rector's churchwarden, occupied the chair. There was very little subject for discussion, but a six months' leave of absence was granted to the Rector, to enable him to seek the benefit to be derived from a change of scene and climate. The question of an interim supply of the vacancy was not decided; it was left to future deliberations. Several names were mentioned, but, pending a definite selection, any announcement would be premature.

St. Luke's, Ashburnham.

A large and representative meeting of the members of St. Luke's church met in the school room last evening to consider what arrangements should be made on account of Mr. Bradshaw's enforced absence during the coming winter on account of ill health. John Burnham, Esq., occupied the chair and in calling the meeting to order spoke in a feeling manner of Mr. Bradshaw's services in the past in connection with St. Luke's. A resolution of condolence and sympathy with the rector and his family was unanimously passed, and a committee elected to give effect to it in a tangible way. The selection of a locum tenens was left in the hands of the rector. The large attendance present, the unanimity concord and harmony which existed throughout the meeting and none of all the speeches made, speak plainly of the respect in which Mr. Bradshaw is held by the members of his church and the hold he has won on their affections, and that their sympathy is true and generous is shown by their hearty acceptance of the various propositions laid before the meeting. It is sincerely hoped that a residence for the next six months in the genial climate of California will renew the strength and vigor of Mr. Bradshaw so that he will be able to renew his work and ministrations amongst the members of his congregations at the expiration of that time.

Sherbourne Street Church, Toronto, was crowded to its utmost capacity on the occasion of Fred. Archer's first appearance this season. So that none may be disappointed, the admission has been placed at the nominal amount of—children, two tickets 25c.; adult, 25c. St. Paul's Church, Tuesday, Oct. 16th. 1d

A Trio of Accidents.

This forenoon Mr. George Davis, an employe of the Dickson mills, had the little finger of his right hand taken off in the shingle jointer.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. John Cushing, while working in the same mill, had his right hand badly cut on a small circular saw. The hand was cut through the palm but none of the bones were injured and the wound will soon heal.

On Saturday Harry Williams lost the top of his thumb in a planing machine at Stabler & Donnel's mill.

The Manufacturers Accident Insurance Company, Wilson & Morrison agents, have cheap rates and large indemnities. No one should be without an accident policy.

—Only three lacrosse clubs, Fergus, Brampton and Orillia, turned up at the play-off in the intermediate championship of the C.L.A. at Toronto Monday. Orillia beat both teams.

THE GLORY OF MAN

"Did anyone remark that it was cold"?—Examiner Sept. 29.

Well, yes. Could anyone be found in our entire population who has not made use of the remark during the past few days?

And has there not been uppermost in everyone's mind the imperative necessity for warmer clothing?

Someone has said that the glory of man is in his strength; but if strength is to be maintained at this trying season of the year, warmer and heavier clothing must be worn.

The man who neglects to attend to this duty at once will discover that his glory has departed, as he finds himself ushered into the presence of Dr. Liverpills.

Therefore, before you spend the price of an entire warm winter outfit on medicine, which depletes the strength, obey the voice of common sense—go to T. DOLAN & CO.'S and buy yourself a set of warm flannels, and order a suit of heavy Tweed Clothes.

Better do it at once, too, rather than run the risk of staving it off from day to day, until you get sick.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

THE GALT POISONING CASE

CONTINUATION OF THE INQUEST INTO META CHERRY'S DEATH.

Mrs. Cherry the Only Witness Examined. The Fatal Drug Evidently Intended for Her—The Inquest Adjourned.

GALT, Oct. 10.—The intense excitement which has prevailed here ever since the poisoning of the Cherry family last week was fanned to a greater heat by the news that Dr. Ellis' analysis had disclosed the presence of strychnine in one of the candies sent to Mrs. Ridley. Long before the re-opening last night of the inquest into the death of little Meta Cherry the room was packed with an anxious throng which listened with eager interest to every word of the evidence.

Mrs. John Cherry was the only witness examined. Her evidence was mainly in corroboration of that of Mr. Cherry and their niece, given at the previous hearing. The witness testified that the candy, which had the bitter taste and is supposed to be the one which contained the fatal drug, was labelled with the word "Mama" and was evidently intended for her.

The inquest was adjourned for ten days in order to obtain the analyst's report upon the viscera.

All sorts of theories and surmises are afloat as to the perpetrator of the cowardly and dreadful crime but there is not the slightest clue as yet to his identity. Many believe that there were two persons concerned in the plot, a man and a woman, and claim in support of their theory that the boxes containing the candies were sewn too neatly to have been made by a man, while the handwriting of the addresses is apparently that of a man.

A substantial reward for the discovery of the criminal will probably be offered at once.

An Important Discovery.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—While in conversation with Mr. Johnston, Deputy Attorney-General, a reporter asked to be allowed to make another examination of the boxes. Mr. Johnston immediately unlocked a drawer and handed over the box which contained the poisoned candy addressed to the Cherry family. After a few minutes of minute examination, the reporter discovered that there was something most peculiar, about this particular box which had never been noticed before. This peculiarity thoroughly convinced the reporter that this box and its contents came originally from Galt. It was sent to Toronto by mail, addressed to some person in this city in league, and the person in Toronto, so doubt, carrying out instructions, re-directed it to Mrs. John Cherry, in Galt. The peculiarity is this: the box has been through the mails before. When first received in Toronto it was evident that the directions had been written on the top of the box, which had been encased in paper but had simply been tied with a string. The party in Toronto attempted to obliterate the first address, stamp and post-marks by pasting a sheet of notepaper carefully cut to the proper size across the lid of the box. After doing this it was found that the address, though dim, could be read. Other pieces of white paper were again pasted over the address, and the stamp, which, of course, completely hid the first address or the addresses of the party in Toronto. On these pieces of paper were put a six cent stamp and the address in indelible pencil, as has been described. The reporter, when he found that the cover of the box had been pasted, attempted to raise the piece, upon which the address was written, with the object of seeing what was under it. He had just separated it far enough to see part of the faint writing under the piece, when Mr. Johnston thought it inadvisable to go further, that it had better be left to Detective Murray to handle, so that the detective could go into the witness-box in connection with the matter. When these pieces of paper have been separated by means of steam, the person who was used as the medium in Toronto will be known. It is a significant fact also that this is the same box containing on the inside of the lid the writing, "J. C., Dundas."

Policeman Jarvis of Keve-on Noticed Found Drunk in a Disreputable House.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Policeman Richard Jarvis, who attained such notoriety in connection with the arrest and conviction of the Rev. W. F. Wilson for disorderly conduct has got himself into a serious scrape, but will probably result in his dismissal. Jarvis was on night duty, and being attached to No. 2 Division reported off duty at Agnes-street station at 7 yesterday morning. At 9 o'clock Inspector Ward proceeded to Jennie Manning's notorious house 52 Albert-street, and there found Policeman James and another officer named Titley lying in a state of semi intoxication on the lounges in one of the rooms. The Inspector aroused the two men and ordered them up to the station. He accompanied them thither, and once inside he suspended them from duty to await the pleasure of the Chief, to whom he reported the matter later in the day.

A CASE TO BE STATED.

Manitoba's Application re Crossing the C.P.R. to go Before the Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—The Privy Council Railway Committee held an important meeting yesterday. There were present Hon. J. H. Pope, Sir John Thompson and Hon. John Carling. Sir John Thompson read a memorandum giving the conclusion arrived at by the ministers concerning the application of the Attorney-General of Manitoba to the Railway Committee for permission to construct a crossing over the tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The committee deem the question raised by counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway in opposition to the application to be of so much importance, as affecting this and other applications, that they have decided to adopt the course permitted by section 19 of the Railway Act of 1888. They will therefore state a case for the opinion of the Supreme Court of Canada as to the authority of the Attorney-General of Manitoba to construct the railway referred to in his application under the Manitoba Act.

Mr. T. Murray who is interested in two three vessels, Ben Hur, Dart Russell and Grace Amelia at Algoma, had an interview with the Deputy Minister of Justice yesterday. After the facts had been stated Mr. Murray was asked to furnish information as to the quantity and value of the wrecking material brought into Canadian waters and also the extent of repairs made to the three vessels while in American territory, setting aside the question of insanity of the president of the wrecking company. The offence committed seems to be that they went into American waters as Canadian vessels, purchased a lot of material in order to make repairs, and on coming into a Canadian port they were liable for duty on such repairs. Then they neglected to make a report to the customs officer. In addition to this they brought wrecking material into Canadian waters. It is held that in the eyes of the law they are still Canadian ships.

The Inland Revenue Department finds that certain men make a practice of sending out names of parties who have claims for a refund from the Government. The Minister has in his possession undoubted evidences that a system of blackmail has been carried on by these men successfully in many cases.

Hon. J. Costigan, Minister of Inland Revenue, is considering the grain standard for Northwest wheat and it is understood the one agreed to by the boards of trade last year will be acted on this year.

Sir John Thompson entertained at dinner to-night a party of sixteen barristers attending the Supreme Court.

CHURCH OF OUR IMMACULATE LADY.

The Magnificent Catholic Edifice to be Dedicated at Guelph To-Day.

GUELPH, Oct. 10.—The Church of Our Lady Immaculate, the main part of which has been in process of construction the last four years, will be dedicated to the worship of God this morning.

Among the many churches recently built or in progress, few will surpass in size, and certainly none west of Montreal in the magnificence and purity of its architecture, the temple of worship which now towers aloft on the Catholic hill, with its stately gables and lofty pinnacles.

The magnificent building which nowadorns the hill was resolved on, and the foundation stone was laid on July 5, 1877, by Monsignor Conroy, the Apostolic Delegate, who visited Guelph specially to perform this work. With him were the late Archbishop Lynch, Toronto; the late Bishop Brinnon, of Hamilton diocese; Bishop Walsh, of London, who will preach the dedicatory sermon; the late Bishop Jamot, of Peterboro; and a large number of priests.

Designed in the Gothic style, which obtained in Europe towards the close of the 13th century, that splendid period of Ecclesiastical art, it takes generally the form of the Latin Cross, and is composed of spacious nave and chancel, boldly defined transepts, north and south aisles, baptistry and chapels with great twin bell towers, etc. Internally and externally the new church is magnificent in every detail. It has a splendid organ.

The cost of the church, when completed, including the spires, altars, frescoing, stained glass, organ, peals of bells, church furniture, etc., will probably reach $200,000.

ST. CATHARINES.

William Cummings Pleads Guilty to a Charge of Burglary—R. of L. Funds.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 9.—William Cummings, a young colored man, was arraigned before the police magistrate this morning, charged with burglary and assault at the residence of Hattie Campbell. He pleaded guilty to trespass only, and the case was adjourned until to-morrow for evidence. Subsequently he sent word to the magistrate that he would plead guilty, but the magistrate would not re-open court. He will therefore be sentenced to-morrow. Cummings served a term of three years in the penitentiary for a murderous assault on Miss Graydon some years ago. He also assaulted an aged woman named Carroll about the same time, and was awarded two years for that offence, or five in all.

There is trouble about the funds of the Knights of Labor. To-day Mr. Thomas McGachie was arrested on a charge of misappropriating or refusing to hand over some $300 of the funds of the District Assembly.

A Cook's Unfortunate Marriage.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 10. Last night Joseph Fletcher, a purser on one of the boats plying to this port, was arrested on a charge of bigamy. The complainant is wife No. 2, who is at present employed as cook in the National Club at Toronto. Her maiden name is Annie Campbell, and she is worth considerable money. She married the prisoner in Rochester after a short courtship, and right here is a very nice point in law. The second marriage, which constitutes the crime of bigamy, was celebrated in the States, but the charge is laid in Toronto, where Fletcher will be tried. It is a mooted point whether the Canadian court has any jurisdiction over him. It is claimed by the counsel for Mrs. Fletcher No. 2 that if all the witnesses can be got together in Toronto the man will be tried there.

CARLESS CHICAGO.

Turbulent Scenes in the Windy City—Sisters Clubbed and Arrested.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—When the street-car strike began it was stated on behalf of the strikers that no violence would be permitted and that no obstruction other than that of moral suasion upon those who should take the strikers' place would be used to prevent the companies from running cars. So far as the strikers themselves are concerned this promise seems to have been carried out, but the bitterness of feeling towards the management of the lines appears to increase as the time passes and the contagion gives evidence of spreading to the outside elements in the population, which are not under the strikers' control. It is from this element especially that the police look for trouble. Monday the crowds which congregated along the lines, where the cars were being run along the north side, contented themselves by hooting, etc. This was renewed with increased violence yesterday morning, and in the afternoon it developed into the placing of obstructions on the track and collisions with the police. At Garfield-avenue and Larrabee-street a number of boys laid a large plank across the track and fastened it securely by iron spikes. The strikers themselves took no part in the work but did not interfere with the lads. When the Garfield-avenue cars came from their down trip they were stopped by the obstacles. Strikers immediately surrounded the vehicles and commenced their appeals. Under these influences three of the drivers left the cars and went over to the strikers. The seceders were born on the shoulders of the crowd to a saloon where their pockets were filled with cigars.

The success of this action led others to follow the boys' example and a riot resulted. The streets were jammed with a howling mob and the tracks were covered with obstructions. Some employes of the road and officers removed the debris, but as fast as it was taken away it was replaced. The mob became so great that the sergeant in command of the men ordered a charge. The officers responded with a will and made a rush, using their clubs freely. Men, boys and women were h... A woman named Wide, who was particularly demonstrative against the new men, was badly hurt by a severe blow. Three men who were caught spiking the rails at Halsted-street were arrested.

Altogether about fifteen cars were run at irregular intervals on the North Side during the day. Everywhere the new drivers and conductors were greeted with hisses from the crowd who filled the streets. Very few people rode in the cars.

A disturbance marked the ending of the trip of the West Side cars this evening. A dense mob obstructed the police laden cars on the down trip. After passing Halstead-street nothing serious happened until the cars were approaching the western terminus on the return. Then the crowd surged around the conveyances in such a compact mass that it was impossible for the horses to move. A platoon of police with clubs forced a way for the leading car but the one following was brought to a stop. A wooden wedge had been suddenly inserted in the Western-avenue switch by some person in the mob. Superintendent Nagel was the driver of the disabled car. He seemed to be the object of special dislike from the strikers and their sympathizers. In a moment after the car stopped the vicinity was a pandemonium, stones and sticks were hurled at the car and the air rang with yells and curses and a flying brick caught the Superintendent in the stomach. Uttering an oath he pulled a revolver from his overcoat pocket and turned menacingly toward the crowd. Conductor Harris who had been discharged by the Company for cause long before the strike but reemployed in the emergency, quickly followed the example of the Superintendent. They were promptly disarmed by the police. Nagel left the car and when off his guard a moment received a stunning blow on the jaw from a heavy built man. A general scrimmage ensued in which Nagel and his brawny assailant were roughly handled. The latter, a Chicago and Northwestern switchman named Gleason, had to be mercilessly clubbed and then sat upon in the patrol wagon by half a dozen policemen before he could be subdued. Others were scarcely less determined and but for the fact that all appeared to be unarmed they would have scarcely finished without the sacrifice of a number of lives.

One of the cars on the north side came near going into the river with its load of passengers, most of whom were women. There is a steep grade leading to the State-street bridge and just as the car started down this incline the bridge began to turn to let a vessel through. The driver became panic stricken and forgot how to use the brake and the car moved with accelerating speed toward the open draw. The women screamed and fainted and some of them fell off the car. The bridge tender, at the risk of having the structure run into by the approaching vessel, closed the draw as quickly as possible but only in time to catch the descending car which was on the brink.

Blair's Riel Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The resolution offered by Mr. Blair calling on the President for information in the matter of the trial, conviction and execution of Riel for high treason in Canada in 1885 was taken up in the Senate yesterday and a long statement in reference to it made by Mr. Blair who based the resolution on the ground that Riel was a naturalized American citizen. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the tariff bill.

The Bears' Day at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—There was fair trading yesterday in wheat on speculative account at lower and irregular prices. The sentiment to some extent has changed to the bear side and there was more general disposition to sell. Local traders sold freely, and the buying was credited to a considerable extent to outsiders and to parties who had sold Monday or early yesterday morning, and who had profits in their transactions. But the feeling was unsettled and fluctuations again covered a wide range. The decline from Monday's outside point was 10½ cents.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

QUEEN VICTORIA REVELLING IN THE EARLY WINTER.

Gossip About German Royalties—Improvements in the Phoenix Park—The Late Lord Alfred Paget's Wealth.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Queen is enjoying the best of health, revelling in the early winter with its unheard of cold. She comes south in November. She has been taking drives and walks daily during the heavy snowstorms and cold of last week and has been putting the strength and endurance of her ladies-in-waiting to a very severe test.

The death of Mrs. Hull at Windsor on Sept. 24 was a great sorrow to the Queen and her family. She was nurse to the royal children from the time the Prince of Wales was three months old till 1856 and had frequently taken care of the children of the Empress Frederick, the Prince of Wales and the Grand Duchess Alice of Hesse. After her marriage she lived at Windsor and was often visited by the Queen during her illness. Her little house was a model of neatness and was full of presents given during her life by the Queen and the royalties.

Dr. Geffcken has been a great deal in England, and has some friends here who are much attached to him. Though conservative in his leanings, he has taken on all occasions the opposite side to Prince Bismarck, with whom he is very unpopular. The real secret of his disfavor with Prince Bismarck and the Emperor lies in the fact that he was a strong outspoken admirer of England and English institutions.

Sir Morell Mackenzie's book on the Emperor Frederick's illness will create a lively state of things if he publishes all he can—all he would be justified in publishing—in self-defense. If he tells the true story of how the operation for tracheotomy was performed at San Remo, and how the canula was inserted by Dr. Bergmann, and what was the immediate consequence of each operation, he will tell a story that will strengthen the belief that, had the Emperor been an ordinary patient, he might still be living.

A great deal of nonsense appears about the postponement of the Empress Frederick's visit to England. The personal movements of the Empress are said to be subject to pressure amounting to coercion. It is a pity that the offensive fictions should be circulated. The fact is, the empress was so much engrossed in arranging her affairs that it was impossible for her to visit Scotland last month. It was not worth while for her to come over when all of her pressing business had been disposed of, as she wished to be at Potsdam Thursday week—the 57th anniversary of her husband's birthday. Her Majesty also decided to pass a fortnight at Kiel with Prince Henry, after which she goes to Berlin to establish herself in the crown princess' palace. On Nov. 12 she starts for England.

Emperor William has privately intimated an intention of visiting England next year, but not before the middle of June. He will visit the King of the Belgians at Brussels about the same time.

The latest photographs received by Col. Gouraud are much superior to their forerunners. The voice can now be reproduced in sufficient volume to be heard all over the room. Col. Gouraud is busily engaged in making up records for America. Mr. Edison will soon be able to hear a song by Sim Reeves, a sermon by Spurgeon, an original composition by Sir Arthur Sullivan, and Queen Elizabeth's thanksgiving speech as delivered in Drury Lane by Miss Ada Neelson.

Mme. Treballi, after a prolonged and severe illness, is entering into convalescence. With an exceptionally vigorous constitution she will keep on. I have known her for 25 years, and never knew her to be ill before.

Lord Alfred Paget's intimate friends were surprised to learn that he died rich. His personalty is sworn at £107,000.

EDMUND YATES.

CANADA AND GREAT BRITAIN.

Their Relations Talked of at Gloucester—Alberta Cattle Give Good Satisfaction.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The First Lord of the Treasury's speech at Gloucester has greatly gratified Canadian circles, as calculated to prove to the United States how unitedly Canada and Britain stand. Mr. Smith's reference to the magnificent moderation and judgment on the part of Canada in the present crisis, entitling her to the admiration of the world, is only an echo of the general British feeling where the dispute is understood.

The Alberta cattle from the new Oxley ranche arrived in Liverpool ex steamer Canopus in good condition. The mortality during the voyage was under three per cent. They are described as sound, healthy cattle. The ranche company feel confident that they will find a profitable market in Britain. The excellent quality of the meat is destroying the present prejudice to the peculiar color.

At the meeting of the Alberta Railway Company of New Brunswick yesterday, the bondholders authorized a committee to bid for the railway at the coming sale, with a view to the formation of a new company.

A HAPPY FAMILY.

The Leader of the British House of Commons on International Questions.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—W. H. Smith, in a speech at Gloucester, said the Canadians were willing to bide their time because they knew that after the presidential election in the United States they would obtain a just and fair arrangement of the fisheries trouble. The people of England, America and Canada were too good friends to quarrel over a question of this kind.

Mr. Smith denied the truth of the report that the British Government intended to hand Bechuanaland over to the Government of Cape Colony.

Seized by the Police.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—The police have seized the remaining copies of The Deutsche Rundschau, which contained the extracts from the diary of the late Emperor Frederick.

Special Meeting of the Council—More Water Service Wanted—The Town Officers Appointed—Natural Gas for Peterborough.

At the special meeting of the Town Council Monday night there were present: Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. Bartley, Kendry, Langford, Moore, A. Hall, R. H. D. Hall, Kelly, Winch, Davidson and Cahill.

A communication was read from Mr. R. E. Edwards, town solicitor, reporting proceedings that had been taken for the extradition of Greenfield.—Received.

From Mr. S. Ray, applying for Hilliard Manns for balance of year at half rate.—Received.

The Mayor said he had received a communication from Mr. Geo. Hilliard, per Hoston & Wood, solicitors, objecting to the building of a sidewalk on Railway street, which he claimed was his property.

Mr. KENDRY explained that Mr. Hilliard objected merely because he wanted his claim to the property recognized. The property belonged to him, but he had given it to the railway company for railway purposes, and if it was not used for such the property would revert to him. The Auburn Company had a lease of the property for ten years, but Mr. Hilliard was afraid if a sidewalk was laid down it might be claimed as a public highway. Mr. Kendry said Mr. Hilliard merely entered the objection in order that no misunderstanding might arise in future.

The matter was left over till later on.

The report recommended that Constable Adams be granted $60 for extra services in 1887; also that $60 be given to the Peterborough Protestant Home for board of Rose Malone.

The report was adopted.

HYDRANTS.

Mr. A. HALL presented the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, recommending that the petition of Messrs. Geo. Stethem, F. Hamilton and others be granted except as to the placing of the hydrant, which they recommended be placed on the corner of Sherbrooke and Aylmer streets; recommending also that the petition of Mr. A. P. Ponsette and others for water mains on Park and Charlotte streets be granted.

Messrs. G. W. HATTON and PETER HAMILTON were heard with reference to the petition reported upon. They stated that the residents on Sherbrooke street could not procure good well water, and they wanted the water works. The Water Company refused to extend the mains on Sherbrooke street unless the hydrant was placed in the middle of the block, on the ground that there would be no reasonable return for the outlay. The one hydrant in the middle of the block would afford ample fire protection, and as the block was about three times as large as an ordinary one, there would actually be a saving of a hydrant, in view of the system generally followed out of placing a hydrant on every corner.

On motion of Mr. Langford, seconded by Mr. Winch, the report was amended by providing for a hydrant in the middle of the block instead of at the corner.—Carried.

Mr. E. C. HILL was also heard with reference to the water privileges on the west end of Brock street. The residents last spring sent in a petition, but nothing more was heard of it, and he was there to enquire if the council did not intend to help them any.

On motion of Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Kendry, the matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to report at next meeting.

THE TOWN OFFICERS.

Mr. Kendry presented the following report:—

To the Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee on Appointments and Supervision of Police beg leave to recommend the following appointments:

That Mr. C. McGill be appointed Town Treasurer at a salary of $300 per annum, Mr. McGill to furnish bonds to the satisfaction of the council.

That Mr. James G. Macdonald be appointed Town Clerk and Clerk of the Police Court at a salary of $800 per annum, Mr. Macdonald to give bonds for the sum of $2,000, satisfactory to the council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES KENDRY,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The by-law providing for the above appointments was then given its several readings and passed, the Treasurer's bonds being fixed at $5,000, in addition to his own bond for $10,000.

MOTIONS.

Mr. Kendry moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley,—That the account of T. Dolan & Co., for police clothing, be paid.

Mr. DAVIDSON contended that the motion was out of order, as there was already a by-law providing for the payment of the clothing by the police themselves.

The motion was left as a notice of motion.

Mr. Kelly moved, seconded by Mr. A. [illegible] that a hydrant be placed on the corner of Hunter and Park streets.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mr. Moore moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that [illegible] Streets and Bridges place a [illegible] this is called Railroad street, [illegible] Water street and the old railway [illegible] Hilliard's mill; but [illegible] the communication of Mr. [illegible] provided that the laying of [illegible] not in any way prejudice the [illegible] Hilliard in the land nor give the town any right thereto.—Carried.

NATURAL GAS.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the council appropriate a sum not exceeding $2,000 for the purpose of exploring for natural gas within the corporation of the town of Peterborough or within such distance of the said town as may be approved by the Finance Committee; which committee shall have control of the expenditure of the above money; such committee, however, to make all reasonable inquiry as to the prospects of obtaining gas before causing the expenditure of any of said money, and that the said committee report to the council before causing such expenditure.

Mr. CAHILL enlarged upon the advantages natural gas would be to the town, but most of the councillors were disposed to poke fun at the motion, and it was left over as a notice of motion.

The council then adjourned for three weeks.

St. Michael's Church.

Impressive Dedicatory Services in Belleville—Description of the New Edifice—Protestant Donors to the Building Fund.

The most magnificent piece of architecture in the city is the new Roman Catholic church, dedicated on Sunday by the Lord Bishop of Kingston. The congregation is fairly wealthy, and, having outgrown the old place of worship, caused the erection of the edifice that is now the centre of attraction, and an ornament to the city. The old church, which stands immediately to the north of the new building, with but a few feet between them, is to be removed without delay. This will leave the new church alone in a large open space on the brow of the highest elevation of land in the city. The building is 140 feet in length by 62 feet wide. It is of pure Gothic style of architecture, with aisles and clere story. The walls are of limestone, rock-faced, with plinth courses under windows, and with dressed stone about the doors and windows. In the gable of the front of the building is a large rose window seventeen feet six inches in diameter, of cut limestone. Below it is an arcade of Scotch granite pillars and niches for statues. The church faces the east, and at the south-east corner is the base of the spire, with massive walls ornamented with dressed stones, with arcades on the east and south sides, also with niches for statues. Upon this base is to be built a spire of cut stone to the height of 175 feet, at a cost of $20,000. Within the building the same air of elegance and solidity prevails. The clere story walls are supported by massive Scotch granite columns, six on a side. The choir loft is situated in the east end of the church, the altar in a spacious alcove at the west end. The walls have a frescoed tint, and the ceilings are of oiled wood varnished. The distance from the ceiling to the floor, in the centre aisle, is 65 feet. The windows of the clere story and the rose windows to the rear of the altar, all of them fell 35 feet from the floor, fill the space with a mellow light, which, coupled with the length and height of the aisle, hush the feelings, and inspire a sentiment akin to awe, mingled with reverence

The frescoed copes over the granite pillar are to be richly carved, and a costly altar is to take the place of the temporary arrangement now in use. The seating capacity of the building is for 900 persons; it is heated by steam from boilers under the sacristy, and lighted by gas. A commodious room under the west end has been fitted for Sunday school and other general purposes. The building, as it stands, cost $50,000; when finished in the style desired by the congregation, the amount will be swelled to $60,000. Bishop Cleary has been a generous contributor to the building fund, besides which he has paid for two of the granite columns which support the upper walls. These columns are to be inscribed with a record of the virtues of the donor. McCausland & Son have the contract for the stained glass for the windows, but this part of the work has yet to be performed.

The Protestant residents of the city, recognizing the efforts of the building committee as an endeavour to erect a building that will be a lasting ornament to the city, have also contributed with an unstinted hand, and the result is that the entire community, irrespective of religious creed, took a deep interest in Sunday's proceedings, the feeling of common solicitude being strengthened by the popularity of Mgr. Farrelly and Father O'Gorman, the resident priests.

The Belleville Mission was founded in Oct., 1825, by Rev. Father Brennan, under direction of Most Rev. Father McDonald the then Bishop of Canada West. In the year 1857-8 the stone church, now about to be removed, was erected. In 1879 Father Brennan died, and was succeeded in November of 1871 by the present incumbent, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Farrelly. It has been his wise and skillful management that has brought the congregation to its present strength, and which influenced the members to erect the new church as a monument to their Christian zeal.

THE DEDICATION SERVICE.

A large congregation gathered at the new church at 11.30 Sunday morning. Shortly after Bishop Cleary, with a company of priests, blessed the building, when the waiting multitude was admitted for worship. High Mass was celebrated, and the bishop read from the 7th chapter of Chronicles, and prefaced his sermon with:—"Thanks be to God, that He has enabled us to erect this house without accident to the workman. Thank God not only for the material edifice, but for the spirit of unity, of faith, and of charity, for it was because the people possessed these virtues that the building had been erected. He thanked God that the charity of brotherhood was not confined to the Catholic brotherhood of the city; that others, although separated by creed, had given of their substance to aid in the construction of this magnificent temple of the living God." The congregation was largely composed of Protestants, and the sermon was a masterly presentation of the principles of Catholicism. The priests present at the dedication were:—Fathers Fleming, Tweed; Davis, Madoc; Toomey, Napanee; Walsh, Trenton; Mackie, Marysville; John Brennan, Picton; McCarthy, Murphy, and the resident priests, Mgr. Farrelly and Father O'Gorman.

The Advance in Wheat.

A Chicago despatch says:—While wheat continues to sail skyward it may be of interest to the average reader to know something of the reasons for it. The immense damage to crops in the Northwest from frost, blight, etc., has been dilated on to such an extent that the public is reasonably familiar with it. The fact still remains, however, that Minnesota millers are scouring the country for wheat and securing all the good lots at comparatively little regard for prices. This has put Duluth and Minneapolis away above Chicago in prices, when, under ordinary circumstances, they are from five to seven cents per bushel below Chicago, the difference representing the cost of transportation from those points to this city. While the fact that such conditions exist is only a minor point, the real strength of the speculative situation lies in the fact that there is little good wheat in the country. While the proportion of No. 2, the contract grade, in last year's crop, probably amounts to 30 per cent. of the crop this year, it is doubtful if the proportion of contract wheat will be over ten per cent. As this is the grade that speculators are selling, it behooves them to look well to their sources of supplies. Leaving out Duluth and Minneapolis, it is doubtful if there are over 10,000,000 bushels of contract wheat in all of the other grain centres of the country. New York and Chicago have less than 5,000,000 each. Baltimore has about 800,000 bushels, St. Louis 80,000, and Detroit, Toledo, Buffalo and other places may have enough to swell the total to the 10,000,000 bushels.

Meanwhile the bears have based their speculative operation on the idea that, as reported by Mr. Dodge, the Government statistician, there is a 400,000,000 bushel crop of wheat, against a crop last year of 456,000,000 bushels. The vast difference in the quality of the crop has not been taken into consideration. Even the bulls have not apparently grasped the situation in its entirety. It is safe to say there is no time when the shortage in wheat on the different exchanges of the country is less than 100,000,000 bushels. Should the bulls get balky all at once and refuse to sell, it would not take the bears long to realize that they could not fill a shortage of 100,000,000 bushels with 10,000,000. Where prices would go to in such an event it would be hard to tell. Of course the bulls will not make up their minds to stop selling all at once. They never have, and they probably never will. We are not exporting any wheat and the only flour being cleared is stuff that was bought long ago for future delivery by foreigners who were then temporarily frightened at the outlook for their own crops. Local millers say our prices are 50 cents a barrel above Liverpool, and that there is actually no demand from across the water.

Do Not Think for a Moment that catarrh will in time wear out. The theory is false. Men try to believe it because it would be pleasant if true, but it is not, as all know. Do not let an acute attack of cold in the head remain unchecked. It is liable to develop into catarrh. You can rid yourself of the cold and avoid all chance of catarrh by using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. If already afflicted rid yourself of this troublesome disease speedily by the same means. As all druggists.

A Good Neighbor.

"Late last fall I was laid up in bed three days with a severe attack of diarrhœa and vomiting. Nothing benefited me until my neighbor, Mrs Dunning, recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and brought me half a bottle which she had in her house. In three hours the vomiting was stopped, and I was able to sit up by night. I would not now think of using any other medicine." Columbus Hopkins, Hamilton, Ont. 2dw40

DARING AND SUFFERING.

The following is the basis upon which Andrews made his calculations: He believed that no engine could be had for pursuit nearer to Big Shanty than Kingston on the north, or Atlanta on the south, each about thirty miles distant. If the rebels pressed toward Kingston the best they could do was to follow us at long intervals, delivering their volley in starting and the state of the roads, could not well be short of three or four hours, by which time we ought to be out of reach, with all our block gone. If they took to the woods and struck back to Marietta (where we had lodged for the night), which would seem to be their best plan, that would take at least an hour; then a telegram to Atlanta could very soon start a train after us, but it would be forty or fifty miles behind; and long before it could come up bridges would be burned, the track and telegraph cut and the road completely destroyed. We expected to run on our regular time to Kingston, which would thus take about two hours, but to obstruct the track at several places on the way; then with the local freight safely parked, hurry on to the Oostenaula (or Resaca) bridge, twenty-four miles further, in half an hour more, burn that, and sweep on over the eleven bridges of the Chickamauga, and leaving them in flames (and the fire of the Etowah bridge road, and the tracks securely torn by Chattanooga on the "V" running over to the Memphis and Charleston road and press as rapidly as possible westward to Bridgeport, and on to Mitchel, wherever he might be. It will be seen that leaving out of account any accident to our train, and any difficulty in passing the trains we were to meet, our calculations were almost dead certainties. With two experienced engineers, and caution in running, accidents were not likely to occur; and Andrews trusted to his own marvelous address (and not vainly, as the result showed) to disarm suspicion from any trains met. On Friday, so far as human vision can now penetrate, these calculations would have worked out with the precision of a machine, and all the results indicated have followed. To-day there were new elements which tried to teach our prowess to the utmost, but of these we in yet knew nothing.

All careful and prudent preparations were now made for a long run. A red flag placed on the last car showed that another train was behind, and served as a kind of silent excuse for being on the time of the morning mail. The engine was also carefully inspected by Knight, whose mechanical knowledge was most useful, and found to be in excellent working condition. It was thoroughly oiled. Then we moved leisurely onward until we came near Mason's station, where some workmen were engaged on the track, and the opportunity of getting necessary tools was too good to be lost. Brown sprang down and seized a man for a weapon pointed from bar with which he was prying. The man gave it an undue and Brown stepped back with his booty, but a little disappointed, for one of the bent, clawfooted bars for pulling out spikes would have been worth much more, but they had none. The bar taken was the only one of their tools that seemed likely to be of value, or more would have been borrowed—by force, if not otherwise.

As we were thus underway questioned his engineer as to his run too fast, for which they replied to day all of us would have relished more speed in this first part of the journey. But running on all portions of roads in the country was slow; our train was not scheduled at over sixteen miles an hour. The road itself was exceedingly crooked, with abundance of short curves, and, having but light iron rails, was unfitted for high speed. We were anxious to get past the local freight that we might test the road's capabilities. Those on the engine were very much amused, as we ran by station after station, to see the passengers come up with their sachels in their hands, and then shrink back in dismay as we sped past without a sign of halting. But when by we would stop and cut the telegraph wire, so that no engines or couries could be sent after us.

These were our thoughts through Ashtown and Altoona, and this stopping again to cut the wire, also endeavored to lift a rail, while we were sure that no train from Big Shanty could follow us, we wished also to make it difficult for one from Atlanta, if any should be sent from there, to run rapidly; and what was of equal importance, would not wish the local freight to proceed southward after we met it, to be carried back by my pursuers. A lifted rail is almost sure to throw an unsuspecting train from the track; and we put such an obstruction before each train that we met to this journey. Yet the process of taking up a rail, though we made much of it, was far from easy with the imperfect tools we possessed. A single tool—a bar constructed expressly for drawing out spikes—would have enabled us to battle all pursuit. But this we did not have, and more than five minutes were consumed for each rail taken up, in battering out some spikes with our iron bar and afterward prying the remainder loose with handspikes and with the rail itself. This delay was of no great importance now, for we had a superfluity of time; but in the quick and terrible struggle further up the road, when seconds were decisive, it was far otherwise. The rails when lifted were carried round with us, and the breakthus left was for a time a barrier (to a train not supplied with track laying tools) as absolute as a burnt bridge. The feeling of security after such obstruction was very delightful and not unwarranted. In no case did a pursuing train pass a place where we had torn up a rail in time to do us any damage.

There was an exultant pæan of superiority while running along in the midst of our enemies in this manner, such as a man in a balloon might feel while sailing [illegible] waves of the ocean. As long as all is well with his balloon the man need not care what takes place in the world below; and so long as our engine retained its power and the track was clear before us, we were in a similar state of security. And a knife blade thrust in the silk globe overhead, or the slightest tear in the delicate fabric, will in a second take away the security of the man in the clouds. So the loosening of a bolt, or the breaking of a wheel would leave us powerless in the midst of our deadly enemies. It was such possibilities, always so near, that imparted thrilling interest to our passage through towns and fields and woods in the heart of the enemy's country.

Prize List Correction.

Angus Davidson's colt, to which a prize was awarded improperly, was a General Woods colt."

The Mantelon Organ.

A gentleman in town the other day received a letter from a friend in Fairmount, north of Minnedosa, Man., from which the following extract is made:

I am sorry to say that about 50 per cent. of the wheat is destroyed by the early frost, and a very heavy frost on 7th Sept. destroyed all the wheat that was standing. Only for the frost there would have been a marvellous crop. Potatoes middling.

Mr. Archer is, unquestionably, the greatest of living organists. He is a thorough musician, has extraordinary facility, and exquisite musical taste.—New York World. St. Paul's Church, Oct. 16th. Children's tickets, two for 25 cents; adults, 25 cents. 1d

Obituary.

On Tuesday Mr. Joseph Sawdye, an old and respected resident of the town, died at his residence, Sherbrooke street, at the age of 56 years. The deceased was a native of Devonshire, England, and came to Canada many years ago. He was a skilful and industrious mechanic, and as a citizen so ordered his life as to secure general respect and esteem. He was one of the oldest, if not a charter member of Court Peterborough, C. O.F. 129, and his funeral will be conducted under the auspices of the Order, the funeral proceeding from his late residence, 470 Sherbrooke street, to Little Lake Cemetery on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Boring for Natural Gas.

The Town Council in its wisdom proposes to spend $2,000 in boring for natural gas in Peterborough. In order to benefit the citizens the city fathers needn't spend so much money. They will be doing a work of the greatest benefit if when they are canvassing for the next election they will tell the people that gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, have the best and cheapest stock of boots and shoes in Canada, and that they give the biggest bargains. A $7,000 stock bought at 40 cents of the dollar and sold at less than half wholesale cost. Here's where bargains are going. Here's where every buyer gets not only the worth of his money but twice the worth of his money. Remember there is no natural gas about this announcement, it is a solid chunk of bonanza in the way of bargains.

Battalion Notes.

The 57th Batt, had a march-out Tuesday evening. All the companies represented, but No. 1 was merged into No. 3, and company 2 took the lead. Headed by the Batt. band they paraded the principal streets, deploying and forming in column on the march. Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers was in command. The redcoats were greatly admired for their fine appearance and generally steady marching.

The last general militia orders contains the following appointments in the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers:—

No. 3 Co.—To be Lieutenant provisionally, Arthur Stevenson, vice R. B. Rogers, who resigns.

To be 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, Charles Scott Shaw, vice E. A. Peck, appointed quartermaster.

No. 4 Co.—To be Captain, Lieut. R. M. Dennistoun, V.B., from No. 1 Co., vice R. E. Birdsall, who retires retaining rank.

Erratum.—In No. 5 of General Orders (11) of 1st June, 1888, the appointment of 2nd Lieutenant provisionally, Albert Edward Dixon, to "No. 3 Co.," and "vice Hill promoted," instead of "Edward A. Peck, appointed quartermaster."

Confirmation of rank.—2nd Lieutenant, K. G. Loch, R. S. I., No. 4 Company, 57th battalion, from 13th September, 1888.

The appointments are all good ones and will meet with favor. The resignation of Capt. "Dick" Birdsall will be much regretted in the battalion, as he was a popular and efficient officer. Capt. Dennistoun is to be congratulated on his promotion.

A Trip to Africa.

The J. C. Duff opera company will appear at Bradburn's opera house here next Monday evening under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. The company is playing in Toronto this week, and of its performance Monday night the Empire says:—The large and select audience at the Grand Opera house last night were most enthusiastic. They had reason to be, for Mr. J. C. Duff's company is a strong one. More than that, the opera was most completely put on the stage. The costumes were bright, rich and appropriate, while the scenery was splendid, and no detail which could add to the perfection of the whole was lacking. The argument is very simple. Miradillo, a gay youth of Palermo, determines to take a trip to Africa. At Cairo he incurs an enormous bill at an hotel and is unable to pay it. At this juncture he meets Titania Fanfani, who inherits two million francs, providing she marries at 19. She persuades Miradillo to figure as her husband, and agrees to pay his debts for so doing. Fanfani Pasha is Titania's uncle and guardian, and has spent the money of which he is custodian. He wishes to avoid payment and doubts the genuineness of his niece's marriage. To ascertain if it is really genuine he orders them to occupy one kiosk. Titania enters and repulses Miradillo at pistol's point. Before this little incident Titania has met and fallen in love with a prince of one of the Maronite tribes, who has arrived at Cairo. Miradillo's fiancee, Tessa, and her mother, Buccametta, have also arrived at Cairo, their mission being the discovery of the arrant lover. Tessa, in despair, consents to become the 49th wife of the Pasha. Miradillo is disgusted and arranges with the prince that they shall fly with Titania and Tessa to the interior of Africa. They fly and are pursued by the Pasha, who is foiled and has to take Dame Buccametta for his four dozen and oneth spouse instead of her charming Tessa. Then all ends happily. This is the ground work which serves for the introduction of much action, well arranged dancings and groupings, and taking choruses, to say nothing of the performances of the principal characters. The choruses really left little or nothing to be desired, and gave evidence of great pains in drilling and training. In fact, the ensemble was capital, and "A Trip to Africa" must be recorded altogether as eminently a success. d

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Boys' meeting next Friday evening.

The matters to be discussed at the young men's meeting on Saturday evening concern every young man in Peterborough. Be sure to be present.

The Executive Committee met on Tuesday evening at the residence of the President, Mr. G. M. Reger. A large number were present, and the matters discussed were handled in a way which showed that these young men have the welfare of Peterborough thoroughly at heart. Perfect unanimity prevailed on every question, and the amount of work done would have put to shame many of our legislative committees.

Not the least pleasing feature of the evening was the adjournment to partake of a tempting array of refreshments provided by President Reger and family. The justice done to the repast by all was ample proof of their appreciation.

The various standing committees for the year were appointed; only partially, however, as members have yet to be added to each committee. The committees at present named as follows:

FINANCE.—J. W. Bennet (chairman), John Carlisle, C. W. Beale, E. A. Pearson, Wm. Lang, W. W. Johnston, A. Clegg.

DEVOTIONAL.—I. Richardson (chairman), O. C. Rowes, Dr. Scott, Arthur Tebb, G. J. Early, J. C. Turnbull.

Peterborough Protestant Home

Annual Meeting for the Election of Officers—The Alterations During the Year

The annual meeting of the Protestant Home was held at the building Tuesday afternoon. There were present Mrs. Vernon, President; Mrs. J. G. Hall, Secretary; Miss Roger, Treasurer; Mrs. T. G. Hazlitt, Mrs. J. F. Dennistoun, Mrs. J. W. R. Beck, Mrs. J. B. McWilliams and Mrs. W. J. Green.

The Secretary's report was read, but this, with the statement of the Treasurer, will not be published till next week.

The officers of last year were then re-elected as follows:—

PRESIDENT—Mrs. Vernon.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. T. G. Hazlitt.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. (Judge) Weller.
SECRETARY—Mrs. J. G. Hall.
TREASURER—Miss Roger.

THE IMPROVEMENTS.

During the year a number of improvements have been made at the Home, where everything is bright, cheerful and comfortable for the inmates. Paint and plaster have been applied where necessary, and considerable "touching up" done to different parts. No large additions have been made since the enlargement last fall. Mrs. Dillon, the matron, has everything in "apple pie" order as usual.

Range and Rifle.

Annual Matches of the Peterborough Rifle Association—The Lucky Marksmen.

The annual tournament for the wasting of powder and lead is being held by the Peterborough Rifle Association. The attendance and entries are much larger than they were last year, while the scores are also higher. The weather is fine, though a tricky fish-tail wind annoys the marksmen considerably. There are a number of crack shots from Lindsay present who are doing good work. The matches began yesterday and are being continued to-day. Following are the results of the matches completed:—

Personal.

Mgr. Farrelly, administrator of the Diocese of Kingston, was presented with an address and handsome gold chain with cross attached by the priests of the diocese at Belleville on Monday night, in honor of the fifth anniversary of his appointment.

Mr. Archer's recitals are of great musical interest. He is, probably, the finest solo organist ever heard here, whether regarded from an intellectual or technical standpoint. Mr. Archer's programme was excellently devised and his performance delightful.—New York Tribune. St. Paul's Church, Oct. 16th. Children's tickets, two for 25 cents; adults, 25 cents. 1d

Men Wanted.

Mr. T. Cavanagh has engaged and forwarded to M. Boyd & Co., at Bobcaygeon, thirty men to cut and saw logs on Burnt river. Forty more men are wanted for the same work.

Barn Burned.

About noon on Tuesday the barn (with contents) of Mr. Richard Martin, North Monaghan, was destroyed by fire. The loss will be a heavy one for Mr. Martin.

Off for India.

The contingent of Canadian Salvation Army officers who have volunteered for missionary work in India, including Lieut. Stalliker, of this town, will sail from Montreal on the 18th inst. per Allan line steamer Circassian.

Their First Rehearsal.

The first rehearsal of the Peterborough Vocal Society was held at St. Andrew's Church last night by Prof. Carter, and the prospects are that the Society will be a gratifying success. A few more voices are, however, wanted to make the chorus complete.

The Late Wm. G. Mactougall.

The Bowmanville Statesman contains the following reference to the death of the late Wm. G. McDougall, known to many in Peterborough and brother of Mr. David McDougall:—"The sad intelligence of the unexpected death, at Birtle, Man., of Mr. William McDougall, son of Mrs. W. McDougall, and brother of Messrs. John and Robert McDougall, of Bowmanville, reached here on Wednesday. The Birtle Observer of the 27th ult., says:—'On Tuesday a traveller for Mr. Balf, grain dealer, Winnipeg, named William G. McDougall, died here from typhoid fever. He was ill when he arrived here. Deceased was a son of the late Wm. McDougall, mill owner of Baltimore, Ont., and was married to a daughter of the late Wm. Barnett, of Cobourg. He leaves two children who are with his brother at Bowmanville. His life was insured for $2,000. During his illness he was kindly cared for by Mr. W. G. Pentland and family, formerly of Cobourg and acquaintances of deceased. Mr. D. W. Cumming also showed much attention to the sick man, and a skilful nurse was in constant attendance.' We were favored with an intimate acquaintance with the deceased for some years when he was in the grain and milling business at Baltimore and knew him to be a generous, honorable and much respected citizen. We join in sincerest sympathy with his aged mother, his sisters and his brothers in their deep affliction."

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Very cold weather.

Emily Township Show proved a grand success. The root and vegetable show was particularly fine.

Cavanagh's horses, of Peterborough, carried off first prize as carriage team.

The fire engine for Hastings village was shipped Monday by the manufacturers, Messrs. Evans & Redpath.

The Omemee correspondent to the Lindsay Post of last week should be more careful in the statements made regarding visitors to our town, as everyone knows what he says regarding Peterborough parties at the Bradburn House is false and unworthy of notice.

—The annual matches of the Rifle Association are being held to-day. The scores will be published to-morrow.

—Messrs. Rush & Dixon, insurance agents, will have the store on Hunter street lately occupied by J. J. Bagley fitted up with new front and interior for offices for themselves.

THE GLORY OF MAN

"Did anyone remark that it was cold"?—Examiner Sept. 29.

Well, yes. Could anyone be found in our entire population who has not made use of the remark during the past few days?

And has there not been uppermost in everyone's mind the imperative necessity for warmer clothing?

Someone has said that the glory of man is in his strength; but if strength is to be maintained at this trying season of the year, warmer and heavier clothing must be worn.

The man who neglects to attend to this duty at once will discover that his glory has departed, as he finds himself ushered into the presence of Dr. Liverpills.

Therefore, before you spend the price of an entire warm winter outfit on medicine, which depletes the strength, obey the voice of common sense—go to T. DOLAN & CO.'S and buy yourself a set of warm flannels, and order a suit of heavy Tweed Clothes.

Better do it at once, too, rather than run the risk of staving it off from day to day, until you get sick.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

RIOTING IN CHICAGO.

STRIKERS ATTACK A STREET-CAR FILLED WITH POLICEMEN.

Revolvers, Bricks and Stones Employed but no one Killed—Gunfire Built on the Tracks.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—The first trouble of the day on the West Side occurred yesterday afternoon when a man named Stubbins, who drove one of the cars Tuesday, drove out of the Western-avenue barn in a buggy. He was at once surrounded by a crowd of strikers who caught his horse by the bridle and stopped him with threats of dragging him from the buggy. Gubbins drew a revolver and fired a shot which caused his assailants to loosen their hold and permit him to proceed. He had gone only a short distance when his buggy was again surrounded and he fired two shots scaring away his enemies. They again rallied and for the third time the occupant of the buggy was forced to use his revolver. This ended the fracas and fortunately without bloodshed.

The first attempt to run a car on the West Side was made yesterday afternoon and resulted in a serious riot. It was between 3 and 4 o'clock when a single car was pulled out of the Western-avenue barns, guarded by a half a dozen policemen, headed by Captain Aldrich of the West Side. The crowd stood twenty deep on both sides of the car and the police were arranged on the inside of these walls of frantic men. A stone as big as a fruit can crashed through the window before the car had proceeded twenty feet. Everybody dropped on the floor while a shower of stones pelted the sides of the car. The driver held the reins bravely, though his face was white as a sheet. At the second shower of stones a brick struck him on the temple and he fell behind the dashboard. He immediately arose and once more took the lines. The car was stopped for the third time at Warren-avenue. Captain Aldrich was hit and his scalp cut open. Thus far the police had used only their clubs. The car advanced to the intersection of Madison-street, and there the police caught one striker in the act of throwing a stone. The man was arrested, but in less than a minute a hundred strikers had piled on the policeman and rescued the prisoner. The car now turned the corner and started down Madison-street. The infuriated mob followed, throwing stones. At Leavitt-street a mob rushed out and boarded the car, attempting to drag the driver from his position. The police at once charged on the crowd. This time the maddened strikers held their own and threw stones at the blue coats. One man struck Lieut. Shea, and the officer followed his man through the crowd. He pulled his revolver while running and took deliberate aim and fired, but his bullet missed, and the strikers scattered in every direction. From that time on no missiles were thrown, although a number of the mob followed on foot as far as Halstead-street. The car advanced, crossed to the South Side, and returned without further injury or attack.

Later in the afternoon the mob transferred their operations to Clark-street, the main thoroughfare of the North division, along which most of the cars run. Between Indiana and Illinois-streets the mob utilized the heavy stones and the bricks lying in front of a building now in course of construction and piled them upon the track. As the evening came on and the people were going home from their work the crowd at that point increased until the streets were filled with a cheering, cursing, howling mob. They built bonfires on the tracks and danced about them. Fortunately no cars came that way at the time. Only one policeman was visible and he was unable to do anything with the crowd. While he was engaged in putting out one bonfire the mob would build another.

A Kansas Woman's Flight.

ATCHISON, Ks., Oct. 11.—Some excitement has been created in Atchison by the discovery that George W. Ocker, eight years ago an attorney at the Atchison bar and who has been thought to be dead since that time, is alive and well in Colorado, enjoying a lucrative law practice under his right name. In the fall of 1880 Ocker disappeared and his young wife was nearly crazed. Being penniless she could not institute a vigorous search for him. In January, 1881, the mangled remains of a man were found near the village of Monrovia, on the central branch of the Union Pacific Railway, and identified as those of Ocker. In time the supposed widow was wooed and won by a well-to-do farmer of Nemaha County, whom she married and has borne several children.

Not Poisoned in the Harem.

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—According to a local paper there is no truth whatever in the sensational stories recently printed about the alleged poisoning of Laura Schermer Byron, a singer, in the harem of the Sultan of Turkey, of which it was stated she had become a member. A reporter saw Laura's mother to-day. She has been in frequent communication with her daughter and as recently as two weeks ago when Mrs. Schermer received the acknowledgment of a draft sent Laura through Banker Smithe of the Imperial Ottoman Bank at Constantinople. The same banker had previously sent a cablegram in reply to a despatch occasioned by the reports of her death, stating that she was alive and well.

The Western Union Telegraph Co.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Western Telegraph Company was held yesterday. The board of directors was re-elected with one exception. Henry M. Flagle being elected in place of A. R. Vanness, deceased. The annual report says the capital stock of the Company is $86,199,852 of which $25,976 are in the treasury of the company. For the year ending June 30, gross earnings were $19,711,164, expenses $14,640,392, net earnings $5,070,571, payments on dividend, interest and sinking fund accounts $4,574,208, surplus $496,363.

All on Account of a Woman.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 11.—John Burrs and John McConda, negro laborers, fell out about a woman named Lucy Davis. Yesterday afternoon McConda with four of his friends met Burrs in the road, fell upon him and dragged him into the woods, where McConda shot him to death, leaving four pistol balls in his body. They then told the woman of Burr's fate, and she, watching her chance, went and took from his pocket his money, something over $45. She and McConda and his gang were all arrested.

A Broker Suicides.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Francis W. Williams, senior member of the firm of Williams, Black & Co., general commission merchants, killed himself yesterday afternoon in a room on the top floor of the Grand Union Hotel by firing a bullet through his right temple. Since the firm suspended on Sept. 28 because of Old Hutch's cyclonic operations in wheat, Mr. Williams had been much depressed and suffered greatly from sleeplessness, and it is thought his mind became slightly deranged.

A Kingston Schooner Aground.

FORESTER, Oct. 11.—The schooner Southampton, owned by Captain Fraser, of Kingston, broke away from the tow on Monday morning about 20 miles above Sand Beach, and drifted about waterlogged until 2 o'clock yesterday morning, when she ran aground off Kettle Point. The crew reached the shore in safety.

FAIRLY DYED WITH BLOOD

AN IMPORTANT ARREST BY THE LONDON POLICE.

The Prisoner Thought to be Connected with the Terrible Whitechapel Murders—A Theory of the Mystery.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—An arrest, which the police think is an important one in connection with the series of murders in Whitechapel, has been made. On Wednesday a stranger called at a shop on Gray's Inn Road and left an overcoat and a pair of trousers to be cleaned. The clothes were plentifully spattered with blood stains, especially the pockets, which were almost literally dyed red.

The proprietor of the shop thought the incident suspicious, and he at once informed the police, and detectives were secreted in the premises. The suspect called for his clothing and was at once taken into custody. He refused to give any account of himself, or to explain the presence of blood stains on his clothing. He is held a prisoner and a searching investigation is being made.

The newspapers continue to publish column after column about the Whitechapel murders. There is no abatement of popular ideas and excitement, and everything points to a revival of the slumming craze of 1883, as the outgrowth of the recent tremendous influx of visitors to the east end districts. Already the public are asked to subscribe to a fund for the establishment of an immense laundry in which to provide work for Magdalenes, to establish lodging houses for street boys and girls and in other ways to minimize the appalling measure of vice in the lower quarters of the metropolis.

I am informed by a gentleman, who stands in close relation at Scotland Yard, that several of the leading detectives have thrown over the clues and ideas heretofore taken up and are working on an entirely new and most remarkable theory. This theory is that the horrible crimes which have so disturbed the city and interested the entire world are the result of a case in real life of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Furthermore, the detectives believe that the existance of such a case is directly attributable to the excitement and morbid reflections caused by a mind dwelling upon the circumstances detailed in the story and play just named. Parallels are ingeniously drawn between the acts of the Whitechapel monster, who not only kills but mutilates his victims, and the frenzied brutality, with which the Mr. Hyde of the fiction stamps upon the girl whom he knocks down and injures in the deserted streets at midnight, as told in the first part of the book. Not only have the police been brought to the astounding position, through what they claim is direct evidence corroborative of such a theory, but they are industriously working with a particular individual in view, and they believe they are truly upon the right track. If it be so, London is promised for a not far distant future a sensation of such magnitude that the tragedies leading to it will sink almost into insignificance beside it.

My informant tells me that a well-known prosperous resident of Grosvenor-square is the man thus under police surveillance. He moves in the best society and is completely removed from derogatory suspicion among those who are his daily associates. This man, however, as I am assured, has been tracked and traced until it is absolutely established that he does lead a double life. This Dr. Jekyll lives for the eminently respectable world in which he moves. The other self, like Mr. Hyde, lives mysteriously, revoltingly. This latter self has been tracked to the Whitechapel district, and has been seen, in its form of a man skulking stealthily about dark corners and alleys, or stalking moodily through deserted side streets. This quality of life and conduct established, it remains, of course, to positively connect the subject with the deeds of which he is suspected, and this, at least, one leading detective has hopes of accomplishing.

Of course there are some who scoff at the sensational theory, and allege that at the worst the Grosvenor-square Dr. Jekyll visits Whitechapel in curiosity and perhaps with a desire to apprehend the murderer other than to commit a murder. But I send the information for what it is worth. The story is certainly interesting and striking, and not half so improbable as many of the absurd clues that the police have followed in these cases. Great secrecy is maintained by the police in the matter, and only very remote references to it have been published here.

BRITISH TRADE RETURNS.

Decrease of Exports to Canada—Canadian Stocks Irregular.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Board of Trade returns show that the exports from Britain to the Dominion decreased 3½ per cent. during September and 11 per cent. during nine months as compared with 1887. There was a general decrease in manufactures and increases in iron and horses. The imports from Canada decreased 14½ per cent. in the month and 14 per cent. in the nine months. The principal decrease was in wheat, which was £165,711 less. Butter and wood also decreased, but there were increases in sheep, flour, cheese and fish.

Canadian stock markets were irregular during the week. Two Quebec bonds recovered one; another declined one from the lower prices cabled. Grand Trunks maintain their rise, owing to the prospective results of Sir Henry Tyler's visit. Canadian Pacifics dull.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Buckley Gets Five Years—Rumor Has it With a Clergyman's Name.

TORONTO, Oct. 11.—Tom Buckley, the notorious tough and slayer of Bertha Robinson, was tried in the Criminal Assizes yesterday upon the charge of having murdered the girl in the house at 72 Victoria-lane on May 14 last. The jury found him guilty of manslaughter and the judge sentenced him to 5 years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Mrs. Bloomberg, whose case in connection with the Union Hotel at Parkdale has excited considerable interest, was last night convicted on two charges of illegally selling liquor. On each charge she was fined $20 and costs.

Joseph Fletcher, the alleged bigamist, got in from Owen Sound yesterday afternoon. The Owen Sound magistrate refused to endorse the Toronto warrant on the ground that Fletcher should be tried in Owen Sound, but the prisoner preferred Toronto, agreeing to return to the city voluntarily.

Charles Potter, implicated in a series of burglaries at Madoc, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Slemin and Davies. A Madoc constable arrived last night to bring him to the scene of his alleged crimes.

The body of a four weeks old male infant lies in the City Morgue awaiting the result of an inquest which will be commenced at 4 p.m. to-day by Coroner Duncan. The name of the little unfortunate is William May, and it was the son of a girl named Mary May, who resides with her mother at 18 St. Paul-street. Both were arrested at a late hour and confined in a cell in Wilton-avenue Police station as necessary and material witnesses, at the order of the coroner. The cause for holding the inquest lies in the fact that at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the child was seen by neighbors. At that time it was in good health and nothing the matter with it. At 6.30 when a neighbor visited the May residence the child was dead.

A report has been put in circulation by unknown parties that Rev. T. W. Jeffery, pastor of the Northern Methodist Church, was intoxicated last summer when in Muskoka. Mr. Jeffery indignantly denies the story which he characterizes as "a damnable lie."

A WOFUL CALAMITY.

Many Excursionists Killed on the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 11.—The fifth division of the Father Matthew excursion train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, returning from Hazelton, was wrecked above Pennshaven yesterday morning, and the cars piled in one shapeless mass, one being stood upon its end. All the cars were crowded, and the fatalities will run into awful figures. All the physicians from Whitehaven and near by points are at the wreck, as are also all the Lehigh Valley officials from this city. The number killed is variously reported at from 25 to 80 persons.

The accident on the Lehigh Valley at Mud Run near Pennshaven is beyond all question the most awful disaster that ever happened in this portion of the state. Though no details can be learned, there is no doubt that the number of killed will reach nearly 80 and the injured nearly double that. The trains were excursion trains returning from the celebration at Hazelton, the annual parade of the Catholic temperance societies of the Scranton diocese. Thousands of people went down to Hazelton from the towns of Luzerne and Lackawaana Counties, seven trains with the cars piled to the doors passed through Whitehaven this morning taking the old route by Pennshaven. On the return the first train passed Hazelton about 5 p.m., the others following as rapidly as deemed safe. The first three sections came through without accident, the disaster happening to the fourth and fifth sections.

For some reason not explained the fourth section was standing on the track near the little station of Mud Run, five miles below Whitehaven, when the fifth section dashed around a curve close behind and crashed into it. The cars were smashed and broken and hurled off the track. The road lies close beside the Lehigh river, a steep embankment 60 feet high running down to the water. Several of the cars rolled down this and others were crushed against the cutting on the other side. No direct communication has been established with the scene of this disaster and the railroad officials here, if they know anything, absolutely refuse to give any information.

Reports about the accident are very conflicting. It is known, however, from despatches received at the depot that the accident is quite as bad as first reported and that at least 30 are killed. Most of the injured are said to be from Scranton and Lackawanna County.

Forger Bedell Indicted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 — James C. Bedell, who swindled clients of his employers, Shipman, Barlow, Larocque & Choate, out of $368,000 by forged mortgages, was yesterday indicted for forgery. When the case of Emerson and Goss was called the policy shopkeepers who had swallowed up something over $127,000 of Bedell's ill-gotten gains, came up for a hearing it was announced that the accused had already been indicted by the grand jury, making the examination nugatory. The charge was that of keeping a lottery establishment. The attorney for Emerson and Goss was furious at what he called the "jugglery of justice." He spoke about the putting off of the case until the rich firm in the case could effect a settlement. He said that he was prepared to show Bedell up in his true colors and to prove that he had been to the Delavan House at Albany with a woman not his wife. Justice Smith dismissed the defendants but they were immediately re-arrested on the strength of the indictment. They were held in $6000 bail each.

Charged With Forgery.

DETROIT, Oct. 11.—Detective Tuttle yesterday morning obtained a warrant against Robert Taylor, the alleged barrister of London, Ont., who was arrested on suspicion. He is charged with forging the name of Thomas Curry of this city on a check for $15 on the Merchants' Bank of Canada at Toronto.

MANITOBA MATTERS.

More Libel Suits Promised—Charged with Forgery—Destructive Fires.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—In an interview to-day, Premier Greenway asserted that he will attend to both The Call and The Free Press when his legal counsel can be got to either. He appreciated the gravity of the charges and intended to vindicate himself.

C. M. Cole, who claims to be a cotton planter from Jackson, Miss., was arrested last night on a charge of forgery. He asked to have a draft on the Grenville (Miss.) Bank for $2000 placed to his credit at the Bank of British North America, but the manager telegraphed to Greenville and received a reply that the draft was a forgery.

Destructive fires are raging in Southwestern Manitoba, and a number of buildings, granaries, etc., were burned at Deloraine yesterday.

The Northern Pacific is considering the question of an elevator system along the line. The regular train service commences Monday.

A FOOTPAD'S HAUL.

The Hochelaga Bank President Good Because of Parent's Defalcation.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.—Joel Leduc, one of the shareholders of the Hochelaga Bank, has taken an action against F. X. St. Charles, president of the bank, holding him personally responsible for the loss of the money taken out of the safe by ex-Cashier Parent, now a convict in the penitentiary, on the alleged ground that the robbery was caused by St. Charles' own negligence.

Mrs. Jane Evans, a lady from Kingston, Ont., 85 years of age, who was run over on Victoria-square by a carter in August, succumbed to her injuries at the General Hospital yesterday.

On Fulford-street Tuesday night a well-to-do young merchant was walking along at about 11 o'clock when he was stopped by a burly ruffian who pointed his revolver at his breast demanding money. The merchant pretending to pull out his pocketbook knocked the revolver out of his assailant's hand and grappled with him. The robber being the stronger man knocked him down and got away with over $100.

ANDY REID'S CONFESSION.

HE SHOT MR. GRAYDON AT STREETSVILLE.

Also Took Part in Numerous Other Crimes—Arrested and Identified. He Makes a Clean Breast of It.

LONDON, Ont. Oct. 11.—Henry Reid, the smart thief and robber who was arrested in this city on Monday afternoon by Detectives Phair and Ryder on suspicion, was brought before the police magistrate for trial yesterday morning, and according to his own statement and the evidence adduced he is one of the worst criminals in the province. When he was brought to the police station Messrs. Young & Kester, general merchants, of Thamesford, whose store he was believed to have robbed last spring, were communicated with and he was subsequently identified by Mr. Kester as the burglar. When he heard this he asked for permission to speak to Chief Williams. The request was granted, and he told a story substantially as follows:

He had been connected with over twenty robberies committed in the province during the year, and since he had been identified as the perpetrator of one of them he wanted to make a full confession and have the whole matter cleared up. He thought he might as well be "doing" time as living the life he was. He said he would begin at the Streetsville (County Peel) job, where Mr. Graydon was seriously shot by burglars in the summer. He and a "pal" struck the town on the 22nd of June last, coming in by different routes, so as not to awaken suspicion, and he soon spotted a likely house on the outskirts of the town. He told his companion of it, but the latter was incredulous and wanted to see it himself. He examined the place critically, and, as the sequel proved, awakened the suspicions of the inmates. Between 1 and 2 o'clock that morning they concluded to do the job, and entering the premises by the front gate, went around to the back of the house. They had been expected, and immediately two men and a dog jumped out of the door. Being detected, they turned and fled, the companion clearing the fence readily, but Reid's clothing caught on the fence and held him securely. The pursuers made for him, the elder of the two men leading. He fired three shots to keep him off but the man bent down his head and clinched him. The younger man then commenced to approach, and Reid fired at him and he didn't come any nearer. He finally loosened himself and commenced to scuffle with the old man, and after losing his revolver made good his escape. Reid also gave the details of a series of robberies committed by himself during the spring and summer.

WHALEN'S DEADLY AIM.

A Westport Man Kills the Destroyer of His Home.

KINGSTON, Oct. 11.—A report which has reached here from Westport states that the residents of that place are in a state of excitement over the death of a young man who is well known to those who live in Fermoy and Westport. The story is that the young man was in the habit of visiting the house of one Whalen for the purpose of seeing the latter's wife. Whalen determined to have revenge and lay in wait for the person who was destroying his happiness. On Sunday night he hid himself behind the fence near his property with a gun in his possession, and as the young man passed by on his way to Whalen's home the latter fired and shot his victim in the back. The young man ran and not thinking he was fatally wounded did not visit a doctor. He destroyed that portion of his clothing which was blood-stained and the matter remained a secret. Monday night he was taken sick at the stomach but he still remained silent as to his injuries. Yesterday morning he became worse and then he told the foregoing particulars. A doctor was summoned, but it was too late. Inflammation had set in, and in less than an hour he was dead.

A TEST CASE.

An Ontario Investment Association Stockholder Asking Relief in Chancery.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 11.—In the Chancery Court yesterday, before Justice Ferguson, the case of Nelles v. Ontario Investment Association was opened. This is a test case in which the plaintiff seeks to have the amalgamation of the Superior Loan and Savings Society with the Ontario Investment Association declared ultra vires and void because of fraudulent misrepresentation and concealment. An accounting is asked in respect of the securities transferred and plaintiff who held stock of the Superior Loan and Savings Society in lieu of which stock of the Ontario Investment was issued to him on the payment of a further assessment, seeks to be released from responsibility as a shareholder in that ill-fated institution.

THE POOR CELESTIALS

Will Hold the Fort in the Grand Trunk Waiting Room.

NIAGARA FALLS, Oct. 11.—The four Chinamen here are still making the G. T. R. waiting room their headquarters. The United States authorities still refuse to allow them to enter "the land of the brave and the free." They are beginning to realize their position. The railway authorities have taken the matter up with the authorities at Washington, pointing out how innocently the Celestials were led into the trap that the Exclusion Act of October 1 has placed them in, not knowing they were out of the United States, and no doubt the United States Government will make their case an exception and allow them to return to their homes. "Hoo Ylang," the Buffalo Chinaman, knowing the "ropes" when he found he could not cross the frontier here, quietly boarded the Michigan Central train for Fort Erie and made a crossing there. The three Chinamen from the east bound for the west are returning to China and had their Grand Trunk tickets exchanged at Suspension Bridge, N.Y., for tickets by Buffalo and Lake Shore railroad for Chicago and took their departure for that place last evening.

The Fruit of Seven Months.

What Rev. Father Conway has Accomplished in Norwood in that Time—His New Parsonage—The Improved Church—Flourishing State of Church Work—Energy, Judgment, Prudence and Zeal Combined.

The first week in last March Rev. Father P. Conway took charge of the Roman Catholic parish of Norwood, and the change in the direction of improvement in both the physical condition of the church property are, as well as in the religious condition of the congregation, is remarkable. At that time the church, situated in the western part of the village, rested on the slope of a hill in almost a state of nature, and was approached by a sort of trench, which, in winter, was a favourite habitat of deep snow drifts. But all is changed; the precipitous fore-ground is neatly levelled and presents an uniform slope from the front line of the church down to the street and across the whole front of the church lot, on the western part of which and in the rear of that an elegant and substantial stone stable and carriage house.

The new parsonage, which was completed and occupied by its genial and hospitable master last month, is a well-built structure of red brick on a stone foundation. It is 30 x 42 feet, two stories in height, with 10½ feet ceilings. A wide verandah—eight feet—stretches the whole length of the front. Entering through a roomy vestibule, with stained glass windows, the wide hall is reached, which admits, on the right, to the parlor and dining-room, separated by folding doors. On the left, it admits to the pastor's study and office—his ecclesiastical workshop—and his sleeping chamber, placed en suite. A stairway of unusual beauty of style and finish conducts to a wide hall on the second floor. This hall, in itself a large room, has a window facing the south which

of a wide stretch of undulating country—hill and dale, flaming with the vari-colored tints of autumn leaves, and brightened with the crooked Ouse, which courses in valleys, slips around the feet of hills, now coyly hiding in bosky dingles and anon sparkling in silvery laughter, playing hide-and-seek with the beholder, like a coquettish, yet pure-minded girl. This story contains four large bedrooms—one directly over the pastor's chamber below, being called "the Bishop's room"—which Bishop Dowling will occupy on Saturday night when he goes to Norwood to conduct a confirmation service next Sunday. The finish of the whole house is of the first order, on a par with the convenience of its arrangements. The house is heated throughout with hot air, a furnace being placed in the commodious and well lighted cellar. The domestic part of the establishment, the kitchen, pantries, etc., are of the most convenient character, in keeping with the rest of the structure. The permanency, as well force, of Rev. Father Conway's personal magnetism is shown by the fact that he had when in Peterborough, and whom—especially "John"—"he couldn't," as jocosely remarked, "do without, any more than John could do without him."

HE HAS WITH HIM THE SAME SERVANTS

In rear of the house is an elegant building of stone, 40x25, stables and carriage house. This contains a stall and box stall, harness room and room for carriages, and, overhead the whole length, a loft for hay.

Behind all, a beautiful little park—shaded with venerable oaks—makes a delightful summer retreat, for relaxation, retirement, meditation, or pure animal rest and enjoyment.

Mr. Harper was the contractor and builder, from plans prepared by Mr. J. K. Belcher, C.E., from suggestions given by Rev. Father Conway himself, who has had experience in building five houses, not to speak of churches.

While these building operations have been going forward repairs have also been made to the church, which has been provided with a new roof which has been also painted, and a new furnace has been placed in the church and the the interior otherwise improved.

All this wonderful transformation, which astonishes all familiar with the neighborhood a few months ago, has been accomplished in fact the actual time of work is even less, the work on the house having been begun as late as the middle of June. And the best of it all is that the entire cost is only about $3,000, and of this amount what is not already paid is provided for, and the whole debt will be wiped out in November 1889, when securities held by the pastor, become convertable into cash.

IN THE SHORT SPACE OF SEVEN MONTHS,

Rev. Father Conway reports the parish in a most flourishing condition. The congregations have increased, and though twenty-three additional pews have been provided, there is and it is pretty certain that before long the work of enlarging the church will have to be undertaken.

Rev. Father Conway is showing the most earnest devotion to his duties, and meeting with great success in his ministrations, and administration. His many friends in Peterborough will rejoice to learn that he is enjoying excellent health and is in excellent spirits—especially when declaring with the old familiar shake of his head that "Norwood is the healthiest place in Canada," which his experience certainly justifies him in thinking.

He has overcome all the effects of his accident in Peterborough, in fact it appears that it has been overruled for good, for though the past seven months have been passed by him in unusual mental and physical activity, he is free from the distressing headaches which, previous to the fall from his horse, troubled him and declares that he never enjoyed better health.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Agnes Campbell, who has been away visiting friends, has returned.

Death has again visited our vicinity and carried off another of our old settlers. Mr. Robert Eason. Mr. Eason was in his usual health up to a few minutes previous to his death. The cause was supposed to be paralysis of the heart.

The Keene Agricultural Society's exhibition was held here on Thursday last and proved to be a grand success, with the exception of horses. There was a very good show of roots of all kinds, the dry weather did not seem to check their growth. The show of poultry was also very good. Mr. W. T. Mathews' display of waggons and carriages, which were excellent and substantial, certainly did credit to the builder. In the town hall there was a grand display of ladies' fine work, also a very fine collection of home plants and bouquets. After judging the stock the large horses the crowd seemed to be greatly dissatisfied, and not without reasonable cause. If the Society would choose competent judges who would award the prizes to the animals and not to the men there would not be so much discontentment.

The daily cost per prisoner for rations was 12½ cents. There are four distinct corridors or wards in the gaol and 18 cells. Thirty was the greatest number of prisoners in the gaol at any time during the year and eleven the lowest number. The kind of labor furnished the prisoners was improving the gaol and court house surroundings.

Of the prisoners who elected to be tried at the County Judge's criminal court one male was acquitted and discharged from custody.

Very cold weather.

Emily Township Show proved a grand success. The root and vegetable show was particularly fine.

Cavanagh's horses, of Peterborough, carried off first prize as carriage team.

The fire engine for Hastings village was shipped Monday by the manufacturers, Messrs. Evans & Redpath.

The Omemee correspondent to the Lindsay Post of last week should be more careful in the statements made regarding visitors to our town, as everyone knows what he says regarding Peterborough parties at the Bradburn House is false and unworthy of notice.

"Yes, Lizzie, I like fancy work, but I havn't felt like trying that pattern—or anything else—for a week. These awful 'dragging-down' pains are just killing me!" I know how you feel, and I can tell you where to look for relief. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a certain cure for all those peculiar weaknesses and distressing ailments. Why! it even cured me of prolapsus, and many of my lady friends have been cured of various grave maladies peculiar to our sex by this wonderful medicine." It is the only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded. Read guarantee on bottle-wrapper. a

A Good Neighbor.

"Late last fall I was laid up in bed three days with a severe attack of diarrhœa and vomiting. Nothing benefited me until my neighbor, Mrs Dunning, recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and brought me half a bottle which she had in her house. In three hours the vomiting was stopped, and I was able to sit up by night. I would not now think of using any other medicine." Columbus Hopkins, Hamilton, Ont. 2dw40

Tried and Proved

"I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint, and have proved it, after a fair trial, a sure cure, both in my own case and others of the family." Lauretta Wing, New Dundee, Waterloo Co., Ont. 2dw40

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty eight years ago it would have saved me $300.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took . . . and . . . Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $300 00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

CHAPTER V.

At length we reached the Etowah river and safely passed over the great bridge at that point. No stop was made, though the first serious cause for anxiety was here visible. Hitherto everything had worked exactly as we had calculated, and our confidence in our leader and in final success was correspondingly increased; but on a side track which connected with a little branch road that ran up the river about five miles to the Etowah iron works and rolling mills, there stood a locomotive! It was but a short distance from us, and the smoke from the funnel showed too plainly that it was ready for work, thus constituting an element of the most dangerous character which had not been embraced in our calculations. It was named the Yonah—a private engine used by the owners of the works for their own purposes. Thoroughly as Andrews had explored the road, he had no knowledge of its existence until the moment when he saw it standing on the side track not a dozen yards away, and looking as if it was ready to enter upon a race with our General on equal terms. It was still thirteen miles to Kingston, and the enemy, if there was any direct pursuit, would be able to get an engine there much sooner than we had supposed possible. Several men were gathered about it, but not enough to make an assault seem very formidable to our party. At the first sight, Knight said to Andrews, "We had better destroy that and the big bridge," but Andrews refused with the remark, "It won't make any difference."

Nearly all critics of the expedition who knew of the presence of this locomotive—for a long time I did not, as I was shut up in the box car—are disposed to think that here Andrews made a most unaccountable mistake. But this is far from certain.

It must be remembered that the burning of this bridge formed no part of Andrews' original plan, and could have accomplished nothing more toward the furthering of Mitchel's plans than the burning of the Oostenaula bridge. The local freight train was now due, and if it came in sight while we were engaged in destroying the Yonah, or the bridge, and getting the alarm, as would be almost inevitable under the circumstances, should get away from us and run back to Kingston, or should run on us and cause a wreck, our situation would be far worse than with this engine left behind us. But even we could be assured that the local would not come, but remain for us at Kingston, still the attack here would alarm the enemy, and we would be followed from this point as readily as from Big Shanty, but eighteen miles further up the road. It would be but little more than an hour's gallop to Kingston, where a train for pursuit would surely be found. The capture at Big Shanty assured us of a longer start under any circumstances than seemed possible if we stopped to strike a blow here.

Leaving the engine and bridge behind, we glided on through Cartersville, a town of considerable size, where there were many disappointed passengers on the platform, and continued without incident until we reached Cass station. The town of Cassville is some distance from the railroad, but the station was important for us as the regular place for taking on wood and water. Here we stopped and began to wood up. William Russel, the tender, was naturally curious about the appearance of such a small train running on the time of the morning mail, with no passengers and none of the regular hands. Here Andrews told a most adroit and carefully planned story, with enough of foundation to make it probable. He claimed to have been sent by Gen. Beauregard, who was in desperate straits for ammunition, to impress a train, have it loaded with powder and run it through at lightning speed. Had he been pressed more closely, he could have produced passes proving himself worthy of belief. But it was not necessary to go so far. The very appearance of Andrews, tall, commanding and perfectly self possessed, speaking like one who had long been accustomed to authority, was so much like the ideal southern officer that Russel's credence was won at once. He knew very well that after such a battle as Pittsburg Landing it was natural that powder should be scarce, and if it did not come at once, what more natural than to send for it? Seeing the impression that he had made, Andrews, who, of course, did not work at throwing on wood, but left that to his companions, asked if he could not be supplied with a schedule of the road, as it might be useful. Russel, in his patriotic fervor, took down and handed out his own schedule, saying that he would "send his shirt to Beauregard" if the latter wanted it! When asked afterward if he did not suspect a man who made such an unreasonable demand he answered: "No; I would as soon have suspected Jefferson Davis himself as one who talked with the assurance that Andrews did."

We were now within seven miles of Kingston, resupplied with wood and water, without having met the slightest hindrance and with a full schedule of the road. But at Kingston we had more reason to apprehend danger than anywhere else along the route. A branch road from Rome connected there with the main track, and the morning train from that town would be awaiting our arrival. This, with the local freight which we hoped to meet and the complicated arrangement of the switches, would constitute no small obstacle to our onward progress. The real difficulties surpassed expectations. Andrews had made himself familiar with the minutest working of the road at this point, as also at Dalton and Chattanooga, and we would soon be able to see how he would overcome the hindrances in his way.

We reached Kingston a little ahead of time. A glance showed us that the local freight had not yet arrived. Without the slightest hesitation Andrews ran a few hundred yards past the station, and ordered the switch tender to arrange the switch so as to throw us on the side track; then we backed out on it, stopping on the west side of the station, and almost directly alongside of the Rome passenger train, then lying on its own track, which joined the main line still further north. This train was expecting the coming of Fuller's mail, and of course the arrival of our partial train in the place of the one they were expecting was a matter of the greatest interest to them. The engineer stepped over to our locomotive and said, with an oath:

"How is this? What's up? Here's their engine with some of their men on board."

Fortunately Andrews was just at hand and promptly replied, "I have taken this train by government authority to run ammunition through to Gen. Beauregard, who must have it at once."

He waved his hand toward the car in which we were shut up (representing the powder!), and they inquired no further in that direction, but simply asked when the passenger train would be along. Andrews responded indifferently that he could not tell exactly, but supposed it would not be a great while, as they were getting out another train when he left Atlanta. With this cold comfort they were obliged to be contented, and Andrews, leaving the engine in care of his three comrades, went into the telegraph office, which was on the side of the depot next us, and asked, "What is the matter with the local freight that it is not here?" He was shown a telegraph dispatch for Fuller, ordering him to wait at this point for its coming—an indication that it was not very far away. This was the only information vouchsafed to us by the management of the road during the whole of that eventful day!

TAKEN BY THE ENEMY.

The Naval and Military Manoeuvres About Halifax—Macnab's Island Captured.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 10.—The naval and military manoeuvres to-day attracted more attention than anything of the kind in the recollection of the present generation. The object of the manoeuvres was to find whether an enemy attacking from the sea would have any chance of capturing the city. The attacking war-ships were the Comus, Pylades, Canada and Ready, while the defence was composed of the West Riding Regiment, Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers and the local militia forces, comprising the 63rd Rifles, 66th Fusiliers and Garrison Artillery. The war-ship Wrangler assisted in the defence of the harbor.

The attacking ships opened fire at 10.30 on the southern end of McNabb's Island. This, however, was only a feint, as only a few guns were fired, when the ships crossed the mouth of the bay and engaged with the fort at York redoubt. Passing under the fort the ships got beyond the range of the York redoubt guns, laid to off Herring Cove and sent an armed force of 200 men ashore. These were met by a force of defenders, who fired on them from the neighboring hills, and after a short engagement the sailors and mariners retired to their boats.

By a clever manoeuvre the capture of the fort on the island was effected. This was a decided victory for the enemy, but the advantage to genuine invaders would be very brief as it would be almost impossible to make further advance towards the city under the fire of half-a-dozen forts.

The attack was under the direction of Captain Jackson of the Comus, and Colonel Hill of the Royal Artillery directed the defence.

The Raw, Cutting Winds

Bring to the surface every latent pain. A change of even a few degrees marks the difference between comfort and pain to many persons. Happily disease now holds less sway. Science is continually bringing forward new remedies which successfully combat disease. Polson's Nerviline—nerve pain cure—has proved the most successful pain relieving remedy known. Its application is wide, for it is equally efficient in all forms of pain, whether internal or external. Ten and 25c a bottle, at druggists. 6dw41

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

Constipation

is nearly always induced by neglecting to keep the bowels regular, and is also a frequent sequel to dyspepsia or indigestion. Regulate the stomach and bowels by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which is certain to promptly relieve and ultimately cure the worst cases of constipation. 2dw40

Mothers who have delicate children can see them daily improve and gain in flesh and strength by giving them perfect food and medicine, Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites. Dr. W A. Hulbert, of Salisbury, Ill., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in cases of Scrofula and Debility. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure." A Terrible Ten Years.

Mrs. Thomas Acres, of Huntley, Ont., suffered all the tortures of liver complaint for ten years. Four bottles of B. B. B. entirely cured her, making her like a new woman again after other medicines had failed to relieve her. 2dw40

A Plain Statement.

All poisonous waste, and worn out matter ought to escape from the system through the secretion of bowels, kidneys and skin. B. B. B. cleanses opens and regulates these natural outlets for the removal of disease. 2dw40

A Severe Attack.

Miss Bella Elliot, of Pontypool, Ont., writes "My brother and I were both taken ill with a severe attack of diarrhœa, having tried other remedies, we tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which gave immediate relief. 2dw40

The Magic Bottle Imp.

A very amusing trick, by means of which a child can puzzle the most astute. It is a curiously cut brain puzzler. It is made of wood, and has no one of your friends can make it lay on its side. But as soon as you obliging, down it will go, and lay as quiet as a sleepy kitten. It causes heaps of fun, and wagers perform this simple trick, but the way it is done is not easily seen. The bottle can be handed to many friends for performing the tricks sent with each Bottle. Sample by mail, postpaid, 25 cents; 3 for 75 cents. One dozen, postpaid, $2.

East Riding Exhibition.

The exhibition held at Norwood on Wednesday was a great success; the weather was all that could be desired, the attendance was large and the exhibits very creditable. Peterborough won its share of prizes in the horses class, Mr. T. Cavanagh taking first for carriage team over 15½ hands, and Mr. Geo. Lipsett first for single carriage horse 15½ hands and under. A full report of the fair is crowded out to-day but will be published to-morrow.

East and West Riding Rival Exhibitions.

There is great rivalry between the East and West riding exhibitions, the admirers of the former asserting that their showboats the Central Beth, together, however, are not half as good as the splendid permanent exhibition of gough bros'. big $7,000 stock of boots and shoes. At their exhibition every buyer gets a prize, and the prize is the difference of half between gough bros'. goods and those of the high price leather sharks. Don't be deluded; come straight to gough bros. 375 george street, and buy the best of boots and shoes at half wholesale cost. d

WINNERS OF CUPS.

Mr. T. Rutherford holds the Cox cup (value $30) this year. He was second in the County Match, but the first prizeman being a non-resident of the county the cup went to Mr. Rutherford.

There is a dispute as to who wins the Bankers' cup of 1881 (value $10). Messrs. G. Fitzgerald and A. Blade have both won it in previous years. By the rules it goes to the second prizeman in the Association Match who wins it twice. In the Association Match, Tuesday, Mr. Blade took first place and therefore becomes holder of the Bankers' cup of 1877 (value $25). Mr. Fitzgerald was in eighth position, but the men before him being non-residents of the county and therefore ineligible to compete for the cup, he rises into second place, as far as the cup is concerned. Here is where the misunderstanding lies. Mr. Blade contends that by virtue of his being in first place, and having won the cup of 1881 once before, it now becomes his personal property; while Mr. Fitzgerald contends that Mr. Blade, being first prizeman, cannot lay claim to second prize, also, and that, therefore, the cup is his. Mr. S. Ray, who held the cup last year, has it still in his possession, and there promises to be some lively argument before the matter is settled.

Mr. D. Cameron wins the medal, valued at $7, offered by Mr. F. Birdsall, for the highest score at 400 yards in the volunteers' match of No. 4 Company. Having won it once before, it now becomes his personal property.

Mr. A. Blade takes the Dominion R. A. medal for making the highest score in the aggregate match.

Comic Opera.

The Mail says of Mr. J. C. Duff's comic opera company, who appear at the opera house Monday night next under the auspices of the P.A.A.A.:—The sentimental parts of "A Trip to Africa," by the Duff Opera Company are well contrasted with the fun, the former being interpreted by Miss Beltini, Mr. Wilke and Miss Stone, and the latter supplied by Harry Brown, one of the best light comedians seen for many a year in comic opera, Miss Leighton, Mr. Gaillard and Mr. Temple. The choruses and dances incidental to the opera are now in perfect form, and exhibit some pretty young ladies. The scenery of the three acts is specially attractive, and is nightly applauded almost as much as the singers. The three remaining nights, and the only matinee, Saturday, will witness large and very fashionable audiences.

The Board of Health.

There was no quorum at the meeting called for Wednesday evening, those present being Dr. Fife, chairman, Dr. Clarke, Medical Health officer, and Messrs. E. Pearse and R. W. Erratt. An informal discussion was held among those present, regarding the Nicholls Hospital drain. It was understood that the Hospital Board had undertaken that none of the typhoid excreta should be discharged into the river. Then followed a talk on drainage, in which strong language was used as to its necessity to the town. Complaints having been made as to bad water in schools, the Medical Health officer was requested to analyse the water and inform the trustees if found impure.

The Fall Assizes.

Opening of the Peterborough Fall Assize Court—The Grand Jury and His Lordship's Address.

The Fall Assize Court for the county of Peterborough opened at the Court House at 9.30 a. m. to-day before Mr. Justice Street, who makes his first appearance here in his official capacity on this occasion.

Besides the members of the local bar there were present: Mr. Hector Cameron, Q. C., Toronto; Mr. W. R. Riddell, Cobourg; Mr. W. H. Biggar, Belleville; Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, Toronto; Mr. Gunn, Orillia.

THE FIRST CASE.

The non-jury case, McNeil vs. McCamus, was first taken up. This was a suit regarding a will of the late Charles McNeil. Deceased was at one time a prosperous farmer in Cavan, but of late years had been living on his income with some of his friends. Until 1886 he lived with a Mr. Earl, of Otonabee, and while there made a will dividing his property among his nieces and nephews, making Mr. Thos. McCamus, of Cavan (the defendant), also a nephew of deceased, executor. In the summer of 1886 deceased became very ill and his niece, Miss Isabella McNeil (the plaintiff) was sent for to care for him. The sick man told Miss McNeil that if she would get rooms in town he would come and live with her. This she did, and in the fall the old man came to town, remaining here till the spring of 1887, when they moved to Ashburnham. Mr. McNeil died in May, 1888. In December, 1886, while living with his neice, he sent for Mr. John Barnham, conveyancer, to make a new will leaving all his property to Miss McNeil. After his death Mr. McCamus made application to show that the last will was null and void, alleging undue influence over the testator and his incompetency (being 84 years old) to make a will. Evidence was taken but the judge sustained the last will, declaring it valid. The question of costs was reserved. Messrs. Hector Cameron, Q. C., and Jno. Barnham, for plaintiff; Mr. Riddell, for defendant.

GRAND JURY.

The Grand Jury was impanelled as follows:—

JAMES GOLBORNE, Foreman.

J. J. Bennett,	Thos. Kelly,
Jas. Best,	Jas. Middleton,
T. E. Bell,	C. H. Sheffield,
P. Costello,	Wm. Stabler,
M. English,	John Flood,
Wm. Garbutt,	W. M. Graham,
John Grady,	W. H. Hall,
Robt. Hall,	R. Harrison,
Wm. Harrison,	M. Knox,
D. Kennedy.

THE CHARGE.

His Lordship, in charging the Jury, pointed out that the criminal docket included one murder case and two cases of larceny. He then proceeded to give the legal definition of the crime of murder as distinguished from manslaughter. If one man kills another in the heat of passion, without any malice aforethought or previous intention to kill, the crime is manslaughter; but if done intentionally, after the blood has cooled, it becomes an act of revenge and constitutes murder. There must be malice, prepense or intention to injure someone to constitute murder. After explaining the crime of larceny and pointing out the manner of taking evidence to be followed by the grand jury, His Lordship dismissed them to attend to their duties, which included inspection of the gaol and the prisoners confined therein.

JURY CASES.

Boland vs. Christie was referred by consent to arbitration. Messrs. O'Meara and Barnham for plaintiff; Edmison and Dixon for defendant.

COONS vs. SCOLLARD.—Adjourned till the next assizes, plaintiff agreeing to pay the costs of the day. Mr. Gunn, of Orillia, for plaintiff; Mr. W. H. Moore for defendant.

POTVIN vs. MIDLAND RAILWAY COMPANY.—Action for compensation for damages caused by a branch line of railway (the locks loop line) interfering with entrance to plaintiff's premises on Lake street. The case was dismissed, the defendants paying the plaintiff $275 damages. Mr. W. H. Moore for plaintiff; Mr. Biggar, Belleville, for defendants.

TRUE BILL FOR MURDER.

The jury returned a true bill for murder against Farley, who, when asked if he was ready for trial, replied "No." The court then adjourned till 9 a. m. to morrow, when Farley's case will be taken up.

Mr. O'Meara, counsel for the prisoner, is moving to have the case adjourned till the next assize court. Argument will be heard to-morrow morning.

Church News from the Far North.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—Herewith I beg to forward you a report of meetings held in Deer Lake, township of Cardiff, and Essonville, township of Monmouth, for the purpose of building a Church of England in either place.

Deer Lake.

A few weeks ago a meeting of church people was convened at the residence of Mr. Alfred Willis, township clerk, to consider the desirability of erecting a building for the services of the Church of England. The settlement was well represented, and the following gentlemen were unanimously elected to act as a building committee:—Messrs. Willis, White, J. Watson, T. Watson, J. Mitchell, W. Watson, E. Thorne, Sargisson, and H. Thorne. At a subsequent meeting Mr. I. Hughey was also elected to this committee.

Mr. John Mitchell was elected parson's churchwarden, and Mr. Thomas Watson was elected for the people, the new church to be called "St. Nathaniel's."

It was decided to build a frame church at a cost of three hundred dollars. The committee subscribed on the spot $421, while one member promised to lay the foundation, another gave a thousand feet of lumber, and a third 3,000 shingles. The chairman, Rev. A. E. Whatham, promised outside help if the people would do all they themselves could in the matter.

It is thought that the church will be finished and ready for consecrating by Christmas.

Essonville.

A large meeting of the settlers was held here a few weeks since in the district school house, for the purpose of erecting a Church of England, the building to be called "Christ Church." The proceedings were of a most cordial nature, all denominations joining in the desire to see the church built.

As nearly all present wished to be elected on the building committee, it was thought desirable not to have one, but to elect certain persons as responsible for the various departments of work.

After it had been decided to build a log church, 18x30 feet, the following gentlemen offered the cedars for the walls:—Messrs. Culverwell, Harley and Somerville. Mr. Noble was appointed to superintend the cutting, and Mr. Atwell the drawing of the timber. Mr. Roscoe and Mr. Latimer offered to give plots of ground to erect the church upon. The site, however, at present has not been decided upon. The settlers promised to complete the entire frame of the church, but, being poor, as most of them are new arrivals struggling for a living, the chairman promised to finish the inside at a cost of $70 to $75.

Any assistance to this end will be gratefully received by the Rev. A. E. Whatham, district missionary, Cheddar, Ontario.

Messrs. McAsland and Atwell were elected churchwardens.

Peterborough Cricket Club.

During the past season the club has played ten foreign matches, winning three with Belleville, Ontario County (2), Scarbrights, East Toronto and Campbellford; and losing those with Toronto (2), Rosedale and Hamilton.

Stratton leads the batting with the splendid average of 35½, especially good when we take into account the bowling against which he played. Every time he went to the wickets he scored double figures, and once he carried his bat right through the innings, being also not out in the second innings of the same match. Ray, who comes second, has also played well throughout, his 122 being the only century compiled by a member of the club during the season. Day also batted well, especially at the beginning of the season, where his scores were of very great service.

In bowling Hamilton has the best average, but he bowled in very few innings. Day has bowled exceedingly well all through the season as his average of 7 for 59 wickets shows. Even then he was unlucky as he injured his knee in the middle of the season, which handicapped him somewhat. Logan has also bowled finely, and like Day, he was placed at some disadvantage by an injury to his shoulder which prevented him from taking part in one match. Stratton has not been required so much in the bowling line this season, but Rutherford has done good service.

During the season many scratch matches have been played; those between the Colts and Veterans creating great interest. No fewer than eight matches were played between these sides, each winning four.

Efforts are being made to buy the ground and enlarge it. We sincerely hope these efforts may be successful, and then we shall have a ground second to none in Canada.

Mr. H. G. Day has acted as professional during the season, and has given great satisfaction in every respect. He is a very fine bowler, an excellent bat and field and has fulfilled his duties in an exemplary manner.

Prof. Dorenwend Coming.

As you will see in another column of our paper Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto advertises to be here at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th, and will have with him the usual big stock of Hair Goods. He makes specialties for both ladies and gentlemen who have been unfortunate enough to loose the whole or part of their hair. For the fall trade he has designed and constructed a great number of new and becoming styles in Frontpieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, &c. There is a noticeable peculiarity in the wearing of hair goods; it is a common occurrence for ladies with good, even, abundant heads of hair to wear Frontispieces, Waves &c. You will probably wonder why—simple enough. Fashion demands that the hair should be worn curled or waved in different ways, and to curl and wave ones own hair is injurious besides being troublesome, hence the use of artificial head-dresses. It is within the reach of everyone to have a presentable head of hair. Call and see Prof. Dorenwend and he will show you articles that we guarantee you never dreamt could be made so perfect. Make a note of place and date. At Phelans hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th. 2w416d

Some Remarkable Weather.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 8th.—Some remarkable weather is reported from Colleton county. For fourteen months following the earthquake of August, 1886, there was an almost constant drouth. Streams and springs dried up and crops and cattle perished for want of water. A little over two months ago rain began falling steadily in that section, and for 57 consecutive days there were only two upon which it did not rain. All the low lands have been turned into lakes. No crops have been saved and the people are destitute.

THE GLORY OF MAN

"Did anyone remark that it was cold"?—Examiner Sept. 89.

Well, yes. Could anyone be found in our entire population who has not made use of the remark during the past few days?

And has there not been uppermost in everyone's mind the imperative necessity for warmer clothing?

Someone has said that the glory of man is in his strength; but if strength is to be maintained at this trying season of the year, warmer and heavier clothing must be worn.

The man who neglects to attend to this duty at once will discover that his glory has departed, as he finds himself ushered into the presence of Dr. Liverpills.

Therefore, before you spend the price of an entire warm winter outfit on medicine, which depletes the strength, obey the voice of common sense—go to T. DOLAN & CO.'S and buy yourself a set of warm flannels, and order a suit of heavy Tweed Clothes.

Better do it at once, too, rather than run the risk of staving it off from day to day, until you get sick.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

A BAD BREAK IN THE CORNWALL CANAL.

A Gap 150 Feet Wide—James H. Farter Convicted of Murder at Peterboro and Sentenced to be Hanged.

CORNWALL, Oct 12.—About 11 o'clock last night the bank of the Cornwall Canal broke away about half way between Millerroches and Moulinette. There is a gap 150 feet in width and a hole in the bottom of the canal 10 feet deep. There were eight empty barges and two tugs in the canal at the time, and the Alexandria was at the entrance but did not get in. Navigation will probably be interrupted for two or three weeks till the break is repaired.

Brutal Assault on an Inoffensive Old Man in a Montreal Police Station.

MONTREAL, Oct 12.—About 11 o'clock last evening a French-Canadian, aged 71 years and quite sober, walked into No. 6 police station and requested protection, speaking in his own language. The reserve man on duty could not understand him, and after repeated attempts his temper got the better of him. Rising from his seat he seized the old man by the throat at the same time giving him a good shaking. After the constable had written down the man's name he asked him if he had any tobacco on him. Half a plug replied he. No sooner were the words out of his mouth than the constable again seized the poor old man by the throat, at the same time banging his head against the wall, using language most foul. The old man, nearly choked, made feeble efforts to release the iron grasp on his throat, during which a meerschaum pipe in the mouth of the constable was broken. The latter's fury now knew no bounds; he loosened his grasp on his gray-haired victim and struck him a savage blow on the head. The old man yelled "murder," which was the signal for three constables to rush out from the inside. In the twinkling of an eye the innocent victim was tripped up on to the floor. One held his legs, another his arms; the third man grabbed his head, whilst the reserve man also held him down. The poor old man, nearly strangled, and thinking he was being killed, again yelled out murder, which was the signal for the brute who held his head to beat it against the cornice, splitting the scalp open. Not satisfied with this, he took a fresh hold of the blood-stained grey hairs and recommenced banging it against the floor. The old man was pushed or carried into the cell, where he was once more ill-treated, as cries for help were heard to issue from it. This happened in the presence of two representatives of the press, who were so dumbfounded by the suddenness of the brutal attack that it was all over before they could utter a word of protest.

WINTER FREIGHT RATES.

The Advanced West-Bound Tariff Not to Take Effect Until Nov 15.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—At a meeting of wholesale exporters and importers held here to-day for the purpose of discussing the proposed winter freight rates between Montreal and western points the merchants expressed satisfaction with the arrangements made by the railway companies on the understanding that the full mileage tariff would be kept in effect from Toronto and Hamilton, and that rates from all the lower provinces should be made consistent with those charged from Montreal. It was also agreed, having regard to navigation not closing until the latter part of November, that the advanced west-bound tariffs should not go into effect until Nov. 15.

SENSATIONAL SHOOTING.

A MYSTERIOUS CRIME AT MANITOBA'S CAPITAL.

Alex. Taylor, a Leading Stationer, Probably Mortally Wounded by an Unknown Person—A Lady in the Case.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 12.—A mysterious shooting affair of a sensational character happened here to-day. Alex. Taylor, a leading stationer, was shot by some person in his rooms this morning, the first known of the shooting being his appearance at the door asking a lad to go for a doctor. His bed was found to be saturated with blood, and the floor was spattered with it. Taylor was taken to the hospital where he lies in a very low condition.

He refused to divulge the name of the person who shot him or to say anything about the affair. Rumor connects the name of a lady with it, but there appears to be no reason for this.

No weapon was found on the premises, no person was seen near the place and the wound, which is in the left breast, the ball passing out of the back near the left shoulder, is in such a part as precludes the possibility of him having committed the deed himself. Fears are entertained that Taylor will not live till morning.

The whole affair is wrapped in the deepest mystery, which neither the police nor the public have yet solved.

THE KAISER AT THE VATICAN.

A Ceremonious Reception—His Interview With the Pope Lasts 1¼ Hours.

ROME, Oct. 12.—At the luncheon to-day Emperor William sat between Cardinal Rampolla and Cardinal Hohenlohe. A tablet which had been erected in the legation in memory of the occasion was unveiled. Upon the Emperor's arrival at the Vatican, Prince Rampolla opened His Majesty's carriage. The reception, both inside and outside the Vatican, was conducted with the fullest state ceremonies. The Pope advanced from his study to a private ante-chamber, where he greeted the Emperor. Both then retired to the study, where they remained for an hour and a-half.

At luncheon at Baron Von Schloeger's residence, Cardinal Rampolla toasted Emperor, who responded by proposing the health of the Pope. Afterwards the Emperor drove to the Vatican. The route was lined with troops and decorated with flags. Numerous devices were displayed bearing the words "Viva Roma Intangible" and similar inscriptions. At the castle of San Angelo, where the City Leonins commences, there was displayed in immense letters the following: "Welcome Emperor of Germany. August Guest of Our King in Rome, the Unassailable Capitol of Italy." Need of precautions had been taken to prevent an Anti-Semitic demonstration while the visitors were passing the Borgo district. The inhabitants evinced only patriotic sentiment.

At the Vatican Prince Rasopli received the Emperor and conducted him to the Pope's chambers. Two companies of Palatine guards were stationed at the entrance of the hall. The Pope surrounded by his court received the Emperor, who bent his knee to the Pope, whereupon the Pope invited the Emperor to a seat beside the throne. The suite having been presented His Holiness arose and led the way to the Sella Gialla where he had a private interview lasting twenty-five minutes with the Emperor. On returning a procession was formed and the museums were visited. Emperor William walked beside Cardinal Kampolle, next came Prince Henry and Cardinal Secretari. The Palatine guard and the dignitaries of the pontifical court followed. After leaving the museum the party inspected St. Peter's. Thence the visitors returned to the Quirinal.

A Missing Cipher.

BERLIN, Oct 13.—The Nachrichten says: A cipher code which had been placed at Emperor Frederick's disposal for communicating with the leading officials of the Empire is missing. It was in the Emperor's room at the time of his death, but has since been stolen.

The Only Remedy.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—In an address at a political banquet, M. Floquet, the Prime Minister, although he had been apprised that the majority of the guests were against the proposition to revise the constitution intimated that the Government was determined to proceed with the scheme as the only remedy for the present situation.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Victoria and College Federation—The Buckley Case—Died From His Injuries.

TORONTO, Oct. 13.—Alfred A. Payne, the unfortunate lad who was so shockingly mangled by a C. P. R. express train, near the Bathurst-street bridge Thursday morning, succumbed to the terrible nature of his injuries at 12.30 yesterday morning, after suffering the most excruciating agony for nearly 15 hours.

What was probably the most important meeting ever held in the interest of Methodism in Canada, has been in session for the past two days at the Metropolitan Church in this city. The subjects under discussion the final acceptance of the plan of university federation, the location and erection of a new Victoria College in Queen's Park, and the character and plan of the buildings, were all of the first importance. The anti-Federationists made a big fight but were worsted completely. Victoria comes to Toronto, work is to be begun at the earliest possible moment, and a committee has been named to make the necessary arrangements for federating with the University of Toronto.

Yesterday morning Mr Æ. Irving, Q. C., who is acting for the Crown at the present assizes, gave notice in court that he would apply to-day to have the Buckley case re-opened, with a view of bringing before the court the prisoner's previous record, which fairly bristles with lawlessness and violence, and would ask to have the sentence of five years for the killing of Bertha Robinson increased.

Another Case of Smallpox at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Oct. 12.—Another case of smallpox is reported by the Board of Health this afternoon, being a boy named Isaac Barrett, aged 19 and living at No. 478 Spring-street. It is a mild case of the disease.

Not Caught Under the Flag.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The Treasury Department has decided that fish caught by Icelanders in the employ of the captain of the American schooner Lanaseer, from Gloucester, Mass., cannot be allowed to enter free of duty as a product of American fisheries. The captain, on his fishing trip, stopped at Iceland and furnished the natives with fishing tackle and employed them to fish for him. They caught 9700 pounds, but as they were not caught or cured under the American flag they cannot be imported

DEATH OF HON. JAMES PATTON.

Sudden Taking Away of the Collector of Customs at Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 13.—The housekeeper at the Customs House going his morning rounds at about 7 o'clock yesterday stepped into the room of the Collector of Customs, which is in the north-east corner of the building, on the first floor. Having tidied up the front room he walked into a smaller room connected with it by a passage which also opens out on a room for clerks. At the sight which met his startled eyes his heart stood still. In the open door of the vault in an opposite corner of the room lay the body of a man, stark in death. And the body was that of James Patton, Collector of Customs for Toronto. It lay on its side, with the knees doubled up and the head resting on the stone sill of the open door of the vault.

An inquest was held last night and the jury found that on Thursday, Oct. 11, the deceased came to his death by sudden failure of the heart. The funeral has been arranged for Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

[James Patton was born at Prescott, Ont., on June 10, 1828. He was fourth son of the late Andrew Patton, of St. Andrew's, Fifeshire, Scotland, and formerly Major of the 45th Regiment. James was educated at Upper Canada College and Kings College, now the University of Toronto. In 1845 he was called to the bar and entered on the practice of law at Barrie. In 1852 he established The Barrie Herald, as the mouthpiece of the Conservative party, whose principles were always deep rooted in his breast. In 1859 he was made a bencher of the Law Society, was afterwards a Solicitor-General and a life Bencher by statute, and in 1862 he was made a Queen's Council. Mr. Patton's professional and business career was a most successful one. In 1864 Mr. Patton moved to Kingston to take charge of Sir John Macdonald's business there, but in 1872, on the removal of the Trust and Loan Company's office to Toronto, returned, Macdonald & Patton being the Company's solicitors. In 1878 Mr. Patton retired from the active practice of the law and assumed control of the affairs of the English and Scottish Investment Company of Canada. He held this position until 1881, when he was called to that of Collector of Customs for Toronto, a post which he filled most creditably till the time of his sudden death. Though actively engaged in politics in his early life, he did not seek office until 1856, when the Legislative Council, now the Senate, was made elective, and he was chosen to represent the Saugeen District which now consists of the Counties Grey, Bruce and Simcoe. In 1862 he became a member of the Cartier-Macdonald Ministry, with a seat in the Executive Council, now the Privy Council, as Solicitor-General for Upper Canada. He was defeated when seeking re-election, and with the fall of the Government, a few weeks later, he retired from public life.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM LYNCHING.

Negro Miners Attack the Crew of a Freight Train.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 13.—Two hundred negro miners at Smith's mines, on the Birmingham Mineral Railroad, yesterday afternoon made a desperate attempt to lynch five white men composing the crew of a freight train. The train ran over and killed Clara Dickson, a colored woman, who was lying across the track drunk and asleep. Her body was cut into half a dozen pieces of flesh and bones. The train crew took shovels and dumped the still bleeding flesh of the woman into a ditch by the road.

This made the negroes who had witnessed the accident frantic, and they quickly surrounded the train and sent for a rope. All the crew managed to get on the engine, which they stealthily uncoupled from the train, and by pulling the throttle wide open managed to escape. A shower of bullets was sent after the flying engine, but they did no harm beyond breaking the cab windows.

FAIR ELECTION LEAGUE.

The Penitentiary Ready for the Debauchers of the Ballot Box.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—The Indiana Fair Election League, which has been quietly organized here, proposes to see that an honest election will be held in this State. The officers sent out circulars with the heading, "A Fair Election or the Penitentiary." The provisions of the State law and the decision of the Supreme Court in the Coy-Bernheimer case are noted. Samuel Merrill, a book publisher, is president, and John B. Conner, of The Indiana Farmer, secretary of the league. They are both Republicans, but not politicians.

A Serious Charge Against Powderly.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—In a speech at New York T. B. Barry, who resigned last week from the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor said: "I state now, and will prove it right, that General Master Workman T. V. Powderly is illegally using the funds of the order, and using his position to further his personal ends. I know that D. J. Campbell, of Scranton, went to Washington a few weeks ago, ostensibly to see the President in regard to the miners of that district, but principally to secure a promise that if the labor vote was handed over to the Democratic party this fall Mr. Powderly would succeed Mr. Carroll D. Wright as Chief of the National Labor Bureau. The General Master Workman has Mr. Cleveland's promise in his pocket now, but in my estimation the labor vote will not be handed over to gratify any such base desire."

Mail Robbery at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Oct. 12.—An extensive and bold mail robbery was perpetrated during last night, by which most of the mails arriving in this city from all points were plundered, and papers, documents and money extracted. The present inferences point directly to the guilty party being an employe of the postoffice department in this city. It was ascertained early this morning that torn letters, drafts and checks were scattered on Pearl and Eagle-streets in the vicinity of Fulton Market. The fact was revealed that the robbery had been general in character, and covered letters from Canada, Pennsylvania, Jamestown, New Orleans, Boston and nearly every point

THE MUD RUN DISASTER

YESTERDAY'S DEATHS MAKE THE NUMBER OF VICTIMS 63.

Fifteen Widowed and Thirty-One Orphaned by the Terrible Catastrophe—What it Will Cost the Company.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 12.—There are few new developments in the Lehigh Valley Railroad accident to-day. The town of Pleasant Valley, which furnished no less than 33 victims, is a grief-stricken place. All business has been suspended in the mines and elsewhere and universal sorrow prevails. The dead will all be buried to-morrow morning.

Peter Kline and Terry Sullivan died this morning. This makes sixty-one victims. The surgeons at the Wilkesbarre hospital say at least half-a-dozen of their patients will die. The disaster makes fifteen widows and thirty-four orphans. It is estimated that the accident will cost the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company $300,000 to settle with the relatives of the dead and injured.

A QUIET DAY AT CHICAGO.

No Disturbance Raised by the Strikers—The Dynamite Bombs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—This has been the quietest day since the strike was inaugurated. On the North Side cars were run ing all day with a diminished protective force. On the West Side cars were run on Madison-street after 10 a. m. Conferences took place between the strikers and President Yerkes, but were without result.

A number of conflicting statements were made to-day in regard to the nature of the compound found in the bombs which were placed on the Sedgwick-street tracks yesterday afternoon. This arose from the fact that two kinds of bombs were found, those on Sedgwick-street and others on State-street. The latter were harmless and the officials at police headquarters got the two reports mixed. Last evening after the bombs on Sedgwick-street were found Capt. Schaack sent for an expert connected with one of the big powder houses of Chicago and gave him the packages. The gentleman took them home and this morning brought them back. "It is dynamite," said he to the captain "and there is enough of it to blow up this station." One of the packages was taken to the city limits this morning, it is said, and exploded. It made a great hole in the ground besides breaking a large piece of iron placed under it to test its force.

INFORMED ON HERSELF.

Mrs. Finn Breaks Her Husband's Skull and Then Notifies the Police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Jennie Finn rushed into Police Headquarters at an early hour yesterday morning and informed Sergeant Kellahar that a man had just been murdered at No. 246 Elizabeth-street. She might have also said that the man was her husband, Dennis, and that she it was who had broken his skull with a pitcher, but she did not. After giving her information she disappeared.

Detectives McGrade and Finnigan went around to the house and found Mr. Finn lying in a pool of blood in the midst of the fragments of a heavy water pitcher. He was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital in an ambulance, where the house surgeon said he had a compound fracture of the skull and could not live.

Mr. Finn said that during a quarrel his wife had become angry and smashed the pitcher over his head. The detectives found Mrs. Finn later in the day concealed under the bed in a neighbor's apartments. In the Tombs Police Court Justice Patterson held her to await the result of her husband's injuries.

They Planned a Murder.

BOSTON Oct. 12.—Wm. Knowlin, the brother of Milkman Cowman's murderer, was arrested last night on suspicion of being about to commit a deed similar to that for which Eddie Knowlin was hanged. Knowlin and a hackman driver were caught in an unsuccessful attempt several months ago to rob a gentleman and for this crime Knowlin was sentenced to the reformatory. His conduct while in this institution was so good that he was released on probation and found employment with W. L. Russell, a milkman on Mystic-street. Knowlin discovered that his employer had money in his possession and planned to get it.

Last evening a servant girl informed an officer that she had overheard Knowlin and another man plotting for the murder of Russell. They had their plans all arranged to overpower the milkman in his room at the stable, secure his money and take the train for New York. They had a hackman engaged to wait for them and take them to the New York and New England depot. The officers are now looking for Knowlin's alleged accomplice.

Unearthing Some Gigantic Frauds.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—Detective Scofield and Attorney Furthman, of Chicago, whose mysterious trips to and from the West to this city have caused so much talk, have returned to Chicago. Before leaving the city the detective said: "The various rumors published about our business here are all wrong. Our business is not known to any person in the city except ourselves and the 'shadows' I have engaged. There will be two arrests of prominent persons in this city and one in Milwaukee. They are involved in a series of gigantic frauds and depredations which having been going on for the past five years. An immense sum of money is involved, and the case is of vast importance to residents of this city. The parties who are criminally involved may know of our presence here, but they cannot run away. The 'shadows' are looking after them."

After Powderly's Scalp.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Oct. 12.—Edward Callahan will institute criminal and civil libel proceedings against General Master Workman Powderly. He alleges that his business has been damaged by a boycott ordered by Powderly. In the civil action damages of $10,000 will be laid.

DOOMED TO DEATH.

FARLEY FOUND GUILTY

Of the Wilful Murder of Simon Elijah.

Sentenced to be Hanged November 6th—The Evidence Taken—Addresses of Counsel—The Judge's Charge—"Guilty of Wilful Murder—With a Recommendation to Mercy"—The Death Sentence—The Doomed Man's Demeanour—"While There's Life There's Hope."

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The Court resumed at a quarter to two o'clock and evidence was adduced in the Farley murder trial,

FOR THE DEFENCE.

FREDERICK DOLAN, sworn, said:—Was on the market square on June 24th; saw the prisoner near the table at the butcher stalls—about 15 feet from me; the Indian passed along and said, "Hello, Reddy"; prisoner replied in an obscene way; the Indian replied, "I don't have to do it"; the Indian was drunk but did not seem to be vexed; saw prisoner walk towards Indian; the Indian turned, but not in a threatening manner; prisoner put his hand on the post and fired; thought the bullet would hit the Indian in the hip.

To MR. RIDDELL.—The Indian seemed to be in good humor when he said, "Hello, Reddy."

JOHN BURNS, sworn, saw the prisoner and Indian on the market square; he saw the latter advance towards the prisoner; think he was advancing towards Farley.

To MR. RIDDELL.—Heard some words spoken, but can't tell a word that was spoken; prisoner had his revolver in his belt; saw him shoot the Indian.

Police Constable STEWART, sworn.—On June 24th saw prisoner; he asked for protection, and witness referred him to the Chief; he said two men had threatened him; he wanted the Chief to send witness to see that he (Farley) locked up the revolver, which he had showed to Chief and witness. Farley wanted the men that threatened him arrested. Saw prisoner afterwards on market square and arrested him and took him to the police station; prisoner said "Arrest me." The Chief told me to look him up as he was drunk anyway. After the Chief had found out that the Indian was shot he told witness to keep the man safe as he was a murderer. Farley then tried to get away. When searched a cartridge was found on his person.

To MR. RIDDELL.—Prisoner was standing when he saw me coming. Had no revolver when witness took him in charge; the arrest was made in about two minutes after the shot was fired.

JOHN BECK, sworn, said he lived in New York city; was with Howe's circus last summer; knew Farley two or three years before that time; met him in St. Thomas; knew deceased Simon Elijah; he and Farley were with the same show; on one occasion witness was in dressing room of show; there was an altercation; Farley was a hard-working, honest young man; he was not quarrelsome.

FRANK LEWIS was in Peterborough with Howe's circus on June 24th. At Gravenhurst, in the dressing-room of the circus, Farley and the Indian had an altercation; heard Indian threaten to put a knife into Farley.

To MR. RIDDELL.—Think the Indian attempted to kill Farley on that occasion.

JAS. KERLEY.—Knew prisoner and the late Simon Elijah, remember a quarrel between them at Trenton and the Indian ran Farley out of the dressing-room and said he would kill the Irish ——— before they were long with the show. On another occasion, the Indian attacked Farley with an iron stake; prisoner was not quarrelsome.

To MR. RIDDELL.—There was considerable quarreling between Farley and the Indian.

MICHAEL GARRY sworn.—Was connected with Howe's circus, was with it in Peterborough on June 24th, saw Farley and the Indian that morning, neither was sober; had conversation with Elijah after the shooting. He said he could blame himself—if he had let Reddy alone he would have been alive. He said that if Farley had not killed him he might have killed Farley. Farley had a good character with the show.

To MR. RIDDELL.—The was a bad feeling between prisoner and the Indian.

LEWIS FARLEY sworn.—Am father of prisoner; live in Philadelphia. He is twenty-four years of age. Prisoner is of a quiet disposition, not quarrelsome.

ADDRESSES OF THE COUNSEL.

This concluded the evidence in the case, and Mr. O'Meara, counsel for the defence began his address to the jury at ten minutes to three o'clock.

He made a powerful appeal to the feelings of the jury, and laid considerable stress upon the circumstance that the prisoner was excited by drink and was not responsible for his actions, that he had reason to fear for his life at the hands of the deceased Indian, that, while he would not attempt to deny the fact of the shooting, the attending circumstances all combined to justify the jury in bringing in a verdict of manslaughter.

Mr. Riddell, the crown council delivered a most lucid and dispassionate address. His analysis of the evidence betrayed a masterly acumen, every point was made to count with telling force and every sophistry was swept aside. He showed the evidence of malice implied in the threat of Farley made at Reddy's hotel, coupled with the boast that he had the stuff to do it with in his pocket, explained the deliberateness of the shooting on the market square, though he evidently had not at that time a pistol with him. He showed that Farley's showing a pistol in the police office, and afterwards laying it aside and again securing it, after the altercation at Reddy's, was further proof that the shooting was premeditated. The fact of the prisoner's drunkenness was, in law, no palliation of his offence, which was unmistakably proven by the best possible evidence, even the witnesses for the defence strengthening the force of the facts against the prisoner.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

His Lordship next addressed the jury. He said it was one of the most solemn, painful and disagreeable duties a jury was ever called upon to perform—the trying of such a charge. It was their duty to decide upon the evidence alone. He pointed out that prisoner's counsel had admitted that his client had fired the fatal shot, and had requested the jury to bring in a verdict of manslaughter, which if was their duty to do if they found any extenuating circumstances presented in evidence warranting them in coming to such a conclusion, but, if on the other hand, there existed no such circumstances, it would be their duty, no matter how terrible it might be, to return a verdict of wilful murder. His Lordship, minutely reviewed and analyzed the evidence, pointing out that there was no evidence to connect the murdered man with one of the other parties from whom the printers sprang's description at the police station. He referred to the altercation at Reddy's hotel between the two parties, and the threat of Farley that he would finish the Indian. The evidence of Noxen Harris showed that the shooting took place a considerable time after the altercation at Reddy's. His Lordship pointed out that, if the felonious act is committed in the heat of the moment's passion, that fact would reduce the crime to manslaughter, but if time enough had elapsed for the heat of passion to have passed the felonious act would constitute murder. In this respect the evidence of Noxen Harris as fixing the time, was of the greatest importance. As to the shooting itself there was a general concurrence of evidence, though there were discrepancies which did not affect its correctness. There was no doubt that, whenever or whenever the prisoner got the revolver, he used it with deadly effect. His Lordship said that to permit a plea of self-defence to have effect, he had allowed the counsel for the defence to summon witnesses to show that the Indian had made attempts on or threats against Farley's life, but he could not find in the evidence of what took place on the market square the slightest justification for the shooting, nor anything whatever to justify a plea of self-defence. With regard to drunkenness, that state in the eye of the law was no justification of the crime. It was not an excuse for a crime but it was sometimes an indication of the quality of the crime, but it could have no effect on the nature of an assault with a deadly weapon. The excuse of drunkenness would have applied more properly if the shooting had occurred at the time of the altercation at Reddy's. His Lordship said that in the use of a deadly weapon with intent to wound, if death ensued it was as much murder as if there had been deliberate intention to kill. It was not necessary, either, to have proved express malice to justify a verdict of murder.

The jury were then dismissed by His Lordship for the consideration of their verdict. During the time of the judge's charge, Joseph Farley, the prisoner's father, had a seat directly underneath the prisoner in front of the dock. As the jury was filing out, the father turned up his face and looked into the face of his son. The latter, as he met his father's look, shook his head with an expression of utter despair pitiable to behold; he evidently felt that, after the judge's charge, he had little to hope for from the jury except the strictest measure of justice.

After the jury had gone out the prisoner retired from the dock in charge of the turnkey, and a larceny case was called on, but the immense crowd, which had, during the judge's charge, left their seats and crowded into the aisles, not to miss a word, found no interest in the comparative nothingness of hearing the story of the theft of a few dollars, while the life of a beardless youth, in the first flush of manhood, hung in the balance.

At five minutes after five, the jury having been out twenty minutes, a tap on the door of the jury room, showing that their verdict was ready, drew every eye in that direction. The jury filed solemnly in taking their places in the grand jury boxes. When the clerk of the court asked: "Gentlemen, of the jury, have you agreed upon your verdict?" the foreman arose and, instead of replying, came forward with a piece of folded paper in his hand and passed it to the judge. The latter unfolded it and after a moment's scrutiny read—"Guilty of wilful murder, with a recommendation to mercy."

His Lordship asked the foreman upon what grounds the jury had founded the recommendation to mercy, and he answered that they had considered the bad feeling that existed between the parties and the assault of the Indian and the fact that the prisoner was drunk at the time of the commission of the crime.

The Crown counsel then made the usual formal motion that the Court pass sentence on the prisoner.

"James Farley, have you anything to say why the sentence of the Court should not pass upon you for the crime of which you have been convicted?"

Farley then, in a steady, clear voice, said: "All I have to say is, I ask you to be as lenient as possible on account of my poor father and mother."

The Judge said the law left him no alternative but to pronounce the sentence it provided for the crime of which he had been found guilty. The jury had seen it fit to recommend him to mercy, but he, the judge, could hold out no hope that the recommendation would have any weight. He would, however, forward it to the proper authorities and the decision would rest with them. The sentence of the Court was that on the 8th of November he was to be "taken to the place of execution and hanged by the neck till your are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"—the doomed man's parched and bloodless lips forming an inaudible "amen" at the close of the terrible sentence.

The prisoner stood motionless for a moment his face bereft of expression and overspread with a pathetic listlessness. He then turned to the left and reaching over, laid his arms on his father's shoulders and whispered, as the father wiped the bitter tears from his cheek, "while there's life there's hope." Farley then turned to leave the dock but at the door he paused and stood for fully a half a minute looking with rapt gaze in front of him, before he disappeared in charge of the officers.

JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

The Grand Jury made the following presentment:—

To the Hon. Mr. Justice Street:

This being your first official visit to Peterborough since your appointment as a Justice of the High Court of Justice, the Grand Jurors of Her Majesty the Queen for the county of Peterborough, desire to congratulate you upon being chosen for such an exalted and responsible position, which you are eminently qualified to fill, and hope you may long live to adorn the Bench.

We have examined the county gaol and its surroundings and find everything in good order and evidence of careful attention

We are glad to find that since the last sitting of the court seven persons have been removed from the gaol who were of unsound mind, but there are still two left, one having been confined for more than four years.

We find one William Course, who is suffering from cancer, is also in gaol, and we think it would be much better to have him removed to some hospital or similar institution.

We much regret that the good reputation of the county, as containing law-abiding citizens, has been marred by the killing of a man in the town, which will be enquired into at this court, and would point out that both the parties to the crime were not residents of the county, but came from a distance.

Apart from this case, we are pleased to find a light list of criminal cases.

JAMES GOLBORNE,
Foreman.

HIS LORDSHIP, in reply, thanked the jury for their complimentary personal reference, and referred in terms of high commendation to the court house, which, for ventilation and convenience, surpassed any court house of which his experience had given him any knowledge. After referring to the importance of retaining the grand jury system and other matters, the jury was dismissed.

Prof. Dorenwend Coming.

As you will see in another column of our paper Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto advertises to be here at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th, and will have with him the usual big stock of Hair Goods. He makes specialities for both ladies and gentlemen who have been unfortunate enough to loose the whole or part of their hair. For the fall trade he has designed and constructed a great number of new and becoming styles in Frontispieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, &c. There is a noticeable peculiarity in the wearing of hair goods; it is a common occurrence for ladies with good, even, abundant heads of hair to wear Frontispieces, Waves &c. You will probably wonder why—simple enough. Fashion demands that the hair should be worn curled or waved in different ways, and to curl and wave ones own hair is injurious besides being troublesome, hence the use of artificial head-dresses. It is within the reach of everyone to have a presentable head of hair. Call and see Prof. Dorenwend and he will show you articles that we guarantee you never dreamt could be made so perfect. Make a note of place and date. At Phelans hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th. 2w416d

DARING AND SUFFERING.

The presence of Mr. Anthony Murphy that morning was purely accidental. He was going to examine an engine at Allatoona reported out of order. As an officer of high authority on the road, commanding all engineers and firemen, knowing all the engines and everything about the road perfectly, his presence at that time was most unfortunate for us. He was a man of great coolness and good judgment. His first action was far-sighted. He sent Mr. William Kendrick on horseback to Marietta to notify the superintendent at Atlanta by wire. Mr. Kendrick arrived in time to hold a freight train there till orders were flashed back to drop all cars but one, run up to Big Shanty, load on oldiers and pursue with all speed. This was the first train in chase. A message was also sent from Marietta to Richmond, but no result followed that. My opinion is that Andrews had in some way arranged for cutting the wire between Chattanooga and Knoxville, which was the only route by which the message could have gone around and got on the line of the Western and Atlantic railroad ahead of us.

Had these been the only measures of pursuit—wise and judicious as they were —our task would have been easy. But Fuller's error and his ardent temperament prompted to another course. He had called Murphy and Cain, "Come on with me;" they promptly followed and the three of them started at a dead run up the track. The spectacle of three men running vigorously after a flying engine, as if they expected to catch it, instantly restored the mob to good humor, and they cheered and shouted with laughter! What would have been the fate of these runners if they had overtaken us at the first stop, where we cut wire and obstructed the track, it is needless to inquire. They would have hardly begun such a chase had they not entirely underestimated our number, as well as mistaken our purpose. The Atlanta Southern Confederacy of the next day, in an article full of panic, written before the issue was determined, speaks of us as "some four men yet unknown."

The different running powers of the pursuers were soon made evident in this apparently hopeless chase. Fuller was extraordinarily fleet and of great endurance. His companions were equally zealous but less able for running. They were, therefore, soon spread out for a considerable distance. While putting in his best efforts, Fuller shouted back encouragement to his comrades, but did not wait. The hope of getting his train soon was too strong, and he also feared that the reckless men who had taken it might do some injury to the engine before he could come up. The idea that they might offer any resistance did not enter his mind.

But the chase could not long have continued in this manner, for human muscles cannot be pitted successfully against steam. The labored breath and the decreasing pace of the runners showed that they were well nigh exhausted; and as curve after curve was rounded—for with the instinct of railroad men they clung to the track—they grew discouraged; but just before their "second wind" was exhausted, they received both help and renewed excitement. They came to Moon's station, some two miles from the place of starting, and have never been able to make even a plausible conjecture of the time consumed in this first stage of the journey; but it is certain that it was just as little as straining muscles and iron could well make it.

Here they learned from the track laying party that some of their tools had been "borrowed," and a short distance beyond some ties placed on the track and the telegraph cut. This was our first halt, and the track had been obstructed that a train coming from Atlanta might be hindered. The pursuers here found a hand car—not one of the elaborate machine cars, which may be driven at great speed, but what Fuller termed a "pole car." It was at once pressed into service and gave a welcome rest. Fuller ran it back a little way and picked up his companions, who were behind, then drove forward as fast as the construction of the car would permit. Pushing with a long pole in that boat fashion, quite rapid time could be made on the level and on down grades, while on the steep up grades two would jump off and push at a full run.

At Ackworth they got a re-enforcement of two men, Mr. Smith and Mr. Stockely, and hurried forward. All idea that they were following conscripts had now been given up. They had learned that the captors had been seen oiling their engine, as if preparing for a long run, and seeming to perfectly understand their work. Fuller and Murphy were now able, for the first time, to consult about their plans. We were running on regular time—a circumstance that they had noted in the reports received from the different stations—and that time was only sixteen miles per hour, which meant two hours to Kingston. They were making seven or eight miles on the pole car, and that, if kept up (it was the utmost they could do), would bring them to Etowah in two or three hours from the start. "Then if," Fuller continued, "we can find the old Yonah ready at our end of the branch, we can take her and run up to Kingston in fifteen minutes more. There are to be some extra trains on the road today that will bother the scoundrels up there, and the chances are that we will overhaul them at that place, where we will get plenty of help." "But if we do not find the Yonah ready?" was asked. "Why, then, so far as I can see, we are done," was the reply.

They did not stop to speculate, but were all this time pressing on at the very highest speed possible. It might well be that one minute would make all the difference between finding the Yonah and her starting back to the iron works, miles away. But there was a sharp interruption just before they came in sight of Etowah, and while they were straining every nerve and looking forward to see if the smoke of the engine was yet visible. We had taken up a rail, and there was a crash, a sense of falling, and they found themselves lying, hand car and all, in a heap at the bottom of a ditch! If the embankment had been as high at that place as at many others on the road, all our danger would have ended, for no other party that day originated anything against us; but the ground was almost level; and except a few bruises, they were unhurt, and at once placed their car on the track again.

While doing this, they were greatly stimulated and hurried by noticing the smoke and steam of the Yonah, which they could see across the long bend on their side of Etowah river. If they could only make the distance, a little more than a mile, before the engine went back on the branch! With all their power, like men working for their lives, they drove forward. They were soon in sight. The engine was on the main track still, and the tender was just being turned on the half moon turn table, preparatory to starting back. But the people there saw the furiously driven hand car, with the shouting, excited men on it, and at once suspended their work and gathered around to know the cause of these frantic gestures. Fuller had not much breath left to spend in talking, but managed to say that the Yankees had taken his train, and that he wanted their engine, and all of them with their guns to follow in chase. He, with every man of his party, was well known and there was no stopping to question. Their very appearance, streaming with sweat and almost exhausted, bore witness to the urgency of their haste. A score of strong arms whirled back the tender on the turn table, and pushed it and an empty coal car up to the engine, while a number of Confederate soldiers who were waiting to take the next train southward to Big Shanty, piled in also.

MR. CHAPLEAU'S SPEECH.

A Sensational and Untrue Despatch Published by the Yankee Papers.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—News reached here this afternoon that several American newspapers had to-day published sensational accounts of the speech delivered by Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State, at a banquet tendered last evening to Mr. R. S. White, the newly elected member for Cardwell, in which the hon. gentleman is represented as having made a ferocious attack upon the United States in reference to the fisheries dispute and the retaliation question. These despatches are made out of whole cloth and are the invention of a representative of an uninfluential local paper, who caused much annoyance at the banquet by his conduct, which was certainly not characteristic of a sober man.

As a matter of fact Hon. Mr. Chapleau was particularly friendly in his references to the United States, and so were all the speakers on the occasion. While upholding the policy pursued by the Canadian Government towards the United States, and declaring his belief in the ability of the Dominion to carve out its own destiny independent of any outside interference, the Secretary of State went out of his way, in the opinion of many of his hearers, to express friendly sentiments towards the American Government. Having made complimentary references to both Blaine and Bayard as statesmen of the first order, Mr. Chapleau expressed the belief that after the elections, whichever party carried the day, Canada and the United States would settle their differences in a friendly manner, and that the present tension of feeling was solely the result of political feeling.

As proof that the story is an utter fabrication it may be stated that every paper in the city of every shade of politics, both French and English, publishes reports of Mr. Chapleau's speech and that none of them contain the slightest reference to any attack on the United States.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,673,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have more over $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,540 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are $ 969 for $14,081,377 69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $492,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,000 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876 four years.....	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years.....	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,886 14
1880 to 1884, four years.....	136 976 84	363,264 31	2,992 924 80
1884 to 1887, three years.....	217,451 89	475,997 24	4,020,373 66
Total in 1887	$493 831 54	$1,750,664 48	$10,873,717 60

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Up Went the Price of Bread.

The great big trouble in the housekeepers' mind just now is the rise in the price of bread. A couple of weeks ago it sold at 5c. for the small loaf, last week it was raised to 6c. by the bakers, and this week to 7c.—or 14c. for a large loaf. The bakers say they are compelled to do it on account of the rise of flour, consequent upon the elevated condition of the wheat market. So that what brings joy to the farmers' heart, in this case causes sorrow to the purchaser of bakers' bread.

The Archer Recital.

The announcement that Mr. Frederic Archer would open the new organ at All Saints Church last night served to draw together an immense audience, every seat in the church and adjoining vestries being occupied long before the hour of opening. Mr. Archer's fame is, of course, already established in Toronto, and his playing last night fully sustained his reputation.—Toronto Globe, Oct. 12.

A Day at the Lakes.

Mr Charles Wynn took a party of Peterborough gentlemen on a trip to Stoney Lake Thursday night. Driving from town to Lakefield in the evening, they embarked on Mr. Wynn's yacht "Irene" and were run rapidly up to Mr. J.D.Collins' island "Catamaran" where they spent the night. Friday they spent in skimming over the lake in the yacht, and, though the weather was unpropitious and the lake exceeding rough, they spent a pleasant time, returning to town last night. The party comprised Messrs Chas. Wynn, J.D.Collins, E.H.D.Hall, B. Shortly W. Paterson, Jno. McClelland, Wm. Loch, sr. Harry Rush, and Sidney Crawford, (of New Orleans).

Justice and Injustice.

At the assizes yesterday the sternest measure of justice was meted out, but in Toronto, a day or two ago, a brute who savagely kicked a weak, defenceless woman to death, got only a paltry five years. This is a terrible contrast, but it is not nearly so great a contrast as the prices between the boots and shoes of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, and the prices of the grab-all, big-figure dealers. At goughs', 375 george street, you will find a prime $7,000 stock of boots and shoes bought at half wholesale price, being sold at the same rates. Thousands of pairs of good, sound boots and shoes—a bargain in every pair. Take $2 to the high price shops and you get one pair; take the same money to gough bros. and you get two pairs of just as good goods. Take this lesson to heart and don't do yourself the injustice of wasting your money elsewhere

The Next A. C. A. Meet.

Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Commodore of the American Canoe Association; Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, of the Northern Division, and Mr. S. Britton, of Lindsay, purser of the Division, have been in Ottawa a couple of days in connection with the next year's meet of the A. C. A. The choice lay practically between Big Rideau Lake and Thousand Islands. It is probable the latter place will be chosen in consequence of greater facilities for reaching it from the scattered homes of the canoeists. This year the general meet will be held in the Canadian waters, in the waters of the Northern Division, and if a central site is chosen the Central Division will not hold a meet, but will join in with the northern men. It is likely the year after next the northern meet will be held in the Rideau lakes.

A Brace of Accidents.

Last night Mrs. Robt. Hamilton, Sherbrooke street, met with an accident that resulted in a broken arm. The old lady got up from her bed during the night and in the darkness stumbled and fell, breaking her right arm above the elbow. Doctors Barnham and Clarke set the fractured limb and now Mrs. Hamilton is on the highway to recovery.
Thursday night just after darkness had set in Mr. Thomas Howden and his little son were driving homeward down George street, and at the corner of Dalhousie street their horse stumbled on a heap of clay thrown up from the street excavations there. The horse fell over the clay and the rig was upset, throwing out both of the occupants. Mr. Howden escaped injury but the little fellow had his arm broken near the shoulder. Dr. King set the fracture.

The Manufacturers Accident Insurance Company, Wilson & Morrison agents, have cheap rates and large indemnities. No one should be without an accident policy.

The Best Bankrupt Stock.

Remember bargains are going at James Best's old stand where $11,000 dollars worth of well as[illegible] dry goods and gents' furnishings, boo[illegible] as 55 cents on the dollar, are being offered. There is a steady rush every day and the people are delighted with the bargains. This stock must be cleared in the next few weeks. Come and get goods at prices below wholesale cost. The place is 390 George street. dtf

Off to the Chase.

A Number of Hunting Parties Ready for the Opening of the Deer Hunting Season on Monday.

Last night the baggage and commissariat department of a big deer hunting party left town by waggon for Deer Lake portage, where camp will be pitched. The party consists of Mr. H. C. Winch, master of the hunt, Messrs. H. W. Kent, H. LeBrun, Evie Bradburn, Alex. Elliott, R. H. Fortye, R. B. McKee, G. W. Hatton and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McIntyre. The two latter are with the camping party but not of them; they will have a separate camp. They left for the north this morning. Ten deer hounds accompanied the party, and A. Simpson attends in the capacity of guide, and Jack Sutton as cook. Deer Lake portage is about fifty miles nearer the north pole than Peterborough. The party will spend ten days or two weeks in the hunt at that place, and will be joined later by other parties from town. The party goes north this afternoon in pursuit of the baggage waggon and its liberal store of supplies.
This afternoon another large party left for Gold Lake on a two weeks' hunting expedition, taking with them all the necessary equipment. The party comprised Messrs. Jno. Clancy (Capt.), Geo. Fitzgerald, A. Blade, S. Clegg, T. Rutherford, H. Matthews, Walter Evans, Sam Ray, M. McFadden and Sid Blade (cook).
Messrs. T. E. Fitzgerald and M. O'Brien, town; and Mr. J. J. Howaith, of Toronto, left to-day to join Mr. Tobe Fitzgerald's camping party at Ketchecum Lake.
With all these redoubtable deer-slayers on the warpath, the chances for game in the region they camp are exceedingly slim.

Amusement Notes.

Duff's Comic Opera Co.

The J. C. Duff comic opera company present "A Trip to Africa" at Bradburn's Opera House on Monday evening under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. The members of this company have been selected from the best lyrical talent of the country, and each of the principals has a reputation that has been achieved by patient study and hard, laborious experience. The chorus have been culled from the ranks of the most notable operatic organizations, and bring experience and proficiency to their aid in this production. The ladies are remarkably handsome, and there is a profusion of them, and in their prismatic armor and oriental costumes, during their marches and dances, present a picture of most enticing splendor, and for the nonce almost make the auditor imagine he has been spirited away to Dreamland, or that he has been transported to some fairy Elysia. The music of the opera has a tuneful rhythm and "catchiness" that few kindred productions possess, and is as popular in the private parlor as it is with the humble street gamin, who imbues his soul with its touching melody, and whistles the airs to drown his troubles and perplexities. The libretto of "A Trip to Africa" is lively and euphoniously adapted to the sparkling airs. The plot is interesting and replete with captivating surprises. The scenery is new and of the most gorgeous description. The opera probably presents the most enticing tout ensemble of any similar production ever submitted to the votaries of music in this country, and its unmistakable success everywhere is certainly a guarantee that the patrons of the Opera House will be treated to one of the most recherche lyrical and dramatic entertainments next week that was ever produced upon its boards. The box plan is now open at Schofield's drug store, and it behooves those desirous of obtaining desirable seats to make early application, as the demand is already greater than was anticipated.

Hattie Anderson.

The Hattie Anderson Company are booked for the opera house Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week, and will produce the popular plays (at popular prices) Mugg's Landing and Gyp. The Hamilton Spectator of Sept. 25th contains the following favorable criticism:—Hattie Anderson is a pretty and clever soubrette, and though she cannot be called petite, her well-developed physical charms are by no means the least factor in her attractiveness. As Little Muggs, in the play Muggs' Landing, Miss Anderson's acting is bright, piquant and brimming over with fun, and her dancing is graceful. Last night at the Grand she succeeded in pleasing a large audience and showing that she was even a more versatile actress than she was when she appeared here two or three seasons ago as Teddy in a Bunch of Keys. Her support was quite effective. Frank H. Doane as Asa Beck, the volatile land agent and grotesque guardian angel of Muggs, did admirable work in the Roland Reed line, and Chas. Herbert as the fictitious "old soldier" earned a good deal of well-merited applause. The burlesque medley of Miss Anderson and Mr. Doane in the third act was very funny and clever in its way. To-night the company will produce the comedy Gyp.

A Good Neighbor.

"Late last fall I was laid up in bed three days with a severe attack of diarrhœa and vomiting. Nothing benefited me until my neighbor, Mrs Dunning, recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and brought me half a bottle which she had in her house. Gentlemen who have lost the whole or part of their hair, should remember that they can get artificial coverings to replace their departed locks. The hair is given to mankind for protection and adornment, and when it becomes thin or the head becomes bald, artificial hair should be used. Many say they would not wear a wig, this is owing to their having seen wigs that are fit for nothing, put together by persons who know nothing about their manufacture. If you will go and see Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees, you will find them so perfect that your aversion to these articles will vanish. He will be at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct 24th and 25th. 2w41-6d

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Men's Knitted Top Shirts, at 29c. and up. Men's All-Wool Undershirts and Drawers, all-wool, remember 41c. Fine Flannel Shirts for 35c. Home-made Socks and Mitts, 22½c.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

FREDERICK THE NOBLE

DR. MACKENZIE'S STORY OF THE LA KAISER'S ILLNESS

Professor Gerhardt Charged With Having Caused the Cancerous Complication—The Emperor's Courage—Historic Consultations.

"Mark how plain a tale shall put you down."

LONDON, Oct 14.—Aside from its intense historic and medical interest, Sir Morell Mackenzie's work entitled, "The Fatal Illness of Frederick the Noble," while one of the most important polemical treatises of the century, is delightfully readable In his explanatory chapter the author says he is forced to the course he has taken by accusations that are tantamount to charges of malpractice. Among the things that console him, he says, are his consciousness that he did his duty, and the absolute trust reposed in him by "my noble-hearted patient." He complains that the Prussian Government forbid him access to the State archives, without which he could not allude to several points, notably the protocols drawn up in November, 1887, which would show the views Professors Gerhardt and Von Bergmann had of the case before he was summoned to Berlin.

This brings us to the opening of the treatise, of which the following are extracts:

I confess that I felt some surprise that among those with whom I was invited to take counsel in a case of such importance there was not at least one of the leading German specialists in throat diseases.

All three were unanimous in thinking that a cutting operation from the outside would be necessary for the removal of the growth. * * *

While freely admitting that the operation in this case presented exceptional difficulties, I said that I thought it could be done, and that at any rate it should be attempted. I then turned to Professor Gerhardt and said to him:

Will you try?

He replied:

I cannot operate with the forceps.

I next asked Professor Tobold if he would make the attempt, but he also declined, saying, I no longer operate.

These replies increased the surprise which I already felt at a case of such a nature having been intrusted to the hands of these gentlemen. For a throat specialist who cannot use the stethoscope is like a carpenter who cannot handle a saw.

Now, Professor Gerhardt himself tells us that at a very early period of his connection with the case he suspected that the affection was malignant. This makes the manner in which he proceeded to deal with it simply incomprehensible, except on the supposition that his very anxiety made him reckless. It is certain that if the growth was malignant from the first, Gerhardt, by his unmerciful use of the galvano-cautery, went the surest way to work to make it so. I do not say that he actually caused the cancer. No one has the right to dogmatize in medicine, which is still an inexact science, in which nearly every fact is open to more than one interpretation. I do not hesitate, however, to say that the treatment adopted by Professor Gerhardt was at once unscientific and injudicious.

Dr. Hovell once observed to the Crown Prince:

"I can see that Dr. Bramann is not accustomed to use the laryngoscope."

"Yes," said His Imperial Highness, "you can see it and I can feel it."

"On the morning of November 6 I examined the Crown Prince's throat * * * without rising from my chair I informed His Imperial Highness that a very unfavorable change had taken place in his throat.

He said:

"Is it cancer?"

To which I replied:

"I am sorry to say, sir, that it looks very much like it; but it is impossible to be certain."

The Crown Prince received the communication with perfect calmness. After a moment of silence he grasped my hand and said, with that smile of peculiar sweetness which so well expressed the mingled gentleness and strength of his character:

"I have lately been fearing something of this sort. I thank you, Sir Morell, for being so frank with me."

In all my long experience I have never seen a man bear himself under similar circumstances with such unaffected heroism. He showed not the least sign of depression, but spent the day in his ordinary occupations, and at dinner time that evening he was cheerful without apparent effort and chatted freely in his usual manner.

April 12.—As I intended to do whatever was necessary with my own hands there was really no need for the assistance of a surgeon, but it is an elementary rule of civilized medical practice that all those associated together in the management of a case should be made acquainted with the details of the treatment that is carried out.

As soon as the new tube was ready, therefore, I despatched a messenger to Professor von Bergmann to request him to come to me as soon as possible—meaning, of course, that I was anxious to proceed to change the tube without delay. In sending off the message little did I think that it would have such fatal consequences. It is no exaggeration to say that these hastily scribbled lines proved to be the death warrant of the Emperor.

We found the Emperor engaged in writing. The inspiration was distinctly audible, but beyond this there was not the slightest indication of any difficulty in breathing. Professor von Bergmann placed a chair opposite the window and asked the Emperor to sit down upon it, and thereupon, without making any remark, he quickly undid the type which kept the canula in position, pulled the latter out and, with considerable force, endeavored to insert one which he had in his hand, and which was not provided with a pilon.

The instrument was forced into the neck but no air came through it. The Emperor's breathing thereupon became very much embarrassed and the Professor withdrew the tube. This was followed by a violent fit of coughing, and there was considerable hemorrhage. Professor von Bergmann next seized a tampon canula covered with sponge, cut the sponge quickly off, and tried to push the tube into the windpipe. Again no air came through the canula, and it was clear that instead of entering the air passage it had been forced downward in front of the trachea, ploughing the soft tissues in that situation and making what is technically known as a false passage.

Again the professor had to pull out the tube and again its withdrawal was followed by violent coughing and streams of blood.

To my consternation Professor von Bergmann then pushed his finger deeply into the wound, and on withdrawing it tried to insert another tube. He again failed, however, and again the attempt was followed, as before, by most distressing coughing and copious bleeding. Professor von Bergmann then asked that his assistant, who was waiting in his carriage outside, might be sent for. It seemed as if he contemplated doing some further operation, perhaps enlarging the wound, but the Emperor was saved any further torture by the arrival of Dr. Bramann on the scene * * * Half an hour after the Professor's departure the Emperor sent for me and asked, "Why did von Bergmann put his finger into my throat?"

His Majesty then went on to say, "I hope you will not allow Professor von Bergmann to do any further operations on me."

I answered, "After what I have seen to-day, sir, I beg most respectfully to say that I can no longer have the honour of continuing in attendance on Your Imperial Majesty if Professor von Bergmann is to be permitted to touch your throat again." * * * Von Bergmann's roughness was never forgotten by the Emperor, although the nobility of his nature prevented him from showing any resentment, and even from bearing that awkward operator any ill will.

Three Bogus Sentenced at Sarnia—Operations to Repair the Cornwall Canal Break to be Commenced at Once.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—The postponed discussion of the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for an order authorizing the expropriation of certain water lots in front of the City of Toronto was resumed before the Minister of Railways Saturday. Hon. R. W. Scott and Mr. McMurchy appeared for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and Mr. Gormully for the Fuller Estate. After hearing the counsel Mr. Pope decided to grant the application and make the necessary order. It is proposed that the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific companies shall erect a Union station in Toronto and make a co-operative arrangement for the use of each other's tracks leading into and out of the city. York and Simcoe streets are to be carried over the railway tracks by means of overhead bridges, thus giving the public access to the water frontage, and a splendid roadway is to be built outside along the Windmill line. The filling in of the water lots and the construction of the proposed roadway will cost an enormous amount.

THE CORNWALL CANAL.

It is Hoped Repairs May be Completed Within Ten Days.

MONTREAL, Oct. 13. The break in the Cornwall Canal and consequent interruption of business, continue to be the only topic of conversation on 'Change to-day. Superintendent Conway of the Lachine Canal, went up yesterday and returned to-day. He reports that the break is a very bad one, but that he will probably be able to finish repairs within ten days. A good deal of timber work and puddling will be necessary where the bed of the canal is washed away, and the earth for the embankment will have to be brought a long distance. Mr. Conway, on his return here, immediately chartered the steamer Beauharnois, which was loaded with the plank necessary for repairs and the staff of men, and left Lachine at 12 o'clock for the Cornwall Canal. She will land her cargo within a mile of the break.

THE MINING COMMISSION.

Large Bodies of Valuable Ore Awaiting Development.

RENFREW, Oct. 14.—The commission is now visiting the mines on the line of the Kingston and Pembroke Railway. The Glendower mine in Bedford township is not now working owing to the depressed state of the market, but the ore taken from it gave good satisfaction and built up a good reputation; about 100,000 tons of ore has been taken out. The width of the Calabogie vein is from 12 to 13 feet and 7000 tons of ore of good quality have been shipped from it, but nothing is now doing as it owing to the low price of iron now ruling. About two miles from the Calabogie iron has been found which about 30 feet down was within the Bessemer grade; about 1000 tons taken out although none has been shipped.

On lot 16 in the 9th concession of Bagot there is an immense deposit of fine ore; the vein is 75 to 100 feet wide and can be traced a distance of two miles. The next mine visited was the Wilbur, the ore from which is exceptionally fine, containing neither phosphorus, sulphur, nor titanum; about 100,000 tons has been shipped; the vein is from 15 to 18 feet in width, and recently the drill ran through 42 feet of solid ore; at present 27 men are doing work mostly of an exploratory nature. Everything in this section of the country points to the existence of large bodies of ore which but await discovery and development. Even a moderate rise in the iron market would make an immense difference in this section.

His business is suffering and he asks "What about my being a British subject?" Mr. Mung Koow intends, if possible, to test his rights in the courts.

A Quarrel at Port Hope Resulting Seriously to One of the Combatants.

PORT HOPE, Oct. 13.—About 4.30 yesterday afternoon Stephen Barkwell wentover to Mrs. Nelson's in Charles-street, Englishtown, to get a rake he had loaned her. On his arrival there he found one Mitchell, a ship carpenter, in possession of the ranch engaged with a hoe digging Mrs. Nelson's potatoes. Mitchell says Barkwell wanted to know why he was there, a quarrel ensued, Barkwell struck at him with the rake and he to defend himself used the hoe as a weapon and struck Barkwell on the back of the right hand, which he had raised to protect his head. The blow severed the tendons and broke the bones of the first and middle fingers between the wrist and knuckles. Mitchell was at once arrested and will be tried to-day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Several days ago the United States Marshal's office in this city received a cablegram from Manchester, England, stating that George Middleton, book-keeper for a Manchester merchant, named Deitchner, had fled with his employer's money and papers, and asking that a lookout be kept for the fugitive. A deputy United States marshal met Middleton on the deck of the steamer City of Richmond to-day and, having no warrant for his detention, resolved to face the thief and secure his stolen goods. After a fiery interview Middleton's nerve deserted him and he surrendered $1000 in cash to the marshal, also some books and papers and the overcoat which he wore, all belonging to his employer. The marshal had no authority to detain him and the fellow concluded to continue on to his destination at Memphis, Tenn.

PACIFIC MAIL SERVICE.

THE DETAILS OF THE CONTRACT FINALLY SETTLED.

...ndered to be to Within a Week and the Service to Commence in Nineteen Months—Manitoba Wheat Abroad.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Every detail of the Pacific mail contract is now finally settled between the Imperial Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Tenders for three new steamers will be received within a week. The contract stipulates that service shall commence in eighteen months, the company receiving annually £5,000 from the Imperial, in addition to the £15,000 from the Dominion Government, for a monthly service for ten years from Vancouver, now only to Yokohama and Hong Kong, as at first intended, but also calling at Shanghai. Increasing anxiety is felt here to learn whether the Dominion Government realizes that the whole efficiency of the Canadian route to the East now depends on the Atlantic service, and if that equals the New York service—say, 10 knots—the Canadian route to Hong Kong will easily compete with the Suez route, otherwise the fast Canadian railway and Pacific service will be useless. It is felt strongly in official and commercial circles that if Canada intends to supply the British route to the East she must make sacrifices and initiate an adequate Atlantic service. It is pointed out that Australasia, with a population of four millions, annually pays for purely oceanic service £315,000, while Canada pays only a fraction of that amount. The Times in an editorial commenting on a correspondent's letter, indicates Canada's clear duty. The letter says that many here are wistfully awaiting the decision of the Dominion Government. It rests with them to give such an admirable service, with perfect terminal arrangements, which Atlantic travellers long for. The Times' editorial adds that if the Dominion apprehends this opportunity, it is entitled to anticipate that it will become the main link across the two oceans.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Smalley's Term in Penitentiary Increased to Fifteen Years.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—Thomas Buckley, the slayer of Bertha Usher, had his sentence increased on Saturday by Chief Justice Sir Thomas Galt from 5 to 15 years' imprisonment in the Kingston Penitentiary. His Lordship said that had he known his previous record on the day of his first sentence he would have inflicted a much severer sentence. In fact five years for a man of his stamp in view of his life of crime, and the enormity of the last would be a perfect farce. An appeal will probably be taken.

Special Sunday Sermons.

Missionary Services in the Baptist Church—Volunteers' Sermon at the "Kirk"—Harvest Thanksgiving at the George Street Methodist Church—Church Notes.

On Sunday the annual Home Mission sermons in the Baptist church were preached by Rev. Alex. Grant, of Toronto. The congregations both morning and evening were large, and the sermons were pungent and practical. Rev. Mr. Grant has a peculiarly forcible delivery and a pulpit style of his own.

In the evening he read the tenth chapter of Romans, explaining and commenting upon each passage as he went along. For his sermon he chose as a text the first verse of the same chapter:—

"Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved."

In beginning Rev. Mr. Grant announced that he was going to speak in behalf of the Home Mission work, for sustaining the efforts to have the Gospel preached in Ontario and Quebec. He asked the congregation to view this passage in the light of his statement. By way of illustration, the preacher referred to the discussion going on in the public press regarding the future of our country and the diversity of opinions regarding the best means to ensure our prosperity—annexation, federation, etc.

No doubt in the days of Paul such discussions were going on concerning the future of the Israelitish nation. Some affirmed that they should cast in their lot with the Romans, others that they should be of the Jews, while still others said, "No; wait for the great Messiah to come and we will be a nation of ourselves." Paul sympathised with none of them, but in the words of the text, his greatest desire was that Israel might be brought to a knowledge of the salvation of Jesus Christ, and thereby they would become a great nation. There were no more fruitful fields in the whole world for the preaching of the gospel to-day than in Ontario and Quebec. What was wanted was a preached gospel; to tell men in a loving, earnest, sympathetic way of the love of Jesus. That would make a nation of us, and nothing else would. Temporal prosperity would never make a people. When Rome was in its most halcyon days, the worm was eating at its root. It had no gospel, and it decayed. That was what he most feared for this continent of North America, for in many places to-day Sunday was never observed. Patriotism to one's country should show itself in good works for the salvation of men. That was the patriotism of Paul and Moses, who expressed their readiness to die, and even to be shut out from ever seeing God, to know the horrors of personal damnation, if by so doing they could bring peace to their countrymen. There was patriotism. That was the standard of true patriotism. If such patriotism as this was rife to-day there would be no need for Home Missions. But the fact remained that there were hundreds and thousands perishing every year in Ontario and Quebec without a knowledge of God's saving grace. Then some persons might ascribe the self-sacrifice of Paul and Moses to fanaticism, and he (the preacher) would even allow them to speak in that way; but he challenged anyone to say the same of Jesus, the son of God, who wept over the obstinacy and unfaithfulness of Jerusalem; and in his last moments urged his disciples to go back to Jerusalem, beloved Jerusalem, and from there spread the glad tidings over all the land. He loved Jerusalem as a father loves a child, and he died for it. And if the people of Ontario had the spirit of Christ in their hearts they would see to it that the gospel was preached unto all their fellowmen. The responsibility of Christians for the souls of their fellow-men was next touched upon and illustrated by the Bible story of the man who was forgiven a debt of a thousand talents by his master and then went out and caught a fellow-servant, who owed him two pence, by the throat and thrust him into prison for not paying that debt. Then the master called in the man whose immense debt he had cancelled and told him that his forgiveness had not done the good that he had intended it to do, for it had seemed to make him the more severe upon his small debtor. That was the way some people tried to act with God. They got His forgiveness for their own sins, but wanted to take no responsibility upon themselves for their fellow-men. But they could not shirk their duty. Christ had in His Word plainly set down the responsibility of the Christian for his neighbor, and also who that neighbor was, as illustrated by the parable of the good Samaritan. The proud Jew could not be made to look upon the despised Samaritan as his neighbor—people who were looked down upon as degraded beings. There were between seventeen and twenty thousand Indians in Canada, the preacher said, and as Baptists their church had practically done nothing for their salvation. In the Lake Superior country, which he had visited, there was one lone missionary of any denomination whatever, and the Indians there were dying year after year in ignorance of the Gospel. Was that the way the people of Canada were shouldering their responsibility? The great North-west country was being peopled rapidly, and the inhabitants as a rule were very poor and had a hard struggle for existence. They were practically without the means of grace. But that was not all. Right here in our cities and towns there were hundreds and thousands of men whom nobody seems to care for; nobody ever asks about their souls nor speaks a kind word to them. "Brethren," said the preacher, "this is our work." As an illustration he told the following:—Suppose a river lying out before us, and men drowning in it. We need ropes to draw them out. Twenty men are on the bank, and each one of them is asked for money to buy a rope. Suppose that the rope cost $1 a foot and 10 of these men contributed a dollar each, so that 10 feet of rope are purchased. It is thrown out and all the men within its reach are drawn in. But there are men a foot beyond it, who go down to death. The other man on the bank could have put in another dollar to purchase another foot of rope and all the men be saved, but he did not. That was the position of the Home Mission. They were trying to stretch the rope out a little farther to dying humanity, and [illegible] for more money to buy rope. [illegible] had been contributed at the [illegible]rvice, the minister said, when he had [illegible]d $150. The few good people in the [illegible]th line church had that day themselves contributed $32, and he asked the people of Peterborough to contribute the balance of the $150. They could not shirk their responsibility by putting a little money on the plate. They were only once called upon during the year, and he asked them to be liberal and remember the responsibility resting upon them.

A collection and subscription envelopes were taken up, after which the services were drawn to a close.

Sermon to Volunteers.

Sunday forenoon the 57th Battalion and band paraded to divine service at St. Andrew's Church. About 150 men turned out, the order of parade being:

Drumming band.
—Capt. Longford; Lieut. Lee.
Nos. 1 and 2 Companies—Capt. Edwards (No. 1); Lieutenants Stevenson and Shaw (No. 2).
No. 5 Company—Capt. Millar; Lieut. Matthews.
No. 4 Company—Capt. Donaldson.
No. 6 Company—Lieut. Loch.
Field Officers—Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Major Bell.

Arrived at the church, the redcoats occupied the middle seats. After the opening services, reading of the Scriptures and an excellent voluntary on the organ by Mr. Carter, Rev. A. Bell, pastor of the church, delivered a sermon from the text in Ephesians, ii., 8:

For by grace are ye saved through faith.

This passage, said Rev. Mr. Bell, was more correctly translated in the new version, in which it read: "For by grace ye have been saved through faith." Paul wanted to confirm their salvation, and he compares their former condition with their present state, telling them that the change was entirely due to the grace of God through their own faith. This was an important message of Paul's, briefly summing up as it did the whole Christian salvation—grace on God's side and faith on man's. And God had not altered his plan of working out the salvation of men since the days of Paul. As it was "by grace through faith" then, so it is "by grace through faith" now. The word salvation means deliverance from some evil or disaster, and Paul, a few verses before the text, tells them from what they have been saved when he says: "And you hath he quickened who were dead in trespass and sins." Truly that was an awful fate to be saved from—death; not material death but spiritual; death in trespass and sins. There were many people in the church who were spiritually dead, but how were they to be distinguished? They lived and moved in the body, and apparently had all their faculties. And right here there was a likeness between spiritual and material death. The dead body has all the mechanicism necessary for movement, apparently nothing is lacking that it possessed when a living, moving thing, but still it lies there cold and inanimate, surrounded with the trappings of death. So the spiritual dead are cold and indifferent to God, they lead lives that do not bring them one step nearer God, they are inactive and practically dead as far as their religion is concerned; they are surrounded with the memorials of their death, trespass and sins. Like the Ephesians, they must be quickened into life by the grace of God; they must be saved by grace through faith. The means of acquiring faith brought up another question. Faith bore the same relation to the soul that the hand did to the body. If a person receive a gift from anyone they must do so with open hands; so the grace of God must be accepted with an open heart and a soul unbarred by selfishness or distrust. Faith in God was the yielding of a proud soul into entire submission. In conclusion, the preacher put the question, which then shall it be, the open-hearted and faithful reception of the grace of God, or the self-shut heart kept closed to salvation by trespass and sin?

After the service the troops returned to the drill shed and were dismissed.

CHURCH NOTES.

On Sunday, November 4th, the anniversary services of St. Andrew's Church will be held. Rev. R. N. Grant, of Orillia, will preach the sermons and will remain over the following Monday evening.

Rev. P. C. Parker, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, has been rather ill, but it is pleasing to know he will soon be around again.

The evangelistic services in the old Baptist church building on Aylmer street Sunday, conducted by Messrs. Rochester and Hayhoe, were well attended. They will be continued all week.

A report of the harvest thanksgiving services in the George street Methodist church is published on the fourth page.

A Madman at Large.

He is a well-known citizen, and his nearest and dearest friends do not suspect his insanity. How do we happen to know about it? Listen; his appetite is gone, he is low spirited, he don't sleep well, he has night-sweats he is annoyed by a hacking cough. These symptoms are the forerunners of consumption and death, and yet he neglects them. Is it any wonder that we call him a madman? If you are his friend tell him to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery without delay. It will cure him if he takes it in time. It will not miraculously create new lungs when the old ones are nearly gone, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy condition. Tell him about it and warn him that in his case delay means death. a

Keep At It.

A prominent merchant who has studied the art of advertising well says:—In advertising for country people, one fact must be steadily borne in mind, that they are slow to act; that is, the advertisement, to produce any result must be permanent" (which may mean, give an agent an order for 25 insertions). "A few insertions are forgotten before those who have seen them have made up their minds to purchase. When an advertisement is always there, by and-by the thought suggested acts on the will and the stray coin is invested, it may be six months after the first inclination arose. The procrastination of country people is in explicable to hurrying London men. But it is quite useless to advertise unless it is taken into account. If permanent, an advertisement in the local press will reach its mark."

Mothers who have delicate children can see them daily improve and gain in flesh and strength by giving them perfect food and medicine, Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites. Dr. W. A. Hulbert, of Salisbury, Ill., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in cases of Scrofula and Debility. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure." Sold by all druggists, 50c and $1.00. 4w41eod

It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle. Lyman, Sons & Co. Montreal, Wholesale Agents. dw

A Good Neighbor.

"Late last fall I was laid up in bed three days with a severe attack of diarrhœa and vomiting. Nothing benefited me until my neighbor, Mrs Dunning, recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and brought me half a bottle which she had in her house. In three hours the vomiting was stopped, and I was able to sit up by night. I would not now think of using any other medicine." Columbus Hopkins, Hamilton, Ont. 2dw40

Tried and Proved

"I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint, and have proved it, after a fair trial, a sure cure, both in my own case and others of the family." Lauretta Wing, New Dundee, Waterloo Co., Ont. 2dw40

DARING AND SUFFERING.

Now they were off with a strong, well armed party, and the chase was on more equal terms. "The Yonah," in the words of Fuller, "was not a strong engine, but had large wheels, was as active as a cat, and with a light load would run very fast." She was now just in the service adapted to her, and her drivers called out all her powers. As they flew over the ground, it was a refreshing contrast to the exertions on foot or hand car. The thirteen miles were made in sixteen minutes. If the extra trains at Kingston only entangled us as long as Fuller hoped, the whole affair would soon be brought to a final issue! He did not dread the fight that was likely to follow, for our number was only reported even yet by those who had seen us working as night, while he had some twenty well armed men with him at this stage of the journey; and there were the crews of the four or five trains at Kingston. Indeed, Fuller and Murphy might be excused if they rather feared that "the Yankees" might be captured before they arrived.

CHAPTER VII.

TERRIBLE SUSPENSE.

But where were we while this train was flying toward us? Lying still on the side track at the left hand of Kingston station, those agonies of suspense and intense alternations of hope and fear which were harder to bear than all the exertions of Fuller and his companions! The local freight train came as previously narrated, and had drawn down the road to let the extra follow it, and still give us room to haul out above. Long and tedious was the waiting. But when we almost despaired the extra came. But alas! on this train, also, was a red flag! On being questioned as to the meaning of another train, the conductor said that there were too many cars and too great a load for one engine, and that another section was made up, and would be along shortly. The delay for these two trains had already been little less than an hour; and here was a third train still blocking the road before us! How Andrews wished that he had taken the risk of running out in the face of the first extra and had tried to make, at least, the station above! We could easily have succeeded. But now, in the absence of some telegraphic message—and no report was made to that office, while Andrews hardly thought it prudent to telegraph for instructions!—it would be madness to run out between the two sections of a belated train. It was better to wait, even if that entailed the risk of a fight. For this possibility Andrews made ready; he said to Knight:

"Go back and tell the boys, without attracting attention, that we have to wait for a train that is behind time, and for them to be ready to jump at the signal, if needed, and fight."

Knight sauntered carelessly along down the train, just as if he was tired to death with waiting and did not know what to do with himself; and leaning against our car, without turning his head or eyes toward us, said in a low tone which we heard perfectly:

"Boys, we have to wait for a train that is a little behind time, and the folks around are getting mighty uneasy and suspicious. Be ready to jump out, if you are called, and let them have it hot and fast."

We did not know how many of the "uneasy folks" there might be about; and so unbearable had become the suspense of being shut up in that dark car, and hearing the sound of voices outside, without being able to distinguish the words or know what was going on, that a command to spring out and begin a deadly strife would have been welcomed as a relief, without much regard to numbers. We said we were ready; we had been ready at any time the last hour! Still we carefully examined the priming of every revolver, and saw that reserve ammunition was in pockets within easy reach. We did not intend, if it came to a fight, to shoot at long range, but to close right in, where every shot would be deadly. That we could, with the surprise of an unexpected assault, and firing each time to kill, have cleared the station of four times our number, I have never doubted. Could any situation be imagined oy poet or novelist more trying than that of this carload of Union soldiers shut up in the midst of Confederate trains!

But we were not called upon to quiet the "uneasiness" outside, which was fully as great as Knight had described, in any such summary manner. Andrews played his part with surpassing skill. The people around, and especially the old switch tender, began to grumble something about being sure that all was not right. A good many questions were asked as to why Fuller, with the regular train, was not along by this time, and why the superintendent of the road at Atlanta had not sent notice of the powder train. Andrews answered each suggested question very briefly and plausibly, but without appearing at all anxious about their opinion; grumbled a little about the bad management of a road that would allow its track to be blocked at a time like this, and gave accounts of himself in the camp of Beauregard with an air so confident and truthful that no one ventured to question him. I think there was only one thing, aside from the dangerous delay, which he really dreaded. He kept very near the telegraph office, and, without seeming to do so, closely watched the operator. The attempt to telegraph any kind of a message up the line would have probably brought on an immediate collision.

Brown relates a curious little episode as occurring here. He noticed a man who watched Andrews far a short time, and then, when no one else was near, stepped close to him and handed him a large and seemingly well filled envelope. Andrews smiled and placed it in his vest pocket. Brown intended to ask about it, but more pressing business put it out of his mind. Probably this was an incident of Andrews' contraband trade, and the package contained an order for goods, with the money to pay for them.

Fuller and his party were now not many miles away, and were making more rapid time toward us than had ever been made on that road before. But we knew nothing of that—supposed that we were still an hour ahead of any pursuit that could be imagined. We had been at this place one hour and five minutes! It seemed to those shut up in the box car nearer half a day! and when the whistle of a train was heard, which fortunately for us was first from the north—not the pursuing train from the south—it was about as welcome as the boom of Mitchel's cannon, with which we expected to be greeted in the evening when our work was done. This last extra came up to the platform as the others had done, and was at once ordered by Andrews to draw on down the road that we might have room to go out. The conductor obeyed without hesitation, and this obstruction was removed.

THE MUD RUN VICTIMS.

Heartrending Scenes at Pleasant Valley—An Immense Funeral.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 13.—The scene at Pleasant Valley this morning were heartrending. Twenty-eight priests assisted at the funeral services in the Roman Catholic Church over the thirty-three Pleasant Valley victims of the Mud Run disaster. The entire population of the town of Pleasant Valley and surrounding villages were present and the church could not hold one-tenth of those who desired admittance. The bodies were interred in the Catholic Cemetery west of the town, amid the saddest scenes ever witnessed in Pleasant Valley.

Twenty-two Buried at Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 13.—Business was suspended during the greater part of the day owing to the funeral services of the victims of the Mud Run disaster. The funerals were held simultaneously throughout the valley. Twenty-two of the victims were buried in this city, 33 at Pleasant Valley, and smaller numbers at Moosic, Minooka, and other points. The services in this city were held at the Roman Catholic Cathedral, and the cortege to the cemetery was nearly two hours passing a given point. No such scene has been witnessed in the Lackawanna Valley since the great disaster at the Avondale mine in 1869, when more than 150 miners were killed.

Fixing the Responsibility.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 13.—Charles M. Hain of Kiddy-street, this city, this afternoon said he was on the train that crashed into the preceding one. After it stopped he saw the fireman, Hannigan, beside the second car with his lantern in his hand. He was the man who had been sent back to flag the approaching train, but instead of doing as he was told he remained to talk with some girls on the cars which were afterward wrecked. Hain made oath to this statement, and it is corroborated by others who will appear before the coroner. This relieves Engineer Cook from all blame in the matter. It is said Hannigan will be arrested.

COMPROMISED.

The Chicago Street Car Strike Terminated —A Fair Settlement.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 14.—The great street-car strike after a duration of nine days was ended completely this evening on a basis honorable to both sides. The question of wages was compromised. The men got about one third of the increase asked for, but all the reforms in the system of working are conceded and all the strikers are to be re-employed. The men hired by the company since the strike began will also be retained.

Traffic Resumed on Saturday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—In accordance with the arrangements made between the strikers and President Yerkes at last night's conference street-car traffic was resumed on the West Side this morning and has continued throughout the day. A large number of cars have been run on the North Side, although by no means the usual number, and they were guarded by the police as usual.

A Fight Between Strikers and "Scabs."

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Yesterday afternoon Wm. Hord and Frank Guard, two of Yerkes' men who came here to take the places of the strikers, went into Richberg's grocery store to buy some tobacco. Richberg, who is in sympathy with the strikers, knew the two men and refused to sell them anything. While they were arguing the question several strikers entered the store and Richberg ordered Yerkes' new men to leave the place. They refused to go and a fight ensued, during which Youngblood was struck on the forhead with a hatchet in the hands of one of the Philadelphia men. Knives and razors were drawn and Hord was cut on the head, but not seriously wounded. Hord and Guard made their escape, but Youngblood was arrested and locked up.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10 873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,660 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,980 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,834.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	193,188 29	1,167,396 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136 576 84	363,264 31	2,962,924 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 80	475,607 24	4,023,373 65
Total in 1887	$495 831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,277 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

The event for this week is the "Industrial Exhibition," to be held in the Charlotte street skating rink on Thursday, the 18th Oct. The Young Peoples' Association and Ladies' Aid Society, George Street Methodist Church, are working hard to make this a success, and we may expect to see an exhibit that would not disgrace the Central Exhibition of the county in the particular lines shown. And just here, it may be said, that married as well as single ladies are expected to compete in the lines of fancy, ornamental and plain work. There will be two classes of exhibitors, young ladies of sixteen years and under, and the ladies' department, to which only ladies over sixteen contribute. An excellent tea will be provided, which will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock p.m. Admission to the rink, 10 cents; admission and tea, 25 cents. 2eod

Thirty Watches Stolen.

A robbery that was committed on Tuesday night was reported to the police on Saturday evening. On Tuesday night Mr. Irving, watchmaker and jeweller, Simcoe street, placed thirty watches left with him for repairing in a satchel and started for home. He was in the habit of taking the watches home at night for safety. Mr. Irving didn't reach home, however, as soon as he expected. He fell in with some jovial friends, and after visiting a number of hotels and imbibing rather freely, his mind became a blank, and some time about midnight he was picked up by a good Samaritan on Brock street and cared for. But his satchel was gone, and no trace of it has since been found. Mr. Irving has furnished the police with a complete list of the stolen watches, and an effort will be made to recover them. Mr. Irving's customers are becoming clamorous for their property. There were among the stolen watches a number of valuable gold ones. The "haul" was a big one.

Scott Act Repeal.

The necessary signatures have been secured to the petition for the repeal of the Scott Act. At present, however, the public do not take much interest in the matter—the day of voting is some distance off yet, but they do take an interest in the immense bargains in boots and shoes offered at the store of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, for these are a matter of every day interest something that concern both body and sole. This is the time of year when feet must be well covered, and when you can do it at half cost at gough bros'., that is the place to go. Bargains in all kinds of boots and shoes, for men, women and children, the pick of a $7,000 stock of first-rate boots and shoes going at less than half wholesale cost. There's nothing like it in the whole country. Don't neglect this opportunity; make the most of your money. 'A dollar saved is a dollar earned, and gough bros.' is the only place in the town where you can both spend and save money at the same time. Think over it, act on it, and you will be richly rewarded. Don't buy anything in the boot and shoe line before you see and price the immense stock of cheap, marvellously cheap, boots and shoes at gough bros.'. 375 george street, peterborough.

That Lacrosse Protest.

Mr. C. J. Phelan, secretary of the Riverside Lacrosse Club, on Saturday received a letter from the secretary of the C.L.A., stating that Orillia denied playing Robbins, the suspended "ringer," and the Judiciary Committee could do nothing unless the charge was proven. This the Riversides will undertake to do, for they intend to push the charge. Henderson, one of their team, admitted after the match to several of the Peterborough men that Robbins did play at Lindsay. There was, however, a mistake made by the Association, who cancelled the certificate of a man by the name of Robbins but bearing other initials. They intended suspending the Robbins in question, but by mistake got the wrong initials. The Riversides are willing to make affidavit that Robbins, the suspended ringer, played against them at Lindsay.

The captain of the Bradf'r' Lacrosse Club writes a scurrilous letter to the Globe, denying that they played seven ringers against Peterborough on August 29th. The denial comes with poor grace from a team that was itself suspended from the Association for trickery.

Harvest Home in George Street Church.

Very interesting services were held yesterday in the George street Methodist church. The harvest decorations were in excellent taste and reflected great credit on the ladies under whose direction they were arranged. In the morning the pastor, the Rev. M. L. Pearson preached from Zechariah ix. 17. "How great is His goodness and how great is His beauty." The salvation that is being bred in connection with this Church to-day and on Thursday next resembles, the speaker said, in many particulars the Harvest Feast of the Jews, which was celebrated in autumn at the close of the gathering in of the grain and fruits of the land. They were occasions of great rejoicing not only on account of the harvest, but also in commemoration of their national progress and renown. From the text it was evident that there was a personal God. The Bible was not a record of the natural evolution of matter, not an account of the unfolding of a germ which was ever assuming new and advancing forms. The Bible clearly taught that God not only created, but was continually superintending the world. We cannot accept as our God "a stream of destiny running through the ages," or "a dread magnificence of nature," or "an awful uniformity of laws." If these notions were philosophical, we, at least, reject them. Such a God had no ear for prayer; no power to comfort. In the harvest there was a proof of God's power. The seed was put into the ground, when all the chemical forces of nature went to work upon it, and by and-bye it sprang up in ripened grain, as God's answer to the prayer of industry. The great "goodness" was also shown in the harvest—"He crowneth the year with His goodness." Before, however, we could appreciate God's "goodness" in nature, we must understand His goodness in redemption. Through Christ all we lost had been won back for us, and it was His grace that had restored to us the capacity to use and appreciate all good things. But when we experienced God's goodness, we then, in contemplation, came to dwell upon the character of the being who had manifested his kindness and we discovered that he was "altogether lovely," and we loved him not merely for his love but for his loveliness. The beauty of the fields in harvest time, and of the woods in the autumn was then referred to, but the greatest beauty was seen in the face of Jesus Christ. A little girl described Christ as "the beautiful man," meaning his beautiful disposition. We were disposed to see beauty in those who had been kind to us, whereas they who have treated us wrongly looked repulsive. Because God was so good he was so beautiful to his people. One ancient philosopher taught that there could be beauty without truth, and Plato taught that there was no necessary connection between goodness and beauty. The question "What is Beauty" had been discussed from the days of Plato to Ruskin. But the Christian teaching was that only the true and the good were beautiful. The best way to preserve beauty was not to resort to the many modern contrivances, but to cultivate kindliness of disposition. God, who made everything beautiful, desired that his people should be clothed with the "beauty of holiness." The goodness and beauty of the harvest should lead all to yield themselves to God. In the evening the church was filled with a most attentive congregation who listened to a sermon on "The Fool and his Crops."

On Sunday evening the musical portion of the services at St. Paul's Church elicited particular admiration by reason of it excellence. The choir, in its continuous improvement, bears testimony to the valuable quality of the instruction given by Mr. Parker, as well as to its own capacity for improvement.

News Nuggets.

—The boys are already beginning to think of Hallowe'en.

—The petition for clemency in Farley's case is being largely signed.

—To-morrow at noon Mr. G. B. Sproule will photograph the Daughters of the Regiment in uniform at the Collegiate Institute.

—There is a great deal of talk over the Farley murder case. The anxious query on everyone's lips is, "Will he be hanged?"

Mr. M. H. McWilliams, lately with Mr. J. Carey, boot and shoe dealer, leaves for Madoc to-morrow morning to take charge of a branch store in that place for Mr. Carey.

Dr. Hatton, after a month's visit at his home here, leaves for Montreal to-night, where, after spending a few days, he will proceed to New York and from thence to his home in the island of Grenada, West Indies.

—A couple of drunks were before Mr. Jas. Stevenson, J.P., this morning. Patrick Lavery was fined $1 and costs, and another, who is ashamed of himself and wants his name kept out of print, was allowed to go with a warning.

—A number of burglaries have been committed of late along the line of the C. P. R. east of here. Madoc was visited a few nights ago, and on Friday night the safe of Easterbrook's mill at Tweed was forced, but nothing found, and on Sunday morning the post office at Smith's Fall's was robbed of $500 worth of stamps and $50 cash.

—Albert Bradshaw, the G.T.R. brakeman who met with an accident at Hastings a few months ago, was one of the Nile voyageurs to receive the Khedive star, and on Saturday he received a letter from Lord Wolseley, the leader of the expedition, regretting his accident and enclosing a sovereign, with the wish that he could do more for him. Bradshaw lives in Belleville.

Personal.

Mr. Jas. Morris, teller of the Ontario bank, is down with an attack of fever.

Mr. T. M. D. Croly left this morning for Canmore, Alberta district, N.W.T., which place will be his headquarters. Mr. Croly has been appointed Bridge Superintendent on the C.P.R., his territory covering from Port Arthur to Canmore. His family remain in town for the present. Mr. Croly was a good citizen and a prominent figure in the local labor organization, where he will be greatly missed. His friends wish him success in his far western home.

Helping Him Home.

The pathetic street song, "Dead broke, and a hundred miles from home," applies forcibly to Mr. Lewis Farley, of Philadelphia, father of the condemned murderer. He is a poor man, with a large family and with nothing but his salary to live upon, and it is said had to borrow money to come here. He is now penniless, and a number of his sympathisers were on Sunday taking up a subscription to pay his passage home to-day. They were successful in raising the amount.

Baseball.

What about that baseball match between Port Hope and Peterborough. The latter sent a communication to the secretary of the Port Hope club, stating that as they were the challenged parties they had the choice of grounds and certainly would not play in Port Hope, but preferred Peterborough. No reply has been received. The impression among the Peterborough men is that Port Hope doesn't want to play at all.

Not Tam, but Tam.

What is more suitable for every day head wear than something nice in wool, and what is nicer than a pretty Tam O'Shanter, especially when you get them at less than what the wool costs. Having bought a large lot of them very cheap, you can have your choice out of a window full of them, at 25c. each,
W. W. JOHNSTON,

BUCKLEY, the Toronto murderer, who brutally beat to death a woman who had but a few hours before paid his fine in a police court, got off with a verdict of manslaughter and a sentence of five years. A burglar who had broken in a door and injured a safe would probably be sentenced to three times as long a term of imprisonment. It is such verdicts and sentences as these which drive indignant people to lynch law. The people of Toronto feel outraged, and Mr. Irving, the counsel for the Crown, has only acted in accordance with public opinion, as well as a proper regard for his duty under the circumstances, in moving for the setting aside of the sentence and for another sentence.—Witness.

The Archer Recital.

The announcement that Mr. Frederic Archer would open the new organ at All Saints Church last night served to draw together an immense audience, every seat in the church and adjoining vestries being occupied long before the hour of opening. Mr. Archer's fame is, of course, already established in Toronto, and his playing last night fully sustained his reputation.—Toronto Globe, Oct. 13.

A Question of Costs.

The following case was disposed of by Mr. Justice Street at the Toronto High Court of Justice on Saturday:

McNeil v. McCamus.—Judgment. The will dated 31st December, 1886, was duly executed by the testator, and was his last will and testament. At the time he so executed the said will he was of sound mind, memory and understanding, and such will was not procured by any undue influence on the part of the plaintiff. The will ordered to be admitted to probate. Counter-claim of defendant dismissed with costs. The defendant to pay the costs of the action, including the costs incurred in the Surrogate Court subsequent to the filing of the caveat. John Burnham (Peterborough) for plaintiff. W. R. Riddell (Cobourg) for defendant. The rule appears to be in cases of this nature that if the opponents of will take all proper steps to inform themselves as to the facts of the case, and having done so, do in good faith believe in the existence of a state of things which if it did exist would justify litigation, then, although no blame should attach to the persons interested under the will which is contested, each party must bear his own costs. Macaulay v. Kemp, 27 Gr., 448; Davis v. Gregory, L. R. 3 P. & D., 28; Mitchell v. Gard, 3 Sw. & Tr., 378.

Two Prohibitionists.

St. John the United States leader of the Prohibitionists, gets $50 a speech. He is not so moderate as our own "Prof" Foster who need to be content with $10 a night till he dropped into an $8000 a year job, when he dropped Prohibition quicker than a corporation laborer drops his shovel at the stroke of the bell.—London Advertiser

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Men's Knitted Top Shirts, at 29c. and up. Men's All-Wool Undershirts and Drawers, all-wool, remember 41c. Fine Flannel Shirts for 35c. Home-made Socks and Mitts, 22½c.

Heavy All-Wool Cardigan Jackets for 71c. A special line of Men's Canadian Tweed Pants to be sold on Saturday, and Saturday only, at 78c.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

"BARKIS IS WILLIN'"
UNITED STATES SENATOR BLAIR ON POLITICAL UNION.

Mr. Blair of Massachusetts Suggests That the United States Might be Willing to be Annexed to Canada.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Blair (Rep., N H.) presented certain information collected by a correspondent of The New York Tribune as to the condition of public sentiment in Canada on the great international question of the political and commercial connection of the Dominion with the United States, and asked that it be printed with his remarks He was entirely opposed, he said, to the idea of anything like retaliation or resort to unnecessary force.

Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) suggested that if Canadians objected to being annexed to the United States, the United States might be willing to be annexed to Canada.

Mr. Blair: "I am willing that the United States shall be united with Canada, but I am not willing that there shall be an idea of inequality on either side. It is nothing but political union that will satisfy my mind. Undoubtedly a majority of the people of Canada is in favor of union and I believe that inclination is most seriously and harmoniously reciprocated by the 65,000,000 who make up the American nation."

FIGHT WITH A BEAR.
A Hunter in the Catskills has an Exciting Adventure.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 16.—A big bear was killed in a cave in the Stoney Cloves in the heart of the Catskill mountains yesterday forenoon by a hunter named "Jake" De Puy. The hunter had sought refuge from a driving rain storm, and he built a fire of dry leaves and twigs to warm himself. The cave was soon filled with smoke, and as he sat half dozing over the red hot coals a peculiar sound in one corner of the cave attracted his attention. A growl or two convinced him that he either had a wildcat or a bear to deal with. He picked up his shotgun and fired it in the direction whence the noise proceeded.

For the next five minutes De Puy had his hands full. The anuimal in the corner was a bear, and part of the shot lodged in Bruin's flank. The wound maddened the brute, and it rapidly came shuffling along towards its assailant. De Puy fired again, but his aim was not true and his shot went wizzing past one side of the bear. The hunter then used his gun over the brute's head, and while trying to give it a second blow the stock came in contact with a projecting piece of rock and broke off short.

The bear's innings followed, and before De Puy got through with it he did not know whether he was standing on his head or his feet The bear hugged him and almost squeezed the life out of the hunter, and for a minute or two prevented him from using his knife. The two had a rough and tumble time on the uneven floor of the cave, and once they rolled over and over through the wood fire. When bruin's cold nose dipped into the red coals it unclasped its paws from around De Puy's body, gave a tremendous howl and began trying to get the hot embers out of its nostrils.

Now it was that the hunter again and again plunged his hunting knife into the body of the bear, and at the third thrust he pierced its heart. The brute gave the man a parting scratch with its claw, gave its last growl and rolled over and died.

The skin is considered a fine one. The bear made sad havoc with the hunter's clothing. It scratched him on the back, breast and arms, and came within an ace of putting one of his eyes out.

HIS SECRET FOE.
A Remarkable Attempt to Disfigure a Baltimore Lawyer.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16, 1888.—Annie Herbert, the keeper of a disorderly house in Spring-street, about the middle of September received an anonymous letter in which the writer asked her to put a certain preparation, which he would furnish, on the face of a man whom he would mention later. The preparation, the writer continued, would do no harm and she need have no fear. The price named for the service was $50. If the proposition was accepted she was to advertise in the personal column of The American, the words: "H. D.—I agree."

This letter the woman handed to the police, who had her insert the personal, and she received a package containing a bottle of liquid carefully wrapped in cotton and a note which read:—"Here is the stuff I want used, and the man upon whom I want it used is William A. Teafe, lawyer, No. 18 East Lexington-street. You will have to stupefy him before using the liquid, and be careful not to get it in his eyes. As soon as the work is done the money will be paid."

The liquid, when analyzed, was found to contain sulphuric acid in sufficient quantity to permanently injure the skin and destroy the sight.

Nothing was heard of the anonymous correspondent until last week, when the woman Herbert received another letter asking her whether she had received the package, and to let him know through a personal.

"H. D." was told in the personal column that a letter awaited him at The American office, and yesterday a detective stationed himself near the door and awaited a caller for the letter. The applicant proved to be a boy, who, on receiving the missive, was taken by the officer to Marshal Frey's office where he said that he had been sent by Hamilton Delahay, a clerk employed by Dambmann & Co., fertilizers.

Delahay, who was arrested, denies having written the letters. He says that he sent for the letter because it was addressed to "H. D.," and he thought the letter might be for him.

Pending an investigation Delahay was admitted to $5000 bail.

THE GALT POISONING CASE
DR. ELLIS' ANALYSIS TO GO TO THE AUTHORITIES TO-DAY.

A Daring Robbery in the Quebec Bank of Montreal—A Probable Murder at St. Catharines—Whitted Bound a Shaft.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—When Dr. Ellis, Government analyst, informed Deputy Attorney-General Johnston that he had not only found strychnine in the viscera of little Meta Cherry, but in all the candies forwarded to him for analysis in connection with the Galt poisoning outrages, Mr. Johnston asked the doctor to place his report in writing, together with any peculiarities that might come to his notice regarding the chocolate drops as to the manner in which they were loaded with poison. It was expected that this report would have been sent to the authorities yesterday, but as a late hour last night the report had not been forwarded.

Dr. Ellis was seen at his residence on St. Albans-street, when he explained that as the report required by Mr. Johnston would be a most complete one, he had been unable to finish the work of preparing it yesterday. However, it will be sent to the Attorney-General to-day, when it will be forwarded to the coroner at Galt after the detectives at work on the case have had an opportunity of examining it.

Detective John Murray has spent considerable time in Galt looking up the facts of the case. However, yesterday he had to go to Buffalo, N. Y., again in connection with the extradition of Greenfield. This case comes up in court in Buffalo to-day. Detective William Greer is still working on the poisoning case, and is making an effort to connect certain links in a chain of evidence which might bring certain parties to justice.

CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER.

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., Oct. 16.—The preliminary examination of John Nailor for the murder of his wife, Ann Nailor, near their home in Clarendon a few weeks ago, was commenced here yesterday. But one witness was examined, Mrs. Ricketts, the old woman whom Nailor called upon at her house about a mile and three quarters distant from the scene of the tragedy. Witness asked deceased several times during the night how she came by the injuries, but deceased was unable to tell her. The only words witness heard Mrs. Nailor say distinctly were: "Good-bye John," and "The old lady," meaning witness, "has gone to lie down." When witness was relating the incident leading up to the first remark the prisoner was observed to bend his head, and when he again raised it he was weeping bitterly. It is expected the examination will be concluded to-day.

The Marble and Iron of Eastern Ontario.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—The Mining Commission visited a marble quarry situated in the heart of the village of Renfrew which is being operated. The stone is shipped to Ottawa where it is dressed. It is the intention to operate the quarry much more extensively, the stone being possessed of great power of resistance to the weather and capable of a fine polish. The manufacture of lime is carried on in Renfrew with success. There is any amount of limestone and there is no reason why the manufacturing of lime should not be carried on extensively.

The commission went to Arnprior and examined a deposit of hematite iron ore which is of good quality and rich. Other marble quarries were examined and the product was found to be promising. Little is being done on account of the unfair competition of some United States quarries, but the stone is of such a quality that it will make its way in the market eventually.

TORONTO TOPICS.
Funeral of the Late Hon. James Patton—The Buckley Case.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—The funeral of the late Hon. James Patton, Q.C., LL.D., Collector of Customs at this port, took place yesterday afternoon from the Church of the Ascension to St. James' Cemetery and was largely attended.

At the Assizes yesterday when Edward Cardo, found guilty of criminal assault upon his daughter, appeared for sentence, the prisoner's counsel moved for suspension of sentence on the ground that force had not been proved and sentence was reserved.

The Buckley murder trial bids fair to become one of the celebrated cases of the Ontario courts. The lawyers are spending a good deal of their spare time in discussing the merits of the second sentence, and their general verdict is, should Buckley's friends press the matter on to the higher courts, he may secure his liberty altogether.

"THE DEVIL TEMPTED ME."
Sold a Georgia Negro as an Enraged Mob Lynched Him.

COCHRAN, Ga., Oct. 16.—Early last week O. Newman, a young farmer who lives nine miles out on the Hawkinsville extension, employed a strange negro who gave the name of Bill Johnson, to pick cotton. Friday morning Mr. Newman came to this city. As soon as the husband disappeared Johnson went to the house, ostensibly for a drink of water. Mrs. Newman was bending over her baby crooning it to sleep, when suddenly she was grasped by a strong arm. In the fight which ensued the lady scratched Johnson's face fearfully, but her efforts were in vain. No other house was within a mile, and her screams could not be heard. When he left she was unconscious.

A neighbour called in the afternoon and found Mrs. Newman almost dead. Mr. Newman was first apprised of the event by a messenger just as he was preparing to return home. Men on foot and mounted started out after the negro and dogs were brought into requisition. Late in the night they caught Johnson, and the party reached the place at 3 a.m. Johnson denied that he was the culprit, and the crowd of fifty decided to try him. They sent for Mrs. Newman. She recognized him and fainted.

"Let us hang him at one," was the declaration of the leader, and they did hang him. "You have five minutes to live," said the leader. Johnson, who had up to this moment protested his innocence, broke down and confessed his guilt. "I did not mean to do what I did," he said, "but when I got up to the house the devil tempted me."

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION.
The Governmental Bill Introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—M. Floquet in his speech yesterday, on introducing in the Chamber of Deputies the bill for the revision of the constitution, expressed the belief that the nation desired that the constitution be revised. The republic, he said, would remain, its existence was beyond discussion, since it was the basis of universal suffrage. Monarchism excluded every system of Government elected by suffrage. [Protests from the Right.] M. Floquet declared that it was not proposed by revising the constitution to destroy Republican institutions but to insure them. The revision was rather aimed against Royalist plots and plots for the creation of a dictator. M. Floquet added that the bill proposed to grant the ministers a legal period during which they should remain in power. The Ministers would thus be less preoccupied with the voices of the Chambers. At the same time the Chambers would always possess the right to impeach ministers. He moved that the bill be referred to a committee.

M. Andrieux demanded urgency and moved that the bill be referred to a special committee.

M. Ribot denounced the proposals.

M. Floquet insisted that the question be referred to an existing committee. He said he would regard the result of the vote as a question of confidence.

M. Deimas in the name of the Moderates declared that from motives of patriotism they would support the Government.

M. Floquet's motion was passed by a vote of 307 to 181.

Dynamite Scared the Druggist.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—J. C. Whiteford, a druggist at the corner of Harrison-street and Marshfield-avenue, was very badly scared about 9 o'clock last night, and he had reason to be. He had waited upon a tall, blonde woman, evidently a foreigner, and noticed while tying a parcel for her that she leaned across the counter. He thought nothing of it, and after she went out sat down to read a paper. Smelling smoke he hunted around and discovered a parcel under the counter, from which smoke was issuing. Hurriedly unwrapping the parcel he found the hub of a pulley wheel, plugged at both ends, from one of which projected a smoking fuse. He put out the fire of the fuse and took the bomb to the police, who found it filled with dynamite.

There were present besides the Moderator Messrs. Cleland, Bennett, Cameron, Torrance, Ross, McCrae, Carmichael, Craigie, Mitchell, McEwen, Macwilliam, Jamieson, Duncan, Ministers; and Messrs. W.R. Johnstone and G. Kennedy, Elders.

Commissions were received on behalf of the following Elders as representatives of their respective Kirk Sessions, and their names were added to the roll of Presbytery, viz: J. C. Martin, Garden Hill; John Stewart of Millbrook and Centreville; G. Kennedy, Bethesda and Alnwick; Alex. Pratt, Cobourg, and R. Byers of Springville and Bethany.

The minutes of the last ordinary meeting were read and with verbal corrections sustained. The minutes of the pro re nata meeting at Port Hope, on the 7th September, and of the special meeting at Baltimore on the 18th September, were read and sustained.

Mr. Ross was appointed Moderator for the next six months, and took the chair.

The Clerk read a docket of the business to be transacted, to which it was agreed, in the main to adhere to, as the order of business the present meeting.

Mr. Bell gave in the report of the Committee to whom was remitted the application of Mr. Medill for status as a first year student in Theology. The Committee recommended that Mr. Medill be retained as a Missionary within the bounds and that his studies be prosecuted under the superintendence of the Presbytery, according to the provision of the Assembly of 1885. The recommendations were adopted.

Mr. Bell further reported in reference to the exercises of students who had been labouring in the Mission fields during the summer. The exercises were remitted to the Committee for examination. It was agreed that Mr. Oswald, Missionary at Harvey, meet with the Committee to read the exercise on the subject assigned him by the Committee. The Committee were instructed to report at as early a date as possible. Upon request leave was granted to the Committee to retire at once for the consideration of the Students' Exercises.

A letter was read from the Presbytery of Lindsay asking for full statistics of the Mission fields of Minden and Haliburton, which it was proposed to transfer to the care of that Presbytery.

Mr. Cleland and the Clerk were appointed a Committee with instructions to furnish the information asked for by the Presbytery of Lindsay.

The Presbytery asked for the reports from the delegates who had been appointed to visit the several Mission fields within the bounds.

Mr. McEwen gave in the report of his visit to the Harvey field. The report was received and its recommendations considered seriatim.

The first recommendation was adopted for the immediate formation of a Session for the field. Mr. Craigie was authorized to organize a Session at as early a date as possible and to act as Moderator of the same.

Mr. Morrison, Elder at Bobcaygeon, was appointed to act as Assessor with the Elder at Harvey, in the organization of the Session.

The second recommendation was also adopted, viz.: that the Convener of the Presbytery's Home Mission Committee be instructed to write a letter to the Board of Management at Lakehurst, asking them to appoint from their number a chairman of the Board, whose duty it shall be to call the Board together not less than once a quarter, and that, as far as possible, the Missionary be paid quarterly by the Treasurer.

The third recommendation was also adopted, which was to the effect, that the Station at Scott's Mills be dropped and that the Missionary in charge use all diligence to erect, as soon as possible, a church at Taylor Settlement, on purely Presbyterian principles.

Mr. Bell, at this stage reported that the Exercises of the Students were highly creditable to their Authors, and recommended that they be sustained. The recommendation was adopted. Mr. Bell was authorized to certify Mr. Fitzpatrick to the College Board in the usual way.

The consideration of the reports from Mission fields was resumed.

Mr. Craigie reported from Minden and Haliburton.

Mr. Carmichael from Havelock, and Mr. Bennett from Apsley and Clysdale.

Mr. Bell reported as to a visit made to Bobcaygeon, in connection with Augmentation.

These several reports were transmitted to the H. M. C. for their consideration.

The Presbytery adjourned to meet again at 2 o'clock, and the Sederunt was closed with the benediction.

Same day and place, at 2 o'clock p.m., the Presbytery met according to adjournment and was constituted by the Moderator.

Mr. Cleland reported that he had declared the pulpits of Grafton and Vernonville vacant, as instructed at last meeting.

The next meeting of Presbytery was appointed to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, on the third Tuesday of January at 9 o'clock a. m.

Mr. Cleland reported on behalf of Committee on Expenses of Delegates to meetings of Presbytery. The report was received and laid on the table for consideration at next meeting.

Mr. Cameron reported that he had not yet visited Cartwright and Ballyduff as appointed at last meeting. The appointment was renewed and Mr. Cameron was instructed to report at next meeting as to the fulfilment of it.

Mr. McEwen gave in the report of the Committee on the printing of the minutes. The report was received and adopted. The clerk was instructed to have the minutes of each meeting printed for the use of the members in one or other of the newspaper offices, it being understood that the notice of business of a personal or private character shall not be allowed to appear in the columns of the paper.

In answer to the prayer of a petition, to which were attached 94 signatures, Mr. Medill was reappointed to the Havelock and Stoney Lake Mission field for one year.

There was read a letter from Mr. James Robb, of Stony Lake, complaining of the withdrawal recently, of the monthly service, with which they had been previously privileged, and asking that the service be granted as formerly. Mr. Carmichal was requested to take the place of Mr. Medill, at Havelock, once each month, so that he might have the opportunity of giving fortnightly service at Stony Lake.

The Committee on the Supervision of Students were authorized to prescribe subjects of study to Messrs. Medill and Oswald, who are henceforth to prosecute their studies under the order of the Presbytery.

There was laid on the table and read a call from the congregation of Grafton and Vernonville, in favour of the Rev. C. S. Lord, of Nova Scotia, a minister without charge. The call was signed by 127 members and 52 adherents. Mr. Duncan was heard as to the steps taken when moderating in the call. There accompanied the call a guarantee of salary for $800 and Manse.

Messrs. Johnstone and Rutherford were heard in support of the call.

On motion duly made and seconded, the conduct of Mr. Duncan was approved, the call was sustained as a regular gospel call, and ordered to be forwarded at once to Mr. Lord.

Provisional arrangements were made for the induction of Mr. Lord, in the event of his accepting the call.

Mr. Duncan was appointed to preside, Mr. Gilchrist to preach, Mr. McLeod to address the minister, and Mr. Mitchell the people. Mr. Sutherland was appointed to state the polity of the church.

Claims for expenses in doing the work of the Church, were presented and ordered to be paid out of the Presbytery Fund.

It was reported that some congregations had not yet paid their rates to the Presbytery Fund for the past year, and others only in part.

The Clerk was instructed to correspond with congregations in arrears, and ask them to remit the same due, without delay, to Mr. Cleland, the treasurer of the Fund.

Sabbath School Institutes were appointed to be held during the winter in Campbellford, Norwood, Peterborough, and Cobourg. All necessary arrangements connected with the holding of these meetings were left in the hands of Mr. McEwen.

Messrs. Carmichael, McEwen and Thompson, Ministers, were appointed a Committee, with Presbyterial powers, to arrange for the holding of Missionary meetings during the ensuing winter months.

The Presbytery was closed with prayer and the benediction.

The Burns Club.

LINES BY REQUEST ON THE FORMATION OF A BURNS CLUB IN PETERBOROUGH.

Legal Scots, how proudly I would feel
To write a verse to please you.
But loath I ken I might as weel
Try with good glue to grease you;
Because yes Scotch are fair brim fu'
Of Hobbie's grand laditis',
The best a chap like me can do
Seems but as doggerel writin'.

Permit my muse to strike a strain,
Though not with Hobbie's horn;
Read it with pity, not disdain,
Nor cold contempt nor scorn.

'Tis not alone to please the Scotch—
My soul vain flattery spurns—
I wish to raise a higher notch
The name and fame of Burns.

Some people think you Scots are crazed, or something just as bad,
Or that your brain is off its base and lost the wits you had,
Because your Scottish hearts desire love and respect to show
For one whose name lives, though he died one hundred years ago.

No fancied thought no troubled dream, forsooth the news I heard,
That you have formed a social club in honour of your bard:
praise your act; your Robbie's name should never be forgot,
From age to age 'twill live within the heart of every Scot.

To him the first, the highest praise of Scottish muse belongs;
The first to touch the Scottish heart with sweet and touching song;
The prince and peasant owned his worth before his race was run.
Proclaimed him nature's truest child and Scotia's bright at son.

Each time you meet for social mirth in thought review the past—
Behold that chamber in Dumfries where Robbie breathed his last:
No gilded walls, no carpet floors, no splendor nor display,
The chief of all old Scotia's bards obscurely passed away.

His early death produced a change, quick as a tidal wave,
His loss was felt before the thistle bloomed upon his grave;
His coffin lid was scarcely soiled by damp decaying earth
Until his praise was sounding forth from every Scottish hearth.

Your Robbie's work unequalled lies on every cottage she'f;
No Scottish bard has ever penned so true to nature's self;
From earth o sky he grasped it all—the beast, the bush, the flower,
The banks, the burn, the hill, the heath, "fe. love, and all its power.

And while you sing his loving songs with their soul-stirring strain
Remember him that wro e those words shall never write again;
While you recite or read his poems with words and action just—
Alas! the head that nursed those thoughts has crumbled into dust.

He tells us all through life he sailed against an adverse wind;
An empty purse, cold friends too oft, with poverty combined;
He might have moved in higher ranks or drawn a larger pay
Had he possessed but half the wealth spent on his name to-day.

In life, perhaps, he little thought his name would live so long
In every land where Scots reside, reverberates his song—
At home, abroad, both far and near, he is admired and praised,
As emblems of his worth there are grand, costly statues raised.

In many lands clubs formed by Scots and named for Robbie's sake,
You, like true Scots, have shown your zeal by following in the wake;
And costly piles that mark respect, undoubted proofs disclose,
Though dead, the influence of his pen with time still brighter grows.

I trust we cannot to your club presumption attribute,—
That selfish motives tempted you your club to constitute;
For less to weaken, injure, crush, or rudely interfere,
With our time honored and revered old Scotch Society here.

If rules and motives all are good, I wish success to you,
Show love for Scotia, brither Scots, yes and for Robbie, too;
Think of that bard whose poems bright your hearts delight and charm,
Uphold the name of Scotland's star and keep his memory warm.

DARING AND SUFFERING.

It only remained to adjust the switch so that we might again get on the main track. This Andrews directed the old switch tender to do, but he had been getting in a worse and worse humor for the whole of the last hour; he had hung up his keys, and now roughly declared that he would not take them down again until Andrews showed him by what authority he was ordering everybody about as if he owned the whole road! We who were shut up in the box car heard the loud and angry voice, and supposed that the time for us to act had come; yet we waited for our leader's command as we remembered how he had counseled us against being too precipitate. But he only laughed softly as if the anger of the old man amused him, and saying, "I have no more time to waste with you," he walked into the station, to the place where he had seen the keys put up, and taking them down, went quietly and swiftly out and made the change himself. The tender's wrath knew no bounds at this; he stormed, declared he would have Andrews arrested, would report him, and many other things. Andrews then waved his hand to the engineer, and as our locomotive came promptly up he stepped on board, and we glided out on the main track and were off!

It had been a fearful ordeal, but it was well met The three men, Brown, Knight and Wilson, who were outside, declared that they did not see the slightest indication of fear, chagrin or impatience on the part of Andrews, save what he exhibited when telling how much Beauregard was in need of his ammunition, and what a shame it was that the road should be blocked by any ordinary travel when the fate of their brave soldiers was trembling in the balance. Andrews had explained that it was because he could not get his orders filled without ruinous delays by the ordinary channels that Beauregard had sent him to bring this powder through by force, if necessary, and declared that if the officers at home did not support the army in the field better, martial law would soon be proclaimed! Such grumbling and threats were applauded by those who wished to be thought especially loyal to the Confederate cause. For at least half an hour no distrust was shown.

The hour and five minutes we were at this station, added to our two hours' run, made us now three hours and five minutes from Big Shanty. Fuller was three hours and nine minutes on the way. He came in sight of Kingston just four minutes after we had glided around the sharp northward curve beyond; so near were we to the final collision at this place!

As soon as we were well out of sight of the station we stopped, and Scott, with a man at each foot to give him a start, was in a moment at the top of the telegraph pole, the box was knocked off and the wire out. We wanted no message of inquiry sent ahead, preferring ourselves to tell the story of the impressed powder train and Beauregard's need of ammunition. While this was being done, others threw a few obstructions on the track. When once more on board we noticed a quickening of speed that after our long rest was delightful. We had been running slowly since leaving Big Shanty, but now Andrews said to his crew, "Push her, boys, push her." Wilson heaped in the wood, and the fire, which was but moderate when we left Kingston, was soon roaring and great clouds of smoke escaping. Our leader's intention was to reach Adairsville in a few minutes, in order to meet two trains there which were now overdue. These were the through freight and the southern passenger trains, and they would wait for us ("Fuller's train") there. Our terrible delay in Kingston was in every way most unfortunate. If there had been no extra trains we could by this time have been at Dalton, forty miles further up the road, with the Oostenaula bridge burned behind us, and, these two trains passed, leaving no further serious obstacle to contend with.

But while so anxious to reach Adairsville, the next station above, where there was a side track, it would never do to leave the way open from Kingston, as the distance is only ten miles, and if the enemy chooses to make up a pursuing train at that point, on account of suspicions formed, it might be very embarrassing. So it seemed that we had scarcely got under full headway at a tremendous rate of speed before the tender brakes, all that we had on our train, were put sharply down, and we were on the ground almost before the train had stopped, and under the energetic leadership of Andrews were hard at work lifting the track, the readiest mode of effective obstruction in our power. We again cut the wire, and also loaded on a large number of ties and other kinds of wood to be used in burning the bridge. We were the more anxious for abundant fuel, as the ceaseless rain, which was now severe, would render kindling a fire without much wood slow and difficult. No time was lost in these operations, as but a few could work at track lifting at once, and others were ready for any other useful employment.

Lifting a rail seems easy enough, but it was far from easy in practice. The rail is long and heavy; it is securely bolted to other rails, and fastened with great spikes driven into solid oak ties, which in turn are deeply imbedded in the ground. This was the first piece we wished to take up a rail very quickly, and accordingly we were far more sensible of the difficulty than when we had abundance of leisure. We were not excited, for we believed ourselves ahead of any probable pursuit; but to pass the two trains still before us, and hurry to our real work of brides burning was an ardent desire. Slowly we drew out spike after spike, battering out the great nails as rapidly as possible with our one iron bar. I cannot tell how many minutes we spent, but time went by swiftly. The large load of ties, which were not far away, was a great acquisition, and were all on board before the stubborn rail was half loosened.

The rail was loosened at the southern end, and for perhaps two-thirds of its length was cleared of spikes. Eight of us, including our strongest man, took hold of it, to try to pull out the remainder by the rail itself. But they were too firmly fixed; and we were about to give up the attempt and wait to batter out a few more, when away in the distance we heard, faintly but unmistakably, the whistle of a locomotive in pursuit! But faint and far off as it was, no sound more unwelcome ever fell on human ear. Before us, only two or three miles away, there were two trains possibly blocking the track; and behind us a pursuing engine, which in a minute or two more would be upon us. It nearly seemed as if our race was ended! But we did not pause for moralizing; we lifted again and with every particle of strength, as men lift for life. The strong rail bent under the terrible pressure and snapped with a dull twang! All of us tumbled in a confused heap down the grade, but in a moment were on our feet and hurrying toward the car, taking our precious half rail with us. For the time we were saved! No matter who the pursuer was he would be arrested by that break, and give us time, with favoring fortune, to pass the trains above.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC.

Leading Features of the Grain and Produce Markets at Home and Abroad.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—St. Lawrence Market yesterday was very flat. The supply was small and the demand poor. Prices of vegetables were not changed.

Hay was scarce, the demand fair, and the price kept up to $22 and $23. Straw sold at $14.

One load of peas sold at 67 cents, 106 bushels of fall wheat at $1.16½ for fall and 93½ cents for goose; 300 of oats at 40 to 42 cents, and 7000 barley at 74½ to 83 cents.

CALL BOARD.

On call No. 2 fall wheat was asked for at $1.20 per bush., but none was offered. Buyers bid $1.20 for No. 2 spring wheat, but no sellers appeared to be disposed to offer. When No. 2 red winter wheat was called buyers bid $1.21. None was offered at this figure. Broker Carruthers offered to sell 20,000 bushels at $1.25, but buyers did not bid, he dropped his offer to $1.20, and offered to sell 10,000 on the track, to arrive on the first half of next month; still the buyers held off. The offer was then reduced to $1.19, to sell a car on the track to arrive on the first half of next month. Then the buyers piled in and bought three cars at the latter figure.

The cheese market at Buffalo was dull but steady. The sales were 2400 boxes mostly September at 11½c., the ruling and highest price; 11½c., was asked for some makes, but buyers could not be got to the point of offering over 11c. until late in the afternoon, when they put up prices ½c. and several factories closed out their offerings at the concession.

The total transactions at Utica were 14,303 boxes, ruling price 10c. Transactions one year ago 14,985 boxes, ruling price 11½c.

An Open Letter.

Messrs. T. Milburn, & Co. I wish I had used B. B. B. sooner, which would have saved me years of suffering with erysipelas, from which I could get no relief until I tried B. B. B., which soon cleared away the itching, burning rash that had so long distressed me. Mrs Edward Romkey, Easter Passage, Halifax, N. S. 2w42d

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Praiseworthy.

"Last summer I was entirely laid up with liver complaint. A friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters; I did so and four bottles cured me. I cannot praise this remedy too much." John H. Rivers, Orr Lake, Ont. 2w42d

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are $ 969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54 611 21	$169,482 69	$1,149,743 00
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,386 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136 976 84	363,264 31	2,982,934 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,697 24	4,029,373 65
Total to 1887	$495 831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

$140,000 for Sewers.

In view of the excellent financial standing of the town, the town council is perfectly justified in proposing the expenditure of $140,000 for a system of sewerage. This sum at 5 per cent. would call for an annual payment of $7,000, exactly the amount which gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, invested in a magnificent stock of boots and shoes at less than half wholesale cost. And that is why the cheapest boots and shoes in Canada are to be had at gough bros. This is no fiction, but solid fact, which thousands of customers who flock to gough bros.' store are joyfully realising. In these hard times it is a big boon to be able to make one dollar do the work of two, and it does that every time if invested in boots and shoes at gough bros., 375 george street.

The Original Fisks.

Another great treat is in store for the music-loving citizens of Peterborough. On Wednesday evening, Oct. 31st, the genuine and original Fisk Jubilee Singers will appear at the opera house and render a programme of charming negro melodies and plantation songs. So many bogus and unworthy imitations of the Fisk Singers have been through Canada that the wary public are afraid of being bamboozled and look with suspicion on any troupe bearing the title, but the people are assured by the responsible auspices under which they come that these are the "genuine and original" Fisk Jubilee Singers. Those who have heard them know what a delightful entertainment they give. Remember the date, Wednesday, Oct. 31st, at the opera house.

A World's Fair in Miniature.

A local event of great interest will be the Industrial Exhibition to be held in the Charlotte street Skating Rink, on Thursday afternoon and evening, Oct. 18th. Art and home work in variety will be shown, and the culinary department will be an interesting feature. Some fine pictures are expected to be on exhibition and also some Japanese work. The Fire Brigade Band will be out in full force to enliven proceedings with their sweet music. Tickets at ten cents for admission and twenty-five for admission and tea have been placed in the hands of the children to sell. The judges will award the prizes during the afternoon, marking the fortunate articles with bows of ribbon. Tea will be served from six o'clock until ten. The ladies hope to see a large number of gentlemen drop in for tea on their way from business. 2eod

Officers of Endeavor.

The election of officers of the Endeavor Society took place in the Charlotte street church Monday night. At the request of the chair a complete change was made in the personnel of the office-bearers. The newly elected ones are:—

PRESIDENT—A. Tebb.
1st VICE-PRES.—Miss Neil.
2nd " —Miss Sherlock.
SECRETARY—J. Crane.
CORRESPONDING SECRETARY—Miss Crosby.
TREASURER—Geo. Morrow.
EDITOR OF "CASKET"—T. Barrie.
PIANIST—Miss Morrow.
MANAGING COMMITTEE—Messrs. O. C. Rowse, A. Tebb, J. Crane, Misses Lumsden, Barrie, Sherlock and Neil.

A communication has been received from the Young People's Association of Oshawa regarding a friendly debate, and it is probable a formal invitation will be issued and accepted in a short time. The Endeavor Society will send delegates to Oshawa, and a "return match" will take place here in due course.

Seeking for Mercy.

At the mass meeting of workingmen in the Knights of Labor hall last night there was a large attendance. The business of the meeting was to take action to have the sentence of Farley, the condemned murderer, commuted to imprisonment for life. Mr. Geo. Rose, occupied the chair, and Mr. Robt. McGregor acted as secretary. The chairman and Messrs. Z. B. D. Fafleur and Geo. Ball and others expressed the feeling that was general throughout the town that Farley's sentence should be commuted. On motion, Mayor Stevenson and Mr. Henry Dense were appointed a deputation to wait upon the Minister of Justice in behalf of the condemned man and endeavour to have his sentence altered to imprisonment for life. Messrs. Geo. Rose and Robt. McGregor were also appointed to wait upon the town council and request them to pass a memorial to the Minister of Justice, praying for mercy in Farley's behalf; and Mayor Stevenson was asked to forthwith call a meeting of the council for that purpose. The meeting then adjourned.

Personal.

Mr. Eidsat, of Whitby, has been engaged as relieving teller at the Ontario Bank.

Mr. J. Crane, of the Ontario Bank, is also suffering from an attack of fever, and has gone off duty for a while.

Mr. T. W. Robinson left this morning for a trip to British Columbia. He will be absent about five weeks and will return via San Francisco.

Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, general manager for Western Ontario of the British Empire Insurance Company, stopped in town to-day while en route to Toronto from the east.

The Guelph Mercury says:—The many friends in Guelph of Mr. Chas. McGill, formerly accountant of the Ontario Bank here, and now manager of the Ontario Bank, Peterborough, will be pleased to hear that he has been appointed to the office of treasurer of that town. He is a son-in-law of ex-Mayor Stevenson.

Monday's Brockville Recorder says:—Prof. Seward, at one time organist in the First Presbyterian church, spent yesterday in town. The professor, who has been a great sufferer from neuralgia, is on his way home from New York, where he has spent some time in what is known as the divine cure institution. The professor tells a number of instances of faith cure which he investigated, and is himself a firm believer in it, and says he has experienced almost total relief from pain since placing his faith in divine treatment.

Hunting and Fishing.

Mr. George Braithwaite, of Gore's Landing, accompanied by a party of Americans went north yesterday afternoon on a fortnight's fishing and hunting expedition. Mr. R. R. Hamilton took the party in hand, fitted them out with the necessary supplies and took them to Lakefield where he launched them for their destination in the northern country.

Another party went as far as Stony Lake yesterday, where they will spend a couple of weeks fishing and duck shooting, putting up at Messrs. Brownscombe and McWhinnie's island. The party comprised Messrs. Wm. Brownscombe, Robt. McWhinnie, John Allin, Wm. Mitchell and Felix Brownscombe and Jos. Yelland.

Mr. Tobe Fitzgerald sent down yesterday the result of the few days' fishing his party enjoyed last week. The catch comprised 91 fine trout, averaging about two pounds each. The hearts of many of their friends were made glad on receiving a few of the beauties as a gift.

A Fierce Runaway.

About half past three this afternoon, Mr. A. P. Poussette and Mr. Peck, of the Canada Permanent, Toronto, were driving along Bethune street, intending to turn down Hunter street towards the office. The horse became frightened at an approaching train and started off at runaway speed. At the corner of Hunter street the buggy was upset and both men thrown out, Mr. Peck receiving some bad face and head wounds besides some cuts on the hands. Mr. Poussette was but slightly bruised. Both gentlemen were, however, well covered with mud. The horse ran down Hunter street, leaving the top near Green's grocery, and at Clancy's hotel it ran into the sidewalk and was captured. The buggy came in upside down and was pretty badly wrecked. The horse and buggy belonged to Mr. R. White's livery. The horse was badly frightened and made a fierce runaway, throwing itself in front of Clancy's hotel, and much to the satisfaction of the man who tried to stop it, as his clothing was to entangled in the shaft that had it got away again it might have been a serious affair to him.

Furniture for All.

The happiness of home depends largely upon its attractiveness, and there is no better way, in material matters, than to have it well furnished, and there is no better place in the Dominion than the shop of D. Belleghem, the Furniture King, to secure the best and most elegant of furniture at the most reasonable rates. D. Belleghem has now the most complete furniture manufactory and warerooms outside the large cities, and he makes, or keeps in stock, furniture of all kinds, as good and low in price as any shop in the country. At his spacious warerooms will be found an immense collection and variety of parlor, hall, diningroom and bedroom furniture, and if the customer is hard to suit and nothing in stock meets his views, Belleghem is prepared to meet him. His factory buildings adjoin his warerooms in the rear, and they have been enlarged and his manufacturing facilities so largely added to that he can turn out to order, on very short notice, any article in any style that the most exacting customer may demand, and he can be sure that it will be well made, for the best of material, thoroughly kiln dried, only is used and the best machinery and the best workmen contribute to its manufacture. Belleghem, the great furniture king, has, by the superiority of his furniture in every respect, reached the first position in his line in this district. When you need anything in his line, don't neglect to call at his warerooms, the furniture shop furthest west on Hunter street.

Brookbank Gymnasium.

To-day workmen began the work of thoroughly renovating Lundy's tannery building, corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, to be used as the premises of the Brookbank Gymnasium and Calisthenic College, to be opened by Sergt. Major Rundle so soon as the repairs are completed. The building consists of two wings; the main wing faces Brock street and the other runs parallel with the bank of the creek. The ground floor of this is to be excavated to a depth to give the ceilings a height of 16 feet. The first story of this will be fitted up as the gymnasium proper, with parallel and horizontal bars, travelling rings, horizontal ladders, spring boards, vaulting horses, straight ropes, etc. The second story will be devoted to fencing, boxing, sword drill (cavalry and infantry), lances, wand and quarter-staff exercises, dumb-bell and Indian club exercises, rifle exercises, manual and firing, bayonet exercises and calisthenics. A piano will be provided for this department. The ground floor of the west wing will be fitted up as a drill room and rifle range, adapted to what is called the Morris tube, which is inserted in the barrel of the Snider Enfield and with this arrangement a course of musketry can be practiced from one to six hundred yards, with an actual fifteen yard range. The targets are made of steel or paper, and the whole equipment can be purchased in Montreal. The ammunition manufactured expressly for the tube is sold at 75 cents per hundred rounds. By this means rifle practice can be carried on as efficiently as on a full size range. The premises are to be well re fitted, and will be commodious, well ventilated, well lighted, and sufficiently warmed. There will be good dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen, and every effort will be made to conduct the gymnasium in the best manner, and no pains will be spared to insure its respectability. In addition to the physical exercises there will be choral classes once per week, under the charge of a competent musician. The gymnasium will be opened at any hours the convenience of its patrons require. The terms are very reasonable—25 cents per week, or $3 00 for term of thirteen weeks, or season tickets will be issued at moderate rates. It is a pleasure to know that so desirable an institution will so soon be in operation. There will be a meeting of the members of the classes in the drill shed on Wednesday night next.

Keene.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Walter Bryce who is now attending school in Norwood paid our village a visit last week.

The Methodists of Keene intend building a new fence around the parsonage.

Mr. John Baker has sold his property at Villiers and intends moving to the village.

News Nuggets.

—The gas supply to the C.P.R. station having proved insufficient Mr. Drury is putting in a two inch pipe from the George street main.

—Mr. Bert Downer, of Ashburnham, called to say that he was not the Bert Downer fined in the police court the other day for drunkenness.

—The annual meeting of the Peterborough Water Company, called for Monday, has been adjourned till the first Monday in February, 1889.

—A special meeting of the town council is called for to-night to pass a memorial to the Minister of Justice in behalf of the commutation of Farley's sentence.

—George Miller, son of our popular bandmaster, had two of his fingers and a portion of the third finger of his hand crushed in a cog wheel at Brodie's woollen mill Monday. They had to be amputated.

—John Sullivan, a namesake of the illustrious pugilist, admitted to Mayor Stevenson, presiding J.P., this morning that he had been drunk last night. He was fined $2 and costs, and given a strong hint to leave for the shanties at once, where he works in winter.

—The J. C. Duff Opera Company will visit Belleville to-night, Kingston on Wednesday, Brockville on Thursday, and Ottawa on Friday and Saturday. Probably never before have these cities had so enormous an opera company visiting them.

—At the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. at Sarnia last week' invitations for the next annual meeting were received from Galt, Peterboro, Goderich, Kingston and Aylmer. Galt was chosen.

—The stench pervading the town buildings to-day was a knock-down argument in favor of better sanitation. The town clerk and collector had to suspend business almost entirely. There must be a complete blockade of the drain somewhere to cause the nuisance.

—The Cornwalls defeated the Shamrocks on Saturday afternoon in three straight games, thus settling the question of supremacy so far as those teams are concerned. The games however, have somewhat partaken of the nature of a hippodrome. Gate money was what both teams were most anxious for.

At the Opera House.

"A Trip to Africa" was presented with glowing splendor at the opera house. The audience was a large and fashionable one, and altogether a satisfied one. The music is rather heavy for comic opera, but parts of it were sparkling and vivacious, though the lack of orchestral accompaniment was severely felt. Then the smallness and inadaptibility of the stage made it impossible for some of the finest scenery carried by the company to be presented. The rising of the Nile, one of their best scenic effects, had to be dispensed with. However, they did as well as they could under the circumstances, but until a more commodious and modernly built opera house is erected few of the best troupes can be expected in Peterborough. The magnificent Oriental costumes of silks and satins flashing with gold and jewels, made a brilliant stage scene. There were about thirty in the company, and their rich chorus singing was a treat. Then the solos, duets, trios, etc., were all well rendered. Miss Laura Bellini has a voice of wonderful compass and depth, and as leading lady, she and Mr. Herbert Wilke, in their flower song, charmed the audience completely. But, perhaps, the most taking thing of all was Mr. Harry Brown's topical song, "It's only a matter of taste." He was recalled several times to repeat the dose. The character of Tessa, in search of her recreant lover, was taken by Miss Agnes Stone with delightful ingenuousness. She has a charming voice. The humor of the play depends largely upon Mr. Harry Brown as Fanfani Pasha. The EXAMINER, in a former issue, gave an outline of the plot of the play, so that those who read it were able to follow out the thread of the opera as it went along. Altogether the performance gave every satisfaction, and thunderous applause and encores were frequent. The P. A. A. A. are to be commended for their enterprise in bringing such a company to Peterborough. Though the prices were rather high for a town of this size, still it was worth the money, for an opera company of the standard of Mr. J. C. Duff's has not visited Peterborough for years, and it was a decided treat.

East Northumberland.

The latest returns from East Northumberland, give the result of the election as a tie, and doubtless the returning officer will decide it in favor of Mr. Mallory. If the thirty or forty Liberals at Hastings had not assumed an attitude which they would not assume at a general election, Mr Mallory would have been returned by a fair majority. As it is, supposing Dr. Willoughby had been returned, it could not be considered as a declaration of opinion against the Ontario government, but simply as expression of the result of personal feeling.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Men's Knitted Top Shirts, at 29c. and up. Men's All-Wool Undershirts and Drawers, all-wool, remember 41c. Fine Flannel Shirts for 35c. Home-made Socks and Mitts, 22½c.

Yarns and Hosiery

—AT—

TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

AN OVERWHELMING CASE.

THAT OF THE TIMES AGAINST THE IRISH LEADERS.

Parnell Devoting Himself to Preparation for the Sitting of the Commission—The Conservative Leadership.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—In spite of all assertions to the contrary, I have the best authority for saying that the case of The Times against the leaders of the Irish party is overwhelming, and is being strengthened day by day. Now that the case has drawn out the whole plan of action the systematized strength of the indictment is more evident. The authenticity of the letters will hardly be questioned seriously, but the letters would be hardly sufficient without something of a stronger and more condemnatory nature, of which there is also a plenty. There was some difficulty at first in making Mr. Parnell realize that it was necessary he should give his careful attention to the matter. However, I understand now that George Lewis finds him most tractable. He is devoting himself to preparation for the sitting of the commission.

The increasing confidence of the Conservative party in Balfour makes Smith's tenure of the leadership of the House of Commons more important than ever, at least during this Parliament. When Lord Randolph Churchill resigned the Conservative party welcomed Goschen with acclamation, feeling satisfied that if Smith was not inclined to continue to act as leader, Goschen was there to take his place. But it is no secret that many Conservatives in the House would prefer any leader to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, for, with all his genius and ability, the Conservative party would rather be led by a man born and bred among themselves. In Balfour they find a chief whom they can follow, but his apprenticeship is not quite long enough yet to justify the party in depriving Goschen of the leadership were Smith to retire during this Parliament. Smith will, therefore, remain at his post, for no one has shown more unselfish patriotism than he. When dissolution takes place and he gets his well-earned repose, Balfour would naturally succeed him. Judging by the progress he has made in public estimation in the last two years, his promotion to the leadership of the party would be most popular.

Balfour's Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Mr. Balfour in a speech at Haddington said: he did not agree with the view that a closer and more intimate union with the Unionists was desirable. Each man, he said, owed something to his party. Both parties might amalgamate with the object of preserving the Empire without losing that identity of connection with the history of the past which might be involved in a change of name. He believed this union would appear to historians as the most remarkable phase of the Irish controversy.

The Late Lord Sackville's Will.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The will of the late Lord Sackville bequeathes everything unentailed to the Queen's maids of honor. Sir L. Sackville-West, the British member at Washington, inherits the estates and £10,000 yearly.

DR. MACKENZIE'S BOOK.

Sir Morell Not Dismayed at the Prospect of Libel Actions.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The wholesale misappropriation of a large portion of Sir Morell Mackenzie's book by American, German, and English newspapers, notwithstanding the extraordinary precautions adopted by the publishers to insure inviolable secrecy, will add a very discreditable chapter to the history of modern journalism. The literary pirates managed to place their wares in several markets, for The News Free Presse and Tageblatt provided their readers with copious selections and extracts the same day as the New York papers. Although the early sheets of necessity passed through a variety of hands, this most recent development of piracy has furnished Sampson, Low & Co. with a clue to the probable offenders, whose position would, under ordinary circumstances, place them beyond suspicion. The firm had a long conference with its legal advisers on Saturday. A case was at once drawn up and submitted to counsel yesterday. If so advised Sampson, Low & Co. will commence action for heavy damages under the copyright act against a news agency and a daily and weekly newspaper.

Sir Morell Mackenzie is naturally annoyed at the piratical proceedings, which caused so much anxiety to his publishers, but they have not occasioned in him the cerebral excitement so touchingly alluded to in a Sunday paper. As a matter of fact he is now in better health than for a long time. He is in no way dismayed at the prospect of a crop of libel actions, which as yet only exist in imagination, and has no intention of giving Dr. Bergmann the advertisement of a sensational trial in Germany. In case proceedings are instituted he will allow judgment to go by default.

THE KAISER'S VISITS.

England not at all Disturbed by His Majesty's Neglect.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—It seems to have created no surprise here that the Kaiser should think it his first duty on ascending the throne to pay state visits to every country save England, to which he is allied by nearer and stronger ties than to any other. There is no talk of his coming over, for the Queen has said that she will receive no royal visitors while mourning lasts and it would seriously curtail her Scotch visit were he to come here at this moment. When the Empress Frederick arrives next month his presence would be anything but desirable. We are curiously apathetic in England not to feel irritated and surprised at the sight of a royal progress made to every other European capital fraught with the most important consequences and significant to the highest degree while we are treated as if there was no chance or possibility of our interference in any European complications, and as if our voice was silent in the councils of Europe while the Queen is passing her autumn in the seclusion of the Highlands.

The Emperor William travels about Europe in his own railroad car, which is quite as complete and luxurious as the double saloon one which belongs to the Prince of Wales and is always used by him in his continental journeys. The Italian government caused a carriage of exactly the same dimensions to be built and sent to Bologna ten days ago, and it made the journey from that place to Rome, as there was apprehension that the Emperor's saloon carriage would not get through the numerous tunnels between Bologna and Florence, but it was found that the model just fitted.

A Cocaine Sufferer Kills Himself.

MACKINNEY, Tex., Oct. 17.—Dr. C. K. Gregg, son of the Episcopal Bishop of Texas, shot and killed himself last night while suffering from the effects of a hypodermic injection of cocaine, with which he was experimenting.

A Fatal Scuffle.

Boldly Done Highway Robbery—Stone Women on a Train.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—A case of highway robbery took place on King-street west, about midway between Brock and Brant streets, in front of Gurney's foundry at 10.30 o'clock Monday night. At that hour, as William Holderness, who lives at No. 463 King-street west, was proceeding homeward, he was attacked by three men. One of his assailants knocked him senseless with a heavy blow from his fist, and when he regained consciousness he discovered that the ruffians had abstracted $65, a silver watch and gold chain from the pockets of his clothing. In the encounter Holderness claims that he was stabbed in the left arm by one of the gang, and shows a painful wound to back up his statement. The police have the matter in hand.

Fire was discovered in the storehouse on Jeddes' wharf at 4.30 p.m. yesterday, and an alarm was immediately turned in. Several streams of water were turned on the building, but they seemed to have little effect on the fire, which was not quenched until nearly $5000 damage had been done.

Annie Henderson accused Saverio Urciaoli of assaulting her, and in the examination of several witnesses it transpired that the prisoner had banged her with his fist, whisked a razor out of his hip pocket and drew a revolver out of his capacious boot leg. The further hearing was adjourned.

Passengers in one of the coaches of the midnight express from Hamilton Monday night were greatly annoyed by a couple of women, who seemed to be hilarious from the effects of liquor. They kept up a continuous session of hilarity, using profane and blasphemous language. When the train arrived the women were handed over to a policeman. The prisoners gave their names as Rose Le Femmena and Theresa Conway. The Magistrate fined the unruly pair each $23 and costs, or 60 days.

Warden Massie and two guards marshalled three convicts from the Central Prison named James McQuade, Thomas McPherson and Walter Walsh, and charged them with escaping from the prison, to which they pleaded guilty and were given an additional six months each. Walsh is a Toronto thief and the two Maes hail from London.

A wagon driver named Blong was hailed at the corner of Spadina-avenue and King-street by a man who appealed for a lift as he was tired. The driver acceded, and leaned over to assist the other to a seat beside him. The latter proved too heavy, and Blong fell over him to the ground, his head striking the curb stone. He is now unconscious, and concussion of the brain is feared.

The Hindoo Salvationists, with the volunteers for India's coral strand, left Toronto yesterday morning on their way to their destination.

A passing patrol waggon aroused the curiosity of Eli Jeffries, of 238½ King-street east, and in rushing out to see it he stumbled against a glass door. His face and head were so badly cut as to necessitate his removal to the hospital.

The annual inspection and parade of the police force came off in Queen's Park yesterday, 150 of the 230 men who comprise the force turning out.

CITY DEBT OF MONTREAL.

Canadian Cattle Sales at Aberdeen—Bids Prices Realized.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, mayor of Montreal; Ald. Grenier and Treasurer Black are now engaged in the proposed conversion of the Montreal debt. It has been suggested that the rise in the bank rate will cause the conversion to be postponed, but there is no ground for the suggestion. The opinion in city circles is that the present is the best time for the operation. It is intended to make the conversion as soon as initial arrangements are completed.

In four auction sales of Canadian cattle at Aberdeen 584 head realized from £11 15s. to £15 per head; £17 5s. was the highest. A good proportion fetched high prices.

The ratepayers of Dundee will decide next month whether provision shall be made to import Canadian cattle to Dundee similar to Aberdeen.

Canadian Briefs.

Sir Richard Cartwright addressed [illegible] constituents at Ingersoll last night.

The fire in the Southfield mine at Nanaimo, B.C., continues, but is being gradually subdued.

The Hindoos and missionaries from Toronto had a warm reception in Montreal last night.

The new Methodist church at Centralia, Ont., was opened on Sunday. Rev. Dr. Burns, of Hamilton, preached in the morning and evening and Rev. B. Clements in the afternoon. A tea meeting was held on Monday evening, at which $900 was subscribed and the church is clear of debt. Mr. L. Trivett generously subscribed $985.

Hewitt Accepts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Mayor Hewitt has written a letter accepting a re-nomination for the mayorship. In it he soothes Tammany Hall as a secret order merely for the spoils of office, and which two years ago was overtaken with a spasm of virtue and saw fit to nominate him for mayor. He declares he is in for tariff reform and will vote for the Democratic national nominees, but says nothing of the state ticket. He says he has never had any sympathy with the Know-nothing movement, and calls attention to the fact that he himself was the author of the resolution in the Democratic national platform of 1864, on the subject of immigration, which was adopted without dissent both in committee and by the convention.

Another Collision on the Lehigh.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 16.—A collision on the Pottsville division of the Lehigh Valley Railway near Tamaa End about 6 o'clock this morning between a Lehigh gravel train and a Pennsylvania Railroad fast freight. The flagman did not go back far enough to signal the freight which struck the caboose of the gravel train, the latter containing a batch of Hungarian laborers, six of whom were instantly killed. Twenty-six were injured, two of them dying while being conveyed to the hospital. The gravel train was backing on a siding when the freight train, which was running on orders approached at a high rate of speed.

A GHASTLY FIND.

HUNTERS DISCOVER A DEAD BODY NEAR OWEN SOUND.

The Detained Chinese—Four Tong Seconds in Crossing the Line But Is Hunted Back—Fatal Accident at Hamilton.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 16.—Yesterday while John Scott and H. G. Tucker, of this place, and W. C. Greene, of Lockport, N.Y., were hunting in Sarawak township, they came across the body of an unknown man lying on the shore of the bay about six miles down. The body was nude with the exception of a flannel shirt, and death had apparently occurred a week or more before. There was nothing about the body to identify it. It was that of a man about average height and weight, full brown beard, iron grey hair, a mole on the left cheek, prominent teeth and a bunion on each great toe.

After finding the body the hunters, when about half a mile south in a slash, came across a suit of clothing, evidently those of the deceased. The coat and vest are dark blue serge, pants dark grey striped material. In the vest was a lady's open faced gold watch with chain and locket, $11 in money, a Catholic emblem, a picture of himself, a railroad ticket second class from Owen Sound to Boston, on which the name Wm. Turcotte was written. The ticket is dated Winnipeg, Sept. 14, 1888. Inside the hat was written in ink, "J. A. Philisse, H. R. C." The name Wm. Turcotte is on the books of the Athabasca as having arrived here Sept 17, and a man answering his description was seen around the yards that day, but that was the last seen of him alive.

A coroner's inquest was begun last night by Dr. Cameron and adjourned.

A Fatal Accident on the Grand Trunk.

HAMILTON, Oct. 17.—A fatal accident occurred between 5 and 6 o'clock Monday afternoon at the G. T. R. yard. William G. Servos, a yardsman, was on engine No. 70 with the engineer, Mr. Alfred Candle. The engine was attached to a train of about a dozen freight cars and was running at an ordinary rate of speed. Servos was on the front of the engine when the train pulled out from the Stuart-street yard. When under the Catharine-street bridge Servos, who had gone from the engine to the cars, was in the act of climbing back from the car to the engine when he slipped and fell. Engineer Candle saw what had occurred and whistled for the brakes, at the same time reversing the engine. When the train was brought to a standstill it was discovered that the unfortunate yardsman had been run over. His mangled body lay by the track covered with blood. It was found that three or four of the cars had passed over his legs and that his body had been frightfully bruised. He was taken to the hospital and one of his legs taken off at the thigh and the other below the knee. The injured man lingered until 2.10 o'clock yesterday morning, when death relieved him of his suffering. He was 39 years of age and leaves a widow and three small children.

Fong Tong Will Stay in Canada.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 16.—Fong Tang and wife crossed over to the American side last night by the foot bridge, stopping at the New York Central Hotel, Suspension Bridge, N. Y., all night. After breakfast this morning they walked to the New York Central depot to get their baggage rechecked for New York, and ran into the arms of the American custom officers, who forthwith hustled him back to Canada. Fong Tang says he will take up his residence in this town and engage in the laundry business.

The four detained Chinamen have not as yet received any information in regard to their admission into the United States from the authorities at Washington.

COUNTERFEITERS CAPTURED.

Montreal Police Catch Two Men Making Bogus 25-Cent Pieces.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—What is supposed to be a gang of counterfeiters has been arrested by the police. Sergeant Courtois was notified that some parties were coining money in a shop on Montcalm near Robert-street and accompanied by Constable Morel, the sergeant entered premises and found in a shed in the rear two men melting white metal, pewter and lead in a large ladle. On a bench near were some plaster of paris moulds with the impress of 25-cent pieces. On examining the place the officers found a trap door in the floor and under it some more metal, moulds, moald boxes, and an instrument for milling the edge of silver coins. A third man was also found there but he seemed to have nothing to do with the alleged counterfeiter. The officers, however, arrested the three and took possession of the tools and metals. The three prisoners were brought before the magistrate and gave their names as Eugene Harrison, 26; Elzear Michaud, 30, and Adolphe Desjardins, 40. The last named was discharged, and made a deposition against the other two, saying that he had seen them working at casting 25-cent pieces in plaster of Paris moulds, that their first attempt had not succeeded well, but they were trying more. Harrison and Michaud were sent to stand their trial before the Court of Queen's Bench.

A PRIZE FIGHT AT MONTREAL.

Fitzgerald Knocks Dougherty Out in the Second Round—The Police Outwitted.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—Jack Fitzgerald of Liverpool and Dan Dougherty of Glasgow, two clever young light-weights, met a few miles beyond the boundary of the Island of Montreal yesterday afternoon. The fight had been much talked of, and the police sought to prevent it, but were outwitted. The mill was under Queensbury rules, for $100 a side and a purse of $250, on turf with skin gloves. Dick Guthrie looked after Dougherty and Mike Welsh seconded Fitzgerald, and only twenty-eight friends of the parties were present. Fitzgerald had it all his own way and won in two rounds, his opponent being done up at the end of the first by a blow just under the ear, being only able to come to time and collapsed in the second. Fitzgerald is now anxious to reach higher, and will shortly challenge Warren, and his backers are confident he can make a good showing.

"VARIOUS AND VALUABLE"

CANADIAN BUILDING STONE AS A POLITICAL TEXT.

The Republican Warwick Says the Mills Bill will Enable the Dominion Quarries to Supplant Those of Indiana.

BEDFORD, Ind., Oct. 17.—Mr. Blaine addressed a crowd at the railway station here yesterday. He said:

"My Republican Friends: It is the effort of the Democratic party to persuade the Western States that the protective tariff is all for the benefit of the East. I know that this town of Bedford and County of Lawrence are very largely interested in building stone. I have seen it in many cities of the Union, one of the most beautiful stones known in the United States.

"Heretofore you have had a protective duty against the stones in Canada. They have various and valuable stones in the Dominion, and the Mills Bill strikes down all the protection which the tariff has given to the building stones of the United States. (Cheers and cries of "That's so.") If the bill is passed and becomes a law all the building stones of Canada along the St. Lawrence and along the Great Lakes will have cheap transportation to the great cities of Detroit, Milwaukee, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo and in fact all the cities of the great northwestern States, and they can reach those points cheaper than you can who have to transport your building stone by rail.

"They will have cheaper transportation and therefore instead of putting you on equality with the building stones of the Dominion of Canada, the Mills Bill goes clear over and gives the preference to the Canadian stones and puts you at a disadvantage."

POWDERLY'S RETORT.

Answering Emphatically Thomas Barry's Letters.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Oct. 17.—There was published in this city yesterday a sensational letter from Mr. Powderly, in which he states that Thomas Barry was three months ago bounced from the Knights of Labor Executive Board, as the result of charges preferred by the District Assembly of Toronto, Canada. Mr. Powderly gives no idea of the charges in his letter, which is addressed to Harry Bengough, a prominent Knight of Labor of this city. Powderly says that the presentation of the charges, which were mailed direct to him, were delayed because he pitied Barry, who was then ill. Powderly says he will make no public reply to Barry's speeches and letters, but at the Indianapolis General Assembly he will make a complete statement of the work of the order. He accuses both Barry and Litchman of having been in the order for revenue only, and when they were disappointed in that line they were eager to retire.

It is stated here that Barry prevaricated when he says he never resorted to any scheming to secure office in the order. It is recalled that, at the Cincinnati General Assembly, Barry presided over a caucus which dictated the election of everybody, except Powderly, Barry being then elected to the General Executive Board for the first time. The great fight was over the General Secretaryship, Robert D. Layton of Pittsburg, who is again a candidate, having refused to stand for re-election. The candidates were Fred Turner and Gilbert Rockwood. Barry opposed the latter because he had been Layton's assistant, and secured Turner's election. Powderly is aware that in Pittsburg there is to be had much information damaging to Barry, and he is anxious to have it in his possession for use at Indianapolis. Mr. Powderly states in his letter that Barry's letter and speeches are the effusions of a disappointed and diseased mind, and that he is now repaying kindness with the basest of ingratitude.

Found a Pot of Gold.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Henry M. Barnhart, an ice dealer, employed Frederick Rudolph to kalsomine his bedroom ceiling. Rudolph found in a little recess over the door a glass candy jar, inside of which, in a pastboard box, was $45 in gold pieces. Rudolph took the gold home. Barnhart missed it and reported his loss to Detective Valiant. Valiant went to Rudolph's house and told the kalsominer's wife to give him the gold her husband had brought home on Friday. Mrs. Rudolph brought out $40. Rudolph was arrested and said he had spent the missing $5. He was held at Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning.

The Long Standing "Q" Strike.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—It is reported here that the "Q" strike will yet be settled and a large number of old employes taken back. It is said that General Manager Stone was present at a secret meeting of the grievance committee of engineers, at which he conceded all the points except the classification system, and agreed to take back 500 men. It is also stated that at a second conference he agreed to take all the men back at standard wages, as paid on other roads, but still refused the classification system, and arranged for further conference.

A Vindictive Tramp.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Seabolt, living near Santa Fe Springs, this county, was shot through the neck and seriously wounded yesterday afternoon by a tramp who called at the house and asked for work, and fired on her reply that she had none to give him. W. S. Slocum, a neighbor, attracted by her cries, came to her assistance, and was fired at twice by the tramp. He escaped injury, and, returning the fire, shot his assailant through the head, killing him.

Shielding a Thieving Bank President.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—In an application to Judge Sheppard for an order to compel Cashier Talman, of the suspended Traders' Bank, to answer certain questions, which he either evaded or declined to answer, it was stated by the attorney for the creditors that the examination thus far showed that $400,000 had been taken from the bank by the late President Butler, and the cashier refused to give testimony on the subject, referring counsel to the books. The order will probably be made.

Wonderful Popularity.

The fact that the sale of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets exceeds that of any pill in the market, be it great or small, is on account of the fact that they are tiny, little, sugar-coated granules, and that in most cases one little "Pellet" is sufficient for a dose; that they are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless; and for constipation, biliousness, sick headache, and all diseases arising from derangement of the liver, stomach or bowels, they are absolutely specific. A gentle laxative or active cathartic, according to size of dose. c

At the same time I must compliment your Company on the exceedingly prompt and business-like manner in which business is conducted, the cheque having been issued on the same day that the papers were received in Toronto. Thanks are also due to your local agents, Messrs. Thornton and Gibbs for their courtesy.

I remain, yours very truly,

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $500.00 (two hundred dollars), and an immense amount of suffering. My Skin Disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease ever again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, mange ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took . . . and . . . Sarsaparilla over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three [illegible] no cure. I cannot speak the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made me feel as clean and free from scales as a baby. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $500.00 you would have had the money. I send like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch, as it is a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

CHAPTER VIII.

AN AFFALLING STRUGGLE.

Once more we were on board and away! We would soon know whether we were to have a clear track at Adairsville or to repeat the vexatious and dangerous experience of Kingston. Once more the engine was given full force; we in the box car were thrown from side to side, sometimes a little roughly; but this did not diminish our joy over the rapid motion which was "devouring" the distance between us and our friends in Tennessee! As we came in sight of the station, there to our great satisfaction lay the freight train, which, indeed, had long been waiting for us, as we were now a half hour behind the time of Fuller's passenger train, and also waiting for the morning passenger train from Chattanooga, which should have overtaken the freight at this point, but which was also late. Indeed, the panic in Chattanooga and the extra trains on the road had disordered the whole schedule and enormously increased our difficulties. As we came near the station, speed was slackened and we stopped on the main track beside the through freight. Andrews at once answered the usual storm of questions and asked others in turn. He heard still more of Mitchel's operations, how he seemed to have captured all their trains on the western road, so that for twenty-four hours not a car had got through, and that the telegrams were being interrupted further and further up the road, so that, from every indication, he was coming to Chattanooga. But Andrews was still more interested in asking news of the down passenger train, which was now half an hour late. No information was received, but the freight conductor had determined to run on south on the arrival of Fuller's train, in harmony with their rule of railroading at that time, by which a following train was to be waited for only a certain length of time, after which the waiting train had the right to proceed. Andrews approved of that intention, saying that Fuller with the regular train would probably wait for him at Kingston. Andrews might have held this train here by giving a message as from Fuller, but he preferred to get rid of it, so that if compelled to back before the belated passenger, it might not be in the way; and if compelled to fight, the fewer of the enemy the better; otherwise its running down to the place of the broken rail was undesirable. The conductor said to Andrews:

"You of course will remain here until my passenger train comes, and tell them to overhaul me at Kingston!"

"No," returned Andrews, "I must go at once! the fate of the army hangs on my getting promptly through with those carloads of ammunition. Suppose the Yankees attack Beauregard! He has not powder enough for three hours' fight."

This was a startling possibility, and forgetting all about Mitchel being in the way, the conductor (the men on both sides had heard the conversation, but had not joined in it) patriotically said:

"Get through by all means; but you will have to run very slow and put a flagman out on every curve, or you will have a collision."

Andrews answered quickly: "I will attend to that;" stepped on his own engine and motioned to Knight, who was still at the throttle. The latter, hearing the words went running slowly, had put on the steam in a gradual manner, and the engine glided away at a moderate rate of speed.

But this was not to last; neither was any flagman to be sent ahead; there had been delays enough. The time had come when it was wise to take a terrible risk. We dared not wait for the passenger train because of the pursuers we had heard, and of the freight which had started toward the break; and we must reach the station above before the passenger started out! From Adairsville to Calhoun, the next station that had a side track, is a little more than nine miles. The road runs directly north, is almost straight, and but little removed from level; this is the most favorable stretch for running on the whole line. Andrews said to his comrades: "Make her show how fast she can go; every second saved in getting to Calhoun counts." The effect of giving such orders to men whose nerves had all morning been thrilling with suppressed fire may be imagined! The engine was in the finest running condition. Knight had oiled it carefully during the long waiting at Kingston, and again, in part, at Adairsville, and a heavy pressure of steam had accumulated during the pause at the latter station. Now the full force of the mighty power was turned on at once, while oil was poured on sticks and these fed into the furnace. The three cars and twenty men were no load for the powerful engine, and it sprung to its work with a shock that nearly took every man from his feet! The race against time which followed was grand and terrible. The engine seemed to be not so much running as coursing with great lionlike bounds along the track, and the spectacle from the locomotive as it rose and fell in its ceaseless rapid motion, while houses, fields and woods rushed by, was wonderful and glorious, almost worth the risk to enjoy! In the box car we were thrown from side to side and jerked about in a manner that baffles description. The car was so close to the engine that it felt every impulse of power and there was no following train to steady it. Many times we were startled with the momentary conviction that we were off the track; but there was no cessation of our rapid flight. We hardly knew what it meant, and though we pushed our door partly open, the risk of being thrown out was too great to permit us to open it wide; and gazing at the panorama that flitted by, with lightning like rapidity, we could gain no clew to this frantic and perilous chase, for there was no indication of a following train that we could perceive. There was no danger of being seen in the opening of our door, for the rapid flight of the train would have attracted all the attention that anything upon the car could. Andrews scarcely looked ahead while making this run. Brown and Knight, however, did keep a sharp lookout, simply for the purpose of seeing when we came near the station that they might shut off steam and be able to stop there. They had no hope of reversing or stopping, if they saw the belated passenger train approaching. As well try to reverse a cannon ball in its flight! If the train had started out from Calhoun before we came in sight, it was simply and inevitably death for every one of us; and the people of the other train would not have fared much better.

Our fireman, J. A. Wilson, very graphically describes this fearful effort to conquer time:

"Our locomotive was under a full head of steam. The engineer stood with his hand on the lever, with the valve wide open. It was frightful to see how the powerful iron monster under us would leap forward under the revolutions of her great wheels. Brown would scream to me over and anon, 'Give her more wood, Alf,' which command was promptly obeyed. She rocked and reeled like a drunken man, while we tumbled from side to side like grains of popcorn in a hot frying pan. It was bewildering to look at the ground or objects on the roadside. A constant stream of fire ran from the great wheels, and to this day I shudder as I reflect on that, my first and last locomotive ride. We sped past houses, stations and fields and out of sight, almost like a meteor, while the bystanders, who scarcely caught a glimpse of us as we passed, looked on as if in both fear and amazement. It has always been a wonder to me that our locomotive and cars kept the track at all, or how they could possibly stay on the track. At times the iron horse seemed literally to fly over the course, the driving wheels of one side being lifted from the rails much of the distance over which we now sped with a velocity fearful to contemplate. We took little thought of the matter then."

[TO BE CONTINUED]

Work on the Repairs Being Vigorously Pushed Night and Day.

CORNWALL, Oct. 16.—Work on the break in the canal is progressing favorably. The dam around the washout to carry off the water from the upper reach will be completed to-morrow, and the water thus conducted past the opening in the banks will, it is thought, be sufficient to furnish motive power for the electric light company, and several mill s that are without steam power. This will be a great boon to the manufacturers and others who have been put to great inconvenience through the accident. Over 200 men are now engaged at the work, and there is no cessation of operations except at meal times. The electric light plant arrived yesterday and the light will be ready for use to-morrow night. Last night and to-night work was carried on by the light of bonfires and lanterns. Superintendent Conway still expects to have water in the canal again in ten days from the time he commenced work.

Runaway Accident at Peterboro.

PETERBORO, Oct. 17.—About 3.30 yesterday afternoon, Mr. A. P. Poussette and Mr. Peck, of the Canadian Permanent, Toronto, were driving along Bethune-street, intending to turn down Hunter-street towards the office. The horse became frightened at an approaching train and started off at runaway speed. At the corner of Hunter-street the buggy was upset and both men thrown out, Mr. Peck receiving some bad face and head wounds besides some cuts on the hands. Mr. Poussette was but slightly bruised. The buggy came in upside down and was pretty badly wrecked.

A Youthful Burglar.

KINGSTON, Oct. 17.—P. Varney, second-hand dealer, has lately been missing various articles from his store, and Officer Aiken hid himself in the store on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. On the last-named night, about 11 o'clock, William McNally, after removing his shoes in the gateway, got through a back window and tumbled into the waiting arms of the constable. It was a great surprise to the boy, who yelled lustily when he was seized by the policeman. The lad is sixteen years of age and cannot read or write. He was sent to the Penitentiary for four years.

The Dangerous Coal Oil.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—The explosion of poorly-refined coal oil is the cause of another accidental burning. A little girl named Beauchamp, living on Maple-street, while helping her mother in domestic duties, was suddenly enveloped in flames, through the oil lamp exploding while resting on the table. Her burning clothing was only torn from her with much difficulty, and not before she was badly burned about the face, hands and body. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the poor child's suffering relieved. It is feared she will be disfigured for life.

May and December.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—In the Circuit Court before Judge Tuley, Mrs. Mary E. Campbell, who was married to Mr. Andrew Campbell in Ottawa, Ont., got a divorce from her husband, who was thirty-one years older than she, on the ground of cruelty.

Poisoned Her Mother.

Messrs. T. Milburn, & Co. I wish I had used B. B. B. sooner, which would have saved me years of suffering with erysipelas, from which I could get no relief until I tried B. B. Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. "During three years' suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B. B. B. I had only used it three days when I felt better; three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont. 2w42d

Praiseworthy.

"Last summer I was entirely laid up with liver complaint. A friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters; I did so and four bottles cured me. I cannot praise this remedy too much." John H. Rivers, Orr Lake, Ont. 2w42d

The Magic Bottle Imp.
A very amusing sketch, by the aid of which the most astonishing feats are performed. It is a carefully put up brain puzzle. It will cause no end of fun in a company, as it is very amusing to see the Imp dance on the table as soon as you take it in your hand. It will be very interesting to see how it is done. It causes heaps of fun, and wagers made of merriment. Any one that buys it is done to a cent easily remembered. The bottle can be handled in any way, and the Imp will perform the trick just the same. For performing the trick see directions. Sample by mail, postpaid, 25 cents; 3 for 50 cents. One dozen, postpaid, 75 cents.

A Bear Story that is True.

A dead bear with live dogs barking at it attracted the curious attention of the people on George street this morning. It lay on a box in front of Fairweather's fur store, and was a pretty specimen of its class. It weighed about 150 pounds, had a sleek, black coat of rare cleanness and without a stage. It was purchased by Mr. Fairweather from Mr. Arthur Emery, a Dummer farmer, who shot it yesterday afternoon in the woods near his farm and brought it to market to-day. It took two bullets to finish his bearship. The price paid by Mr. Fairweather was $12.

Obituary.

The EXAMINER records with great regret the death of Mrs Wm. Whitla, of Otonabee, one of the oldest residents of the township. She died on Sunday, after a long illness, borne with Christian patience and Christian courage. Mrs. Whitla was the daughter of Philip Crossmont, Esq., a retired officer of the British Army, who came to Canada from Ireland in 1832. Her husband, to whom she was married about forty years ago, came from Ireland also. Their residence was near the locks till the death of Mr. Whitla, when she removed to Sheridan's Terrace, town, where she lived till her death. She was a faithful member of the Church of England, and a regular and assiduous attendant of St. John's Church. She leaves behind her two sons—Robert, who lives in town, and George, whose home is in the Northwest.

A Mission of Mercy.

To-night a deputation will leave town for Ottawa to lay before the Governor-General and the Minister of Justice a request for mercy in the case of James Farley, condemned to die. There will be Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., Mayor, with the memorial of the town council; Mr. Henry Deane, representing with Mayor Stevenson the workingmen of Peterborough; Messrs. O'Meara & Burnham, counsel for the prisoner, and Messrs. Kelly, Crowler and, perhaps, some other gentlemen. The petitions and memorial will be presented to-morrow. All persons having petitions in behalf of Farley will please leave them with Messrs. O'Meara & Burnham to-day.

The Original Fisks.

Another great treat is in store for the music-loving citizens of Peterborough. On Wednesday evening, Oct. 31st, the genuine and original Fisk Jubilee Singers will appear at the opera house and render a programme of charming negro melodies and plantation songs. So many bogus and unworthy imitations of the Fisk Singers have been through Canada that the wary public are afraid of being bamboozled and look with suspicion on any troupe bearing the title, but the people are assured by the responsible auspices under which they come that these are the "genuine and original" Fisk Jubilee Singers. Those who have heard them know what a delightful entertainment they give. Remember the date, Wednesday, Oct. 31st, at the opera house.

The Indians as Farmers.

Mr. Kennedy, instructor for the Chemong Lake Indians, was in town to-day and took home with him one of Mr. Peter Hamilton's first class threshing machines and horse-power complete. The Indians have labored under a considerable disadvantage in past years, as, having no barn accommodation, they had to stack their crops until such time as the frost would admit of a machine crossing on the ice. This put them at great loss, as when they were able to thresh the season was so late that large quantities of the grain was injured by the fall rains and frost. In future they will be able to thresh on the spot, thereby getting full returns for their labor. The Indians are taking increased interest in cultivation of the soil every year, and Mr. Kennedy is encouraging them as much as he can.

The Boom in Grain.

The high prices of grain, whatever is the cause of them, have given a decided boom to the grain trade, while on the other hand a decided boom in boot and shoes has been created by the low prices of gough bros.' So the farmer is making money by double entry—he gets big prices for his grain and pays low prices for his boots. gough bros'.store is the place to get them at absolute rock bottom prices—less than half wholesale cost. gough bros. are always on the look-out for snaps. They find a big stock of some bankrupt merchants of first class goods going for a song to wind up the estate. This means half price, and buying for cash they get a still further reduction. This is why they can give the public such marvellously low prices.

An Industrial Exhibition.

The event for this week is the "Industrial Exhibition," to be held in the Charlotte street skating rink on Thursday, the 18th Oct. The Young Peoples' Association and Ladies' Aid Society, George Street Methodist Church, are working hard to make this a success, and we may expect to see an exhibit that would not disgrace the Central Exhibition of the county in the particular lines shown. And just here, it may be said, that married as well as single ladies are expected to compete in the lines of fancy, ornamental and plain work. There will be two classes of exhibitors, young ladies of sixteen years and under, and the ladies' department, to which only ladies over sixteen contribute. An excellent tea will be provided, which will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock p.m. Admission to the rink, 10 cents; admission and tea, 25 cents. 2eod

The Bold Burglar.

A daring burglary was perpetrated last week, says the Hastings Star, when the dwelling house of Mr. Jas. Robertson, near Villiers, was broken into on Saturday of last week. About noon on the day mentioned, three strangers, one a youth about 12 years of age, and the others young men of 20, were observed in the neighborhood; the youngest of the party, in fact, had called into Mr. Robert Borland's and begged something to eat. A short time afterwards Mr. Borland's daughter heard considerable hammering in the direction of Mr. Robertson's, but no attention was paid to it, but it was learned later on in the evening that Mr. R., (who, by the way, has been recently married) and his wife were in Peterborough, and so the burglars were undisturbed. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, on their return, found everything in the house in disorder. A bureau and trunk were broken open and the contents strewn about the floor. The full extent of the robbery has not yet been learned, though a pair of black cloth pants, a fur cap, a gold neck chain and several other articles are missing. Mr. C. Fox met the gang while he was going to Keene, and there are indications that the party slept in Fife's school house on that night. It is supposed they are working their way towards Belleville.

Women's Mission Work.

The seventh annual meeting of the General Board of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church was opened in the Metropolitan church, Toronto, Tuesday morning. There were a large number of delegates present, forty-four ladies from all over Canada. After routine business, the corresponding secretary's report was read. It dealt in part with the work in Japan. The Tokio School was in a very satisfactory condition, and it was found necessary last year to erect a new building. Three ladies, Miss Morgan, of Brantford, Miss Preston, of Mount Pleasant, and Miss Munro, of Peterborough, were mentioned as having been sent to Japan to engage in the work of the Society. Another school at Shidzuoka was referred to as being in a very satisfactory condition. The work among the Indians of the Northwest was progressing. The Crosby Girls' Home at Simpson, B.C., the McDougall Orphanage at Morley, N.W.T., the home for Chinese girls at Victoria, B.C., and the work at Chilliwick by Rev. Mr. Tate, were mentioned as evidences of its growth. Then among the French, the work had been most satisfactory. Touching home matters, an increase in every department was observed, but still admitted of considerable advances. The treasurer's report showed the receipts during the past year to be $19,070.38, an increase over the income of last year of $4,872.87; total expenditure, $1,284.61; balance on hand, $17,170.89. Reports from the different branches were read, all showing gratifying increases. Following is the report of the central branch, (including Peterborough):—Mrs. Dr. Briggs, secretary; 16 new auxiliaries and 14 new mission bands, making totals of 53 and 30 respectively. Total membership, 2,605; receipts, $6,480.33, an increase of $1,679.89 over last year.

A Plea for Mercy.

A Memorial in Farley's Behalf Passed by The Town Council — Peterborough's Record of its Sympathy for an Unfortunate Man.

At the special meeting of the town council Tuesday night there were present Mayor Stevenson, Messrs. Hartley, Kendry, Langford, Douglass, Moore, A. Hall, Kelly, Davidson and Cahill.

The only business was the passing of a memorial praying for commutation of the death sentence upon Farley, and Mr. Cahill introduced the matter by moving the first reading of the memorial. In doing so he briefly remarked that in passing the memorial they were simply doing an act of mercy with which he believed all the townspeople sympathized. Following is the text of the memorial :—

To His Excellency the Governor General in Council :—

The memorial of the corporation of the town of Peterborough by the council thereof ;

Whereas; one James F. Farley, an American citizen, was on the 12th day of October instant convicted at Peterborough of the murder of one Elijah, an Indian, and sentenced to be hanged on the 8th day of November next;

And whereas as the representatives of the people we are vitally interested in the preservation of peace and good order in our community;

And, whereas, a universal feeling appears to prevail amongst the people of the town that the sentence of death passed upon the said Farley is, under the circumstances of the case, too severe ;

And, whereas, it is considered that the dead dose by the said Farley was done in a moment of passion without premeditation or malice aforethought ;

And, whereas, we believe the case of the said Farley is one for the proper consideration of Your Excellency and one warranting the exercise of mercy on the part of the Crown ;

Therefore, we, the Mayor and corporation of the town of Peterborough, do hereby respectfully pray that Your Excellency may be graciously pleased to commute the sentence of death passed upon the said Farley, and to substitute therefor imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, or for such term as to Your Excellency shall seem meet.

The memorial passed its several readings, and on motion of Mr Cahill, seconded by Mr. Davidson, it was finally adopted and Mayor Stevenson was requested to present it to the Governor General.

A few other minor matters were disposed of.

The collector was instructed to return his roll to the Finance Committee and to furnish bonds for 1888 and proceed at once to issue notices.

An application of Mr. Wm. Logan to have Aylmer street, near Brock, widened, was on motion referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

The council then adjourned.

The Archer Organ Recital.

A Delighted Musical Audience at St Paul's.

The musical people of Peterborough were, last night, treated to an exposition of the organ and the music which it is capable of producing, which gave the greatest delight from start to finish. It is probable that they never listened to anything so grand as the organ recital given by Mr. Frederic Archer. Space will not permit a critical review of the programme ; in fact, words would fail to do justice to the magnificent execution of the great organ master. Mr. Archer seems to have an almost uncanny power over the grand instrument. In every style of music he is equally at home—in the lighter compositions of the modern composers as well as in the grand conceptions of the great masters; in both cases affording to the listener what, till last night, would seem be, the impossible resources of the instrument. He gave especial delight in the rendering of three overtures—Weber's "Der Freischutz," Verdi's "Macbeth," and Rossini's "Semiramide." The fine orchestral effects were produced in a remarkably faithful manner and the listener had only to close his eyes to fancy himself listening to the faultless performance of a first class full orchestra. His marvellous fingering and pedalling were brought out in a piece of Mr. Archer's own composition—Andante and Concert Fugue. Altogether his performance throughout the evening was simply magnificent, and, barring his visiting us again, it is highly improbable that we shall "ever look upon his like again" as an organist of the highest order. Variety was given to the programme by Miss Vair rendering, in her usual good style, two songs—"Emmanuel" and "The Beauteous Song." For an evening of unalloyed musical delight the audience was indebted to Mr. Parker, through whose exertions the great organist was brought here. His efforts were only fairly appreciated ; the attendance might have been better, and the house would have been crowded if the musical people of the town could have foreknown the magnificent musical treat in store for those who attended. Following is the programme :

Sonata (F Minor)	Merkel
(a) "Allemande"	Durand
(b) "Fackletans"	Guilmant
Introduction—"Scherzo"	J. F. Barnett
Sacred song—"Emmanuel"	Rodney
Miss Vair.
Barcarolle (4th Concerto)	W. S. Bennett
Overture—"Der Freyschutz"	Weber
Selection—"Macbeth"	Verdi
Allegro-con moto (Quintette in A)	Mendelssohn
Andante, and Concert Fugue	Frederic Archer
Sacred song—"The Beauteous Song"	Barrie
Miss Vair.
Priere-a-Barcarolle	Meyerbeer
Overture—"Semiramide"	Rossini

A Relic Unearthed.

To-day workmen engaged in digging a trench in front of the Harper block on Charlotte street, about two feet below the surface come across an old sidewalk that an old resident in the neighborhood recollects was put down 41 years ago. The walk was a narrow one with the boards running lengthwise, and was several feet nearer the middle of the street than the present walks are. The street must have been much narrower forty years ago than it is to-day.

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa ! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool ; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Yarns and Hosiery

—AT—

TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

PARNELLISM AND CRIME.

THE TIMES' CHARGES AGAINST THE IRISH LEADERS.

Prominent Nationalists Alleged to be Guilty of Treason, Sedition and Assassination—Sixty-five M. P.'s Arraigned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A London despatch to The Sun says The Times' charges against the Irish patriots were furnished in full to Mr. Parnell's solicitors yesterday. Appended is the text of the charges made and the particulars as demanded by the special commission. The names of members of Parliament against whom charges and allegations are made are set out in the schedule. The members of Parliament mentioned in the schedule were members of the conspiracy and organizations hereafter described, and took part in the work and operation thereof with the knowledge of its character, objects and mode of action. From and including the year 1879 there have existed societies known as "The Irish Land League," "The Irish National Land League and Labor and Industrial Union," "The Ladies' Land League," "The Ladies' Irish Land League and Labor and Industrial Union," "The National League and Affiliated Societies of Great Britain and America," all forming one connected and continuous organization. The ultimate object of the organization was to establish the absolute independence of Ireland as a separate nation. With a view to effect this one of the immediate objects of said conspiracy and organization was to promote agrarian agitation against the payment of agricultural rents, thereby securing the cooperation of the tenant farmer of Ireland, and at the same time the impoverishment and ultimate expulsion from the country of Irish landlords, who were styled "the English garrison." Action was taken to organize a system of coercion and intimidation in England, which was sustained and enforced by boycotting and the commission of crimes and outrages. The organization was entirely engaged in the following matters:

1. The promotion of and inciting to commission of crimes and outrages, boycotting and intimidation.

2. The collection and providing of funds to be used, or which it was known were used, for the promotion and payment of persons engaged in the commission of crimes and outrages, boycotting and intimidation.

3. The payment of persons who assisted in, were affected by, or accidentally or otherwise injured in the commission of such crimes, outrages and acts of boycotting and intimidation.

4. The holding of meetings and procuring to be made of speeches inciting to the commission of crimes and outrages, boycotting and intimidation. (Some of the meetings referred to, which were attended by members of Parliament with approximate dates and place of meeting are given in the schedule hereto annexed.)

5. The publication and dissemination of newspaper and other literature inciting to and approving of sedition and the commission of crimes, outrages, boycotting and intimidation, particularly The Irish World, Chicago Citizen, Boston Pilot, Freeman's Journal, United Ireland, Irishman, Nation, Weekly News, Cork Daily Herald, Kerry Sentinel, Evening Telegraph, Sligo Champion.

6. Advocating resistance to law and constituted authorities, and impeding the detecting and punishment of crime.

7. The making of payments to or for persons who are guilty, or supposed to be guilty, of the commission of crimes, outrages and acts of boycotting and intimidation for their defence, and to enable them to escape from justice, and for the maintenance of such persons and their families.

8. It is charged and alleged that the members of Parliament mentioned in the schedule approved and by their acts and conduct led people to believe they approved of resistance to law and the commission of crimes, outrages and acts of boycotting and intimidation when committed in furtherance of the objects and resolutions of said societies, and that the persons who engaged in the commission of such crimes, outrages and acts would receive the support and protection of said societies and their organization and influence. Acts and conduct specially referred to are as follows:

9. They attended meetings of said societies and other meetings at various places and made speeches and caused and procured speeches to be made, inciting to the commission of crime, outrage, boycotting and intimidation.

10. They were parties to and cognisant of the payment of moneys for the purposes above mentioned, and as testimonials or rewards to persons who had been convicted or were notoriously guilty of crimes or outrages, or to their families.

11. With the knowledge that crimes, outrages and acts of boycotting and intimidation had followed the delivery of speeches at meetings they expressed no bona fide disapproval or public condemnation, but on the contrary continued to be leading and active members of said societies and to subscribe to their funds.

12. With such knowledge as aforesaid they continued to be intimately associated with the officers of the same societies (many of whom fled from justice) and with notorious criminals and agents and instruments of murder and conspiracies, and with planners and paymasters of outrage, and with advocates of sedition, violence and use of dynamite.

13. They, and said societies, with such knowledge as aforesaid, received large sums of money, which were collected in America and elsewhere by criminals and persons who were known to advocate sedition, assassination, the use of dynamite and the commission of crimes and outrages.

14. When, on certain occasions, they considered it politic to denounce, and did denounce, certain crimes in public they afterward made communication to their associates and others, with the intention of leading them to believe such denunciation so sincere. One instance of this of which said defendants propose to give evidence is the following series of letters: Letter from C. S. Parnell, dated May 15, 1882; letter from same dated June 16, 1882; another letter from same of same date.

The names of a large number of Irish Nationalists who are alleged to be guilty or advocates of treason, sedition, assassination, with whom the Irish members of Parliament continued to associate, then follow. Among them are the names of Frank Byrne, C. S. Parnell, Patrick Egan, Patrick Ford, James Carey, Tynan, McCaffrey, James Stephens, Alex. Sullivan, P. A. Collins, John Davoy, Mooney, John Finerty, James Redpath and O'Donovan Rossa. The names of sixty-five members of Parliament against whom it is proposed to present evidence are also given.

The Defence in the Libel Suit.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Times' defence in the Parnell libel action has been presented to the Scotch Court. Mr. Parnell on Aug. 10, a day prior to the opening of the Edinburgh action, obtained a writ in the Court of Queen's Bench for the same libel. The case therefore must be first tried in the English court.

A PECULIAR DAMAGE SUIT.

The Father of a Murdered Man Sues the Slayer for Board and Gets $300.

DANBURY, Oct. 18.—A peculiar lawsuit has been concluded here in the Superior Court, before Judge Andrews, in which the father of a murdered man sued the murderer for $5000 for the loss of his son's services. The criminal case has not yet been tried, and the alleged murderer is under $3000 bonds.

Last summer John McNiff owned a saloon on Turner street. On Saturday night McNiff closed his saloon and went home. He claims he did not go near it on Sunday, but during the night he was called up by some one who lived in the same building, and was told the saloon had been entered by burglars. He went to the place and found Frank Burns with several empty beer bottles in his hands, and in an alley back of the saloon McNiff had some words with him, and struck him with a bottle. Friends of Burns came up at this juncture, picked him up, and carried him into the room of an abandoned woman near by and laid him on the floor. When the woman arose in the morning she found Burns dead.

The father of Burns tried to prove that his son was a hard-working young man; that he could make at his trade as hatter from $4 to $5 a day; that he boarded at home, and that he (his father) received a portion of his pay, and that by his untimely death he had been deprived of his services, etc. The defence called witnesses to prove that Burns was a worthless character; that while he could earn big wages when he worked he did not work except as he felt like it, and his average pay for the year was very small; that he had frequently been arrested for drunkenness, and had served time in jail for it. The case occupied two days, and the jury, after being out seven hours, gave a verdict for the plaintiff of $800.

ONE DEATH MAKES TWO WIDOWS.

The Story of a Double Life Brought Out By the Yellow Fever Scourge.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Another case of two widows has come out at Jacksonville. H. L. Robinson, an employe of the Western Union, died in August, was buried by Superintendent Dillon at the expense of the company, and his salary due paid to his wife there. Yesterday a Mrs. H. L. Robinson writes from Brooklyn asking about and claiming him. Her address is not given, but an aunt of Robinson's lives at No. 87 Sixth-avenue, Brooklyn

A reporter called last evening at No. 97 Sixth-avenue, Brooklyn—a handsome four-story brown-stone dwelling adjoining the Carleton Club—and there found Mrs. H. L. Robinson herself, a young, pleasant-faced woman. When shown the news printed above she was greatly affected. Then she said with emphasis:

"It's a cruel shame. I thought my husband had received a Christian burial. This is all news to me and it looks like fraud. I wrote to Jacksonville for information regarding his place of burial, as we desire to have his body brought on here. He had been in Jacksonville seven months and had written me that he was boarding with a family there of the same name, and that he had nursed Mrs. Robinson through the fever and caught it himself. I answered a telegram notifying me that he was in the hospital, telling him to 'keep up courage.'

"But one of the telegrams previous to Sept. 13, the day of his death, were signed otherwise than H. L. Robinson, and bore the name of Ada Robinson, whom I supposed to be the widow he was boarding with. She wrote me since his death asking for money, as she had paid the expenses of his burial. And so Supt. Dillon paid the expenses and also paid a Mrs. H. L. Robinson his salary?" she mused. "His aunt does not live here. I sent the correspondence to his father who lives in New York."

MRS. WEIDENBACH SHOT.

She Says it was Because She Repelled Garrett F. Carey's Advances.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Florence Weidenbach, the wife of Charles Weidenbach, a drummer for a wholesale drug store in this city, was removed on Sunday from her home in Robinson-street, near Rogers-avenue, Flatbush, to the King's County Hospital with a bullet wound over the left eye, which is certain to cause the loss of the sight of that eye and may result still more seriously. She was shot on Friday night by Garrett F. Carey, who formerly kept a saloon in Flatbush, and who has been in considerable trouble heretofore resulting from his violent disposition. Since the death of his wife, three years ago, his attentions to Mrs. Weidenbach have caused considerable gossip in the town.

On Friday night Mrs. Weidenbach called to see Carey at the Brighton Hotel, where he had a room, and about ten o'clock Carey started with her, to escort her home. They quarrelled on the way, and the shooting occurred a short distance from Mrs. Weidenbach's house, to which she was carried by Carey.

Carey summoned a physician. He admitted that he did the shooting, but said it was accidental. In her ante-mortem statement Mrs. Weidenbach said Carey made love to her, and shot her when she told him he was making a fool of himself.

Carey was arrested on Sunday, and committed to Raymond-street jail to await the result of the woman's injuries.

REFUSED TO PRODUCE TELEGRAMS.

A Western Union Manager Fined $100 and Committed to Jail Until it is Paid.

LARAMIE CITY, W. T., Oct. 18.—In the District Court of Albany county, Dilks Black, manager of the Western Union Telegraph office at this point was fined $100 and committed to jail for failure to produce certain telegrams, as directed by Judge Saufley. A few weeks ago Edward J. Wagner, an extensive clothier of Laramie, gave a bill of sale on his stock to his brother, Charles Wagner, St. Louis. Several creditors then secured attachments on the stock on the ground that the transfer was made to defraud them. Mr. Black as manager of the Western Union, was commanded to produce all the telegrams that had passed between the Wagners, but upon the advice of General Superintendent Dickey, he refused to do so. Mr. Dickey telegraphed Mr. Black to stand firm, as the company proposed making a test case of it. In committing Mr. Black Judge Saufley said:

"We will see which has the greater power, the Western Union Telegraph Company or the Congress of the United States. Mr. Clerk, enter up a fine of $100 against Mr. Black, and Mr. Sheriff, commit him to jail. There is to be no parole about this business, but he is to remain in jail until his fine is paid."

THE HATFIELD-McCOY FEUD.

One of the Hatfield Gang in an Ohio Jail Makes a Confession.

IRONTON, O., Oct. 18.—Charles Gillespie, who belongs to the Hatfield faction of the far-famed Hatfield-McCoy feudal war, was one of the party that burned the McCoy house last New Year's night, and foully murdered the women who were in it, has for nearly a month past been a mysterious inmate of the Ironton jail. He came here with Detective Lon Campbell, who overhauled him in a stone quarry in Southern Virginia. Gillespie is a tall handsome youth of quiet manners and intelligent bearing. He is only eighteen years old. When discovered by the officer he would not submit to an arrest, but agreed to accompany him as a companion which he did. On arriving here he moved more freely on the streets in daylight, unknown and undisturbed, and slept in the lockup at night. He was committed to jail for 15 days, and, the time having expired, at his own request he was recommitted.

Meanwhile the officers were actively working up the case and arranging for his safe transportation to the scene of the tragedy. The utmost caution to conceal the prisoner's identity was observed. Authorities from Kentucky and West Virginia visited him at the jail at night, and to them, upon the promise of being released if he would appear against his companions, he made a full confession and recited the horrible details of the murder. His story is a blood-curdling tale, but only the officers who heard it know its full extent. Gillespie says the six men, including himself, who are under indictment for the murder on New Year's night, are the guilty parties. A few days ago young Gillespie quietly left for Wellstown, and, it is now learned, has been safely taken to Pike county, where at last accounts the Hatfields and others, who were with him that night, are living, but defying arrest.

ASSAULTED BY A BRUTE.

A Hamilton Woman Roughly Handled by an Unknown Man.

HAMILTON, Oct. 18.—Thursday night a most brutal assault was committed on Mrs. Jackson, a respectable married woman, who lives at 354 Hughson-street north. Mrs. Jackson had been out on an errand, and was on Hughson-street on her way home when she was assaulted. As she was turning the corner of Wood and Hughson-street, a man who had been standing in the doorway of a grocery store sprang out, grabbed her around the neck and endeavored to throw her down. The plucky little woman struggled with her assailant and resisted his attempt. She screamed for help, whereupon the brute kicked her several times in the side and dealt her a couple of blows on the face. Mrs. Jackson continued to scream, and when the man saw that somebody was coming he ran away. Alfred Robitaille, who lives near the corner, heard the woman's cries and went to her assistance. He saw her assailter running away, and started in pursuit, but was unable to capture him. Mrs. Jackson was so seriously injured that she is confined to her bed. It is thought that she was taken for another person, and that the blows she received were intended for somebody else. She did not know the man, and could not even give a good description of him.

ATLANTIC MAIL SERVICE.

THE DOMINION MUST BE A RIVAL OF NEW YORK.

Captain Harston's Invention—Alberta Cattle—A General Advance in Canadian Securities in London.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Times continues to publish letters pointing to the importance of the coming decision by the Canadian Government respecting the Atlantic mail service. There is undoubtedly a growing opinion that unless Canada initiates an Atlantic service equal to the New York service, she must fail in her efforts to establish a route to the East via the Canadian Pacific.

It is stated that negotiations are proceeding for a Canadian Pacific mail service to Australia. It is reported that the promoters expect an Imperial subsidy equal to that granted the eastern line in addition to a joint colonial subsidy of fifty or sixty thousand pounds. This is probably premature, but it is pointed out unless the Atlantic section of the through route is completed as speedily as by the New York service, Canada will be entirely unable to compete with the existing routes to Australia.

It is reported that the invention of Captain Greville Harston, of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, for converting the Martini rifle into a magazine weapon, has been adopted by the Small Arms Committee for the British Army.

The depressed state of the cattle markets has been harmful to the Alberta ranch cattle ventures. It is estimated that from three to four and a half pounds cash per head will be lost on current shipments, though it is believed that with normal conditions they would yield a profit.

Canadian securities advanced during the week under the improved general prospects. Dominion issues have all risen, and Manitoba and Quebec bonds have recovered slightly. The new order of the Supreme Court, operating from Oct. 24, enabling trustees to invest in colonial securities is expected to have a beneficial influence on Dominion issues.

DONALDSON, Pa., Oct. 18.—While Mrs. William Morgan was sitting in her dining-room nursing her infant her 6-year-old son picked up a shotgun, just laid down by his grandfather, and discharged it in the direction of his mother. Baillieboro Show.

The annual exhibition of the Cavan, etc., Agricultural Society was held at Baillieboro on Thursday and Friday, the 11th and 12th inst. The inside exhibition was an excellent one, almost the whole prize list, which was large, being taken. The ladies of these places deserve the greatest credit for the especially good show of their handiwork. The roots, etc., in many instances, were of enormous proportions and vied with those shown at the Peterborough Central. On Thursday, the second day, the rain came down heavily all day, and a great many of the entries made were not competed for—the animals, etc., not having been brought out. The horses always attract considerable attention and without them the outside show would have amounted to nothing — caused by the rain. Had the day been fine, this year's show would have been one of the best yet held by this society. Mr. Lamb made a display of bagpipe, etc., and Mr. Forsyth and Mr. McDonald showed fanning mills. Mr. Adam Hall showed one of his celebrated furnaces, which was purchased and placed in the residence of Mr. Martin Parker.

A Madman at Large.

He is a well-known citizen, and his nearest and dearest friends do not suspect his insanity. How do we happen to know about it? Listen; his appetite is gone, he is low spirited, he [illegible] he is annoyed by a hacking cough. These symptoms are the forerunners of consumption and death, and yet he neglects them. Is it any wonder that we call him a madman? If you are his friend tell him to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery without delay. It will cure him if he takes it in time. It will not miraculously create new lungs when the old ones are nearly gone, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy condition. Tell him about it and warn him that in his case delay means death. a

MUNCASTER'S

DARING AND SUFFERING.

Andrews kept his watch in his hand, seeming to notice nothing else, for time was the only element in this part of our problem, and he and Knight, who looked on the same watch, always joined in declaring that the interval of nine miles between the two stations was run in seven and a half minutes; and this not upon a magnificent road with steel rails, as that road is today, but over a poor and neglected track! It must, in candor, however, be allowed that Andrews probably reckoned the interval from losing sight of Adairsville until coming in sight of Calhoun. When near the two stations he would be otherwise engaged, and thus the rate may have been little over a mile a minute—surely enough for all the fear, wonder and sublimity of motion!

Our escape on this run was exceedingly narrow. The passenger train had begun to move out before we arrived, but it had only just got under way while we were slackening up for the station. A minute earlier in their starting would have ended the raid. But seeing us coming, and our whistle sounding out loud and peremptory, they backed before us up the track, and the proper officer obligingly opened the switch to let us on the side track. Of course this was done as much in the interest of the passenger train, which could not go on till we were out of the way, as in ours.

But they did not go on for some time and we were obliged to await their movements. In backing they had gone far enough, not only to give us room on the side track, but also, as their train was a long one, to completely block the far end of it, and we could not proceed on the main track until they should pull ahead. Before doing this they naturally wanted some explanation. The lateness of the regular train; our having Fuller's engine, without him or any of his men; and not least, the manner in which we had swooped down upon them like some beast of prey, coming without any signal man ahead at a time when under railroad rules they were entitled to the road—all this, which only some most urgent occasion or public calamity could excuse, called for explanation. Andrews calmly told his story, and the urgent need of ammunition was felt to justify everything; and all the questions were asked and answered that are common among railroad men on meeting. Yet Andrews would have talked little and would have made a very short stop, had it not been for the manner in which the passenger train bound in his own. We had a good right to be uneasy here, for we had not cut the wires between this station and Adairsville because we had not dared, in the terrible urgency of reaching Calhoun, to delay even for this purpose. A question might come on the wires at any moment which Andrews, with all his adroitness, would not find it easy to answer. Neither had we put any obstructions on the track. This latter omission prepared the way for another race against time, only less swift and fearful than our own.

Thus we were again delayed. Andrews tried gentle and indirect means to persuade the conductor of the passenger train that it was perfectly safe for him to run down and get to Adairsville before Fuller's passenger train. But he was not easily persuaded. The bare escape from collision with our train had shaken his nerves too much for him to wish at once to repeat the experience. Neither did he seem at all in a hurry to move his train ahead and let us out on the main track; but as his train was the only obstacle, it would not have been long, had he continued obstinate, until the reserve force of our party would have been brought into requisition. It may be said here that Andrews was perfectly sincere in telling him that there would be abundant time for him to reach Adairsville before Fuller with his train would be along. We did not think that Fuller would be along that day, and with his own train he was not. But as matters were, if the Calhoun man had allowed himself to be persuaded to start southward, a fearful collision would have ended all possibilities of pursuit, and left us free to burn bridges at our leisure. Here was another of the narrow escapes made by the enemy. To understand this it is necessary to recur to Fuller and Murphy, who were within two or three minutes of Kingston when we left that place.

They were terribly disappointed when they found themselves stopped quite a long distance below Kingston by three heavy freight trains, and learned in a brief conversation with the engineer of the nearest, and the persons who had run down that way on hearing their whistle, that their game had flown. They heard with wonder how long the commander of the captured train had been held there, and how he had succeeded in concealing his real character. The formidable nature of the enemy ahead was now clearly revealed, but it looked for a moment to Fuller as if all his labor had been for nothing, and that he would be able to continue the pursuit only after a ruinous delay. To back all these trains up the heavy grade so that he could get on the side track, and then down again to get off at the upper end, would require an amount of "seesawing" that would give the captors of his train a hopeless start.

Here arose a difference of opinion between Fuller and Murphy, who up to this time had worked together in perfect accord. Murphy ran ahead and cut loose the New York, the new and good engine of one of the freights, attaching it to the car which had brought their tools from Etowah. He then called to Fuller to move the Rome engine back out of the way that he might come round on the "Y." But Fuller had different plans.

The Rome engine and train had stood on its own track all this time waiting for his coming; the Rome branch led into the main track above all the impediments. Why not take that engine? No sooner thought than executed. Fuller had taken one foot race that day, and he now took another, shorter, but not less important. The engine was headed already toward Chattanooga with only one car attached, and in the most favorable position. There was abundance of volunteers, and no need of explanations, for now everybody was sure that the Mitchell powder story was false and absurd—had thought so all the time! Conductor Smith, of the Rome train, gave it for the serving at once. All was done so quickly that Murphy saw them start and had to run at his best speed to keep from being left behind! Fuller probably made a mistake in not taking the New York, as the other engine was much inferior, with small wheels and incapable of great speed. But the distance in which they could run it turned out to be short, and being driven at the height of its power, it is not perhaps that much was lost; while the time spent in changing the freight trains out of the way might have cost the Oostenaula bridge.

THE MUD RUN CALAMITY.

Evidence at the Coroner's Inquest—An Engineer Blamed.

MAJOR CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 16.—The coroner's jury investigating the Mud Run accident resumed its session yesterday afternoon. Henry Cook, the engineer of the first engine, testified that he was running at the rate of 12 or 15 miles an hour, but saw no signals at the station. When rounding the curve he heard two blasts from the engine behind, which signified "all right," and he went on, coming to the station at ten miles an hour. When still nearer to the station he saw a white signal being waved violently across the track and applied the brake to his engine, but it was then too late to avoid the crash. He declared positively that if Engineer Major of the rear engine had applied the air brakes the train could have been stopped, but instead of that Major pulled open the throttle when within a quarter of a mile of the station.

Other witnesses testified that the train which ran into the forward section was running from 15 to 18 miles an hour. One witness who was on the fourth section says he saw the red light waved 300 or 400 yards back of his train. Most of the evidence of passengers on the two sections corroborated each other in declaring that the train was running at a high rate of speed and that the proper danger signals were displayed.

The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday.

Didn't Prevent a Murder.

CRAWFORD, Va., Oct. 13.—Ben Bailey, a white man residing at Savageville, in the lower part of Accomack county, celebrated his fiftieth birthday yesterday by visiting a neighboring place called Little Hill, where he got full of liquor. Returning home he thrashed his wife and having armed himself with a double barrel shotgun went in search of a negro who he said had insulted him. He found the negro ploughing in a neighboring field and opened fire on him, striking him in the left shoulder, side and leg, inflicting serious wounds.

Bailey was on the point of emptying the second barrel when the negro took shelter behind his mule until his assailant could be disarmed by persons who were near the scene. Both Bailey's wife and the negro drove out warrants for his arrest, but when the Sheriff went to arrest him he found that he had flown to parts unknown. Bailey's wife's brothers are highly incensed against him, and if they can catch him will handle him roughly.

Five Dead Babies in a Box.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A ghastly discovery was made by a couple of boys in a deserted brickyard. They found an old soap box and opened it. The dead and decomposed bodies of five babies law side by side within. The police were notified and the remains sent to the Morgue. The bodies were badly decomposed. Two were males, and one of the females appeared to have lived about two weeks, while the others had died shortly after birth. A cursory examination revealed a seeming fracture of the skull in two of the cases, but these were the only marks of violence discovered. The babies had probably been dead for about ten days.

Burglars at Lancaster, Ont.

LANCASTER, Oct. 13.—Some time between 9 o'clock last night and this morning the store of Messrs. D. F. & W. McPherson, dry goods and groceries of this place, was entered by burglars and a quantity of goods, consisting of ready-made clothing, mitts, gloves, underwear, etc., was taken. In the same building are the offices of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, Bell Telephone Company and the post office which were entered and the papers, etc., belonging to them strewn in confusion on the floor. A number of letters in the post-office were opened. The safe in which the registered letters were kept was not tampered with. Entrance was secured by forcing the front door of the store open. Another store kept by A. J. McDougall, grocer, was entered and a few articles are missing together with about $10 in money.

The increasing attendance at the Saturday evening meetings is noted with pleasure. This is a meeting for young men led by young men.

Battalion Notes.

It is probable the annual inspection will be held on November 15th, Thanksgiving day. This date has been asked for by the Colonel, and it is thought likely the D.A.G. will agree. There are only four more regular drills between this and the 15th. The men should make the most of their time.

A meeting of the 57th Battalion was held last night and it was decided to hold another concert this fall on the night of inspection day. A great many new features will be introduced, and, perhaps, some foreign talent brought in. The battalion intend to make their annual concert a success.

A Short Visit by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto.

Gentlemen who have lost the whole or part of their hair, should remember that they can get artificial coverings to replace their departed locks. The hair is given to mankind for protection and adornment, and when it becomes thin or the head becomes bald, artificial hair should be used. Many say they would not wear a wig, this is owing to their having seen wigs that are fit for nothing, put together by persons who know nothing about their manufacture. If you will go and see Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees, you will find them so perfect that your aversion to these articles will vanish. He will be at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct 24th and 25th. 2w416d

The Original Fisks.

Another great treat is in store for the music-loving citizens of Peterborough. On Wednesday evening, Oct. 31st, the genuine and original Fisk Jubilee Singers will appear at the opera house and render a programme of charming negro melodies and plantation songs. So many bogus and unworthy imitations of the Fisk Singers have been through Canada that the wary public are afraid of being bamboozled and look with suspicion on any troupe bearing the title, but the people are assured by the responsible auspices under which they come that these are the "genuine and original" Fisk Jubilee Singers. Those who have heard them know what a delightful entertainment they give. Remember the date, Wednesday, Oct. 31st, at the opera house.

Matrimonial.

An interesting social event took place at the residence of Mr. J. D. Baptie, 187 London street, last night. It was the marriage of his sister, Miss Mary Baptie, to Mr. Joseph Tully, a well known resident of North Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Andrew Tully, brother of the groom, assisted by Rev. E. F. Torrance. The bridesmaids were Miss Coon and Miss Stella Foy. Mr. W. H. Casement, reeve of Lakefield, stood by Mr. Tully in the capacity of groomsman. A few invited guests were present on the interesting occasion. Mr. Tully has erected a fine new residence on his farm, about three miles from town, which will be the future home of the newly-married couple. The EXAMINER joins the many friends in cordial congratulations and good wishes for long lives of domestic happiness.

Sunday School Convention.

The Provincial Convention is in progress at Kingston. The proceedings yesterday were made up of addresses and papers on Sunday school work and a report on finances. The treasurer submitted his report, which showed the receipts to be $2,287.70. Since the report was made out liabilities to the extent of $202 occurred, but late contributions more than covered that amount. Counties contributed over $700. The receipts covered the expenditure. Hon. S. H. Blake urgently called for contributions, and the result was :—North York, $100; East and West York, $100; Peel, $100; Brant, $80; Middlesex, $100; London, $75; Hamilton, $100; Oxford, $100; Perth, $50; Guelph, $50; Kingston, $100; Peterborough, $40; Ontario South, $25; Haldimand, $40; Lanark, $50; Prince Edward, $50. The contributions were very small and dissatisfied Mr. Blake. He led the list with $200—twice last year's donation.

Improvements.

It will be remembered that some time since the EXAMINER published a paragraph respecting Mr. P. Hamilton having deepened the creek and confined the course of the water where it crosses his newly-acquired property. This property has been levelled and its appearance has been greatly improved. Besides it affords Mr. Hamilton the space for piling and storing lumber and material which his expanding business demands. The dam, or, rather, obstruction at Sherbrooke street has been removed, and the banks of the creek in the vicinity have been cribbed. The dwelling on this property has been enlarged and additional outbuildings erected. Altogether this property has felt the influence of the enterprise that moves Mr. Hamilton's large business. Mr. W. Rudkins, who owns the property next west of Mr. Hamilton's on King street, intends erecting, in the near future, a fine terrace of brick tenement houses. The site is an excellent one, high and dry, and dwellings erected thereon will doubtless be in good demand.

At the Opera House.

Three hours of solid fun, indeed. After the first act of "Muggs' Landing" at the Opera House last night, it was one continual roar of laughter. The play bubbles over with hilarity, and in such good hands as Miss Hattie Anderson and Mr. Frank Doane it was made to jingle. Miss Anderson is a charming and clever little soubrette, who has made a name for herself in the theatrical world. But she was handicapped last night by a severe cold which made her so hoarse she could not speak well and still less could she attempt to sing. As little Muggs, though, she was the chipper, boydenish bat withal true and tender hearted little maiden to perfection. In Frank Doane she found excellent support, his characterization of the loquacious and acrobatic land agent keeping the audience, (which, by the way, was a large one) in perpetual laughter. The two are "a show in themselves," as one of the "gods" put it last night. His topical song, "You Know," brought down the house. The support was none too good, Chas Herbert as "the old sojer," and Mr. J. R. Furlong as the schemer, Abel Dixon, being the best. Perhaps the best thing in the play was the bit of burlesque on heavy tragedy given by Miss Anderson and Mr. Doane. It was a screaming absurdity. To-night "Gyp," another light comedy of sparkling humor, will be presented.

In Loving Memory.

Referring to the sudden death of Miss Edythe Roxburgh, the Norwood Register says :—As previously stated, an appropriate sermon was delivered in the church. Here the organ, at which deceased had so long and cheerfully presided, was draped in black, as were the pulpit and the alcove in which the choir is stationed. The drapery extended in the alcove in deep wavy folds from side to side. The whole contrasted gracefully with the color of the walls, and gave the interior of the church a fine but solemn appearance. The coffin was covered with chaste and beautiful floral wreaths, one of white immortelles, the united gift of the teachers of the Sabbath school and the members of the choir. The children of the primary class, out of loving remembrance of the many happy Sabbath hours they had spent with their beloved teacher, placed a floral anchor. The Pansy Society, composed of young girls belonging to all our village churches, and of which deceased was honorary president, and in which she always took an active interest, placed a handsome wreath, as did also a few of her most intimate young lady friends of the village. The spontaneity which marked these expressions of affectionate regard, manifested the love and esteem entertained by all for her who has gone from us never to return. The wreaths, though perishable, were yet emblematic of her own pure mind. And, although they shall soon fade and crumble into dust, long will it be before the remembrance of one so pure, so good, so true, so amiable, so beloved, and so deeply regretted, will fade from the hearts of those who mournfully, but lovingly, placed them upon her coffin.

Greenfield's Extradition.

The Notorious Burglar in the Toils—His Extradition Probable.

Greenfield, alias Ferguson, the escaped Central Prison convict and notorious burglar, came up in the courts at Buffalo again yesterday. He was formally charged with attempting to kill Constable Stewart at Peterborough. Detective John Murray, of the Ontario staff, produced the necessary papers, including the evidence taken before F. M. Dumble here, proving the charge made, and formally demanded the extradition of the prisoner. Commissioner Fairchild's papers were sent to the Secretary of State in Washington to-day for his considerations. Mr. Fairchild thinks there is no doubt but that the extradition papers will be readily granted. It is expected that the warrant for his surrender will be ready in about two weeks. Greenfield's (or Ferguson's) record is a bad one. He has the reputation of being one of the worst young men in America. He has already served three years in the Kingston penitentiary for burglary. After he served his time in Kingston, he committed another burglary in the neighborhood of Peterborough and was sent to the Central Prison for a term of one year. While a convict in that institution last May, he by some means managed to escape and make his way to Barrie. During his stay in that town he committed another burglary and immediately decamped to Buffalo, carrying some of the stolen goods with him. He was, however, arrested there on "general principles" for being a thief, and the goods taken from Barrie were found in his possession. The complainants in the case at Barrie failed to appear against him, and the only option which the authorities had was to bring a charge of vagrancy against him, and on that charge being substantiated he was locked up for 30 days. He duly served his time and was released. Then it was he attempted the burglary at Gough Bros.' store here that, through the pluck and vigilance of Officer Stewart, was frustrated and became the means of his being once more placed in the clutches of the law.

The telegraphic despatches give Detective Murray all the credit for having Greenfield arrested. Chief Rozzel deserves the credit for it, as it was not until after the crook had been arrested and application made for his extradition that the government official had anything to do with the case.

Fraserville.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Fraserville school report for month of September.—Senior 4th—1 Bertie Elliott, 2 Maud Laing, 3 Annie Magee, 4 Jennie Bothwell. Junior 4th—1 Benjamin McCarman, 2 Fred Goodfellow, 3 Harold Baptie, 4 Henry Roddy. Third class—1 Ettie Clark, 2 Lorne Elliott, 3 Minnie Bannan, 4 Flo Kingham. Second class, sr.—1 Verne Merriam, 2 Annie Baptie, 3 Mima O'Hara, 4 Emma Dunlop. Second class, jr.—1 Maude Madill, 2 Herbie McCannon, 3 Minnie Gilroy, 4 Russel Goodfellow.

Messrs. Baxter, Stewart, Buckham, Reynolds, Goodfellow, Donaldson, Huggins and Smithson left Friday, Oct. 12th, for Swamp Lake, where they intend remaining for a couple of weeks. The gentlemen who comprise this party have proved themselves excellent deer hunters, and we feel satisfied if deer are to be had they will have them. On their return, as on former occasions, their many well-wishers will be supplied with a quantity of "deer's" meat.

Judging from reports and the number engaged in picking potatoes, we suspect a great potato crop in this vicinity—some calculate by hundreds of bushels while others estimate by the thousand.

We were pleased to hear of the great success which our Springville friends had at the exhibitions throughout Central Ontario. It is encouraging to them, and we believe at the exhibitions of '89 they will out-do all rival competitors. The following remarks may be heard frequently throughout this fair Province of ours, viz: Baptie for horses, cattle and poultry; Grandy & Dundas for imported Clydesdale horses; Brown Bros. for sheep and pigs. These gentlemen live within a few minutes' walk of each other, and are enterprising, industrious farmers. The farming community of Springville are proud of such men and trust they will be long spared to further such interests throughout our land.

Brown Bros. sold to Mr. Robt. Stewart a short time ago the boar of 1888 which received 1st prize at Peterborough exhibition. Also sold to Mr. Baxter a Cotswold ram lamb which took 1st prize at Peterborough. We are glad to hear such news and hope more of our farmers in Fraserville vicinity will embrace such golden opportunities by way of improving their stock.

A World's Fair in Miniature.

A local event of great interest will be the Industrial Exhibition to be held in the Charlotte street Skating Rink, on Thursday afternoon and evening, Oct. 18th. Art and home work in variety will be shown, and the culinary department will be an interesting feature. Some fine pictures are expected to be on exhibition and also some Japanese work. The Fire Brigade Band will be out in full force to enliven proceedings with their sweet music. Tickets at ten cents for admission and twenty-five for admission and tea have been placed in the hands of the children to sell. The judges will award the prizes during the afternoon, marking the fortunate articles with bows of ribbon. Tea will be served from six o'clock until ten. The ladies hope to see a large number of gentlemen drop in for tea on their way from business. 2ood

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. B. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer & General Grocer, George St.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 17th.

A fair amount of grain moving, principally barley and wheat. Wheat is selling high, compared with other markets, spring wheat selling at $1.15 to $1.17; fall wheat, $1.19 to $1.20. Barley moving more freely, but looks dull outside. No peas offering of any account. Oats offering sell quickly on the market. Butter easier, selling in rolls 22c. to 23c.; butter in kegs, 16c. to 19c. Potatoes plentiful at 55c. to 60c. Apples, 60c. to 90c. Dressed hogs, $7.00 to $7.50. Other commodities unchanged.

Visiting Wedding Parties.

For the past day or two there have been two or three outside wedding parties doing the town. Of course, such parties always carry their "trade mark", with them, and, therefore, they attract a great deal of attention from lady pedestrians on George street—they attract almost as much attention, in fact, as the great stock of cheap boots and shoes at gough bros. Cheap is no word to express the cheapness of the boots and shoes of this firm, and "first-class" is just the word to express their quality. Whoever wants first rate boots and shoes at less than half the price the high price dealers charge, will find an immense stock splendidly assorted at the store of gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, 375 George street. Don't neglect this grand chance to get yourself, your wife and family well and cheaply shod for the winter.

Who Pays the Duty?

Who pays the duty? Take rubber overshoes for an example of one class of goods which are highly protected by the Canadian tariff. Goodyears, an American manufacturing company, makes these goods in the United States, and sells in both the United States and Canada. In Portland, Maine, gentlemen's overshoes are sold for seventy-five cents, while in Montreal exactly the same articles are sold for one dollar. Why are the rubbers thirty-three per cent. dearer in Canada than in the United states? the Canadian duty is exactly twenty-five per cent. There is a Canadian rubber Company. Does it get the full benefit of the tariff? It looks very much like it, as it is evident that, in the words of the railway monopolist, they enact every cent the tariff will allow them. When Canadians buy Canadian overshoes they will remember that one-quarter of the amount they pay in each case is a clear gift to the rubber company, or, rather, that they are robbed by law to the extent of one-fourth of the ptice. When they buy American overshoes they will remember that they are paying a fine of one quarter of the amount paid for the shoes, either to the Government or to the Canadian manufacturer. — Montreal Witness.

Thanks to the system of Mr. Isaac Pitman, of Bath, England, shorthand writing has arrived at an extraordinary degree of perfection. At a recent speed contest at Lake George the two prize-winners wrote respectively 267 words and 261 words per minute. A few years ago a rate of 200 words a minute was considered exceptional speed. The average rate of public speaking is about 160 words per minute.

He removed from here to the town of Newmarket, where he continued to reside until the time of his death. He had built up a large and lucrative practice, had acquired considerable wealth, and was universally respected in the community. He leaves a widow and one son, to whom, in common with many old friends here, we extend our sympathy in this time of sad affliction. — Norwood Register.]

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Men's Knitted Top Shirts, at 29c. and up. Men's All-Wool Undershirts and Drawers, all-wool, remember 41c. Fine Flannel Shirts for 35c. Home-made Socks and Mitts, 22½c.

Yarns and Hosiery —AT— TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

MISS WILSON GETS $5000.

Her Suit for Breach of Promise Against Eddy T. Thomas.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The suit of Miss Sarah Wilson of 273 Driggs-street against Eddy T. Thomas, the manager of a sewing machine company, for $5000 damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage, was called for trial yesterday before Justice Pratt in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. The defendant did not answer, and an inquest was taken. Miss Wilson testified that she became acquainted with Thomas in 1879, that he promised to marry her in January, 1880, and repeated the promise each week until November of the same year.

"I frequently asked him to fulfil his promise," she said, but he always refused, and he always assigned some excuse or other. Once when I urged him to go at once to a minister, he said he had forgotten his gloves and couldn't get married without them. On other occasions he said he wanted to accumulate more money. Finally I learned that the real cause was that he was keeping company with other women.

"The defendant told me he had been married but that he had been divorced, and he showed me what purported to be the divorce papers. I understood that he was getting a salary of $250 a month. The defendant is the father of my child, which was born in March, 1881."

Justice Pratt gave judgment for the amount asked and 5 per cent. extra allowance.

Abducting Two Girls.

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Oct. 18.—This town was thrown into a ferment of excitement this afternoon when it became public that two girls of good reputation had been enticed away by Mason Houtsman. He is the same man who was drummed out of Park Ridge, N. J., about two weeks ago. He first appeared in Newark claiming to be a preacher, and induced Mrs. Eliza Berry to believe that it was sinful to live with her husband. She then moved to Park Ridge, living in a house owned by her husband, where she was soon joined by Jane Howell. Houtzman soon took up his abode with them, and their scandalous conduct caused the people of Park Ridge to take him out of the house, cut off his whiskers and long hair, horsewhip him, and drive him out of the town.

He came to this town Thursday last with the two women, having a letter of introduction to Mrs. Mary Ricker, of 210 Harris-street, in which he was represented as a minister and the two women as his co-laborers. Houtzman was very attentive to the two daughters of Mrs. Ricker, Lizzie and Jennie, aged 19 and 22. Saturday morning Houtzman quarrelled with Mrs. Ricker, telling her that she was not fit to have charge of her two daughters. He was ordered to leave the house, and did so, taking the two girls with him while Mrs. Ricker was out. Monday morning Lizzie returned for her clothing and was detained by her mother. Later on the two women came for her, and, using abusive language, were arrested. To-day Jennie and Houtzman were arrested in Easton as they were taking a train for Park Ridge.

Restrained from Increasing Their Rates

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—An advance in the charges for natural gas was recently made by all the companies, and a number of the consumers of gas furnished by the Ohio Valley and Allegheny Heating Companies refused to pay the increase, and brought suit to restrain the companies from cutting off the supply. To-day Judge White rendered a decision restraining the companies from collecting the increased rates and from shutting off the supply to consumers pending a decision from the Supreme Court of the State. The President of one of the companies said to-day that if the appeal should be sustained by the Supreme Court the natural gas companies would be compelled to go into liquidation and quit business, owing to the largely increased cost of production over what it was formerly.

Chinamen Try Another Dodge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The Duke of Westminster sailed for China via Victoria yesterday evening. When off Meigg's wharf she anchored for some time. She had on board 200 coolies who had not been allowed to land there. The cause of her unusual delay was said to-day to be to give the Chinese here a chance to put $2000 on board. This sum is necessary to land fifty-two coolies in Victoria. The laws of British Columbia limit the number of Chinese which each ship may bring to one for every fifty tons burden, and each coolie has to pay $50. The Duke of Westminster can land fifty-two Chinamen. Once landed in Victoria it will take them about ten days to get back to San Francisco. Collector Hagar has wired the Collector of Customs at Port Townsend and other ports at which the Duke of Westminster may touch, and has forwarded written accounts of the whole transaction. He thinks he will check-mate this move.

Is It Another Murder?

ST. ANDREWS, N. B., Oct. 18.—The preliminary examination of John Naylor for the murder of his wife, Mary Ann Naylor, at their home in Carendon, on Sept. 29 last, has been concluded. The prisoner was sent up for trial at the Supreme court which is to be held here on the second Tuesday in November. The deputy sheriff says that the prisoner on entering his cell last night remarked that it was evident they were going to find him guilty of murder. Immediately afterwards he burst into tears and cried and sobbed for some time afterwards.

Death Preferred to Poverty.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—James Pryor, a man 75 years old, came to Chicago from Indiana a few weeks ago and hired a room at the Dearborn Hotel in State-street. There he committed suicide to-day by drinking two ounces of laudanum. He is said to have had wealthy relatives, but he ran out of money here, and, failing to secure any more, took his life.

AN ELOPEMENT EPIDEMIC.

NINE CASES REPORTED RECENTLY AT MONTREAL.

A Persistent Couple—Count Premio-Real's Suicide—A Verdict of Temporary Insanity—Canadian Barley in Buffalo.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—No less than nine cases of elopements have been reported to the city detectives within the last two weeks. The most curious one is that of Edwin Granger, a young married man of St. Boniface, Man. After the first two months of his marriage Granger met his first love, and after numerous interviews took the girl with him and started for Toronto. All preparations were completed for the marriage when on the morning of the day fixed for the union of the two lovers the runaway husband's Manitoba wife appeared on the scene. The faithless husband escaped to St. Thomas that night and the girl followed, but before they could register at the hotel the wife stepped from the hotel bus. The two lovers on seeing her left by another door and came to Montreal on the next train. The marriage license was applied for and the day again fixed, but the marriage once more was spoiled by the appearance of the wife. Before she could have them arrested, however, they again disappeared and as the wife's funds are low she can no longer continue the chase.

THE CONSUL'S SUICIDE.

A Verdict of Temporary Insanity in Count Premio-Real's Case.

QUEBEC, Oct. 18. At the inquest on the body of Count Premio-Real the jury rendered a verdict of suicide during temporary insanity. Three or four days ago Mr. Lloch, Vice-Consul at Halifax, claimed to have been ordered here to relieve the Consul-General. The latter declined to recognize his authority and cabled the Spanish Government, while Mr. Lloch returned to Halifax. A peremptory reply was received by the Count on Tuesday evening from Madrid.

It is claimed that he sunk no less than $60000 in alterations and repairs to the old Government House, now the Cavalry School officers' quarters, and he had previously met with many losses, including some $20,000 from the seizure of an American vessel alleged to have loaded arms and ammunition, at this port, for Cuba.

Canadian Barley in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Oct. 18.—The steamboats Niagara arrived here yesterday with the first cargo of Canadian barley of the new crop. It came from the Bay of Quinte, graded choice No. 2 and consisted of 26,042 bushels. It was shipped here by C. H. McLaughlin of Toronto, and was sold through George Sandreck to V. Loewer, proprietor of the Gambrinus Brewery, of New York City. The price was equal to 90 cents cash. This is the most important barley deal yet consummated here this fall. Maltsters have been holding off, claiming that the prices asked for barley have been higher than the malt trade warranted.

MR. DEMMERT AND MISS ACKERMAN

The Girl's Mother Has Him Arrested in a Suit for Loss of Services.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Annie S. Fuller, of Brooklyn, has sued Henry Demmert, a manufacturing jeweler, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, for the loss of her daughter's services. Mr. Demmert was arrested by a deputy sheriff on Oct. 4, and was released by Justice Barnard on $5000 bail. Mrs. Fuller's complaint is on file in the Supreme Court. Demmert is in partnership with his father. They have a factory in Newark, and salesrooms in Jersey City and at 20 Maiden-lane, this city. He is married and lives in Jersey City. He ran for Alderman in Jersey City last year. He is reputed to be very wealthy, is handsome, and about 35 years old.

Lucy Ackermen is the name of Mrs. Fuller's daughter. She is described as a very lovely girl of 18. She was only 16 when she first became acquainted with Mr. Demmert. She was then a typewriter in the employ of Simon Dessar, a John-street jeweler. Mr. Demmert, it is said, sold goods to Dessar, and in that way came in contact with Miss Ackermen. She says she supposed Demmert was single and that he had matrimony in view. He would accompany her to the bridge in the evening, and was frequently with her at other times. The complaint alleges that the first and following offences were committed in New York.

TWO ACTORS AS PUGILISTS.

Nester Leanon and William G. Beach High on the Sidewalk.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Two actors had a little disagreement up town last night. As is usual in such cases, the argument ended by one theatrical gentleman punching the other's head. The participants were Nester Leanon and William G. Beach. The trouble began in a well-known cafe near Broadway. Mr. Leanon remarked to Mr. Beach that, in his own opinion, he was able to whip Matt Snyder at any time, place or manner that Mr. Snyder might choose. Mr. Beach is a friend of Mr. Snyder's and politely informed Mr. Leanon that he was mistaken, and the conversation turned upon the latter's pugilistic powers.

"You are saying me, sir," said Mr. Leanon.

"I am not saying you, sir," retorted Mr. Beach, with dignity, "and, what's more, when I want to say I will first secure some object that is worth saying."

There was an immediate adjournment to the vestment, where the gentlemen rolled up their sleeves, advanced and proceeded to demolish each other's personal beauty. At intervals one of the gladiators would lie down upon the sidewalk while his opponent sat on his head and sparred for cause. A painful lack of pugilistic skill was apparent. By way of a final round Mr. Beach gathered a bouquet of Leanon's ambrosial locks for mementos. Somebody yelled "Police!" and the fighters fled.

The Gipsy Seems to Have Been Right

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 18.—William Shanahan and Dennis Donovan of Garryowen, were born and raised in the same town. Both were 27 years of age. Both were married the same day. Both their wives died the same day. They both died yesterday and were buried to-day. An old gypsy fortune-teller long ago predicted that their fortunes would be identical.

Frederick the Noble.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The municipal authorities to-day presented to Empress Frederick an address stating that in grateful recognition of Emperor Frederick's efforts to develop the capital of the Empire the people desired to found an institute to perpetuate his memory, and that £25,000 would be granted for this purpose.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 18.—Miss Frankie Raymond, who stole Mrs. Mills' diamonds in New York and disappeared, was located yesterday in this city. She admitted taking the three rings, but said Mrs. Mills had always encouraged her to make a good appearance. Only one ring and ten cents in money were found among her effects. Dr. Emerson examined her and says she is a victim of the morphine habit.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Protest Against Differential Freight Rates—Central Bank Dividends.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—A meeting of the Board of Trade Council was held yesterday afternoon, at which strong protests were made against the differential freight rates adopted by the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways. Several instances were given where these rates operated against the interests of Toronto and in favor of those of Montreal.

The towering form of ex-Policeman Jarvis, clad in citizen's dress, was the centre of observation at the Police Court yesterday morning. The ex-policeman was at Court to answer to the charge of aggravated assault preferred against him by Mr. Frank Johnston, whom Jarvis is alleged to have assaulted on St. George-street on Monday evening last. The charge was read and Jarvis asked to be allowed to plead guilty to a charge of common assault. This plea the Crown Counsel declined to receive. The magistrate adjourned the case until Oct. 23.

The Central Bank affairs are being gradually wound up. So far one dividend of 33 1-3 per cent. has been paid and another of 33 1-3 per cent. will in all probability be paid on Nov. 1. It is expected that a third and final dividend will be paid.

At yesterday's meeting of the Executive Committee of the City Council an investigation of the City Treasurer's Department was ordered in consequence of charges of mismanagement made by Ald Gillespie.

Wm. Laughlin, a sailor, was arrested yesterday evening by Detective Davis, charged with being concerned in the burglary at Madoc reported a few days ago. Chas. Porter, another of the supposed burglars, was arrested by the Toronto detectives last week.

The Senate of the University of Toronto met last night and appointed examiners for 1889 in medicine, arts and agriculture.

A Rochester Forger Disappears—His Factory in the Sheriff's Hands.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 18.—Hamlet S. Briggs, of the firm of Briggs & Son, manufacturers of safes, of this city has disappeared, and charges of forgery to the extent of over $15,000 have been preferred against him. The safe factory is in the hands of the sheriff, and Briggs is believed to be in Canada.

A Petty Thief.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 18.—J. T. Kingsbury was given charge of about $500, the proceeds of an auction sale at Geuvernear Tuesday after the banks had closed. He is now missing with the money. It has been learned that he has gone to Canada.

Bosworth Was a Gay Deceiver.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 18.—In rummaging through Defaulter Bosworth's desk in the Stafford Mill office the directors found a great many letters on tinted and delicately perfumed note paper. The directors read them all. One was from a dashing widow, who describes her trip on board the steam yacht Nonna and wishes the young mill treasurer had been along. There was also a batch of letters all evidently written by one guileless little girl, who did not know Bosworth's true character, nor his name either, inasmuch as her missives are addressed to Mr. Daggett. The directors gathered all of the young lady's letters together and directed them back to her with this laconic note: "Daggett and Bosworth, the defaulter, are one and the same person."

A Boy's Attempted Suicide.

MIFFLINBURG, Penn., Oct. 18.—"Good-bye, mother; you won't whip me any more," said Johnny Gutellius, a 13-year-old boy. He had just received a whipping at the hands of his mother and was sent to bed. Soon after he had gone up stairs his mother heard the report of a revolver. Going to her son's room she found the boy lying in a pool of blood with a bullet wound in his forehead. The revolver was aimed too high and the ball grazed his forehead and buried itself in the wall. He is now improving.

U. S. Duty On Maple Sugar.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Assistant Secretary Maynard has informed the Collector of Customs at Ogdensburg, N. Y., that maple sugar is dutiable as "all sugars" under the provisions in schedule "E," that is to say if such sugar is not above No. 13 Dutch standard in color it is rated for duty according to its polariscopic test and if above No. 13 in color then according to its color by the Dutch standard.

The Daily Collision.

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—Two passenger trains on the Cumberland Valley railroad, collided on a curve near here this morning. The accident resulted from disobedience of running orders on the part of Conductor Linn, of the west bound train which had on board about 300 passengers for the Hagerstown fair. Both engines were demolished and the express and baggage cars were wrecked. Charles Bittner, of Chambersburg, baggage-master was killed.

Bad Buckley.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 18.—When Buckley passed through here on his way to the Penitentiary a little boy looked in the window of the train and said: "Is that the man who killed a woman in Toronto?" and Buckley replied: "Yes, and if you come in here I'll kill you."

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL

SETTING THE VOTERS' LISTS AT THE PRINTING BUREAU.

It is Thought That a Saving of $60,000 Will be Effected by the New Plan—Arbitration Ceremony for Parley.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—According to the progress made thus far in setting the voters' lists under the Franchise Act, the indications are that $60,000 will be saved by having the work performed at the Printing Bureau. Over 1,000,000 names have to be set and to each name has to be added the voter's qualification, residence, postoffice address and other particulars. The cost of the Franchise Act in 1885 was $668,977, of which over $180,000 was for printing the lists. After they are once set up the cost of each subsequent revision, annual or otherwise, will be about $7,000.

A deputation from Peterboro is here asking Executive clemency for Farley, who is sentenced to be hanged Nov. 6, for murdering the Indian, Simon Elijah, who provoked him.

It is Understood.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 17.—It is understood here that Sir John Macdonald will shortly proceed to England, where he will remain for some time and have consultations with members of the Imperial Government on questions connected with the Fisheries dispute.

FIRES OF A DAY.

Offered for the Conviction of the Strathroy Murderers.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 18.—The authorities have been authorized by the local Government to offer a reward of $500 for information that will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the murderer who ruthlessly butchered Jonathan Robinson, an inoffensive old bachelor, some time ago. As will be remembered, the murdered man was found by some neighbors stretched upon the floor of his house, mutilated in a horrible manner, about three miles from Strathroy.

The Ulunda's Narrow Escape.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 18.—The steamer Ulunda, on her last trip from Halifax to London, had a thrilling escape from destruction on the Newfoundland coast. A couple of days after leaving port a dense fog was encountered. Late one evening when the passengers had all left the deck and were below preparing to retire—some being in their berths and others half undressed—suddenly there was heard above the cry, "Breakers ahead!" and the engines were immediately reversed. A man employed on the steamer rushed below and called out to the passengers to get ready to leave the ship, as she was expected to strike rocks in any moment. Excited men and women rushed on deck and found themselves face to face with almost inevitable disaster. Roaring breakers and a rocky shore were clearly discernible a short distance ahead of the Ulunda. But after some time the steamer was skilfully worked out of her perilous situation and proceeded slowly on her voyage till the fog lifted.

The Sunday School Convention.

KINGSTON, Oct. 18.—At to-day's session of the Sunday School convention Rev. Mr. Ainsley, of Ogdensburg, fraternal delegate of New York state, was accorded a cordial reception. He said that he hardly thought the government at Washington represented the people of the States. If a fancied difficulty about the fisheries had arisen it did not interfere with the fraternal relations of co-workers in moral and religious advancement. R. S. Gourley of Toronto was a strong advocate of adult Bible classes.

Hon. S. H. Blake conducted a teachers' meeting.

A Singular Fatality.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—A fatal accident of a singular nature has occurred at Berthier. Mr. Smith, a leading resident, had been out shooting and on coming in laid his gun loaded and cocked on the table. A favorite dog jumped on the table and while stepping over the gun touched the trigger with its foot. The gun went off, lodging a bullet in the breast of Mrs. Smith, who fell forward on her face. She struggled to her feet and fell dead on the floor.

Apsley Agricultural Exhibition

The sixteenth and most successful exhibition of the Burleigh and United Townships Agricultural Society was held at Apsley on Friday, the 12th inst. The increase in the different entries was a pleasing surprise to all, being a long way ahead of last year's. A large number of visitors visited the rustic little village, noticeable among whom were John Lang, Esq., M.P.; John Hall, Esq.; D. Rose, Esq.; A. Smith, Esq.; D. McLean, Esq., R. Garbutt, Esq.; W. Reed, Esq.; H. Cockell, Esq., and many others, all who expressed themselves more than surprised at the progress the back country was making. A great improvement was to be seen in horses. A fine stallion was exhibited by Wm. Tucker. In draught teams, D. O'Brien, Alex. Trotter and Wm. Martin carried off the prizes. There was a strong competition in carriage horses, and some fine animals shown. James Trotter, Robert Caldwell and Thomas Harris carried off the coveted ribbons. A large number of working oxen was shown, some fine bulls belonging to W. H. Hales, A. Trotter, John Young, and Robert Garrard being on the ground. A large number of young cattle, sheep, pigs, poultry, etc., were in the yard. Inside, the hall was filled to the door with grain, roots, vegetables, ladies' work, butter, cheese and apples, the central attraction being butter, of which there were 16 entries of tub or crock and 18 of roll or print. For the prize of six dollars, offered by John Lang, Esq., M.P., for the best butter, in three prizes, $3.00, $2.00, and $1.00, Mrs. D. Anderson carried off first, Mrs. Wm. Tucker second, and Mrs. John Young third. There was a fine display of ladies' work, both useful and ornamental. The five dollars in cash contributed to the funds of the Society by Thomas Blezard, Esq., M.P.P., was not received in time to be offered in premiums this year. Below you will find the prize list in full:

MUNCASTER'S

DARING AND SUFFERING.

A mile or more from Kingston they found some ties on the track at the place where we cut the wires, and were obliged to stop and throw them off. Of course an effort was made to send a message from Kingston to Chattanooga as soon as Fuller arrived, but we had cut the wire too quick for them. Continuing on the way, they came in a few minutes to the place where the track had been torn up. A southern account says sixty yards had been removed; but this is a gross exaggeration. Track lifting was only intended to make the road temporarily impassable, and our broken rail answered this purpose as well as a dozen. Had there been a regular track layer with the pursuers a rail would not have caused a great delay, but it was in all cases sufficient for its purpose on this day.

Though we had heard the whistle of the pursuers, they neither heard nor saw us at this point, and came near wreck; but they were on their guard because of the similar break which had caused their fall from the hand car, and by great effort and reversing the engine they were able to prevent an accident. But their progress seemed to be completely barred. As usual no one but Fuller and Murphy seemed to have the least idea what to do; in fact during the whole day every hopeful plan of pursuit sprang from their indomitable energy. Too much credit (from the Confederate point of view) cannot be given to them. They were already practiced in foot travel, and once more set out in that manner; all the rest, remaining behind, had no further influence on the fortunes of the day. But at full speed the two pedestrians pushed over the slippery and muddy road and through the driving rain. They felt sure of finding the freight train, or the passenger, either at Adairville or further on this side. Should they be obliged to take the terribly fatiguing run to the station itself they would probably be too late; but they were determined to do their utmost.

Notice how all things seemed to work against us on this eventful day. If we had not stopped to take up this rail at all, we would have had abundant time to reach the freight and start it south, as we did; and the freight train running south, and Fuller's train running at full speed would have produced a frightful collision, which could scarcely have been prevented; for the freight man had been induced to set out by the representations of Andrews, and Fuller on his part probably believed that Andrews was still running on slow time and had not reached the station above. The stopping to lift this rail, as it turned out, was probably the greatest mistake Andrews made. On the other hand if the freight had waited for Fuller, so great a delay would have ensued that the Oostenaula bridge, which we were now very near, would have been in flames.

But the pursuing pair had scarcely been well breathed in this third foot race when they heard the welcome whistle of a locomotive. Fuller, who was ahead, stopped in a place where the view was clear, and gave the signal of danger; the freight was checked up as quickly as possible, and while Fuller told in a few words what had happened and what he wanted, Murphy, who had been distanced, came up, and they sprang on board and took command. With all the power of the Texas, which was one of the very best engines on the road, and the best the pursuers had yet obtained, they pushed backward toward Adairsville and learned that Andrews had left a few minutes before. Fuller took his place on the last freight car, which was now the front of the train, and directed their movements. Murphy was the official superior of all the engineers on the road. He stood by the lever to render assistance when needed and all his orders were cheerfully obeyed.

It was not long till they were back at the station, when Fuller jumped off, threw the switch over to turn the freight cars which were detached at the same time and allowed to run with their own momentum on the side track; and then as the last one passed by, he changed the switch back, sprang on the engine and outran the cars, which continued to move parallel with him! This was quick work. They now had a comparatively small crew, but they were all armed with guns, and loaded on the tender and engine alone. It was true that the engine was reversed, but this, while it is somewhat less handy, does not diminish strength or speed. The first question which confronted the pursuers was whether to risk running up to Calhoun in the face of the delayed passenger train. They did not hesitate, as the way had been made clear for them. It was less than ten minutes since Andrews had left, promising to run slowly and carefully, and if he kept his word, he could be overhauled and inclosed between the two trains before he could reach Calhoun; and even if he did not the danger of collision would be borne by the train ahead and not by the following one. The marvelous flight which Andrews had made was not, of course, dreamed of. Had Andrews been able to persuade the passenger conductor to push out, as he did the freight conductor, Fuller's and Murphy's career would have ended.

These indomitable men now had an excellent engine and ordered full speed. The whole distance of nine miles was made in little more than ten minutes! There was no obstruction of any kind, and they trusted to the fact of being so close behind Andrews to assure them against any lifted rail.

CHAPTER X.

IN SIGHT!

Before they reached Calhoun, however, Andrews was released from his perilous position. After he had chatted with the conductor and engineer of the down freight for some time and found them indisposed to go on their way, he said in the most matter of fast and positive manner: "I must press on without more delay. Pull your engine ahead and let me out." When the order was given in this direct form they were obliged to obey or give a good reason for refusing; and it may be considered certain that if they had delayed, though Andrews did not threaten violence, yet our engineers would at once have taken control and executed the order, probably not without bloodshed.

At last we are on the main track, with no train between us and Chattanooga! and if the reports from Huntsville are true there is no obstruction west of that town, as all travel is cut off by Mitchel. There is reason for exultation on our part. An open road ahead and scores of miles of obstructed and broken track behind us! For the whole morning we have been running with a train right in front of us, or waiting for belated ones. We had passed five trains, all but the eight extras or behind time—a wonderful achievement! now the way is clear to get over Tilton; and the "T" at Chickamauga is the most difficult of passage then any of the many side tracks we have already successfully encountered. No small amount of the exultation we felt on first taking the train was again ours, as we rushed rapidly on for a mile or more, and then stopped to cut the wire, and to take up a rail (as we hoped) for the last time. The Oostenaula bridge was just ahead, and when that was burned, we would simply run from bridge to bridge, firing them as we passed; and so, more of this hard drudgery of track raising and still more terrible work of sitting silent and housed in a dark car waiting for trains to arrive! We had heard the whistle of a following train a dozen miles back, but it probably was one from Kingston, and if not wrecked by the broken rail, would return there for tools. We knew nothing of Fuller's and Murphy's pursuit, and if we had been told the full story, as already narrated, we would have thought it too wild and improbable even for good fiction.

A ROMANCE FROM OVER THE SEA.

The Hero Threatens to Pry the Heart and Liver of the Heroine.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A romance which began in Antwerp six years ago had its denouement in Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday. In 1882 Christiana Mentyen, a comely Belgian girl, with rosy cheeks and sixteen summers to her credit, formed a liaison with a dashing young fellow named Frederick Laurenson after he had solemnly promised to make her his wife. They lived together as man and wife for six years and had several children, of whom but one survives, a 4-year-old boy, who is a cripple.

Wishing to put an end to the liaison, Christiana left Antwerp for New York and arrived here last Saturday. Frederick followed her on another steamer, and, after diligent search, found her on Sunday evening. He implored her to return to him; but as she remained obdurate, he then threatened, so Christiana swears, to carve her heart and liver out and fry them in a pan. Christiana had him arrested. Laurenson denied Christiana's statement in court yesterday, and said he only came here to obtain her consent to the amputation of one of their child's legs, an operation the doctors refused to perform without the consent of both parents. Justice Gorman extracted from him a promise not to go near the girl again and a $10 bill as a fine for his conduct.

Mad for Love.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—A case of "gone mad for love" came to light at New Brunswick, N. J., yesterday, when Miss Gertrude Holman, residing on Livingston avenue, that city, detailed her story in the Recorder's Court. Miss Holman said that one Joseph King, a respected resident of the Second ward of New Brunswick, had a few moments before threatened to kill her if she did not marry him. King, she said, had been a boarder at the Holman residence and had made several proposals of marriage to her. On one occasion he had written out a proposal and had thrown it at her through her sitting-room door. Miss Holman had repulsed King's advances and endeavored to keep out of his way, but he continued to send her love missives, and on Monday night, when she was sitting beside her invalid mother, he had suddenly entered the apartment and attempted to assault her. She screamed and King ran out of the room. Subsequently he returned and asked the girl to marry him, and upon her refusal swore he would kill her. Recorder Mountain instituted an investigation and ordered King to be arrested. He is still at large, however.

Rivals in Love.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 18.—Lawton Collins, farmer, of Montgomery county, was brutally murdered by Leonard Williams a few days ago and his body has just been discovered. The two men were rivals for the hand of a young lady and Collins won the girl. It is claimed, by some duplicity. When Williams learned of the trick that had been played on him he called on Collins and took him out riding in a buggy, and while passing through a wood, suddenly attacked Collins with a razor, cutting his throat. Great excitement prevails in the community.

St. Andrew's Brotherhood.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The third annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, which was organized three years ago in Chicago with thirteen members, began to-day. The brotherhood now has 5000 members.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPY OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,128 for $10,873,777.69, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207,000 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are $ 969 for $14,081,377.69.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,600 for every working day in the year, and even this he believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$169,482 69	$1,140,743 69
1876 to 1880, four years	35,580 67	196,166 29	1,167,366 14
1880 to 1884, four years	126,976 84	263,284 31	2,962,924 99
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 99	475,607 24	4,022,373 68
Total in 1887	$495 831 54	$1,756,964 48	$10,873,777 69

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 50 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

Threatened Legal Action.

The town clerk has received a communication from Messrs. Hatton & Wood, solicitors, on behalf of Mr Alex. Dawson, requesting the town council to prohibit the building of the proposed raised roadway, for the river spur of the C.P.R., on Dickson street south of Hunter street, on the ground that they have no right to do so; threatening that if the embankment is allowed to be built he will enter action against both the town and railway company. As a ratepayer Mr. Dawson also complained of the company cutting away the island in the river, thus "destroying an asset of the town without giving any compensation therefor." The solicitors request that the matter be laid before the council as soon as possible.

Considerable interest is taken town at present in the subject of faith cures, that is the healing of diseases without remedies. Another great treat is in store for the music-loving citizens of Peterborough. On Wednesday evening, Oct. 31st, the genuine and original Fisk Jubilee Singers will appear at the opera house and render a programme of charming negro melodies and plantation songs. So many bogus and unworthy imitations of the Fisk Singers have been through Canada that the wary public are afraid of being bamboozled and look with suspicion on any troupe bearing the title, but the people are assured by the responsible auspices under which they come that these are the "genuine and original" Fisk Jubilee Singers. Those who have heard them know what a delightful entertainment they give. Remember the date, Wednesday, Oct. 31st, at the opera house.

The Industrial Exhibition.

The Ladies of the George Street Church Hold a Fair—A Fine Display of Works of Art and Industry.

When the ladies of the George Street Methodist Church undertake a thing, its ultimate success is a foregone conclusion. The idea of holding an exhibition was a novel one, entailing much risk and hard labor, but the members of the Ladies' Aid Society, in conjunction with the Young Peoples' Association, went to work and accomplished their object. The exhibition was held in the Charlotte street rink Thursday afternoon and evening, and was attended by large numbers of people, representing all the churches, who were loud in their praises of all they saw. Though it was on rather a small scale, that was made to appear smaller by the immense space in the building, the exhibition was a fine one, and all the articles shown were deserving of the encomiums passed so liberally by the spectators upon them.

The exhibits were displayed on long tables and against the linen-draped sides of the middle floor. In variety and merit they probably eclipsed any show of the kind ever seen in town. It would be almost impossible to give in detail a complete list of the exhibits; but among the principal ones the following may be mentioned :

THE LADIES' WORK DEPARTMENT

was managed by Mrs. R. J. Kidd, and Misses Pearson, Wrighton and A Sanderson.

Mrs. Jas. Kendry showed some fine screens and panels; Miss Pearson and Miss Owens also exhibited, each, several fine hand-painted screens and other specimens of painting; Miss Goldie showed a fine portrait in oil; Miss Rutherford, landscape crayon; worked picture on canvas, Mrs. G. Hall; colored crayon work, Miss Jennie Smith; pencil drawing, Miss Dumble. In painting on satin, velvet, placques, wool, china, etc., Mrs. Wm. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Hudson, Miss Sheppard, Miss Braden, Miss Wrighton, and Miss Ames displayed fine samples. Mr. Roland Hartley also had a number of paintings on exhibition. This department was well represented. Mr. F. Annesley showed some fine India ink sketches, and little Annie Bellegheem, aged 13, some oil paintings. Mr. Bannell Sawyer exhibited his prize samples of penmanship, Mr. P. H. Green contributed a case or two of superior photographs. In the fancy work line there was a large display. Mrs. Hudson and Miss Bird were extensive exhibitors in different lines. There was a nice shawl knit by a blind girl; a quilt made by a little girl seven years old, and a handsome crazy quilt by Miss Galley, aged 14, these being entered among the girls' work; a fine dressing gown made in India and brought to this country, shown by Miss Cunningham as a curiosity. Three remarkable vases, of Barbotine work, were exhibited by Miss Bird. Other exhibitors of ladies' work, ranging from fancy quilts down to whisk-holders, mantle drapes, etc., were Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Wm. Fitzgerald, Miss Ella Braden, Miss Marks, Miss A. Sanderson, Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Miss Meharry, Miss B. Griffith (fancy chair) Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Hill, Miss Minnie Taylor, Miss Allen, Mrs. Edgcombe, Miss Ames, Miss A. Turner, Miss Jessie Breese, Mrs. Robinson, Miss Wrighton, Miss Thorne, Miss Rutherford and Miss Irwin. The most extensive exhibitors among these were Mrs. R. J. Kidd and Miss Sanderson. The display was varied and complete, taking in every form of ladies' work.

CURIOSITIES AND BOYS' WORK.

This department was in the hands of Misses Minnie Irwin and Addie Ames and Messrs. Gallagher, Pearson and Kidd. Mr. E. Elcome, taxidermist, had several cases of birds on exhibition. Mr. Kenneth Kincaid showed a fine collection of shells, stones, butterflies, etc., and Master Willie Stubbs contributed a nicely done oil painting and other samples of painting, done by himself. There was an old china tea-caddy said to be 150 years old, and a pair of Chinese slippers contributed by Mrs. Hawkins. A collection of miniature vessels, canoes, and red cedar work of all kinds was shown. Mrs. Parnell and Mrs. Hudson had each a lot of antique domestic articles; Miss Violet Dixon and Miss Jessie Breese, some red cedar work; Harry Wynn and Willie Stubbs, ships in full sail; Eddie Goldie, boats, etc.; R Irwin and Alex. Robertson, red cedar boats and paddles. Other juvenile exhibitors were J. Norton, J. Bradley, Fred Braden, George White, Mabel Mason, Clarence Dumble and Lillie Prise; also Mrs. Smith, Miss Allen, Alice Cunningham, Bella Griffith, Mr. Powell, Mr. Norton, Miss Bellegheem and Mr. Nugent. Mr. Wm. Crowe showed the fine inlaid table that was exhibited at the Central Exhibition.

OTHER EXHIBITS.

The baking and cooking exhibits were looked after by Misses Rutherford and Breese. The principal exhibitions were in bread, cake, pickles and canned fruit. Miss A. Sanderson, Miss Ella Owens and Miss Bertha Mason having extensive displays. Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Edith Robinson, and the Misses Rutherford also exhibited a few articles. Alberta White, aged 7 years, showed a cake that took a prize. There were also some large plants shown in this department.

In girls' work, exhibits were shown by Miss Annie Bellegheem, Miss Hawkens, Miss Allen, Mary Stevenson, Miss Riley and Nellie Galley. Their work has been mentioned above. This department was managed by Misses Butcher, Owens, Mary Rutherford and E. Braden.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

In all of these departments prizes were awarded, the judges pinning a red ribbon on the first prize article and a blue one for second prize. All the exhibitors carried off more or less honors, but the prize list would be too long to publish in full. Brief mention has been made of about all the exhibits, in the above report.

There was, however, in the centre of the floor a patent folding bedstead and dressing-case shown by Lindsay & Seldon. the manufacturers, that attracted much attention. Fairweather & Co. exhibited an elegant drawing-room set of fur furniture, the polished horns of Mexican cattle taking the place of the customary wood in their composition and fur supplying the upholstering. Mr. S. W. Lowry, weaver, showed some webs of cloth and rag carpet.

The decoration committee, composed of Mrs. Nugent, Mrs. (Dr.) Yelland, Mrs. Hudson, Misses Bird, Sanderson, Irwin, and Messrs. Brown, Wesley and Mason, evidently had been too busily engaged with other affairs or committee work in connection with the exhibition, as the decorations were on a very meagre scale, some looped colored bunting at the end of the rink constituting the whole display. However, the rich and variegated colors of the exhibits made any attempt at further decoration almost unnecessary.

THE DINING ROOM.

A very important feature of all such gatherings was not overlooked. In the dining room of the rink supper was served from six to eight o'clock, and up to the very last the room was crowded. The ladies in charge here were Mrs. G. Hall, Mrs. Wrighton, Mrs. Owens, Mrs. W. J. Mason, Mrs. F. Mason, Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Shortly, Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Green, Mrs. T. Bradburn and Mrs. Kendry; they performed their duties admirably.

Over all the different departments there was a managing committee in charge, consisting of Misses Irwin, Owens, A. Sanderson, and Messrs. Wesley, Scott and Dingle.

Mrs. (Dr.) Fife, President of the Ladies' Aid Society, and Mrs. D. W. Dumble, Vice-President, were a reception committee. The ladies' waiting room was warmed for spectators who got chilled.

The secretaries of the exhibition were Mrs. Kendry and Mr. Scott, though the latter was, of course, not on duty.

During the afternoon and evening the rink was thronged with people, and the financial result must have been entirely satisfactory.

At night the sweet strains of music from the battalion band lent an additional charm to the proceedings.

A candy and fruit stand was managed by some young ladies, and it seemed to do a thriving business.

About ten o'clock the exhibitors began removing their goods, and soon afterwards the rink was deserted, and the great industrial exhibition with its great success was over.

An Interesting Test Case.

The Validity of the Early Closing By-Law Being Tested—Shall it be Endorsed or Become a Farce?

A case of alleged infraction of the early closing by-law was tried at the police court this morning before P. M. Edmison. The charge was against Mr. Henry Best, hardware merchant, laid by the Chief. Mr. E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, conducted the case. This was considered a test case of the value of the by-law, and the argument was a long and hot one, occupying about an hour and a half. From the evidence it would seem that on Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. John Bell went into Mr. Best's store to look at a stove. Two or three days before this Mr. Bell had seen the stove, got the price of it, and said he would buy it if his wife liked it. The two dropped in after seven o'clock Wednesday night, examined the stove, and discussed its merits and demerits with Mr. Fisher, the clerk, who, according to Mrs. Bell, did not actually touch the stove or show its manner of working, but merely talked with them about it.

Mr. Edwards held for a strict interpretation of the statute, which makes the showing of goods for sale, even though no money is passed, a violation of the law. Mr. Best maintained that the bargain had already been made between him and Mr. Bell, and his wife had merely dropped in to see whether she fancied it or not. Mr. Edwards contended that the bargain had not been made, but that it all depended upon whether Mrs. Bell fancied the stove or not, and that she really came there to decide whether the stove should be purchased or not; and, though the clerk did not actually "display" goods, he discussed the qualities of the stove, and so practically violated the law.

Mr. Best further said that he had always held to the strict letter of the law until the past ten days, when seeing that the law was a farce and that none of his fellow merchants were observing it (naming some in particular) he threw his shop open; not, however, with the intention of selling. He had always understood the closing law to mean doors locked and lights out, and after he had strictly observed it all summer, while other had been systematically breaking it, he considered it unjust that he should be now selected on this charge.

Mr. Edwards denied all personal feelings in the matter, but said this must be made a test case. Mr. Best had said he wanted to see all the merchants keep the law, and in order to do it there must be some standard set up as to just what constituted a violation of the law. He held that if this case was dismissed there would be no use of bringing similar charges in the future, because they would all fall through. If the statute was to be strictly interpreted, Mr. Best must be convicted; if loosely interpreted and Mr. Best's case dismissed, the by-law would become utterly useless.

The case was adjourned till Thursday next. The magistrate said he would look closely into the matter before giving a decision.

The Ottawa Deputation.

The deputation who went to Ottawa Wednesday night in behalf of Farley returned this morning. Those who went down to the capital were Mayor Stevenson, Messrs. H. Deane, T. Kelly, E. Phelan and E. C. Crevier. They had an interview with Sir John S. D. Thompson, Minister of Justice. Mr. Deane presented the petitions and Mayor Stevenson was the chief spokesman. The others each made a few remarks, and a discussion ensued between them and the Minister in a conversational way. The Minister had not yet received the report of Justice Street, but he promised that the case would be given his earliest and most favorable consideration. At night the deputation attended the monster banquet to Hon. Mr. Chapleau, but had to leave at an early hour for home.

Customs House and Drill Shed.

Mayor Stevenson, while in Ottawa yesterday, button-holed the Minister of Public Works regarding the new Custom House which has been promised the town. The Minister promised Mr. Stevenson that a sufficient sum would be put in the estimates this fall to begin the work next summer. The lot, as is well known, has been already secured by the government, at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, (for the specific purpose, however, of a site for a post-office,) so that the question of site so far as possession by the government is concerned, is settled.

Regarding the drill shed, Mr. Stevenson was unable to see the Minister of Militia, who was absent in Quebec. However, it is believed the new drill shed will soon be built. Col. Rogers, who was in the Capital last week, informs the Mayor that he spoke to Sir A. Caron, and the promise that the new armory would soon be erected was renewed. It is expected next summer will see this badly needed public work completed.

The Abolition of Capital Punishment.

The first regular meeting of the Young Men's Guild of St. Luke's church, was held in the School room of the church last evening. There were very few present to what there should have been, but a very lively interest was taken in the proceedings throughout. The committee appointed to draft the by-laws and rules of the guild reported, and the draft as submitted with a few amendments were passed by the meeting. The election of three members for a committee caused considerable amusement, and as there were four nominations a ballot was held resulting in the election of Messrs. J. Rooney, E. A. Peck and F. Cocks. The business of the evening was then called by the chairman, and the debate, "Should capital punishment be abolished?" was opened in the affirmative by Mr. E. B. Bart. The main points of his argument were as follows :—(1) That capital punishment was a relic of barbarism; (2) that the infliction of punishment should have a two-fold purpose, viz., punishment of crime and prevention of crime, and he claimed that capital punishment fell short in the last instance; (3) that murder being the greatest crime should be punished by the heaviest sentence, and claimed that there were heavier punishments on our penal code than "capital." Mr. Peck followed, and in a very neat and clearly expressed speech maintained for the negative that :—(1) Capital punishment was universal; (2) that to do away with the infliction of capital punishment would be to undermine the ground work of society; (3) that capital punishment was of divine origin. This being the first meeting of the kind, the young men were somewhat backward in speaking, and after a few words from Mr. Saunders, Mr. E. B. Bart was called on to reply. In answering the point of the divine origin of capital punishment, his remarks called the chairman, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, to his feet, and a lively, though somewhat irregular, discussion took place, and a knotty point was well argued. The result, on a vote being called for, showed the meeting to be unanimously in favor of the retention of the punishment. As the subject was not in any way exhausted, it was decided to renew the debate at a later day, Messrs. E. B. Bart and E. A. Peck agreeing to again lead their respective sides.

Grateful Americans.

This afternoon Mayor Stevenson received the following telegram :—

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.

At a large meeting of Mr. Farley's friends last night a vote of thanks was passed to your council for your kind efforts on behalf of James Farley.

LEWIS J. BURNS, Chairman.

Messages of a similar purport were also received by several gentlemen in town, who have been interesting themselves in the case.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Thomas Greaves, of Eldon, on Wednesday afternoon, the 10th inst. The Rev. Mr. McDonald, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Gleanarm, performed the marriage ceremony. The happy couple were Miss Emma H., eldest daughter of Mr. Greaves, and Mr. Adam Hall, of Fenelon. Miss Mary Greaves, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. R. E. Hall, barrister, of Peterborough, acted as his brother's "best man." After the ceremony was performed the many friends present joined in tendering them their hearty congratulations, and giving them their best wishes for a prosperous future and a happy journey through life. The presents were both numerous and costly.—Warder.

The Nicholls Hospital Drain.

A meeting of the Board of Health was called for Thursday night but only three or four of the members showed up, not enough to form a quorum. A communication received by the Secretary from the Provincial Board was read, calling upon the local body to prevent the running of the drain from the new Nicholls Hospital into the river, condemning it as an "unheard of proceeding." The letter stated that if the local board did not have the power and were unable to prevent the nuisance, to notify the provincial body and they would exercise their authority. The communication demanded that immediate steps be taken in the matter. The secretary of the board was instructed by those present to write the Provincial Board of Health to the effect that several members of the town council who belonged to the local board regularly stayed away from the meetings, and, consequently, a quorum could never be got to transact business, giving this as a reason why the board had not yet adopted any preventive measures.

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

LIQUOR DEALERS FINED.

HAMILTONIANS MULCTED TO THE TUNE OF $1090.

Count Premio-Real's Funeral—Denied Burial in Consecrated Ground—Terrible Accusation Against Nine Well-Known Montrealers.

HAMILTON, Oct. 20.—The Jaynes brothers—John and Elijah—whiskey informers, closed a successful engagement under Licence Inspector Mackenzie yesterday. The only case in which any evidence was taken at the police court was against Peter Colvin, who was charged with selling liquor on two occasions without a license. Colvin pleaded guilty to one charge, but he did not remember selling any whiskey on Oct. 7. The charge was proven by John Jaynes, and Colvin was fined $50 for the first and $80 for the second offence or three months in jail. The old man is very poor and will likely be committed to prison. Thomas Armstrong, Carl Blaaze, John J. Bain, Charles Drew, Hugh Daly, William Dryden, Samuel Green, Matthew High, Andrew Ruthven, Thomas Maxwell, P. Meegan and Smith & Findlay, who each pleaded guilty to selling liquor on two occasions, were each fined $40. W. J. Brush, Charles Eerner, Samuel Lawlor and Daniel Sullivan were fined $ 0 each. Harry Bryant, John Hunter & Son, Andrew Roach, grocers, were each fined $50 for selling liquor contrary to law. Hannah Broderick, Hannah Bradfield and Crooks & Stroud were each fined $50 or three months for selling liquor without a license. The total amount of fines imposed aggregated $1090.

FUNERAL OF PREMIO-REAL.

The Late Spanish Consul at Quebec Denied Burial in Consecrated Ground.

QUEBEC, Oct. 20.—By order of the Cardinal religious rites and sepulture were refused yesterday to the body of the late Consul-General of Spain on the ground that deceased, though a Catholic, was not in communion with the church, not having performed his Easter duty since his arrival in Quebec fourteen years ago. It is said that some of his friends could have disproved this if they had known the objection would have been made. The incident has created a painful impression. Many seem to think that even if it was the case that the deceased had not approached the sacrament at Easter during his whole sojourn in Quebec the ecclesiastical authorities might have stretched a point in his favor on account of his irreproachable life and his many public and private charities. It is only fair to Cardinal Taschereau to say that he offered to withdraw his ban if it could be shown to his satisfaction that deceased had ever performed his Easter duty at Quebec, but this either could not be done or was not done for the reason already stated. The body was accordingly interred in the unconsecrated ground of the Roman Catholic cemetery at St. Foy, four miles outside the city. It was followed to the grave by all the Consular bodies and a large crowd of friends, to whom when the interment was completed Mr. Luch Y. Diaze, Vice-Consul of Spain at Halifax, returned thanks in the name of the Spanish Government and of the deceased's family, as well as in his own name, asking them at the same time to join him in prayer for deceased. Though they knew he had died by his own hand, he said deceased was not responsible for this rash act, and was gone where he would be judged according to his merits.

A FIENDISH CRIME.

Terrible Charge Against Nine Well-Known Montrealers.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20.—Nine well-known residents of St. Canegonde, a suburb of Montreal, are charged with outraging in a most brutal manner a young and prepossessing French-Canadian girl named Perrault, who, it is alleged, died from the effects. She was buried last Saturday, but on the facts of the case leaking out, the coroner has ordered the body to be exhumed. The case promises to be very sensational. The doctor who issued the death certificate will also be arrested.

TORONTO TOPICS.

University Convocation—The Law Faculty—A Cannibal Fined—The Conventions.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—The organization of the law faculty in connection with Toronto University has been completed. The following gentlemen among others compose the faculty: Dean of Faculty, Hon. Chancellor Boyd; Lecturers, Hon. Edward Blake, Hon. David Mills, Dalton McCarthy, Hon. Justice Proudfoot and Prof. Ashley.

Convocation Hall was filled when President Daniel Wilson and Governor Campbell ascended the dais to open the proceedings of the annual convocation of University College yesterday afternoon. The scholarships, medals and prizes, won last spring, were duly presented. The Minister of Education, in the course of a lengthy speech, congratulated the president on his recent recognition by Her Majesty, and also the University on acquiring the services of such an able professor as Mr. Ashley, who has recently been appointed to the chair of political science, referred to the approaching federation of the college, and entered largely into the proposed law faculty. Rev. Dr. Potts made a few remarks on the question of Federation and Sir Daniel Wilson made his address.

Yesterday morning the Convention of Humane Societies resumed their deliberations in the Normal School. A paper prepared by Mrs. Ellen Snow of Hartford, Conn., on "The Use of the Check Rein," was read by Mr. E. Burnham. On motion of Mr. J. G. Shorthall a resolution was passed condemning the cruelty of docking the tails of horses.

At the Unitarian Conference Rev. A. T. Bowser of Toronto dealt with the necessity for aggressive mission work in this city. Rev. Pitt Dillingham of Buffalo, Rev. Grindell Reynolds of Boston, Rev. Thomas R. Spicer of Providence, Rev. A. Horton of Boston, Rev. Dr. Bixby of Yonkers, N. Y., delivered addresses on the practical work of a Unitarian Church. Rev. Geo. Batchelor of Boston delivered an address on "Our Bases of Authority in Religion," and "Our Belief About God."

At the Police Court yesterday Harry Hill found guilty of biting Joseph Sirois, was fined $30 and costs or 60 days. George B. Cullen, city traveller for Rolph, Smith & Co., pleaded guilty to embezzling from his employers. Mr. Rolph stated that the prisoner's peculations would aggregate nearly $200. He was committed to the Central Prison for three months.

Thomas Casey, a convict, after being liberated from the Central Prison, where he had been doing 23 months for burglary, returned to the prison and annoyed the guards. For this he was sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment. On Thursday Casey completed this short term, and again went back to the prison grounds. On being ordered away he drew a long knife on Guard Vaughan, and threatened to rip him up. The Magistrate sent him to the Central Prison for six months as a vagrant.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN THE N. Y. PETROLEUM MARKET.

A Decline of 7½ Cents Per Barrel—Heavy Failures Reported—A Panicky Market in the Oil Regions—Corwith's Failure.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—There was great excitement in the petroleum market yesterday on a decline of 7½ cents per barrel. It was reported that the oil was forced down by the failure of Nathan, Corwith & Company, of Chicago, organizers of the lead trust. After the noon hour fresh selling by the Wall-street houses forced the market down, and reached many stop orders. Although there was great excitement, no failures were reported.

In the Oil Regions.

BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 20.—The oil market was wild and panicy yesterday and made a disastrous break from 92¾ to 85, but it reached and closed 85½, seven cents below yesterday's close.

Metal Firms Hard Pushed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—There was activity unprecedented in the metal market yesterday forenoon and attention was concentrated in the gyrations of white lead. The afternoon session brought many more members and all thoughts were for the time on the lead market. Altogether 480 tons of October and November deliveries were sold. The larger part of this was for the account of Corwith, but several tons were the holdings of other prominent New York houses More than one metal man, it is said, is embarrassed by the Corwith failure, but no suspensions were announced on 'Change, though it was no secret that several houses had been given 24 hours to cover their margins.

Corwith & Co.'s Failure.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The failure of the attempt by the biggest lead firm in the world, Nathan Corwith & Co., to corner the lead market by purchasing the surplusage of the output of lead produced in the smelting works of this country was the main topic to-day in financial circles here. The attachments filed in the local courts to cover assets of Corwith & Co. and the Corwiths individually amount to over $ 00,000 and in a general way it is known that the liabilities of the firm are at least two millions. This amount, however, has reference solely to the recent purchases, including the October delivery, and merchants interested in the trade believe that even the amount of $2,000,000 will be exceeded. The firm of Corwith & Co. was started 30 years ago, and Nathan Corwith, sr., has been identified with the lead interests of the United States during his entire business career. Last year the firm met with heavy losses owing to a slump of $7 a ton in lead. Their losses then are said to have aggregated $400,000. This year prior to the beginning of the present disastrous deal, their losses, it is estimated, figured up $250,000. The futile purchases for the corner are thought to exceed $2,000,000 and to carry this load the firm paid higher rates of interest for loans than the usual quotations for commercial paper.

THE GALT POISONING CASE.

Prof. Ellis' Evidence at the Inquest—Another Adjournment.

GALT, Oct. 20.—The inquest in the poisoning case was resumed last night and the attendance was much larger than on any previous occasion. Prof. Ellis, who was the only witness called gave his report as to the analysis of the viscera of Meta Cherry which went to prove that death was doubtless caused by strychnine poisoning. All the candies analysed also contained strychnine in varying quantities.

The inquest was adjourned again until Nov. 2.

The Sunday School Convention.

KINGSTON, Oct. 20.—The Sunday School convention completed its work yesterday. A number of addresses were made congratulating the delegates on the success of the session. These officers were appointed: Chairman of the Executive Committee, L. C. Peake, of Toronto; Honorary Secretary, Rev. John McEwan of Lakefield; Minute Secretaries, Rev. Mr. Field of Green River, and A. W. Clark of Millbrook; Corresponding Secretary, J. J. Woodhouse of Toronto; General Secretary, Alfred Day of Toronto.

The Horse Shied.

HAMILTON, Oct. 20.—Last night a young man with his best girl and a livery rig met with a bad mishap on the road through Beasley's Hollow. He was driving, probably with the lines around his neck, when the horse shied and plunged over the embankment into a barbed wire fence. The girl was knocked senseless, but recovered after being extricated from the buggy. The horse was badly cut on the fence. The parties refused to give their names to those who rescued them.

The Third Victim.

OSHAWA, Oct. 20.—W. G. Gibson, the third victim of the traction engine explosion at Whitby on Oct. 1, was buried Thursday.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The Prince of Wales visited Prof. Pasteur to-day and witnessed several operations for the prevention of hydrophobia.

M. Clemenceau's Opinion.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—M. Clemenceau to-day implied that the assembly charged with the revision of the constitution should have all the powers of a constituent assembly. He affirmed the necessity of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate coming to an understanding before the meeting of Congress.

The Western Union Backs Down.

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 20.—Dilks Black, manager of the Western Union telegraph office at this point, who was fined $100 and committed to jail Monday for failure to produce certain telegrams bearing on a case being tried in the District Court, was released yesterday. He was advised by the General Solicitor of the company to furnish the messages asked for. Judge Stanley then remitted the fine but required the manager to pay the costs.

The Awful Avalanche.

FELLWIDE, Col., Oct. 20.—Yesterday while Charles and William Walls, miners, were digging their way through the snow from La Junta basin a snow slide came down the mountain, carrying them down the side of the mountain for 1500 feet and burying them under twenty feet of snow and rocks. Williams managed with the aid of a pocket knife to dig himself out and though wounded made his way to town. A rescuing party started and after two hours' hard work found the body of Charles underneath several hundred tons of snow and rocks, crushed to a shapeless mass.

W. C. T. U. Convention.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—In the W. C. T. U. convention yesterday a report was read showing that there are 958 unions with a membership of 164,213. There are 269 young ladies' unions with a membership of 21,278, 2427 loyal legions with 163,743 members and 433 coffee houses. The money received from the Local unions amounted to $227,948. There are now 21 states having prohibitory laws in one shape or another.

HYMEN'S QUEER MESHES.

A Curious Divorce Case, With Unusually Mutual Complications.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Of all the queer divorce cases that of Sarah W. Guy against George Ewer, which was heard yesterday, is entitled to the premium. Mrs. Guy (nee Walton) was married in Gloversville, N. Y., twenty years ago to Eugene Guy, who was then a glove manufacturer. After several years of married life his luck got down and they set up for themselves, he in Denver and she in Boston.

Several months ago she opened a lodging house here. Ewer, the present defendant, was one of her first lodgers, and he fell in love with her, but she told him that she was a married woman. A few days after she had told him this an acquaintance of hers, Mrs. Minnie Baker, gave her a pressing invitation to make her a call. She went and was treated to gin. Ewer was there.

"I drank some," Mrs Guy told the Court, "and soon my head began to swim. I remember that they stood me up before a mirror and then everything seemed dark. The only other thing I can recollect is that I fell with my head in a bowl of oyster stew and that I was in a dark room, but where this was I can't tell. The next day Ewer called on me and said he wanted $2. I asked him what he meant. His reply was 'Don't you understand that you are my wife?'

"I answered: 'You know that's not fair; I am a married woman already.' He replied that he would make my marriage to him lawful, and said so much that, to get rid of him, I gave him the $2, and he went away."

The alleged marriage took place in January of last year, and since that time Mrs. Guy has been engaged, she says, in eluding the amorous Ewer, with whom, she protests, she has never behaved as a wife.

"I don't know," she continued, "who the man is that married us. I heard afterward that his name is George Everett. I recently went to police headquarters in Pemberton-square and identified George Ewer's picture in the Rogue's Gallery. He has followed me about from place to place and has threatened to kill me if I will not live with him. One day he struck and abused me on the street and attracted a crowd of people."

Blanche Guy, the nineteen-year-old daughter of the libellant, testified that Ewer had told her that he was drunk at the time of the pretended marriage, and he knew that the only way to get her mother's consent was to get her drunk too.

The Court at this point wanted to know who the George Everett was who performed the ceremony. Blanche was of the impression that he was a South End gambler, but in the absence of definite information the judge decided to continue the case until this important question could be settled.

THEIR LIVES WERE THE FORFEIT.

Glens Falls' Boy Burglars Aware Fealty on a Skull and Dagger.

GLENS FALLS, N.Y., Oct. 20.—Another of Ide's companions in the Corinth burglaries has divulged the oath. He says the young men began work in April when they met in a cave on the bank of the river and elected Ide captain, Bert Jones, assistant captain and Wandall, Randall and Reed a committee to seek means of disposing of the stolen property. Tools were purchased for the manufacture of false keys; masks were made and pass words, street signals, etc., concocted. What good and miscellaneous articles they stole were stored in a barn owned by Charles Potter, who they say had agreed to act as a fence. Dry goods were first taken to the cave where the marks were removed, and the goods were then taken to the barn. Nearly every store in town has been entered and goods stolen.

The following is the form of oath each boy was required to take with his right hand placed on a human skull and the left hand clasping a dagger:

I do solemnly swear by my life's forfeit that I will never reveal the name of any member of this Order; that I will do all in my power to promote its best interests; that I will cheerfully assent to all divisions of property or funds raised by the sale of the same by our captain; that I will be ready day and night to enter upon our chosen business and to prevent discovery of any member of the Order.

The Package Exploded.

TOPEKA, Ks., Oct. 20.—An organization known as the Industrial Liberators or National Order of Vidette was exposed by a Winfield newspaper recently, and the names of prominent citizens were coupled with the order. Yesterday, H. M. Upham, agent for the Pacific Express Company at Coffeeville, received a package addressed to a person in Winfield and marked, "Glass, handle with care." Mr. Upham took it home for safe keeping, and last night it exploded, tearing out one side of the building, probably fatally injuring Mrs. Upham and badly injuring her daughter.

The Engineers' Brotherhood.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 20.—The meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was addressed yesterday by representatives from the Firemen's and Switchmen's Brotherhoods on the federation scheme, but no paper was submitted for action. A resolution was adopted endorsing the action of Chief Arthur in all matters pertaining to the brotherhood since the last session. This virtually sustains Chief Arthur's action in the "Q" strike.

The Kaiser's Adieu to Rome.

ROME, Oct. 20.—Emperor William took luncheon at the Quirinal yesterday and left on his return to Berlin at 2.30, after bidding farewell to the Queen and Royal Princesses. He was accompanied to the station by King Humbert, Crown Prince Victor Emmanuel and the Dukes of Genoa and Aosta. The parting was cordial, the Emperor embracing all the royal party. His Majesty conversed with King Humbert until the train started. A large crowd had gathered at the station and gave the Emperor an ovation.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 20.—James Hennessy, aged 60, was crushed to death by a campaign flag-pole which fell at South Providence to-day.

PRICES AND PROSPECTS.

COMMERCE DULL OWING TO THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

The World's Wheat Crop—Bradstreet's Estimates the Yield to be 75,000,000 Bushels Under the Average Annual Crop for Ten Years—Money Easier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's forecasts that at the large eastern and at some western cities, notably St. Louis, the movement of staple merchandise has been sensibly checked, mainly owing to the conservatism usually noticeable just prior to the presidential elections.

The rice crop in Louisiana will be 35 per cent. short.

At the chief packing centres hogs are weaker and 20 and 30 per cent. lower.

Collections are generally easier, the draft for funds on the larger eastern and western cities is weaker, and funds generally are easier.

Owing to unusually heavy exports of wheat on the Pacific coast, 982,000 bushels, against 546,000 last week, the total exports of wheat, both Coasts, including flour as wheat, amount to 2,237,916 bushels, against 1,878,172 bushels last week. No wheat was shipped from New York, New Orleans or Tacoma this week. The total flour exports increased 21,000 barrels from last week or about 12½ per cent. The aggregate of wheat, including flour, exported from July 1 to Oct. 20, is 37,366,000 bushels against 58,750,000 bushels in the like period last year. The speculative wheat market has weakened. Chicago and New York follow 3 to 4 cents per bushel. At San Francisco it is about 97 cents. Corn has fallen 2 cents in sympathy with wheat. The stubborn resistance of foreign markets to New York, Chicago and Duluth prices, almost stopping Atlantic seaboard wheat shipments, hints at further reactions, unless domestic holders prove unexpectedly confident.

Iron and steel are quieter at all points than for six weeks, and the outlook is for no special activity or change of prices for thirty days. Steel rails are $38 per ton, within $1.40 of the lowest price ever quoted.

A depression in the Southwestern stocks caused some bearishness in the New York Stock Market, though speculation assumed a stronger tone later on with a notable advance in Union Pacific shares.

Money at New York is easier, call loans, 2 to 2½ per cent. Foreign exchange has been strong on the scarcity of bills against grain shipments, demand sterling $4.87¾ to $4.88.

Our revision of the estimates of The London Miller indicates a total wheat crop of the world of about 2,206,000,000 bushels, about 75,000,000 bushels under the world's average annual crop for ten years. The requirements are calculated at 2,239,000,000 bushels, showing only about 23,000,000 as the probable deficiency. The probable net importations aggregate 337,000,000 bushels, and the calculated aggregate of net exportations is 311,000,000 bushels, showing an apparent deficiency of 26,000,000 bushels.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days, as reported to Dun, Wiman & Co., number for the United States 24 and for Canada 22, or total of 226 as compared with 227 last week, and 211 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 201, made up of 172 in the United States and 29 in the Dominion.

STANLEY'S GOSSIP.

An Interesting Cable Letter on the Topics of the Day.

In a Berlin dispatch to the Times there is, if not news from Stanley, an opinion about his safety worth noting. This comes from Lieut. Wissman, who has twice crossed the dark continent and is to be one of the leaders of the Emin Pasha relief expedition. Lieut. Wissman is convinced that Stanley is now at Wadelai with Emin. The reason he gives for his belief in Stanley's safety is a reason of common sense, namely, that if Stanley had been killed the news of his fate would certainly have reached the coast long before this. Anxiety is felt here on other African questions than those connected with Stanley's fate, perhaps upon none more than the fate of the Nile. Whether the Mahdi really intends to deflect the course of the river, or has even begun such an attempt, nobody knows. But that the river can be turned is fully believed. Sir Samuel Baker sums up the case in the statement that Egypt depends upon the Nile, which is now commanded by an enemy.

It is now said to be doubtful whether the confiscation of the Mackenzie book in Germany can be permanently maintained. The Mulheim judge's mandate issued Sunday proceeded on two grounds,—insult to the emperor and to the chancellor, and libels on Drs. Bergmann and Gerhardt, who, as professors, are deemed state officials. Of the first there is no trace; and though there are plenty of libels on the two German doctors, it is held that the government cannot prosecute unless the professors themselves take the initiative. The leading German papers all have copies of the book and comment on it. An influential section of the radical press sustains Sir Morell.

The unveiling of a statue to the most heroic Englishman of his time took place in Trafalgar square without ceremony, and the event attracts little attention from the general public. The government would gladly have made it an occasion of due homage to General Gordon's memory, but had not the courage of its opinions. It has rightly closed Trafalgar square to the mob. It was afraid to open it to the public lest the anarchists should have seized the opportunity for another demonstration, or the anarchist press have taunted them with inconsistency. So the shroud was pulled off by the first commissioner of works without a word. GEO. W. SMALLEY.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 20.—Twenty-seven new cases of yellow fever for the 24 hours ending at 6 p. m. yesterday. There were four deaths.

Peterborough Protestant Home

Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer —A Review of the Home's History.

After the annual meeting of the Protestant Home directors, the report of the Secretary and Treasurer were not ready for publication and could only be got for the newspapers to-day. Following is the report of the Secretary, Mrs. J. G. Hall :—

In May, 1865, Mr. Bertie Morrow generously gave the use of one of his buildings in the south end of the town for a Protestant Home. July 1870 the inmates moved into the present dwelling, purchased by the late Sheriff Hall for that purpose, the intention being, only to admit destitute old women and children, but as cases were presented of homeless and deserving old men it was also agreed to admit them. There being no endowment, the Home consequently was entirely dependent on the charity and liberality of the benevolent. Mr. Carnegie about two years ago, kindly used his influence with the local house, securing a grant of 7 cents per day, supplemented by two cents for adults and four cents per diem for children over ten; this has indeed proved a boon, but the government required certain improvements, separate wards for the men and women. After considerable delay we got a small allowance from the town council, on 1st November the necessary changes and repairs inside were completed and in December a new fence was put up. In February a concert was given under the auspices of Mesdames Lewis and Dunsford, realizing, after deducting expenses, $39.85, and on 4th April a Calico Ball, Mr Lewis sending our Treasurer a cheque for $70; we much appreciated their great kindness and the trouble they took on behalf of this charitable work. On the 5th of this month we took in five little motherless children; two of them were with us but a few days, the eldest going to relatives in England, one adopted by a kind lady in Quebec; the others after being some time with us were admitted into the Orphans Home, Toronto. We also admitted on the 9th an old man from Chandos, aged 68. The Home has been nearly full during the entire year, but our largest number (twenty-four) was during this month. Our aged men have been quite feeble, requiring the utmost care, our eldest having attained the ripe age of 94. Our palsied inmate, Peter Whittock, is still with us, aged 85, but more helpless than a child.

On the 9th September we agreed to give shelter for a time to a married woman with three children, her baby sick and her case an urgent one, worse than widowhood.

We had three deaths; Charles Portsmouth, an old soldier aged 67, a native of Andover, Hampshire, England, quietly passed away on the 17th March, and twin babies admitted in July after their mother's death, suffering from cholera infantum for a time, died, one on the 29th August, the other on the 6th September.

In August the outside building was painted and necessary repairs made, and in the following month a small corner of land next the railway fence enclosed and already fit for cultivation. Although much in a small way has been accomplished, still more remains to be done. May we hope for encouragement and help from our old friends and many new ones.

To those who know nothing about this charity, we invite them to come and see the work being done. We should be glad if the honorable, the town council would pay us a visit. Our excellent matron, Mrs. Dillon, has everything in the best of order and scrupulously clean, having the happy gift of putting things to the best account. Her kindness to the little ones under her care is beyond all praise.

The inmates sustained a serious loss in the departure of General Hautain for England; he ever, as well as his deceased brother, took a special interest in their spiritual and temporal welfare. As the worthy, the noble and the good pass from our midst, who are willing to fill up the gap?

The quality of donations this year has been superior to former years, in many cases new things being sent instead of old, giving the Home a more respectable, comfortable and presentable appearance, worthier our progressive town. The December donations were liberal and thoughtful, displaying a kind desire to give pleasure and happiness to old and young at that joyous season.

We are anxious to have a mangle before summer, the washings being so large, and a new sewing machine, there being a great many stitches required for old and young. Our treasurer will gladly receive contributions towards their purchase. We beg to remind visitors there is a poor-box in the hall. In former years the grand jury used to pay a yearly visit, dropping a coin into it, as well as inspecting the premises. That good custom has fallen into disuse. May we request them to renew it, and see by ocular demonstration the happy change the home presents.

It would afford our inmates great delight if anyone, during the long winter evenings, would exhibit a magic lantern. A pleasant hour or two of recreation would do them all good, breaking the dull monotony.

To all donors, public and private, we extend our heartfelt thanks; grateful acknowledgments to the clergy and laymen who hold services regularly; also to our kind physicians, ever ready to attend the cry of distress free of charge; and our urbane gentlemen of the press, who always treat our requests for insertions with the utmost courtesy, at the same time daily supplying the home with local news.

In concluding, I again commend to your kind consideration one of Christ's most precious legacies, the poor, the fatherless, and the needy.

"Each sweet Ebenezer we have in review
Confirms His good pleasure—
He'll help this work through."

Free Farms in Ontario.

A writing in the Montreal Witness says:—Permit me to say a word to your many readers respecting a large territory of wild land in the Province of Ontario, and known as the Free Grant District. Recently I had occasion to travel through several townships of this land in the counties of Hastings, Peterborough and Haliburton, and was surprised to find the settlers so comfortable and happy. Notwithstanding the dry season the crops are excellent. I had the pleasure of calling on the Crown Lands agent at Apsley, a fine, intelligent Scotchman, to whom I am indebted for considerable information respecting the working of the "Free Grant Act." He assured me that during his residence of eighteen years at Apsley this was the most trying year on the crops. Respecting the free grants, he stated this was a good place for the settler and intending settler if they had a few hundred dollars to help them over the first year, to build a house and get a team; they were then in a fair way to get along. The drunken, lazy, and worthless will do no better here than elsewhere, and are not wanted. A man with a family can have 200 acres, and a single man 100 acres free, on conditions of actual "settlement and cultivation." The agent also informed me that the Ontario Government dealt most liberally with the settlers, by giving grants to roads, bridges, schools, agricultural societies, etc. There are schools, churches, mills and stores, and fair roads all through the section of the country; wages are fair and there is plenty of work. The local market for all products offered for sale is good. Persons having a little means should come and see for themselves before trying elsewhere.

Wonderful Popularity.

The fact that the sale of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets exceeds that of any pill in the market, be it great or small, is on account of the fact that they are tiny, little, sugar-coated granules, and that in most cases one little "Pellet" is sufficient for a dose; that they are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless; and for constipation, biliousness, sick headache, and all diseases arising from derangement of the liver, stomach or bowels, they are absolutely specific. A gentle laxative or active cathartic, according to size of dose.

Prof. Dorenwend Coming.

As you will see in another column of our paper Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto advertises to be here at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th, and will have with him the usual big stock of Hair Goods. He makes specialties for both ladies and gentlemen who have been unfortunate enough to loose the whole or part of their hair. For the fall trade he has designed and constructed a great number of new and becoming styles in Frontpieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, &c. There is a noticeable peculiarity in the wearing of hair goods; it is a common occurrence for ladies with good, even, abundant heads of hair to wear Frontispieces, Waves &c. You will probably wonder why—simple enough. Fashion demands that the hair should be worn curled or waved in different ways, and to curl and wave ones own hair is injurious besides being troublesome, hence the use of artificial head-dresses. It is within the reach of everyone to have a presentable head of hair. Call and see Prof. Dorenwend and he will show you articles that we guarantee you never dreamt could be made so perfect. Make a note of place and date. At Phelans hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th. 2w416d

Important to Working Men.

There is no better remedy for frost bites, chilblains and similar troubles, than Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It also cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, deafness and lameness and pain generally. Yellow Oil is used internally and externally. 2w42d

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Lady, Pecking Skin Diseases with Bleeding Sores, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $500.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The nails would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took sarsaparilla, Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, as it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times, if anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

DARING AND SUFFERING.

But it was expedient to take up this one rail more before we finally changed our mode of operations. A piece of torn track had been put before or after every train that we had met. It was well to put a broken road behind this passenger train also, that it might not turn back after us on any sudden suspicions freak and come upon us while working at the Rennes (Oostenaula) bridge. The crisis of our fate approached, and we believed it would be triumphantly passed. Nothing had as yet been lost but time, and if we were fairly prosperous for fifteen minutes more, all would be regained; and the fulfillment of all our hopes, as far as human prospects could reach, be in our own hands.

No wonder that we worked gladly and cheerfully. Scott climbed the pole with even more than usual agility. Some worked at the taking in of all kinds of combustibles, for we wished to be well provided for the bridge. Every stick and piece of wood we could get hold of was soaking wet, but by breaking and whittling they could be made to add to a flame, and from the engine, which was kept full of wood for the purpose, we could give a good start to a fire. We had only one iron bar to drive out our spikes; a bent "crow's foot" would have been worth more than its weight in gold; but we hammered away with what we had, and spike after spike was drawn. Here I saw Andrews show real impatience for the first—I am not sure but I may say the only—time. He had altered his dress, throwing off the cape and high hat that he wore while at stations, and had a small cap on, which greatly changed his appearance. The nearing of the time when his plans would all culminate in success seemed to thrill and inspire him. He snatched the iron bar out of the hands of the man who was wielding it, and—though we had strong and practiced workmen in our party—I had not before seen the blows rained down with such precision and force. Some say that he uttered an oath on this occasion, but though standing by I did not hear him, the only words I did hear being directions about the work, given in his mild tones, but with quite an emphatic ring of triumph in them. He wanted that rail up in the fewest number of seconds and then—the bridge! There were several using a lever of green wood, and trying to tear up the end of a rail from which the spikes had not yet been drawn; but the lever bent too much, and a fence rail was added and we lifted again. At that instant, loud and clear from the south, came the whistle of the engine in pursuit! It was near by and running at lightning speed. The roll of a thousand thunders could not have startled us more.

What could we do? At the end where we had been prying the rail it was bent, but it was still too firmly fixed for us to hope to lift it or break it like the last. But we did the best in our power; we bent the loose end up still further and put the fence rail carefully under it, with the hope that it would compel the pursuers either to stop and adjust it or throw them from the track, and then piled into the car and engine with a celerity born of long practice, and with one of its old bounds that jerked us from our seats—for Brown and Knight threw the valve wide open—the General bore us rapidly on. The impatience of Andrews to reach the bridge had not been diminished by the appearance of this new element in the situation.

Here our pursuers were greatly startled. Their story had been swiftly told when they reached Calhoun, and the engine and tender of the passenger car, with a re-enforcement of armed men, followed them up the road. Fuller stood on the tender of his own train, which was in front, gazing intently forward to see if there was any dangerous obstacle or break in the track, such as they had already many times encountered. Soon he beheld us at work with feelings which cannot be described. Before getting near enough to see our number, we had mounted and sped away, and he saw with exultation that we had not broken the track, and that there seemed to be no obstruction. With full speed he ran on till too close to stop, and then beheld what he believed, at first, to be a broken rail and gave himself up for lost; but it was on the inside of a curve, and as an engine running rapidly throws most of its weight on the outside, when he ran on it the bent rail was only straitened down, and they were safely on the other side of this danger. The next train, which followed almost immediately after, did not notice the obstruction at all. There is scarcely a doubt that two minutes more, enabling us to finish getting a rail up at this point, would have given the control of the day into our hands, for there were no more trains on the road either to delay us or to be turned back after us. But as it was, the Texas pressed on after us without the slightest loss of headway.

The coming of this train before the track was torn up was by far the most serious misfortune that we had yet encountered. But might it not still be overcome? The plan which first presented itself to the undismayed spirit of Andrews was to use two of our cars as projectiles and hurl them back at the enemy. This was more in accordance with his genius, which delighted in strategy, than the plain course which most of the soldiers would have preferred; that is, a straight out and out fight with the pursuing train. Accordingly our engine was reversed—could we have selected a down grade the chance of success would have been better, but we were coming so near the bridge that we could not delay to choose—and when the speed in this way had been checked and the pursuing train was quite close and still going fast, we uncoupled and bounded on again. But the skillful pursuers were not thus to be beaten. They saw what they were about, and checking their headway when the car was dropped, they also reversed, and coming up to it with moderate force, coupled on, which was easier because their tender was in front.

CHAPTER X.

OOSTENAULA BRIDGE.

The bridge was now just at hand. What should we do? To leave it intact was to be thought of only in the direst necessity. We had carried our ammunition—the fuel we had gathered—into our last car, and while it was not as good as we would have liked, yet in a little time we could make a fire. We now pushed a hole in the backhead of our car—[illegible] we had done this in passing from one car to another previous to dropping the last one—and saw [illegible] to let the fuel out on the track while we fled. Tidy followed us "end over end," and showed a most perverse disposition to get off the track, but a few remained. This moderated the speed of the pursuing engine, which was a help that we sorely needed, for it was now evident that they either had a faster engine than ours or better fuel. The latter was certainly the case, for we had been using wood very rapidly without any opportunity for a long time past to replenish it.

WAS MRS. WILLRUTH KIDNAPPED.

While Sit and Unconscious a Stranger Removed Her in a Cab.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A singular case of disappearance was reported at Police Headquarters yesterday, which has all the elements of kidnapping for the purpose of robbery. Mrs. Frederick Willruth left her home, No. 126 Thorn-street, Jersey City, Wednesday afternoon and came to this city to shop. While on her way to call upon her husband, Henry Willruth, who is engaged in a large bell ing, No. 419 Broome-street, she was stricken with paralysis, to which she is subject, and two men carried her into a paint shop on Park-street near by. The woman recovered sufficiently to give her husband's name and place of business and relapsed into unconsciousness.

Two hours afterwards Mr. Willruth received a call from a strange man, who informed him that his wife was sick in the paint shop. He hastened to her assistance, and was thunderstruck to learn that a well dressed man, whom noone knew, had driven up to the paint shop in a cab, and saying that he was a relation of the woman and he would take her home, he placed her in the cab and drove away. At this point all traces of the women is lost. Mr. Willruth spent yesterday searching the hospitals and the Morgue, but nowhere could he learn anything concerning his wife. He said that she was fifty years old and sickly, and he discarded promptly the idea that she was kidnapped for immoral purposes, but he feared that some thief had resorted to this bold move for the purpose of robbery, as his wife wore jewelry of some value.

The police theory is that Mrs. Willruth is in the home of some friends of the family, who have neglected to inform the husband of the fact. They agree that if a thief had removed her in the cab he would have released her after obtaining her valuables. Mr. Willruth fears she may now be held awaiting the offer of a reward.

Big Jim Begley Convicted.

HAMILTON, Oct. 20.—Big Jim Begley was arraigned for trial at the Police Court yesterday on a charge of committing an aggravated assault upon Mrs. Margaret Jackson on Tuesday night last. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the Police Magistrate. He had no counsel. Mrs. Margaret Jackson, a very respectable woman residing at No. 354 Hughson-street north, swore that a few minutes after 10 o'clock on Tuesday night, as she was passing the corner of John and Wood-streets, a man jumped out from the doorway of a house and caught her by the shawl which she had over her head. She let the shawl go and then the man grabbed her, threw her down and kicked her. She screamed and he ran away. She recognized the prisoner as the man who assaulted her.

For the defence Mrs. Begley, the prisoner's mother, swore that Jim was home—about half a mile from where the assault took place—a few minutes before 10 o'clock on Tuesday night. In rebuttal Constable Cameron swore that at 9.55 o'clock he saw Jim Begley in an alleyway on Guise-street, between John and Hughson-streets—half a mile from his home. The prisoner, he said, was going in the direction of where the assault was committed. Begley was found guilty and sent to the Central Prison for 23 months.

An Exception to the Rule.

These dull, dark days, when business is generally stagnant and most of the stores are empty, the bankrupt stock sale at James Best's booms along wonderfully. The splendid $11,000 stock of assorted dry goods and gents' furnishings, bought at 55 cents on the dollar, is being rushed off, and the people are benefitting by the immense bargains offered. Goods are sold at less than wholesale prices. The stock must be cleared off at once. Remember James Best's stand, 390 George street.

Hymeneal.

The London Advertiser of Wednesday, 17th inst., contains the following with reference to a young man well known here, a son of Mr. T. Hurley:—About nine o'clock this morning a large number gathered at St. Peter' Cathedral to witness the marriage of Mr. W. A. Hurley, book-keeper in John Scandrett's establishment, and formerly of Peterborough, and Miss Mamie Spearman, of this city. Mr. John Spearman, brother of the bride, stood up for the groom, while Miss Teresa Hurley, of Peterborough, performed the same office for the bride. Mr. James Spearman, of the Inland Revenue Department, Waterloo, gave the bride away. The ceremony was followed by mass, Rev. Father Hernan officiating, and the full choir assisting. As the happy couple left the church Dr. Verrinder rendered the "Wedding March." The bride was the recipient of a number of beautiful and costly presents. Mr. and Mrs. Hurley left on the 11.40 train, followed by the congratulations of their many friends.

Coal or Wood—Which is the Cheaper?

At this time of the year the above becomes a live question to households and both kinds of fuel have their respective advocates. One thing is certain, however, gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, have a stock of boots and shoes cheaper than either coal or wood, cheaper than any other goods in town, cheaper than any other stock of boots and shoes in Canada. If people keep their feet dry and warm they will have good health and they will not need so much of either coal or wood, and at the rate gough bros. sell their $7,000 stock, the poorest citizen may have comfortably clad feet. What princely philanthropists the gough bros. are! Their presence in town saves thousands of dollars to the people. And the gough's don't do it as a charity—it's straight business. They watch the markets as a terrier watches a rat-hole. They snap up big bargains, they put them on the market at low figures, have small profits but immense sales, and therefore they make money. For cheap boots and shoes gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, beat the earth.

A Political Address

With an Unusual and Pleasant Meeting. Recognition of a Representative's Services.

On Friday night Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., addressed his constituents at Montgomery's school house, 17th concession Smith. The chair was occupied by R. Northey, Esq., and in spite of the unpleasant weather there was a large attendance. Mr. Stratton spoke for two hours upon the legislative work of the past session. At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. R. Harrison came forward and read the following address:—

To Mr. J. R. Stratton, Esq., M.P.P., West Peterborough.

DEAR SIR,—On behalf of the residents of the northwest portion of Smith, we desire to give formal expression to our appreciation of the valuable and assiduous exertions made by yourself in the capacity of our representative in the Ontario Legislature, on behalf of the interests of every part of this riding. We would particularly refer to the success of your exertions in procuring an appropriation for the improvement of the roads in this section of this township, and also to your efforts in securing the opening of the 15th concession to connect with the Burleigh road, giving the people of Smith much easier access to Burleigh and the people of the latter place easier access to Smith, while at the same time your successful exertions on behalf of the improvement of the roads of the northern part of the county, have placed ourselves, the people of the north and the people of Peterborough town as well, under lasting obligations to yourself. This kindness on your part is all the more appreciated since you are the first of our representatives who has recognized our claims or made any practical efforts to meet our wishes. We, as well as other electors, can appreciate a representative who like yourself, takes a personal interest in the welfare of his constituents, who is always easy of approach and willing to courteously attend to their representations, and who does not confine his kindly greetings to a little extra cordiality during the canvassing tour of an election contest. You have made your position so mere sinecure. At considerable personal sacrifice, you have visited every section of the riding, not only to see what was required in the way of material improvement, but you have established a wholesome precedent by being our first representative to take the trouble to meet the electors and to explain to them the course of legislation pursued during the past sessions, in the interests of the people—a courtesy, the value of which we are sure all the electors hold in high regard. What gives additional interest to this occasion, is the fact that you have, in serving this riding, made no political distinctions but have treated every elector and his claims with a strict impartiality, and have thus won the personal respect and gratitude of those, who under ordinary circumstances, would not, as they do on this present occasion, join heartily in recognising the value of your services.

In order to give a tangible form to our appreciation of your services, permit us to present you with this gold-headed cane, coupled with the hope that you may long be spared to occupy your present position, and that it will be many, many years before our little token of regard shall be of any further use to you than to serve as a material reminder of the respect and esteem which we entertain for you, both as a legislative representative and personal friend.

Signed, on behalf of your friends and supporters in North-western Smith,
ROBT. NORTHEY.

The present referred to in the address was an elegant gold-headed, ebony cane, furnished by Mr. W. A. Sanderson, and had the inscription:—Presented to Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., by his friends, North Smith, Oct. 19th, 1888."

Mr. Stratton briefly replied, thanking his Smith friends for their handsome present. He had accepted the position of representative in good faith and entered upon the performance of his duties with a determination to discharge them as conscientiously and as effectively as his abilities would permit. He felt that he was legally the representative of every elector in the riding, and the fact of any elector having opposed his return made no difference in his treatment. He felt it his duty to work for the general good, and he in no case knowingly disregarded the demands upon the policy he had, in this regard, adopted.

This meeting was the seventeenth in the series of meetings Mr. Stratton has held this year for the purpose of giving an account of his stewardship, and it is evident the electors are not indifferent to the courtesy implied in such a recognition of their claims upon their representatives for respectful consideration.

A Benzine Blaze.

About three o'clock this afternoon a small detached brick storehouse, rear of Schofield's drug store, used for storing benzine and other dangerous combustibles, took fire and was damaged considerably. Lee Dunsford, employed in the store, went to the out-house to fill a can with benzine and very thoughtlessly lit a match to see if the vessel was full. The vapor caught the blaze and in an instant there was an explosion and the place was all afire. Dunsford was burned a little about the face. The alarm was soon given, and, though the fire burned rapidly, assisted as it was by the liberal distribution of the blazing benzine it was subdued in quick order after the appearance of the fire brigade, who made good time in getting out. The damage will not be great.

Market Items.

There was a good-sized market this morning. In grain there was considerable movement, the best fall wheat going at $1.20; spring wheat, $1.16 to $1.18; barley, 60c. to 70c. A new buyer has appeared, representing the Rathbun Company. Butter was plentiful at 22c. and 24c.; eggs very scarce at 15c. and 16c. Fowl of all kinds were shown, chickens, geese and turkeys selling at the standard prices. Large quantities of meat came on the market every day, beef selling at 4c. to 6c.; lamb, 7c. to 9c.; mutton, 7c. to 8c.; and pork, 8c. to 9c. A few dressed hogs are coming in. Vegetables and roots of all sorts offered at unchanged prices.

Hunting Bear.

Says the Orillia Times:—Mr. Emerson, a Peterborough man, who this summer moved to Mendonte and settled on the place known as the Fox farm, Gloucester road, has been having quite a time hunting bears since his arrival in these parts. It seems there is a certain bear around there that is unlike the orthodox specimen, inasmuch as he is brown in color, and has various other points of difference from the ordinary Ursus Americanus. On Saturday last Mr. Emerson was fortunate enough to get a shot at his ursine nibbs but failed to bring down the game. The bear has been seen by several, who all pronounce its veritable curiosity in the bear line.

SATURDAY, Oct. 20.

John Kennedy was charged with a breach of the carters' license by-law. It was shown that he was not carting without a license, but was hired by the day. The case was dismissed.

Willie Downer belongs to a "crowd" of boys who almost every night gather around a street corner on upper George street and indulge in mischievous pranks. Last Saturday night Mr. Wm. Harper, of Lakefield, was driving home from town, and when passing Edinburgh street a stone was thrown at him by young Downer and Mr. Harper was rather severely hurt. The lad was brought before the police magistrate, and after he was sharply reprimanded and lectured he was allowed to go.

News Nuggets.

—A light hail storm passed over the town this afternoon.

—A Bible Class for young men is held at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Y.M.C.A. rooms.

—The track-laying and ballasting of the Chemong Lake line has been finally completed.

—The scaffolding of the new block on Charlotte street, that has obstructed the sidewalk for so long, has at length been removed, the brickwork being completed.

—A communication signed "Justice", has been received at this office, but all letters for publication must be signed by the writers' proper name, otherwise they are not printed.

—The meeting of the official board of the Charlotte street church to arrange for sheds sheds on the new parsonage lot, called for last night, was postponed till some night next week on account of the weather.

—Policeman Stewart, who had the murderous encounter with the burglar at Gough Bros'. store some time ago, was yesterday presented with a splendid winter overcoat by Gough Bros', the great clothiers, as a token of their gratitude.

—A queer state of affairs has developed at Lindsay. Several members of the board of trustees do insurance business. Insurance to the amount of $12,000 on the new Collegiate Institute buildings was placed with six agents of companies, members of the board. Proceeding were threatened to unseat the members on the ground that they cannot take contracts from the board while members, and in consequence six have resigned and new elections been ordered.

Literary Notes.

DOMINION ILLUSTRATED—The current issue of this fine publication, Oct 20th, is rich in interest, both in illustration and text. It contains a fine portrait and biographical sketch of Sir Charles Tupper. The other numerous illustrations are extremely excellent, each one being a gem. The text is quite up to the high standard of the other numbers. A volume of a years' numbers of the "Dominion Illustrated," bound, will make a magnificent drawing room book. Montreal, Desbarats & Son; $4 per year, 10 cents per number.

THE PANSY for October, is a charming number of an always fresh, piquent and interesting juvenile serial. Every number is of sufficiently absorbing interest to keep a family interested and on its good behaviour from the time of the arrival of one number till that of another. Boston: D. Lorthrep & Co., $100 per year, 10 cents per number.

London Gossip.

LONDON, Oct, 20. A little lecture to Americans on their treatment of the Chinese may be found in yesterday's Times, should you happen to care for it. Americans who value justice must, in the opinion of this writer, feel greatly ashamed at what is going on. If, however, they reside in districts much frequented by Chinese they are not expected to have a sense of shame. The rejection of the Washington convention at Pekin is not here thought justification for the arbitrary exclusion of the Chinese in violation of the existing treaty. Englishmen in Australia have troubles of their own with the Chinese, and are as eager as the Pacific States in America to keep out the celestial. "But," says The Times, "public opinion in England would not sanction an attempt like that now making in America to override treaty stipulations by domestic legislation. The courts in Victoria, unlike the courts in California, upheld the rights of the Chinamen and decided against their own government, which claimed the prerogative to prohibit the landing of immigrants. The Australian press and public accepted this judicial decision. America is invited to go and do likewise, lest Pekin, which is capable of quiet obstinacy, in the end prove more than a match for Washington.

The week produces the usual number of speeches, including one from Balfour, whom his neighbors of Haddingtonshire have been dining, and one from Sir Michael Hicks-Beach at Plymouth. Much more remarkable is Balfour's discourse at Manchester. There he is reported as saying that the Irish party, and, by implication the Gladstonian party, were supporting politics by crime. But a really important contribution to home rule literature is the letter from Davitt on the Irish land question. Once more that irreconcilable patriot is at issue with the other Irish leaders. He has put a question which must sooner or later be answered: "Who is to settle the Irish land question—parliament at Westminster or Parliament at Dublin?" If the former, Davitt stands ready to repudiate it. If the latter, what becomes of the Liberal declarations that security for the landlord's property must precede home rule?

Davitt puts another alternative: If the English are going to settle the Irish land question they are welcome to do it if they will foot the bill, but if Irishmen are to be taxed to buy out landlords they must fix the terms of payment, and he repeats his view often before now expressed, that the Irish landlords are not entitled to one farthing of compensation. The Irish people are to have the land for nothing.

Few things have of late brought more odium on the home rule cause than the advice alleged to have been given to blacksmiths by Finucane, M. P., to shoe the land-grabbers' horses, but to drive the nails into the quick. Finucane, after a long delay explained by absence, now denies this story, which he calls "an infamous falsehood."

A Short Visit by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto.

Gentlemen who have lost the whole or part of their hair, should remember that they can get artificial coverings to replace their departed locks. The hair is given to mankind for protection and adornment, and when it becomes thin or the head becomes bald, artificial hair should be used. Many say they would not wear a wig, this is owing to their having seen wigs that are fit for nothing, put together by persons who know nothing about their manufacture. If you will go and see Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees, you will find them so perfect that your aversion to these articles will vanish. He will be at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct 24th and 25th. 2w416d

"ALL A PACK OF LIES."

"Old Hutch's" Opinion of Newspapers—He Wants to be Let Alone.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—"Old Hutch" came upon the Board of Trade yesterday morning looking sour and crusty. A humorous morning paper had printed a despatch from New York saying he was getting up a big deal on Wall-street, and several other things. A reporter approached the great man deferentially and asked him about it

"Now, get out of here," roared "Old Hutch" at the first question. "What do I care about what the newspapers say? They're all liars. They lie about me all the time. Suppose they do say I'm in Wall-street. I don't care. That's worse than the rest of the lies they tell. I can't spend my time correcting such things. I wish you'd let me attend to my business. Nobody believes the newspapers, so what's the use? My time is money. I can't waste it talking to you. Now, will you go away and leave me alone!"

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Men's Knitted Top Shirts, at 29c. and up. Men's All-Wool Undershirts and Drawers, all-wool, remember 41c. Fine Flannel Shirts for 35c. Home-made Socks and Mitts, 22½c.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

RESULTS OF THE KAISER'S TOUR THROUGH EUROPE.

M. Floquet's Revision Scheme—The Parnell Defence Fund Lamentation—Coal Trade Troubles

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The German Emperor has left Rome amid popular demonstrations of enthusiasm, which undoubtedly represent the feeling of the Italian people toward the German people, and the alliance of the two nations rests on a broader foundation than it did before this visit. The German Emperor, moreover, will return to Berlin a more powerful monarch than when he left his capital. He has made himself better known throughout Europe. No sovereign's movements ever were followed more carefully or more critically. The impression he has made, alike in St. Petersburg, Vienna and Rome, is the same. The German Emperor is now known throughout Europe as not merely a soldier, but a clear-sighted, capable man of affairs, with strong political views of his own and courage to act on them.

Neither in France nor in England has M. Floquet's scheme for the revision of the French Constitution met with a cordial welcome. In neither is it deemed practicable. In neither is it regarded as much more than a political manœuvre, meant to dish General Boulanger, very much as Mr. Cleveland's Retaliation scheme was meant to dish his Republican opponent.

I do not think the Gladstonian leaders are well satisfied with the course recent political discussion has taken, or with the effect of it on public opinion. The Unionists began earliest in the autumn, and on the whole have had the best of the debate. Mr. Balfour, whatever may be said of him as Irish Secretary, is admittedly a success as a platform speaker. The ablest of the Gladstonian papers, The Manchester Guardian, refers regretfully to his extraordinary popularity. Lord Hartington's Belfast campaign makes an impression on the English public, because it is in Ireland and amid the cheers of great multitudes that he argues against Irish Home Rule.

The Gladstonians, except at Leeds, have made no very great demonstration. They reserve their strength for Birmingham, next month, when Mr. Gladstone will once more put his voice to the hazard in Bingley Hall before 15,000 people. Parliament meets that week also, and before the following week is over the case for Mr. Parnell may probably be opened before the Commission. Those, in fact, are the two events to which all good Gladstonians are now looking hopefully forward. They are confident enough in this near future to contemplate with some indifference what they consider the entirely temporary and delusive success of their Unionist opponents. Meantime they protest vigorously against Mr. Balfour's assertion that they are undermining the principles of public morality. Mr. Morley, at Dumfries denounced this view with great energy. But at the same time Lord Hartington was saying to the Unionists of Belfast: "This struggle began as a struggle between union and separation; but in its progress it has become a struggle of honesty against dishonesty, of order against disorder, of truth against falsehood, of loyalty against treason."

The Parnell Defence Fund makes apparently little progress. Its organizer publishes announcements of a Liberal association which have agreed to raise funds, but of funds as yet only raised nothing has of late been heard. No Liberal leader has subscribed, no ex-Minister of Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Government, no man of high position in the Gladstonian wing of the Liberal party. All preparations have been made for the Commission, which resumes sitting on Monday.

There is a question as to a Coal Trust as well as a coal strike. The colliery owners are so hard pressed that they may think any strategy justifiable to improve their position. Some of them are known to favor in theory the formation of a trust. The practical difficulties are probably too great to be overcome, chief among them being the magnitude of the business to be controlled. Authorities consider that they have a better remedy within reach. Not only the railways, as I said the other day, but the middlemen absorb a great proportion of the profits. There is already a Coal Trust in London in the shape of a permanent coal ring which settles the price of coal to consumers. Its profits are enormous, and no successful attack on them has yet been made.

Germans are standing by Germans in this Mackenzie business much better than English stand by English. Professors Virchow and Waldeyer have now come to the rescue of Doctors Bergmann and Gerhardt. Those eminent analysts agree in discrediting Dr. Mackenzie's story about the abscess caused by Dr. Bergmann, on the ground that the post-mortem showed no traces of it. Their testimony covers other points, and is thought damaging, because Dr. Mackenzie relied upon both for his diagnosis. But the English doctor is not to be disposed of so easily. True, he says, no signs of the abscess were visible after death. That was because the abscess, instead of being limited, as it might have been in a healthy patient, was diffused. He deals not less positively with other technical points, Dr. Lovell supporting him. People here do not take sides strongly on technical points, but they ask: If Dr. Mackenzie were the charlatan you now try to make him out, why did you all—Dr. Bergmann, Dr. Gerherdt and all—agree to his being called in as a consulting physician? To this the Germans appear to have no good answer ready. G. W. SMALLEY.

SATISFACTION IN LONDON.

Over Sir John Macdonald's Speech—Valuable Stock for Canada.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Sir John Macdonald's emphatic statement of Canada's position is most opportune and entirely disproves many statements widely published here from the United States that the Canadian Ministers were growing timid under United States threats, and that they were about to adopt a less resolute attitude.

The steamer Toronto has sailed with a very valuable shipment of horses, ponies and sheep. One hackney stallion has the highest British record. The Welsh ponies are destined for Hon Mr. Pope's farm, also the best Cheviot ram ever exported.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Graydon Dynamite Projectile Company, operating the invention of Lieut. J. W. Graydon, relating to firing dynamite shells from powder guns, has sold the right to use the invention to the French Government for $500,000, through the company's agent, Col. WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The President is in receipt of numerous invitations to visit fairs now in progress in all sections of the country; also to review political parades at several points. EXCITEMENT IN WINNIPEG

TROUBLE ANTICIPATED OVER THE PORTAGE CROSSING.

Both Railways Send Out Bodies of Armed Men to the Scene—The Militia Kept Under Arms in the Barracks.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22.—The wildest excitement prevailed here on Saturday when the news spread round the city that the Northern Pacific and Manitoba Railway proposed crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway's southwestern line with the Portage extension and were to be prevented.

Things looked extremely serious when the Northern Pacific and Canadian Pacific send out train loads of men to the scene of the crossing. The city police were ordered to the spot and a large number of citizens followed. The Local Government had about seventy special constables sworn in, many prominent citizens being among the number.

On arriving at the scene they found a Canadian Pacific engine on the spur right across the site of the intended crossing and a train standing on the main line, both of which must be removed before the crossing could be effected.

The Canadian Pacific train was filled with their special police sworn in by magistrates and hose was attached to the engines to squirt hot water on the crowd if an attempt was made to interfere with the train.

Owing to an accident to the track-laying car, the rails were not laid to within an eighth of a mile of the crossing and nothing was done. The Canadian Pacific sent out another special train last evening laden with men to repel any trespass on their property, which they say they will do to the bitter end.

The military were kept in the barracks all Saturday and Sunday, prepared to leave for the scene in case of disturbance, on a moment's notice.

The Local Legislature is summoned to meet on Oct. 29, to consider what action will be taken in case the interim injunction, which will be argued to-day, is made perpetual.

The Militia Called Out.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The Militia Department was notified yesterday that the local authorities in Manitoba have called out the militia in connection with the railway trouble.

A CAPITAL SENSATION.

Gottlier Leclaire Makes Charges Against Sir Adolphe and Mr. Costigan.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The publication of the following in the city press has caused quite a stir amongst politicians and Government officials.

Jean Baptiste Leclaire, a settler on lots 13 and 14, second range of the township of Wells, Ottawa County, on Monday, made an affidavit in the Hull Circuit Court alleging that he has been unjustly deprived of phosphate lands by Sir A. P. Caron and Hon. John Costigan.

The affidavit says he resided on these lots for twenty-four years prior to 1884. The lots which front the River Lievre above Buckingham proved to contain good phosphates. Leclaire in 1884 applied to Land Agent Cameron at Thurso for mining rights. He did not get the rights, although he offered to pay for them, and as a settler, had the first claim; but some days afterwards he was informed that Sir A. P. Caron and Hon. John Costigan wanted the mining rights, and were bound to get them. A report from Land Agent Cameron says Leclaire had the first right, and had repeatedly offered to pay for the lost, but Cameron could not take the money, because the township was not open for sale prior to 1884.

On the other hand, a letter is published from Sir A. P. Caron, stating that Hon. Mr. Costigan had applied for the mineral rights in 1883, and it was not until afterward that Leclaire made his application. A number of letters and documents are published which it is evident have come out in consequence of the Mercier Government succeeding to the possession of departmental records at Quebec. The Free Press says the Mercier Government will cancel the Quebec grant of Leclaire's lots to Sir A. P. Caron and Hon. Mr. Costigan.

THE JESUITS' ESTATE.

It is Said the Pope Has Decided on the Allotment of the $400,000.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—It is related on very good authority that Hon. Mr. Mercier has received a communication from Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, saying the Pope has given a decided answer on the allotment of the $400,000, voted by the Legislature for the settlement of the Jesuits' estate questions; that about three-fourths is to revert to the Jesuits themselves, Cardinal Taschereau and Laval University receiving but one-fourth.

The Montreal Sensation.

MONTREAL, Oct 22.—The coroner's jury in the inquest on the body of the young French Canadian girl, Emma Geneau, supposed to have been outraged by eight men, was sworn in Saturday morning, and after viewing the body the inquest was adjourned till to-day to allow a post mortem to be made. There were marks of bruises on each side of her body and her breasts are black and blue. On the left side the bruises are very pronounced, as if someone had handled her violently.

The C. P. R. Detroit Extension.

WINDSOR, Oct. 22.—The meeting between the council and the Canadian Pacific Railroad officials will be held some day this week. The general opinion is that the road should be offered every reasonable inducement, but that fifteen years' exemption from taxation is too long. If a bonus is granted it will be with the agreement that the division shops be located here.

Should be Arrested.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 22.—A woman is now traveling through the villages between St. Thomas and Windsor, inducing girls to go to Detroit, and from there they are taken to the north woods of Michigan for immoral purposes. She holds out as an inducement lucrative positions as saleswomen in Detroit, and so far has secured a large number of respectable girls.

The Train Despatcher to Blame.

FREEPORT, Ill., Oct. 22.—The wreck on the Chicago, Kansas City and St. Paul Road has been investigated by a coroner's jury, which holds the train dispatcher at Dubuque responsible for the accident. Railway officials blame the conductor of the second section of the train.

An Alleged Embezzler Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—F. W. Rockow, agent of the Esterly Harvesting Machine Company at Sheboygan, Wis., was arrested here Saturday, charged with having embezzled $2,500 of the company's funds. He will be held until a Wisconsin officer arrives with a requisition.

A Convicted Murderer Attempts Suicide.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Oct. 22.—Patrick Coffey, the recently convicted murderer, Saturday morning obtained a pocket-knife and severed an artery in the left arm. He lost about two quarts of blood. His condition is critical, but he will probably recover. He wrote a long letter, calling the witnesses against him perjurers, and declared that he did not kill Agnes Smith wilfully.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Charged with Seduction—A Suicide at Midnight—A Cold Day for a Swim.

TORONTO, October 22.—A plasterer named John Paley was charged at the Police Court Saturday with seduction under the Charlton Act. His alleged victim is a girl who is not yet 15 years of age. Paley has, it is alleged, been living with the girl's mother on Elm street on immoral terms, and he is now charged by the girl's aunt with the above crime. He was remanded until Friday next and bail was fixed in two sureties of $1000 each.

For some time past a gang of house-strippers has been operating among the unfinished houses of the city. Detective Davis arrested John Bengeffer, Henry Williamson and William Morton on suspicion of being the guilty parties. They were arraigned at the Police Court Saturday, when Morton pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 60 days in jail. He then entered the box and gave evidence which convicted Williamson, who was remanded for sentence until to-day. Bengeffer's case will also be tried. The gang have during their campaign despoiled seventeen unfinished houses of their lead pipe. Morton told Detective Davis that they had sold one-quarter of the pipe stolen for $70.

At a late hour last night a man named Montgomery was found insensible in a lane that runs from Charlotte to Peter-street. He was taken to a house adjacent and Dr. Watson of Brock-street speedily summoned. He used his utmost efforts, but the man died in ten minutes from the effects of poison. He boarded with his brother on Brock-street.

Last week Minnie Snider, alias, Minnie Sinclair got five days for a petty theft. She was released on Saturday, and before leaving carried away a pair of boots belonging to another female prisoner. She was arrested for the second theft yesterday.

On Saturday night in response to a telegram from Hamilton, the local police arrested two boys named John Tucker and James McKay as vagrants. They had run away from the Boys' Home in the Ambitious City.

On Saturday afternoon two gentlemen while standing on the Credit Valley wharf saw a man disporting himself in the bay some 50 yards from the shore. They pulled out to him in a boat and induced him to land, when he fainted and had to be taken to his home, 480 Queen west in the police ambulance. He had no clothes on when picked up, having left them on the wharf.

THIS BOY COULD BEAR PAIN.

He Would Not Tell His Mother His Arm Had Been Crushed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Frank Protesmann, 11 years old, and his brother, three years younger, wandered along the Pennsylvania Railroad track in Jersey City Monday afternoon, picking up coal. They walked beyond Westside avenue, crossing where the track embankment is ten feet above Newark avenue. Then they got on a train, not noticing the engine at one end. When the cars began to move the smallest lad jumped off safely, but Frank was thrown and fell, his right arm lying across the track. The wheels crushed it, and turning round, entangled him in the brake shoe. He was dragged along and released by a spike catching his thigh. It cut an ugly gash six inches long across his thigh and hip.

The boy finding himself free, coolly got up, threw his jacket over his injured arm and walked to his home, No. 174 Van Winkle-street, about half a mile away. The little brother carried the pail of coal and encouraged Frank. Not realizing how badly he was injured and unwilling to tell his mother he had climbed on the cars, Frank kept away from her and bore the pain for a quarter of an hour. Then his sobs attracted her attention and the little brother told what had happened.

A physician was quickly called. He advised that the boy be taken to the City Hospital. The surgeons there decided that it was necessary to amputate the arm. The flesh and bones were crushed and for ever useless. Frank maintained the same coolness during the work of amputation and while the gash in his thigh was being sewed up. It is believed that he will live.

An Actor Arrested.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Charles L. Davis, the actor, was arrested and held for trial Saturday at the Tombs Police Court for having alleged indecent pictures in his possession. Mr. Davis acknowledged having the pictures stowed away in his trunk, and said that they were given to him by a friend. He claims that the arrest was made out of spite because he had Edward P. Myerson arrested for stealing his jewelry. Myerson, he said, told the authorities about the pictures.

Successful on His Third Trial.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22.—Lee Ford, aged 18 years, committed suicide Saturday by taking morphine. He had made three previous attempts on his life, giving him considerable notoriety. When asked why he had taken the drug, he replied: "I want to die, and I guess I'll make it this time." His first attempt was due to the fact that a brother received a costlier Christmas present than he. Another attempt was made because his parents moved from a large house into a small one.

THE FATAL CHOCOLATES.

A GIRL CHARGED WITH PARTICIPATION IN SENDING THEM.

Detective Murray Arrests Hannah Boyd at Thorold—She Denies any Knowledge of the Galt Poisoning Case.

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—The mystery surrounding the now celebrated Galt poisoning case was broken in upon Saturday afternoon, and strong hopes are entertained that it will be speedily dispelled and the perpetrators of the crime brought to justice.

The first arrest was made on Saturday. Detective Murray, of the Ontario Government detective staff, has been working on the case ever since the time of the poisoning, except four days which he spent on an extradition case in Buffalo. On Saturday his investigations led him to this place and to the house of a prominent citizen. He stated to the lady of the house that he wished to see the servant girl and explained the nature of his mission. The girl was called into the presence of her mistress and the detective. She said her name was Anna Bond. When the officer told her her name was Hannah Boyd and that she was charged with being implicated in the Galt poisoning case she trembled and nervously denied that her name was Hannah and that she knew anything about the case.

The circumstance, as may be imagined, caused quite a sensation in the family. Anna is a lively, good looking girl, with bright brown eyes, banged hair and a good figure. She has been nerving in the family for some months and not the slightest suspicion was entertained that she was connected with any wrong doing.

Detective Murray made the arrest and taking his prisoner with him drove to Merritton and took the train there to Berlin. The prisoner was brought before D. Spiers, J. P., charged with being implicated in the poisoning of Meta Cherry of Galt, and was remanded for a week. She is now in Berlin jail.

Mim Boyd was a servant girl, it is said, in the Lowell family at Galt, for some time. She has not been in Galt for several months until recently. A few days before the poisoned chocolates were sent from Toronto to Galt she asked leave of her mistress to go to Galt. She stated that she had received a telegram from her sick sister, that she wished to visit her and that she would return to Thorold the next day. Her mistress allowed her to go and she kept her word, returning next day. What her real motive in going to Galt was is not known, and the mere fact of her going there at that time counts for little. In connection with other facts, however, and her actions while there, it may count for a good deal.

Her reputation in Galt is not that of an honest, upright girl, but rather that of one whose pretty looks and indiscreetness mutually contributed to her way of life. It may be that an affaire d'amour is at the bottom of the insidious attempt on the lives of three families and the death of little Meta Cherry.

The authorities will give little information concerning the case, and decline altogether to state what evidence is going to be brought against the prisoner. They say that a statement of the facts in their possession at present would prejudice the case. The only thing they care to say is that Hannah Boyd is arrested and that the preliminary trial will take place on Monday next.

THE EXCLUSION ACT.

Chinese now Avoid Canada When Crossing the Frontier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Chinese exclusion bill will take some revenue from the Michigan Central and Grand Trunk Railways. As both these lines cross the Canadian frontier, the Chinese dare not take them when bound for Western points. When Chinamen now go into railroad offices to purchase tickets they insist upon going by way of Pittsburg and cannot be induced to change their route. The New York Central, West Shore and other lines which run in connection with the Grand Trunk and Michigan Central Road are losing the trade of these people, nearly all of whom went that way. The Canadian Pacific, it was claimed a short time ago, shipped on an average 25 Chinese each day to Pacific coast points, but the Exclusion Act has put a stop to this also, the Chinese wishing to keep as far away from Canada as possible in crossing the continent.

He is Probably in Michigan.

SARNIA, Oct. 22—The Chinaman who was enroute from Maine to the Western States over the Grand Trunk Railway and who was prevented from crossing here, disappeared during Friday night and there has since been no sign of him. He is supposed to have crossed the line. The customs claim $250 from the Grand Trunk Railway as duty on the Chinaman or that the company must show that he is out of the country.

Indicted for the Murder of Her Husband.

CLARION, Ia., Oct. 22. The grand jury of Wright County has returned an indictment against Mrs. Bertha Diggle for the murder of her husband, George Diggle, on May 24. Mrs. Diggle was playing with a dramatic company at the time of the alleged murder. Her husband was very much averse to her continuing on the stage, and came here to urge her to return home. After much persuasion she consented to quit the stage, but a little later recanted. It is asserted that they quarreled over the matter, and that she administered morphine to her husband in a glass of beer. Mrs. Diggle has been arrested and her case will come up for trial next Tuesday.

The Rand-Avery Company Goes Under.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The Rand-Avery Company, the largest printing house in this city, assigned Saturday to Nathaniel J. Bradlee. Their liabilities are about $140,000 and their assets are estimated at over $400,000.

Compositors Refused an Increase.

JACKSON, Oct. 22.—The proprietors of the Jackson dailies refuse to grant the demand of compositors for an increase to 30 and 33 cents. The reasons are that what they ask for is more than is paid in like sized cities anywhere.

Cardiff and Monmouth.

Second Annual Exhibition of the Cardiff and Monmouth Agricultural Society.

The second exhibition held by this new society at Cheddar was well attended although the day was a disagreeable one. The number of articles entered for competition was large and the show of stock, grain and vegetables would compare favorably with that to be seen at many of the front township shows. The society is in good standing financially, and intends to build a commodious hall during the coming year. The thanks of the society are respectfully tendered to the ladies and gentlemen who acted as judges at the exhibition.

THE W. C. T. U.

Business Transacted at the Second Day's Session of the National Convention.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The convention of the W. C. T. U. resumed its session yesterday morning. Mrs. E. B. Ingalls, of Missouri, submitted a report upon the crusade against the use of narcotics. She reported that Congress had been approached on the subject of a bill regulating the sale of tobacco. The New York Legislature, at the last session, passed a bill regulating the sale of tobacco to minors under 16 years of age, but Gov. Hill declined to sign it. Mrs. Ingalls became quite excited and roundly denounced the Governor. There are now thirteen states, said Mrs. Ingalls, having laws relating to the sale and use of narcotics.

A printed report on labor and capital, prepared by Mrs. Augusta Cooper Bristol, of New Jersey, showed that great progress had been made in the work in the factories throughout the country.

Miss Willard introduced Miss Ella Ackerman, of Alaska, who came, she said, as a fraternal delegate. Miss Ackerman made a short address.

The afternoon session was mainly taken up by addresses. Among them was one by Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey, of Maine, on "Peace and International Arbitration." She deplored the consequences following the rapid growth of the Roman Catholic Church in this country. She said that the church had now gained a foot-hold on the public schools, and urged the convention to give the matter careful consideration.

Mrs. Foster of Iowa, sent up a memorial which, in accordance with the motion adopted yesterday, was referred to the executive committee without being read. It is understood, however, that it is a request that the convention endorse the Republican party's platform.

When reports for adoption were called for, Mrs. Woodward of Nebraska, requested that Mrs. Bailey, of Maine, read the clause in her report referring to Roman Catholics. When this had been read, Mrs. Foster moved that it be stricken out saying that many members of that church were fast friends of the W. C. T. U. This called forth some applause. The motion was seconded and quickly adopted.

RIOTING IN CHICAGO.

Sunday Witnesses a Recurrence of the Street Car Disturbances.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Judging from the experience of Sunday a tempest on Saturday night, the imported conductors and drivers in the employ of the North Chicago Street Railway Company will continue indefinitely to have a hard road to travel. Fully 300 of the old hands are now out of work, mainly owing, they claim to an unfair construction placed by President Yerkes upon the agreement of last Sunday. All these men and their sympathizers are intensely bitter in denunciation of the new men. Clybourne avenue and Halsted-street were the scene of disorder yesterday. At this point huge timbers and loads of brick were thrown across the street forming a series of obstructions resembling in some respects regulation barricades. The neighborhood is densely populated with working people, and these being idle on Sunday filled the sidewalks, windows and housetops.

All women passengers and several men on the first car to approach had been frightened off by crowds of yelling boys before reaching the obstructed corner. A couple of strangers in the city, a reporter, the conductor and driver and the two policemen acting as guards were the only ones who remained. When the car was brought to a halt the air became black with missiles flying from house tops and windows. The car was literally bombarded, the lead in this part of the affair being taken by women mixed in the mob. The riot virtually ended with the arrival of the patrol wagon filled with police. The crowds were dispersed without serious trouble. The mob reassembled immediately, however, when the wagon departed. A prisoner was rescued from two officers who were left behind and the pair of policemen were being roughly handled when the wagon returned again in the nick of time. No one was seriously injured.

The Largest Telescope in the World.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 22. Negotiations are going on between the President of the University of Southern California and Alva Clarke of Cambridge, for the construction of a 42-inch lens for the biggest telescope in the world, to be erected on one of the lofty mountains near Los Angeles. Clarke says he can make such a lens in five years for $100,000. It will be eight inches larger than the Lick telescope and will bring the moon within sixty miles of the earth. The university designs to secure the co-operation of Harvard in astronomical work. The university has a large landed endowment, and there is much local pride here to have the largest telescope in the world.

A "Put and Call"

This is a funny phrase to the uninitiated, but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent. for the option of buying or selling stock on a fixed day, at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious operation to the dealer, but there is a more serious "put and call" than this: when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold and your friends "call" a physician. Avoid all this by keeping in the house Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery This great cure for pulmonary and blood diseases. Its action is marvellous. It cures the worst cough, whether acute, lingering, or chronic. For weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Short Breath, Consumption, Night-sweats, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines. a

Prof. Dorenwend Coming.

As you will see in another column of our paper Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto advertises to be here at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th, and will have with him the usual big stack of Hair Goods. He makes specialties for both ladies and gentlemen who have been unfortunate enough to loose the whole or part of their hair. For the fall trade he has designed and constructed a great number of new and becoming styles in Frontspieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, &c. There is a noticeable peculiarity in the wearing of hair goods; it is a common occurrence for ladies with good, even, abundant heads of hair to wear Frontispieces, Waves &c. You will probably wonder why—simple enough. Fashion demands that the hair should be worn curled or waved in different ways, and to curl and wave ones own hair is injurious besides being troublesome, hence the use of artificial head-dresses. It is within the reach of everyone to have a presentable head of hair. Call and see Prof. Dorenwend and he will show you articles that we guarantee you never dreamt could be made so perfect. Make a note of place and date. At Phelans hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th. 2w416d

MUNCASTER'S

DARING AND SUFFERING.

The first feeling of despondency of the whole route took possession of us as we approached the bridge, with our pursuer close behind. The situation was in every way unfavorable for us. If we passed by without leaving it in ashes we felt that one important part of our business would be undone, even if we were completely successful afterward in evading pursuit and destroying the Chickamauga bridges.

Murphy expresses the opinion that we made a great mistake at this point. There was at this time a long and high wooden trestle by which the Resaca bridge is approached. As we came near we "slowed up," and right in the middle of this trestle we dropped our last car. Murphy says that if we had but thrown it across the track the bridge would have been at our mercy, as well as all the bridges above. He is right, but the difficulty in doing this is greater than he thinks. To pull or push the car off by means of the engine involved some risk of getting the engine itself off, which would have been fatal. We had no good means of moving it in any other way, and the element of time was all important. The pursuers were right behind, and while they could not have fired on us at effective range, they could very quickly have alarmed the town ahead of us, and then the track could have been obstructed to prevent our passage. It is easier to imagine what might have been done than actually to do it, even if the circumstances were repeated.

There was no opportunity to turn and fight at this point. The town of Resaca was within a few hundred yards of the bridge, and any noise would bring help from that quarter. Besides our pursuers were armed with guns, and our only chance of getting at close quarters was by an ambuscade. Had the day been dry, we could have flung fagots from the engine upon the roof, but now a fire even on the inside of the large frame bridge would require careful nursing. With a station only a few hundred feet ahead, where the track might be so easily obstructed, and with the guns of the pursuers behind, we could not give time for this; so we slowly and reluctantly passed over the bridge, after dropping the car, and on through the village of Resaca. The pursuers took up this car as they had done the other, and pushed them both through the bridge, and left them on the Resaca side track.

It may be well to notice here how our ignorance of the enemy and his ignorance of us both inured to his advantage. There had been already many intimations among us that it would be well to turn and fight rather than to be chased any further. Had the real weakness of the enemy on the first train been known, Andrews would have certainly ordered the attack. On the other hand, if Fuller's party had known how strong we were he could not have induced them to continue the chase, even if the resolute conductor himself had not been willing to wait for help. It was believed at first that we were but four—the number on the engine. The estimate was never raised higher than eight, Murphy suggesting to Fuller even then that it would be better to wait for the train behind and take on more men. But Fuller resolved to persevere and at least delay us at the risk of his own life. Had it been known that we were twenty, he and his slender band would not have been guilty of the madness of crowding on nearly twice their number, even if better armed, and sure of help at every station. But this madness, this unreasonable pursuit, the result of imperfect knowledge, served them well.

After passing Resaca, we again forced our pursuers back by dropping ties on the track, and not knowing whether it was a telegraph station or not, we again cut the wires. No obstructions were placed on the track at this point, but it was on a curve, and taking a rail which had been bent in lifting it I placed one end under the rail at one side and the other projecting diagonally toward the train on the other side. The pursuers saw us start, but seeing no obstructions they ran at a good rate of speed right over this rail! Their escape was marvelous. Persons on the tender jumped a foot high, and one of Fuller's stanchest helpers demanded that the train be stopped to let him off! he wanted no more such running as that! But Fuller, though considering this the greatest of their dangers, would not stop; and it was impossible for him to keep a closer lookout than he had done.

But what conjectures did we form to account for the unexpected appearance of this pursuing train? The story as given to the reader was totally unknown then and we were greatly perplexed. The matter had great practical importance. Was the engine started after us by an authority which had also alarmed the whole road ahead of us? If so, we would do well to abandon our efforts for the destruction of bridges and seek our own safety. Of one thing we felt sure, it must have been one of the trains we had passed at Calhoun or Adairsville that was following, but why? There were three possibilities only to choose from. The first and less serious was that the suspicious conductor at Calhoun, who had been so unwilling to let us pass, had determined that we were impostors, and at his own motion had set out to follow us. If so, we would have to deal only with him, and might yet accomplish a part of our work. Or it might be that the freight had run to where we had broken up the track, had escaped wreck, and, turning back, had telegraphed ahead before we had cut the wire. In this case all the road ahead would be alarmed, and this was probable indeed.

A RAILROAD HORROR AVERTED.

An Alleged Train Wrecker Captured in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Springfield, Mo., says: Detective Davis, of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Company, has captured and lodged in jail at Van Buren, Ark., W. R. Centers, charged with attempted train wrecking. Centers' home is in the Boston Mountains, and at one point in this locality the track of the Frisco runs within four feet of a precipice 200 feet in depth. The place is known as Devil's Curve. The charge against Centers is that he had a grudge against the company, placed a steel rail across the track right at the turn, and waited for the night passenger to plunge on the rocks below. Fortunately the obstruction was discovered in time to avert an awful horror.

An engine went over this precipice some months since, and was totally destroyed, the engineer and fireman being mangled beyond recognition.

My Toothache

is an exclamation heard every hour in the day. Toothache is the most common ailment of young and old, and in the aggregate inflicts more suffering than perhaps any other single complaint. A one minute cure is what every person desires to possess. Nerviline—nerve pain cure—acts almost instantly in relieving the agony, and as a sample bottle affords a quantity sufficient for 100 applications, 10 cents bills the bill. Polson's Nerviline is the only positive remedy for toothache and all nerve pains. Sold by druggists and all dealers in medicine 6dw43

An Exception to the Rule.

These dull, dark days, when business is generally stagnant and most of the stores are empty, the bankrupt stock sale at James Best's booms along wonderfully. The splendid $11,000 stock of assorted dry goods and gents' furnishings, bought at 55 cents on the dollar, is being rushed off, and the people are benefitting by the immense bargains offered. Goods are sold at less than wholesale prices. The stock must be cleared off at once. Remember James Best's stand, 300 George street. d

Indian Relics.

Messrs. T. Hay and J. L. Somerville, of the Grand Trunk engineers' office, have in their possession some skulls and bones exhumed from a bank of earth, about three miles east of Hastings, that was being excavated for the purpose of filling in at the new railway bridge in course of erection there. They are supposed to be the remains of Indians, and as the bodies were found at regular intervals it is presumed the place was a burying-ground. Some of the skeletons were in a sitting posture, while others were stretched at length. A few were almost completely enveloped in a casing of clam-shells, which would lead to the belief that they had been persons of consequence among the Indians. One of the engineers on the division, it is said, has fastened up a skull and crossbones, taken from the pit, in his caboose.

Church Chimes.

His Lordship Bishop Dowling held confirmation at Douro church Sunday morning, when 170 persons were received into the church. Rev. Father Rudkins said High Mass, after which the Bishop preached an excellent sermon.

The services at St. Luke's Church Sunday were conducted by Rev. Mr. Warren, of Bowmanville, whose sermons were highly appreciated by the congregation. It is understood that Rev. Mr. Warren has been finally engaged to supply the pulpit during the absence of the rector, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw.

There will be a special meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough at Grafton on November 6th at 2 p.m., for the induction of Rev. C. S. Lord into the pastorate of Grafton and Vernonville.

A Case of Great Hardship.

Mr. John Adlum, whose occupation is that of a laborer, called at the EXAMINER office this morning, desiring to have publicity given to his statement of the hard usage he sustained at the hands of a corporation employe, whereby he (Adlum) has sustained the loss of the use of his left hand for life. He states that, while being arrested a grip of some kind was used on his wrist, and that he, under the circumstances, resisted arrest and the more he resisted the greater the pressure. He asserts that the injuries then received, his wrist being severely lacerated, disabled his hand which, the jail surgeon, he says, assured him, would remain so for life. Mr. Adlum makes further statements, but pending legal action which he says he has taken, it would be injudicious to prejudice the case either way by publishing them.

Wun Lung Gone.

The Chinese laundrymen who have been doing business on Simcoe street for several months have left town in search of pastures new and more profitable. Cheung Lee was the name of the Celestial Mogul who guided the destines of the firm, playfully nick-named by the boys, Wun Lung. But they are both gone, and the little shop that knew them once knows them no more. "Business bad; boys get washee done, no payee." After struggling for a while against a dearth of customers and a decided dearth of pay from the few patrons they did have, the Chinamen had to give up business and leave town. This they did rather quietly, and it is said took with them a large quantity of the linen of other people entrusted to them for washing. Cheung Lee says:—"Me no fooles; no payee, me keepee shirtee." Consequently a number of the boys are out just their week's washing.

A Bad Case of Consumption.

"One lung entirely gone," is the verdict respecting a citizen doing business on Simcoe street. "Wun Lung gone" means that the Chinese laundryman of that name has closed his business and left town. He didn't do a cash business like gough bros., the wonderful cheap men, who bought a $7,000 stock of boots and shoes for spot cash and sell them for cash at less than half wholesale cost. Everybody remarks, as he sees the procession of customers, retiring from gough bros., "got 'em again"—not snakes in the boots, but bargains in boots and shoes. Rock-bottom prices and mountain-high bargains. These are what every mother's son and daughter get at gough bros., 375 george street. If you want to rob your neighbor by proxy, send him to the high price dealers; if you want to put half the ordinary price of a prime pair of boots or shoes in his pockets, send him to gough bros.

Bellegheem's Furniture.

There is not the shadow of a doubt that Bellegheem, the Furniture King, is the best equipped manufacturer and keeps the largest stock of excellent furniture of all kinds in the Midland district. Bellegheem would not have the reputation and have worked up the business he has done, unless he had been deserving of it, and if he has been deserving of this great confidence of the public in the past, he is much more deserving of it now. For he has added immensely to his manufacturing conveniences and resources—enlarged buildings, improved machinery, etc. His enterprise is well known, and he is determined not to be left behind in the race, but to keep the great lead he now has. These facts make it imperative on the public to study their interests and go straight to Bellegheem, the Furniture King, when they want the best of furniture in the market at reasonable figures. Whether you want to furnish a parlor or hall or bedroom or kitchen, Bellegheem's warerooms will supply you with the choicest variety and largest stock to select from. If you want shop or office furnishings of the most artistic designs, best materials and finest finish, leave your order with Bellegheem. In fine, for anything you want in his line, his shop is the shop to go to. The best material, thoroughly kiln-dried, always used. The best of machinery and best of workmen. Every quality is afforded at Bellegheem's, the shop furthest west on Hunter street, to secure as good furniture as is made on this continent.

Handsome Wedding Presents.

In Saturday's issue there appeared a notice of the wedding of Mr. W. A. Hurley, a son of Mr. T. Hurley, of Peterborough, to Miss Spearman, of London, taken from the Advertiser. Following is a list of the presents to the bride, for which we had not space on Saturday:—Mr. and Mrs. T. Hurley, deed of property, easy chair and table linen; Mrs. Spearman, two bedroom suites and numerous household articles; Mrs. Jas. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Notes From the North.

How the Hunters are Getting on — Poor Luck the Rule this Year.

The hunters of the fleet-footed deer who went out to the happy hunting grounds in the north are having lots of luck—of the wrong sort. The deer seem to be particularly slippery this year, and when one is bagged on rare occasions there is great rejoicing in camp. There are plenty of them, but somehow the gay and festive nimrods do not seem as expert in the chase as they were in years back or else the animals have learned a trick or two from bitter experience and are not to be so easily caught. Messrs. R. B. McKee and R. H. Fortye, members of Harry Winch's party, returned to town yesterday rather tired of the vigorous sport that resulted in such meagre spoil. They report that their party have as yet killed only four deer, though nearly every man of them has allowed one or more to escape. They work hard enough, however, rising at four o'clock in the morning and going off duty at dark; rain or shine, they are out at their posts watching for game.

Bears are reported plentiful though as yet none have been killed. On Saturday evening a large black bear was caught up a tree and the hunters it is said would doubtless have killed it but for the involuntary scream of a lady in the party who was quite overcome at her first glimpse of Ursus in his wild state. Bruin accepted the warning and got down the tree and away before his skin could be damaged.

Mr. Tobe Fitzgerald's party are expected home to-night. They are rather disgusted with their luck this year, only three deer succumbing to their prowess. However, they got some good fishing, which is, perhaps, the next best thing.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Landy are stopping at Westlake's, on the shores of Lake Ketchecum, and enjoying the sport.

Messrs. E. A. Morrow and E. E. Wood left Saturday night to join Winch's party.

A party of Rice Lake sports can scarcely boast of better luck. Mr. F. Hall, Mr. C. Shaw and Mr. Wood spent last week on the former's yacht in search of duck, but bagged only a few fowl.

News Nuggets.

—The steamer Golden Eye has been laid up for the season.

—Things are unusually quiet in police circles just now. No court to-day.

—Duncan Clark's female minstrel troupe is stopping at the Grand Central Hotel.

—Inspection day for the 57th Batt. has been finally set down for 15th November.

—The waterworks company to-day received a carload of 8-inch pipe.

—The building of Mr. Calcutt's new boat is progressing. The planking has been begun.

—Master Ley Dunsford was rather severely burned by the benzine explosion Saturday afternoon.

—Two young lads were driving a cow along Hunter street this morning, when one of them got on the animal's back and rode.

—The committee of the trades and labor union meet to-night to further arrangements for the ball on the 15th November.

—The adjourned debate of the St. Peter's Literary Society is to take place to-night at the Separate School.

—Mr. W. A. Sanderson shows some novelties in clocks. He has a couple of "jumpers", in which a toy figure in a baby-jumper takes the place of the pendulum. It is worked by a perpendicular spring that answers the purpose and does away with the customary balance wheel.

Benfort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Stray distant shots indicate that the ducks on the river and lake are exceedingly scarce. Deer in the north also attracted a few sportsmen.

The choice of the Sunday school in the purchase of an organ has been made. The instrument is a handsome Uxbridge organ, and the proof of its quality is shown in its value on Sunday afternoons. Mr. J. W. Crosby made the sale through his agent Mr. R. Sisson.

The cheese factory, which is about closing for the season, has come well towards the front both as to quantity produced and also quality. The Peterborough Central Exhibition credits Benfort with second prize in factory cheese. This is, of course, the first exhibit as the factory has been in operation this season only. An increase in yield is expected next year as the number of patrons will be increased.

Talking 800 Miles.

Successful Test of Telephoning from Buffalo to Boston and New York.

The Buffalo Evening News reports that the new long distance telephone, which is soon to be put into operation there, was tested by the officers and directors of the Bell Telephone Company on the 14th inst. The connections had been put in at 5 p. m. and communication was at once opened between Boston, Springfield, New York, Troy and Buffalo. The wires worked well, and conversations between the most distant points could be as easily carried on as if both parties were within a block or two of each other in the city. The line belongs to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of New York, and is 800 miles in length, going through Troy down to New York, thence to Boston via Springfield, Mass. This test shows that the problem of long distance telephoning has been solved, and all interested were congratulated on its success.

Personal.

Mr. H. H. Smith, Dominion Land Commissioner, Winnipeg, has retured to town from Ottawa for a day or two before leaving for Winnipeg.

Mr. Geo. Blewett, of Napanee, is in town to-day negotiating with Mr. John Craig for the purchase of his confectionery business.

A Short Visit by Prof. Dorenw of Toronto.

Gentlemen who have lost the whole or part of their hair, should remember that they can get artificial coverings to replace their departed locks. The hair is given to mankind for protection and adornment, and when it becomes thin or the head becomes bald, artificial hair should be used. Many say they would not wear a wig, this is owing to their having seen wigs that are fit for nothing, put together by persons who know nothing about their manufacture. If you will go and see Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees, you will find them so perfect that your aversion to these articles will vanish. He will be at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct 24th and 25th. 2w416d

A Rebuke.

An incident which happened at a dinner party of gentlemen recently is worth noting down for the refinement it suggests. One of the guests was known to be a dipsomaniac, although after a severe struggle he had succeeded in breaking away from the dreadful habit of intemperance which had come from disorder ancestors. His only safety lay in total abstinence, and although on this occasion wine was abundant, he did not taste it.

At length it occurred to the host that a practical jest would be amusing, and by his direction the waiter filled the tumbler of this guest with gin instead of water. There being no difference in the appearance, and there being no reason for suspecting evil, the dipsomaniac raised it to his lips. The instant he tasted it he comprehended what had been done, and without a word, he set the glass down and left the room. His nearest neighbor, astonished at his unceremonious leave-taking, turned to see what was the matter, when the grins of the waiter directed his attention to the still full tumbler. He took it up, examined the contents, and understanding in turn the cruel joke that had been played, he followed the example of the victim, and with only a glance of indignation by way of farewell to the host, he too left the room and house. His neighbor in turn sought and found the explanation of this singular breach of etiquette, and the action of the others having furnished him a clew to the sharpest method of expressing the indignation any right-minded man must feel, he, in turn, contemptuously left the table.

To cap the matter short, every guest in turn, amid a silence so impressive that the host lacked either the nerve or the presence of mind to break it, departed in utter silence, until the giver of the feast was left to digest as best he might this bitter but most richly merited rebuke upon his outrageous practical. It is a satisfaction to be able to add that the dipsomaniac had the courage and presence of mind to get into a carriage and drive home at once, where he remained until he had conquered the cravings excited by the taste of alcohol he had unwittingly taken.

Siberia.

Having completed her great Southern Railway to Samarcand, Russia is now turning her attention to the North. Siberia is next to be opened up to trade and civilization. We have all of us had from childhood indefinite conceptions of this vast land as a dreary, inhospitable region, a land of terrible frost, fathomless snows, and interminable wastes. All these features have existed in our minds but as the background for dark pictures of the miseries endured by wretched exiles, doomed by a cruel despotism to all the horrors of a living death in a region of absolute despair. In the light of the better knowledge now afforded by such writers as Mr. Keenan, who is describing the country in The Century Magazine, we find the truth of some of those pictures fully confirmed, but we have at the same time revelations of a very different character. Siberia is now known to be a country of vast, though practically undeveloped, resources, having immense tracts of fertile land, regions of impressive and often beautiful scenery, and, in some parts, of already advanced civilization. The opening up of this vast domain, a continent in itself, will be an event in the history of European civilization. Of course with the entry of the railroad the system of political exile must come to an end. The Government is already taking steps for its abolition. The Administration Council of the Penitentiary Department has recently reported in favor of abolition of transportation to Siberia as a judicial punishment, and in all probability the system is doomed. As the prisoners will henceforth be shut up in dungeons at home, instead of being sent into Siberian exile, it does not appear that they, or the cause of humanity, will be immediate gainers by the change. But the spirit of change and of emancipation is manifestly at work, and will not cease till the whole land has come under its influence. When political exile has died, political imprisonment cannot long survive.

Scott's Emulsion is unequalled. See what Dr. C. A. Black, of Amherst, N. S., says: "I have been acquainted with Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophosphites, for years, and consider it one of the finest preparations now before the public. Its pleasant favor makes it the great favorite for children, and I do highly recommend it for all wasting diseases of children and adults. Put up in 50c. and $1 size. 4w43

Suicide of a Sister of Mercy.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 22.—One of the Sisters of Peace, while suffering from temporary mental derangement Saturday morning, jumped from a third-story window of St Joseph's Home and was instantly killed. She was known as Sister Mary Peter, and was about 30 years of age. The order of which she was a member was established by the Nun of Kenmare. The suicide was Lucy Lawler, formerly an inmate of a convent on Bagget-street, Dublin. Her aunt in Philadelphia has been notified of her death.

The Lead Market.

NEW YORK, Oct 22.—The lead market seems to have struck bottom and Friday's scare is over, at least for the present. The sales Saturday were 200 tons of October at $4 and $3.97½ and the market closed with a comparatively easy feeling prevailing.

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

THE CASE OF THE TIMES.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WEBSTER BEGINS HIS OPENING.

An Impression Said to be Left by the Speech That There is no Absolute Legal Proof of the Charges.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In opening The Times' case yesterday before the commission appointed to investigate the charges against the Irish members of Parliament, Attorney-General Webster said it would be shown that many of the men mentioned in The Times particularly had personally taken part in crimes of the worst kind, while with scarcely any exception the persons mentioned had never denounced outrages or crimes. Owing to the failure of the National League to comply with the commissioner's order regarding the discovery of bank books The Times' counsel had been unable to shape their case as they had expected to, still even without the bank books they would prove that money had been paid by the league to men appointed for the actual commission of acts of violence and crimes. Some of the men thus appointed were connected with the American league and some were provided with money from funds obtained in Ireland. From the outset of the Land League's existence and since the formation of the National League, Mr. Parnell and his colleagues had been intimately associated with Irish-Americans who were advocates of dynamite. Remarkable evidence would be produced to prove this connection and to show also that an extraordinary number of untraced crimes were due to the incitement of the league.

Referring to letters implicating Mr. Parnell and others in crimes, Mr. Webster promised to produce before the commission all the letters which had been mentioned in the trial of the O'Donnell case. He then went on to recount the history of the league's connection with agrarian agitators and showed how they were related to Fenianism. He recited instances where Davitt, Davey, Walsh, Egan, Brennan, and Matthew Harris had held communication with the Parnellite party and declared that they were linked to that party by common aim and interests.

Here a recess was taken for luncheon.

When the court reassembled the Attorney-General resumed, quoting from speeches of Nationalist leaders made from the year 1879 onwards.

When the court adjourned for the day Mr. Webster was apparently only a small way advanced in the presentation of his case. The vagueness and general character of his statement left an impression that The Times has no absolute legal proof of the truth of its charges. Instead of producing evidence that Mr. Parnell and his associates were accomplices before or after the fact, with the Phœnix Park murderers, he will attempt to justify The Times' accusations by raking up outrages attributed to members of the league and trying to connect them with Parnellites.

Mr. Webster seemed to be hampered by a dread of committing himself beyond the most cautious statement. He spoke in his worst form, prosing along in dreary monotone without the least display of rhetoric. There was an utter absence of points in his statement, and his exposition of The Times' case was a generally disconnected one.

The Trouble in Hayti.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Stephen Preston, the Haytian Minister here, has received a cable despatch dated Port au Prince, Oct. 17, announcing the election on that day by the National Assembly of General Francis Denys Legitime as President of the Republic. Cape Hayti, Gonaives, and St. Marc having revolted against the Government, have been closed to foreign commerce and a naval force is before said ports to enforce the decree of the Government against all vessels endeavoring to evade the same.

Mrs. H. B. Stowe's Condition.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 23.—A private letter received in this city from Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, sister of Harriet Beecher Stowe, says: "I have been at my sister's house for two days, watching by her bedside. Mrs Stowe rallied Wednesday and, though feeble again, it is quite possible she may continue with us for some days longer, perhaps even weeks, as her hold on life is remarkable."

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

THE RAILWAY TROUBLE IN THE PRAIRIE PROVINCE.

The Galt Poisoning Case—No one but Officers of the Law Allowed to Visit the Boyd Woman—The Christian Conference.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 23.—No attempt was made to cross the Canadian Pacific Railway track yesterday, the Northern Pacific and Manitoba men, evidently acting under instructions, merely laying the rails up to the other company's right of way. Here they found a long high fence erected and a second locomotive planted directly in their way. If they had attempted to cross the Canadian Pacific Railway had 200 men on guard, but the best of good nature prevailed on both sides, it being understood that nothing would be done.

It is stated that this action was caused by Governor Schultz advising the members of the Government not to commit illegal acts.

It is also learned that while the Government contemplate calling the Legislature together it has not been actually decided upon as reported, nor will a decision be reached until the judgment of the court, which is expected to-day, is ascertained.

The case was argued before Justice Taylor yesterday.

The troops are still under orders, but it is evident they will not be needed, at least at present.

Attorney-General Martin, who is charged by The Free Press and The Call with being the cause of the trouble, said yesterday that it was thoroughly understood with Sir John that the road should be built. He maintains a firm stand and suggests an appeal to England with a request, if necessary, that Manitoba be made a Crown Colony.

CLOSE IN THE BERLIN JAIL.

Hannah Boyd Will be Strictly Watched Until Trial Day.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—There are no later developments in the Galt poisoning case. Miss Hannah Boyd is in the jail here and will remain there till Monday next, when she will be brought before the magistrate for preliminary trial.

The evidence against the prisoner is not such as to prove that she sent the poisoned chocolates or that she had a hand in their manufacture. The arrest is, however, considered important in view of its being believed that the prisoner knows something about the mystery, and that through information she can give the guilty parties may be brought to answer for their fiendish crime.

In the meantime the closest watch is being kept over the prisoner. The sheriff and jailer have received strict instructions to allow no one but officers of the law to visit her.

Miss Boyd formerly lived in Hamilton, and her parents live in Canneu-street east of that city.

Dawson presiding. Addresses were delivered by the president, Rev. Dr. Shaw of Wesleyan Theological College, Rev. Dr. Burns of Halifax, Wm. E. Dodge, President of the Evangelical Alliance of the United States and Rev. J. Wilkie, missionary from India.

After the meeting a largely attended conversazione was held.

Attempted Suicide.

HAMILTON, Oct. 23.—On Saturday a tramp from Toronto by the name of McKay, who is minus all his fingers save two, and is the happy possessor of 1½ feet and 1½ ears, decided to offer up all that was left of him to the tender mercies of the Hamilton and Dundas Railway juggernaut, and proceeded to dispose of himself upon the track with his head upon the rail. When the train came along the broom attached to the engine brushed him off, and his suicidal intentions were rewarded only with a severe cut on the forehead. His wound was dressed and he was then taken before the Mayor, who sent him down for 60 days.

A Safe Cracked.

HARROWSMITH, Oct. 23.—Early Sunday morning the store of Chas. Stewart was entered by burglars, the safe blown open and about $300 in cash and postage stamps obtained. The robbers are supposed to be a band of ex-convicts who have been living around this locality as tramps. There are good prospects of effecting their capture.

Look Out for Counterfeits.

WINDSOR, Oct. 23.—A number of counterfeit $10 bills on the Bank of Commerce are in circulation. They are said to be clever imitations, but the shading of the letters comprising the word "Ten" on the face of the note is unlike that of the genuine one.

The St. Catharines Mystery.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 23.—The inquest on the body of the colored infant found some days ago in the woods by the edge of the canal was resumed here yesterday, and the jury returned a verdict that they were unable to determine whether death occurred before or after the child was placed where it was found. Mrs. Brown, who was held in custody as the mother of the child, was discharged and stated her intention of bringing an action against Truman Pier for seduction.

YOUNG MRS. BLAINE TO SUE.

Seeking $100,000 Damages from James G. Blaine and His Wife.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Gen. Martin T. McMahon, Gen. Roger A. Pryor and Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, counsel for Mrs. James G. Blaine, jr., are about to begin a suit at the instance of their client against her husband's parents, ex-Secretary James G. Blaine and Mrs. Blaine, for damages in the sum of $100,000 for alienating her husband's affections. Young Mrs. Blaine does not sue for divorce for she is a rigid Catholic, and her ideas on the subject of divorce are in accordance with the well-known rules of the church. Besides, those who have the authority to speak for her say that she is still attached to her husband, and, above all things, desires a reconciliation with him. She says that her husband's parents have come between herself and him, so that he has deserted her and refused to answer her letters and telegrams imploring him to send her some token of his affection, and, in a word, he cast her off.

MURDERED AT THE CHURCH DOOR.

A Fallen Woman of Columbia Killed in a Fragmented Part of the City.

COLUMBIA, S.C., Oct. 23.—At 11.30 o'clock Saturday night people living in the vicinity of Trinity Episcopal Church heard three pistol shots. That part of the city is orderly and the shots made it as bright as day. No significance was attached to the shooting until Sunday morning when the sexton, going to open the church, found the dead body of Claudia Harris, a degraded woman, at the church door. Three bullets had entered the breast, one penetrating the heart. The powder had ignited the bosom of the woman's dress and burned it away.

The murder was committed within ten steps of the street corner and within twenty yards of occupied houses. There was no outcry of any kind and the first shot must have been fatal. The police are entirely at sea. There is no clue to the murderer and no motive for the crime can be conjectured except possibly a desire to imitate the Whitechapel murderer.

FIRES OF A DAY.

Loafers Kindle a $1500 Blaze in a Montreal Stable with Their Pipes.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—About 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning an alarm from box 30 brought out the western division of the brigade for a fire in the hayloft and stable of Pierre Cloutier, No. 77 Common-street. There was a big blaze, and for a time it was feared that the fire would spread, but four streams were quickly laid on and the premises deluged with water. Notwithstanding the efforts of the brigade, six valuable horses were burned to death. The Salvage corps saved several coal carts, some of which were badly scorched. The damage will be in the neighborhood of $1,500, mostly covered by insurance. During the evening a crowd of loafers were hanging around the stable, and it is supposed a spark from one of their pipes set the place on fire.

A Farmer's Serious Loss.

UXBRIDGE, Oct. 23.—At about 11.30 p.m. Saturday Mr. Alex. Oxtoby's barn and outbuildings near Udora were burned to the ground. In the barn was all of this year's grain, five valuable horses and a threshing machine belonging to Messrs. Moore & Scott of Udora, and in the outbuildings were eleven pigs, all of which were consumed. The fire is supposed to have originated from some flying sparks from the threshing engine. Mr. Oxtoby's loss is estimated at $3000 with only $200 insurance. Messrs. Moore & Scott's loss on separator is $500, no insurance.

A $300 Blaze at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Oct. 23.—Toye's bakery was damaged by fire to the extent of about $500. Insured in the Royal and London & Lancashire and the Ætna.

The Bear Got One of His Toes.

KINGFIELD, Me., Oct. 22.—William Nickerson was hunting partridges about half a mile from his house when hearing his dog bark and hastening in the direction of the sound, he found that the dog had encountered a large bear. As soon as the latter saw Mr. Nickerson he made for him, growling fiercely. Nickerson started to climb a tree, taking his gun with him. He had climbed six or eight feet when the bear caught him by the trouser-leg and tried to pull him down. The trousers gave away. The bear then pulled off Nickerson's shoe, and at his next trip up the tree carried down one of Mr. Nickerson's stockings and one of his toes, badly lacerating two more. As the bear was climbing the tree again Nickerson gave him a charge of shot.

Eleven Conductors Bounced.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Eleven conductors on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad received blue envelopes containing notice of dismissal yesterday morning. No reason is given for their discharge but it is known that detectives have been riding over the road for two or three weeks past and it is supposed that they have given information against the ousted men. There is much excitement among railroad men, and in view of the fact that a majority of the men discharged are considered upright, those who remain feel very uneasy.

THE VACANCY ON THE SUPREME COURT BENCH.

It is Thought that an Appointment Will be Made Within a Few Days—The Kingston Graving Dock.

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—It is believed that the vacancy in the Supreme Court bench caused by the death of Judge Henry will be filled in the course of a few days. A large number of names have been mentioned in connection with the position; one the Chief Justice of Manitoba and another Chief Justice Haggerty, but as the vacancy occurs in the Maritime Provinces it is most probable that it will be filled from that section.

Plans and specifications for the Kingston graving dock are now nearly ready and tenders will shortly be called for. It is not probable that stone from the penitentiary quarry will be used, but the contractor will supply the stone.

There are a number of cases of typhoid fever in Ottawa and vicinity at present, amongst them being Mr. Thomas Fuller, chief architect of the Public Works Department, whose condition is somewhat critical.

Mormonism and the Bible.

Being a Series of Papers which will Appear from Time to Time, Exposing One of the Most Absurd Travesties of Christianity Ever Attempted to be Palmed Off on the Unlearned and Untaught in Biblical Study.

(Number One.)

The history of the origin of Mormonism is so well known that no further attempt will be made to criticise its absurd pretensions. The method that will be adopted will be a thorough criticism of the Scriptural passages to which the followers of Joseph Smith, the prophet and seer, appeal to warrant the existence of their belief, and having shown, as we intend to do, that the Mormon creed is alone supported by a gross misapplication and misquoting of Scripture, we shall rest confident that no thoughtful person will give its absurd origin any farther consideration. The reason for these papers being written is the recent rapid growth of Mormonism in Canada. The writer, the Rev. Arthur E. Whatham, who is in charge of the Church of England mission in the townships of Cardiff and Monmouth, came in contact with a preacher of the "Re-organized church of Latter-day Saints," who had successfully converted many of the inhabitants of the township of Monmouth to his church. Mr. Whatham held a public debate with this preacher, Mr. W. J. Smith, and thoroughly worsted his arguments. After the debate, however, Mr. Smith took advantage of Mr. Whatham's absence to circulate a written statement of his church's appeal to Scripture for its existence. It is the dishonesty, absurdity and want of biblical knowledge exposed in this written statement that these papers are especially intended to bring to light. The branch of the Mormon church to which Mr. Smith belongs is the original body which refused to go with Brigham Young to Utah, and which chose the son of Joseph Smith as their leader and president.

Therefore, in showing the absurdity of the tenets of this branch of the Mormon church we shall be getting at the root of the whole matter. It is this branch that is pushing its way vigorously into Canada. It is quite time that these "Josephites," as they are called, in opposition to the "Brighamites" of Utah, do not practice polygamy, but for this very reason the Christian church looks upon them as having more power to mislead ignorant and confiding people, because they make such much of their denial of polygamy. The Rev. Thos. F. Day, a leading Presbyterian minister of American Fork, Utah, who knows both branches well, writes:—"Some of us see but little more than an external (no essential) difference between the faith of the Brighamites and that of the Josephites; it is all anti-Christian and soul-destroying."

Mr. Smith, in his paper, gives a numerous array of texts from scripture in support of his belief. To some of these he has added explanations, to others assertions of his own, while to others he has mis-quoted. His object was to prove that a new revelation was given to certain descendants of the tribe of Ephraim, who crossed over to America in 592 B.C., and there received this revelation, which, being handed down by them to their descendants for a thousand years, was finally written in a book which was then sealed and hidden in the earth, and which book Joseph Smith discovered by celestial aid. Now the Mormons assert that scripture alludes—

1. To the new revelation.
2. To those who were to receive it.
3. To the place where it was to be given.
4. To the how and when (this new revelation) was to be discovered, and the opposition of unbelievers.

I shall reply to each of these assertions in a separate paper, giving the texts cited by Mr. Smith in support of his creed.

THE NEW REVELATION.

No. 1.—Hos., viii, 11-12: "Because Ephriam hath made many altars to sin, altars shall be unto him to sin. I have written to him the great things of my law, but they were counted as a strange thing."

Mr. Smith asks: "Where is that law if the book of Mormon is not it?" He objects to the law of Moses being taken as this law, asserting that the Mosaic economy did not contain the great things of God's law. But Deut. iv, 8v. says, "What nation is there so great that hath statutes and judgments so righteous as all this law, which I set before you this day."

Deut. vi 1-2v., "These are the commandments, the statutes and the judgments which the Lord your God commanded to teach you. • • • Which I command thee, thou and thy son, and thy son's son," etc.

Ps. cxix, 17v., says, "Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law."

Exo. xx, 11v., says, "I gave them my statutes and showed them my judgements", which if a man do he shall even live in them."

Live in them, and yet Mr. Smith can say this law contained "no great things," though a man could live by these wondrous things which David desired to see.

In order, however, to show that in this Mosaic economy there were no great things, Mr. Smith cites Rom. viii, 3, Gal. iii, 24-25, Heb. vii, 18-22, ix, 8-14. But these passages show merely the weakness of the flesh to keep the law, and not that the law contained no great things. In Rom. viii, 3, St. Paul says, "the law was weak through the flesh;" but he tells us distinctly in Rom. vii, 12, that "the law is holy and the commandment holy, and just, and good," and yet, in the face of this, Mr. Smith says that the law of Moses contained no great things. But we have shown that St. Paul speaks of the law as "righteous and holy;" that Moses speaks of the Israelites as possessing a law full of righteous statutes and judgements; that David refers to the law as containing "wondrous things," which, says Ezekiel, "if a man do, he shall live." Yet, in opposition to all this Scripture, showing the law to be righteous, holy, wondrous, and able to give life if kept, Mr. Smith says "it contained no great things." Where Mr. Smith is wrong is in his interpretation of the weakness of the law, the weakness not being in the law itself, but in ourselves, who, through the flesh, were unable to keep the great things of the law.

But Mr. Smith evidently ignores this because he wishes us to believe, that Hos. viii, 12v. refers to a new revelation which the book of Mormon alone contains, and which was given in America to two families who left Jerusalem in 600 B.C., and after eight years wandering landed upon the western shores of the northern portion of the American continent 592 B.C., where they received this new revelation. And so he asks "where is that law if the book of Mormon is not it?"

But here begins to be seen the gross ignorance of Mr. Smith as a Bible student. Hos. viii has the date 760 B.C. in the authorized version of King James. Therefore, even supposing that Hos. viii 12v. refers to a new revelation, it was not given in America, as Mr. Smith asserts, because, even according to the book of Mormon, the two families who received it in America did not reach that continent until 168 years after the Bible tells us that these things were written to Ephraim. That is to say, in plain English, that the supposed new law was given in Palestine to the whole of Ephraim quite a hundred years before the two families could have been born who went to America and there received this new revelation.

Absurd as this appears, Psalm lxxviii., 9-10, closes all chance of escape. We there read that the children of Ephraim rejected the law of God. There can be no disputing that this is the same law which Hosea says, "Ephraim counted as a strange thing." Now, Psalm lxxviii. was written more than a thousand years B.C. That will give, then, between four and five hundred years for the delivery of this new revelation to Ephraim, prior to the birth of those who, we are asked to believe, received it as a new revelation in America. The absurdity of the whole thing is too apparent to make any further comment necessary. The ignorance of Mr. Smith as a Bible student in connecting Hosea viii., 12v., with a supposed revelation given 168 years after, at the very least if not more, becomes more apparent the farther we investigate his Scripture references. He quotes Isaiah xxix., 11v.: "And the vision of all is become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed," and wishes us to believe that here we have a reference to the new revelation in a sealed book supposed to have been discovered by Joseph Smith. But a mere novice in Bible study can see that the prophet refers to the vision of God's dealings which he is portraying to the Jews at that time, and not to anything in the future. For he says, ver. 11. "The vision of all is become unto you", etc. These words were uttered 712 B. C. How can they possibly refer to a new matter not revealed until 592 B. C.? But besides this, the prophet is not really referring to any book at all as an actual book, for he says merely "the vision is become as the works of a book that is sealed," meaning, that the understanding of the people has become so blinded by their sin and pride, that God's dealings with them have become like a closed book, which they cannot read. This obvious explanation, however, does not suit Mr. Smith. He wants a sealed book at any price, however he mis-quotes and mis-applies Scripture. So he turns to Dan. xii 4v. "But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book." and endeavors to palm this off as the sealed book found by Joseph Smith. But this vision without any explanation as to what it refers to, can have no connection with the revelation given in America because Daniel wrote his vision 534 B.C., that is to say 58 years after the two families before mentioned had left for America. Not content with this extraordinary criticism, Mr. Smith quotes Habakkuk ii, 1, 2, 3, where the prophet is told to write his vision, and endeavors also to palm this off as Joseph Smith's book. But not only was this vision written in Palestine 34 years before the said two families went to America (626 B.C.) so that it, as well as Dan. xii, 4, can have no connection with the vision given in America. But Habakkuks' vision was not to be sealed as Joseph Smith's was, but it was to be written so plain that everyone could read as they passed by.

To close our criticism of this extraordinary misapplication of Scripture, we ask our readers to bear this in mind, viz: How can visions written by Daniel and Habakkuk have anything to do with a revelation written by Mormon the prophet.

To sum up, I have shown

1. That Hos. viii, 12, having been written in Palestine in 760 B.C. can have nothing to do with a new revelation not delivered until after B.C. 592, and then delivered only at the other side of the world, in America.

2. That Isaiah xxix, 11, does not refer to any actual book.

3. That Dan. xii, 4, being a vision delivered to Daniel 58 years after the two families had left for America can have nothing to do with any revelation they received in that country.

4. That Hab. ii, 1, 2, 3, having been written 34 years before the said two families left for America, can have nothing to do with any revelation these families received only on that continent.

5. That revelations given to prophets in the old world can have nothing to do with a supposed revelation given to prophets in the new world.

Therefore, when Mr. Smith appeals to Hosea, Daniel and Habakkuk to support his idea of the "new revelation," he is guilty of misapplying scripture, and when he appeals to Isaiah as a witness for the "sealed book" he is mis-quoting scripture. But Joseph Smith pretended that he had discovered this sealed book buried in the ground, and, in order to get people to believe it, he must needs find scripture warrant, so he produces Ps., lxxxv, 11: "Truth shall spring out of the earth," and wishes us to believe that this refers to his book, which he says he brought out of the ground. But Ps., lxxxv, 11, says nothing about a book, and we have shown that the scriptures which the Mormons take to support their idea of the book have no reference to any revelation given to them.

Ps., lxxxv, 11, is explained by Isa., xxxii, 16: "Righteousness remains in the fruitful field," meaning that somebody's righteousness is evidenced by the fruitfulness of the fields. But whose righteousness? We soon find out by turning to Gen., viii, 22. There God tells Noah that "while the earth remaineth seed time and harvest shall not cease." Thus the fruitfulness of the field would evidence God's righteousness in the fulfilment of His promise, and the growing crops would be His "truth" coming out of the ground. Had the author of Mormonism thoroughly understood Ps., lxxxv, 11, he would have found the explanation in the following verse of the same psalm, without running over the whole Bible to find a support to his theory in irrelevant passages. The 12th verse says, "Yea, the Lord shall give that which is good, and the land shall yield her increase." That which is good is the evidence of His "truth" which was to be seen in the land yielding her increase.

However, Mr. Smith, to support his theory, must have something out of the ground. So he quotes Isaiah xxix., 1-4v., which portrays Jerusalem speaking out of the ground, and wishes us to believe that this refers to the book Joseph Smith took out of the earth. But even if Isaiah xxix., 1-4v., actually meant that Jerusalem should speak out of the ground, it has nothing to do with Joseph Smith, for Jerusalem speaking out of the ground cannot have anything to do with a supposed discovery of a hidden book in America. Nor can a prophecy directed against the inhabitants of Jerusalem have any thing to do with any descendants of Ephraim, who, according to Mr. Smith's own statement, were to be the recipients of the new revelation. It is true, as we shall show, that Mr. Smith mentions two families leaving Jerusalem and coming to America by the command of God, 592 B.C, and who received in that country a revelation which having been handed down by their posterity for a thousand years was ultimately buried in the earth, and only brought to light by Joseph Smith. All this sounds very pretty, but to connect it with at one time Ephraim and another time Jerusalem is very poor criticism, and shows us that there is something decidedly defective in the whole system. The actual meaning of Isaiah xxix; 1-4 is a picture which the prophet draws, wherein he likens the rebellious inhabitants of Jerusalem to people taking counsel of wizards, who pretended to make the dead speak from their graves, (see Isaiah viii. 19.) But Mr. Smith does not want the real meaning, he wants to prove his theory only, so detaching various passages from their context he joins them together, and tries to pass them off as though they were connected. Having seen, however, that his entire references to Scripture so far are ignorant misapplications, we shall now conclude this paper by answering his question, "Where is that law if the book of Mormon is not it?" It is the law of Moses, and this we shall show more fully in our next paper. VINDEX.

Prof. Dorenwend Coming.

As you will see in another column of our paper Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto advertises to be here at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th, and will have with him the usual big stock of Hair Goods. He makes specialties for both ladies and gentlemen who have been unfortunate enough to loose the whole or part of their hair. For the fall trade he has designed and constructed a great number of new and becoming styles in Frontpieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, &c. There is a noticeable peculiarity in the wearing of hair goods; it is a common occurrence for ladies with good, even, abundant heads of hair to wear Frontispieces, Waves &c. You will probably wonder why—simple enough. Fashion demands that the hair should be worn curled or waved in different ways, and to curl and wave once own hair is injurious besides being troublesome, hence the use of artificial head-dresses. It is within the reach of everyone to have a presentable head of hair. Call and see Prof. Dorenwend and he will show you articles that we guarantee you never dreamt could be made so perfect. Make a note of place and date. At Phelans hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th. 2w416d

Or, once more, a messenger might have been sent down to Marietta from Big Shanty, and a dispatch sent to Atlanta and around the whole circuit of the Confederacy back to Chattanooga, and, before the wires had been cut, to one of the trains we had passed, with orders to follow us closely and prevent us from damaging the road until a train could be sent out from Chattanooga to secure our capture. If either of these latter conjectures were true—and they were the most probable—our race was almost run! We would be obliged to leave the road, and assay the far more difficult task of escaping on foot. If Andrews thought either of these probably true, it would fully account for his reluctance in ordering the capture of a pursuing train; for such a capture could do no permanent good, while every one of his party wounded in the fight would be disabled for the inevitable and terrible land journey ahead, and would surely be lost. In view of the almost hopeless situation as it appeared to us then—far worse than the reality, for the road ahead had not been warned as yet—the heroic constancy of Andrews, who continued to put forth every possible effort as coolly and quietly as if success had been within his grasp, is made brightly conspicuous. There were now three chasing trains; first, Fuller and his men with the locomotive of the down freight; second, the Calhoun passenger, which had immediately followed him and was not very far behind; and last, the train started from Marietta, and loaded with soldiers.

For a time after leaving Resaca we did not run very fast. It was evident that we could not get away from the engine behind us by mere speed; the only hope was in some way to disable them, or to obstruct the track; and we were obliged to be saving of our fuel. But now we were approaching Green's, a wood station near Tilton, and we were determined to have a fresh supply at any cost. So the last wood in the box, with a little of our precious oil, was shoved into the furnace, and Brown, who had now taken the throttle, turned on a full head of steam, and we once more flew along the track. At the same time we who were in the box car put a line of ties along its floor and kept them moving to the hole in the end, and let them drop as fast as possible on the track. This was rapidly exhausting our ammunition, but it was effectual in enforcing slowness and caution upon our pursuers. Fuller could not run rapidly in the face of such a succession of obstacles. He did the best he could, giving the signal to reverse whenever he saw a tie on the track, jumping off and removing it, and on again, when the engineer would start with a full head of steam, and reduce speed, as the engine gathered headway to such a rate as would admit of stopping in time when another tie was seen. It was fearfully perilous, and the only wonder is that he was not wrecked long before the chase was done. But he probably understood that we were racing for the wood yard ahead.

When we reached it there was no lingering in the work of loading up. The wood was piled in frantically by men working for life; but before we had half filled the tender we again heard our relentless follower. So eager were we to get the largest possible supply of wood that we did not take their first whistle as a sufficient intimation to start. Then came scream after scream of the most unearthly character, obviously designed to alarm the keeper of the woodyard that he might hinder us from getting a full supply. But this did not discourage us, for even when Andrews reluctantly gave the word to come on board, Wilson, who as fireman had a great appreciation of the need of fuel, lingered still to get a huge armload more, and the enemy, seeing our engine standing there, were actually obliged to "slow up" to avoid the collision that seemed inevitable. However we did not wait for them to get close enough to use their shotguns—at least not to any effect, though Wilson is quite positive that some guns were fired. He says:

"We had, however, secured only a partial supply when the chasing train came in sight, loaded with armed soldiers. Our pursuers were worked up to an infuriated pitch of excitement, and sent the very air with their screeches and yells as they came in sight of us, like dogs when the quarry is sprung. They opened on us at long range with musketry. The bullets rattled around us like hail, but fortunately none of our party was hit."

CHAPTER XL

A DIRECT RAILROAD CHASE.

But we now had a good head of steam, and with a joyful bound our engine, as if refreshed from its rest, sped on again. We had been careful to so obstruct the track that the enemy was obliged to come to a full halt, and thus give us time to once more get out of sight.

We passed Tilton in safety, and the water station, which at that time was at a different place from the wood yard, was soon reached. Our supply of this necessity was low, and without it our progress would be at once arrested. We stopped, adjusted the pipes, told the powder story—although from the battered appearance of our only car, with a hole knocked in each end, that story was no longer plausible, but it answered for the moment and we succeeded in getting all the water we needed. Had any objection been made we would have taken it by force, and the assurance with which we went to work aided in securing confidence. Before the tank was full the pursuers came in sight, but seeing us they ran slowly, and as a party of our men had run back and put some obstructions on the track, out of gun shot, they were obliged to come to a full stop there, thus giving us the time needed, and we mounted and sped on toward Dalton.

It was advisable at once to get decidedly ahead of the pursuers before reaching this town, which might present serious difficulties. As there were no bridges to burn now for a considerable distance, the only other thing was to try once more to tear up the track. The engine was again in good running condition, and we rushed rapidly forward, putting frequent obstructions on the track—mostly by dropping ties or sticks of firewood, but in one or two instances by reversing the engine, jumping out and piling up obstructions. At a favorable place we stopped again for a more permanent break.

"RETRACT OR DIE."

A Slanderer Shot by Ironic Editor Cosgrove in Texas.

CISCO, Texas, Oct. 23.—J. L. Cosgrove, editor of The Cisco Round-Up, has shot J. G. Thomas, City Marshal, in the left arm, shattering it so badly that amputation was necessary. Thomas had, it was alleged, circulated slanderous reports concerning the editor's wife.

When accused of this he assaulted the husband, who is a small man, and chased him to his office.

Yesterday Cosgrove procured a pistol, sought out Thomas and gave him his choice of retraction or death. Thomas refused to retract and was at once shot.

STRIKERS SEEK REVENGE.

They Break Every Window in a Kansas City Man's House.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—A number of striking switchmen, formerly employed on the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs Railroad, surrounded the house of Edward Dore, at No. 1314 Liberty-street, yesterday afternoon, and broke every window in the house. Several pistol shots were fired. Dore was injured by a rock that struck him on the arm.

A squadron of police arrived on the scene, but too late to make any arrests. Bad feeling was engendered by Dore's having employed a number of switchmen who have taken the places of the strikers.

150 Dead and Wounded Identified.

ROME, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Potenza says that there were 400 passengers on the train which was crushed by a land slide a few days ago. One hundred and fifty dead and wounded have been identified. Many of the victims are unknown.

Scores continue to be unearthed. Soldiers are working hard at the wreck. The work is impeded by cold and snow. An entire theatrical company was killed. Several headless and armless corpses have been found in the neighboring river.

A mother who had been driven mad by the catastrophe refused to release from her embrace two dead children. A young priest was buried for two hours and when extricated it was found that his hair had turned white. An entire family consisting of six persons was killed.

Two carriages in which were thirty carabineers sustained no damage. The carabineers were able to assist in extricating the victims. All the officials attached to the train were killed. It is estimated that 200,000 cubic metres of earth fell upon the line. Many of the passengers who escaped with their lives left the scene immediately after the accident. It is therefore impossible as yet to tell the exact number of the killed.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Weds Dr. Ward.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 23.—Miss Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, authoress and poetess, was married very quietly at Gloucester to the Rev. Dr. Herbert D. Ward, who is connected with The New York Independent. The ceremony took place at Miss Phelps' summer cottage, and was performed by her brother, Prof. Austin Phelps, of the Andover Theological Seminary. The fact of the marriage was known only to a few, and there were no guests present. Mr. Ward is an enthusiastic yachtsman, owner of the sloop Siva, and spent the summer months at Gloucester.

My Toothache

is an exclamation heard every hour in the day. Toothache is the most common ailment of young and old, and in the aggregate inflicts more suffering than perhaps any other single complaint. A one minute cure is what every person desires to possess. Nerviline—nerve pain cure—acts almost instantly in relieving the agony, and as a sample bottle affords a quantity sufficient for 100 applications, 10 cents bills the bill. Polson's Nerviline is the only positive remedy for toothache and all nerve pains. Sold by druggists and all dealers in medicine. 6dw43

SYMPTOMS—Moisture, intense itching and stinging, most at night, worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. The Triumphant Three.

"During three years' suffering with dyspepsia I tried almost every known remedy but kept getting worse until I tried B. B. B. I had only used it three days when I felt better; three bottles completely cured me." W. Nichols, of Kendal, Ont. 2w42d

Praiseworthy.

Important to Working Men.

Artizans, mechanics and laboring men are liable to sudden accidents and injuries, as well as painful cords, stiff joints and lameness. To all thus troubled we would recommend Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the handy and reliable pain cure for outward or internal use. 2w42d

It is a recognized fact that the hair is the great essential part of beauty. Where is the effect of wearing fine clothes, dresses, jewelry, bonnets, etc., if the hair is not in keeping. A thing of beauty is a joy forever, and a nicely dressed head of hair is a joy hard to discount. A nice Head-dress is the only thing that has a direct improving upon the expression of the face.

I have taken great pains this fall to produce a stock of Hair Goods that will eclipse anything I have yet offered, and I feel confident the Ladies and Gentlemen who patronize me will be well satisfied with my efforts to supply them with coverings for the head which rival nature in perfection.

Little Willie Downer carries his brother's dinner to Mr. Law's iron bridge works every day, and got into trouble yesterday afternoon In his inquisitiveness to know the workings of some parts of the machinery, he commenced fooling around the large punch and got his foot caught in the cog wheels, and now mourns the loss of half his great toe. Gentlemen who have lost the whole or part of their hair, should remember that they can get artificial coverings to replace their departed locks. The hair is given to mankind for protection and adornment, and when it becomes thin or the head becomes bald, artificial hair should be used. Many say they would not wear a wig, this is owing to their having seen wigs that are fit for nothing, put together by persons who know nothing about their manufacture. If you will go and see Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees, you will find them so perfect that your aversion to these articles will vanish. He will be at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct 24th and 25th. 2w416d

Ragan on "Paris," was limited only by the size of the building. It was composed of the elite of the city. The illustrations were shown by lime light, and were produced so strikingly and real as to bring the audience seemingly o the very spot from which the scenes were taken. Mr. Ragan is a pleasant speaker, possessed of a deep, mellow voice; it is a pleasure to hear him talk. His descriptions are graphic, and replete with valuable information. 1d

St. Joseph's Hospital.

The corner stone of the new building for St. Joseph's Hospital, will be laid with the usual church ceremonial, by his Lordship Bishop Dowling, at St. Leonard's, Ashburnham, on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m., assisted by a large number of diocesan clergymen and clergymen from Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston and other places. On the occasion the Fire Brigade Band will be present. No doubt the interesting ceremony will attract a large concourse of spectators.

An Exception to the Rule.

These dull, dark days, when business is generally stagnant and most of the stores are empty, the bankrupt stock sale at James Best's booms along wonderfully. The splendid $11,000 stock of assorted dry goods and gents' furnishings, bought at 55 cents on the dollar, is being rushed off, and the people are benefitting by the immense bargains offered. Goods are sold at less than wholesale prices. The stock must be cleared off at once. Remember James Best's stand, 390 George street. d

After the Spoils.

The Inland Revenue Officer at Port Hope has been superannuated and through the influence of Mr. Gillett, of Cobourg, Mr. Bickle, his partner, was given charge of the office with a quiet understanding that he was to be appointed to the position However, the Conservatives of East Durham were not going to have an outsider placed in the position, and he has been deposed and Major Howden, of Millbrook, appointed thereto. The Major's friends congratulate him upon succeeding to the office. Millbrook Conservatives are determined that if they can't have a representative from their village they will at least share the spoils of the Port Hopers.

CHANGE OF ADDRESSES.

Any parties who have changed their residences during the past month or so, or who contemplate doing so at an early date, will oblige by leaving their change of address at the "Examiner" office, so that their name and address may appear correctly in the Town of Peterborough Directory which is now with the exception of such possible changes, nearly ready for printing. 2d

Their First Debate.

His Lordship Bishop Dowling graced with his presence the inaugural debate of the St. Peter's Literary society at the Separate school Monday night. It was an open meeting and there was a fair attendance. This was the Bishop's first visit at the Society's meetings, and he was presented with a complimentary address on the occasion, read by the President, Dr. Brennan. The debate was upon the recommended abolition of capital punishment, Mr. J. D. Mellmoyle taking the affirmative and Messrs. J. J Sheehy and R. Hearty the negative. It was an interesting debate indeed, in which the negative came out ahead by decision of the President. The next regular meeting takes place two weeks hence.

The Baptist Church.

The annual convention of the Baptist Church in Canada was held at St. Catharines last week. Mr. Wm. Craig, sr., of Port Hope, was elected President of the Foreign Mission Society. The reports of the missions were very interesting. The contributions to the Foreign Mission fund during the year amounted to $19,281.48, being an increase over the previous year of $4,062.26. There is a growing interest in the work among the people in Canada. On the foreign field the missionaries who have gone out within the year to India are already preaching in the native Telugu language. The natives themselves have organised a Home Missionary Society for work among their neighbours. There are five missionaries with their wives, 43 Zenena workers, and 96 native workers engaged in the work under the auspices of the society. One of the young missionaries has agreed to remain single and to give $300 of his salary ($800) towards the support of another single young man to be sent out as soon. The Women's Society has actively co-operated at home, having secured a payment of $900 in behalf of the seminary at Samulcotta. Rev. Alex. Grant read the report on Home Missions, dealing in detail with the condition of the 300 churches in the sixteen associations. Summing up the results, as far as figures can show them, the Home Mission churches have gathered into their membership during the year about 1,000 souls. Of these about 630 were baptised upon profession of faith, and the rest received by letter and experience. About 130 churches have received aid, and the year was closed free of debt. The report of the treasurer showed receipts of $15,902 91, and expenditures of $11,420.18, leaving a balance on hand of $4,493.53. In the election of officers, Rev. P. C. Parker was elected secretary of the Peterborough and Belleville association.

Farewell to the Rector.

The Congregation of St. Luke's Church Make a Formal Farewell to Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. The Address and Reply.

As is well known, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, has been ordered by his physician to discontinue active duty and spend the winter in a more congenial clime on account of a pulmonary affection. Ever since the announcement of their rector's enforced withdrawal, the congregation of St. Luke's Church have experienced general regret that it must be so. During the twelve years of his pastorate, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw has achieved more than a popularity with his flock. By his assiduous attention to his duties, his unremitting attention to the promotion of every church interest, he has won the unwavering respect of his flock, and has endeared himself to his people in a manner seldom enjoyed by any clergyman. He leaves for California on Wednesday, and his parishioners took the opportunity on Monday evening to bid him a formal farewell and present him with a cheque for $200 as a tangible proof of the sincerity of their unanimously expressed feelings of sorrow. The address and reply will of themselves show the pleasing relations between the rector and his flock. About eight o'clock a large number, including the most prominent in connection with the church, assembled in the school-room to carry out their good intentions.

Mr. John Burnham took the chair, and without remark announced the object of the meeting and called upon Mr. H. T. Strickland to read the following

ADDRESS :

To Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham :—

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR,—It is with deep regret that we the members of your congregation have learned that your health has become so impaired by your earnest and self-sacrificing labors in the service of the church, that it is necessary for you to leave us for a season to seek its restoration.

We cannot allow you to depart even for a short period of time without expressing our deep sympathy with you and our hope that a sojourn in a warmer clime will speedily restore you to your wonted health.

In your going out and coming in amongst us during the twelve years of your incumbency, you have shown yourself worthy of the reverence and respect in which you are held. It cannot be said that you have laid burdens upon us which you would not touch yourself, as in all things you have been an example for us to follow.

Coming as you did to us when we were "no people," you have, by the blessing of God, been enabled through your untiring energy and devotedness to the cause, to build up one of the most flourishing parishes in the diocese.

We shall not soon forget your earnest calls to repentance, your warnings of danger, your words of comfort to the afflicted, your encouragement to those who were pressing onward, and your rejoicing with those who rejoiced. Our regret is that we have not given better heed to your advice, which has ever been for our own welfare.

We wish also to give expression to the feelings of respect and esteem which we have towards your wife, and hope that the good influence she has been quietly exerting amongst us may be productive of lasting good.

Desiring to give material expression to our sympathy, we ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a free-will offering from your loving parishioners.

In bidding you farewell, you may rest assured that our prayers will ever go up for your restoration to us again in perfect health, so that we may yet spend many happy years together as pastor and people.

Signed, on behalf of the members of St. Luke's Church—

JOHN BURNHAM
H. T. STRICKLAND } Churchwardens.

Ashburnham, Oct. 22nd, 1888.

Mr. Strickland followed the reading of the address by the presentation of a cheque for $200, and added a few words expressing the intense regret the congregation felt at the departure of their pastor; he said he felt he expressed the feelings of the congregation in saying that they would stand by his successor in the pulpit and afford him all the aid and encouragement they could. He also referred to Rev. Mr. Bradshaw's able efforts towards securing a new organ for the church, which had been accomplished mainly by his own labors.

THE REPLY.

Rev. Mr. Bradshaw prefaced the reading of his formal reply with a few words concerning the invariable kindness, sympathy and support he had received at the hands of his parishioners, though in view of past favors he was greatly surprised at the practical display of their affection that evening. They had ever done their duty in the matter of salary, and besides he had their undivided efforts in behalf of the best interests of the church, which had endeared itself to him. In the twelve years he had been with them he had seen the fine buildings they at present occupied go up, and they had here all the elements of a well-founded and successful parish; and he felt that he had been instrumental in bringing about this end simply by the blessing of God. He would say that it would be difficult to find anywhere as united, harmonious and earnest a congregation as St. Luke's. Regarding his successor, he said it touched him that they had confidently left the matter of choice entirely in his own hands, and he hoped that Rev. Geo. Warren, whom they had heard Sunday, and who was the man he had selected, would please them. He could speak for him that he would do all in his power to advance the interests of the church, and he asked the congregation to give him the same warm support he had always received in the past. Recurring to the substantial progress of the church during his twelve years' incumbency, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw pointed out that now there were 240 communicants, whereas when he came here perhaps one-tenth of that number would have represented the total number at that time in the church. There had been 460 baptisms, making an average of almost 40 per year. These were practical evidence of growth. Touching the remark regarding his connection with the temperance society, he regarded it as a branch of church work, stating that through its influence many young men had been drawn into the fold. During the five years of the society's existence, its members had raised some $800, which had all gone to the church.

During his remarks, whenever incidental allusions were made to his departure from amongst the kind friends of St. Luke's, Rev. Mr. Bradshaw became visibly affected, tears bedimming his eyes and his voice becoming unsteady with emotion.

In conclusion he said his heart would always warm towards St. Luke's while away in a distant land. Some persons had said that he was going away without the intention of ever returning. Need he tell them that the statement was false? His home was here and all his worldly goods. He need not tell them how in years past efforts had been made to draw him away from St. Luke's, but they had failed. Was it likely he would leave them now, when after years of labor they were in such a prosperous condition? No; he was coming back, God helping him, to labor amongst them again. He said: "I want to be, to live and die among my own people."

He then read this reply :—

MY DEAR FRIENDS AND PARISHIONERS,—I thank you most cordially for this address, couched as it is in terms of affectionate sympathy and regard for me and mine, and pregnant with earnest wishes, which, I am sure, come from the heart, for my speedy restoration to health and vigor.

It needed not this additional proof of your kindness to convince me of the fact that my labours among you have been much appreciated—indeed far beyond their deserts, for I have ever experienced in the past your hearty co-operation and forbearance, your sympathy and esteem, your goodwill and unfailing generosity.

Much more than I can possibly express, it gives me pain to be compelled to sever, even for a time, those strong ties of affectionate regard and mutual goodwill which have bound us together so closely as priest and people for more than a decade of years. But I look forward hopefully under the blessing of God to resuming my work among you with renewed vigor in the coming spring and I shall ever pray that this, and indeed all other trials and sorrows which beset us here, may work together for our good.

To me it would be a most painful disappointment and constant grief if my enforced absence should in any way affect the work of the parish, and I therefore, in these last moments, most earnestly beg that every office-bearer, every baptised member of the church, every attendant on our services, may be hopeful and zealous and labor this coming winter, even more earnestly, strenuously and faithfully than they have ever done, for the welfare and prosperity of our beloved Zion and for the glory of her gracious Head, Christ Jesus.

On Mrs. Bradshaw's behalf I sincerely thank you for your kind and thoughtful words, and I can assure you she very fully and cordially reciprocates them.

I feel how utterly inadequate are any words of mine to express as I should wish my surprise and astonishment at the manifest and unexpected gift which accompanies your too flattering address. That it is as you say, "a free-will offering," and that it comes from "loving parishioners" greatly enhances such a tangible token of regard. I can only say, may God himself bless you and reward you for it as He only can do Please convey the assurance of my gratitude and regard to all who have signed the address and who have contributed to the purse which accompanies it.

"And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of His grace, which is able to build you up and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified. And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

In these stirring words of the great apostle I bid you good-bye for a time, and remain, ever your devoted servant, for Jesus sake,

W. C. BRADSHAW.

St. Luke's Ashburnham, Oct. 22nd, 1888.

The meeting then came to a close and Rev. Mr. Bradshaw went about among those present bidding all farewell. As he stated in his address, he had seen a good many of his parishioners at their homes, but he could not see them all, and he hoped those whom he had not been able to see would not think they had not been remembered. He thought of them all with the warmest feelings of esteem, and in his heart bid them an affectionate good-bye.

Police Court.

TUESDAY, Oct. 23.

A physician was charged with a breach of the Health Act in neglecting to report a case of diphtheria to the Board of Health. He admitted that he had neglected to report the case, but said he had intended doing so, though a pressure of business had driven it from his mind. However, he had done all that could be done to stamp out the disease and prevent its spread, and, in view of the circumstances of the case and this being his first offence, the case was dismissed.

News Nuggets.

—There is only one case of diphtheria in town known to the medical health officer.

—Confirmation services will be held this evening at St. Luke's church by the Lord Bishop of Toronto.

—The Port Hope daily Times has followed the EXAMINER's example and been enlarged. May it be as successful as the model it has so judiciously chosen.

—The committees of the different trades and labor unions held a meeting last night and decided to hold their first annual ball in Bradburn's opera house on Wednesday, Nov. 14th, Thanksgiving Eve.

The Pigeon Creek Bridge.

Yesterday the Warden of the county, Mr. Walsh, and Mr. Michael Sanderson, Reeve of Smith, formally and effectively caused the Pigeon Creek bridge to be closed. They engaged a stone machine and put two large boulders weighing about a ton each at either end of the bridge so that it is now impassable. The county of Victoria will now realize that Peterborough means business. The county and town are prepared to assist in the maintenance of this bridge, but they are not willing to bear the whole expenses. When the bridge was constructed about 1871, the town of Peterborough gave $400, the county $400, and the county of Victoria an additional $400; but this was not sufficient to complete the bridge, and the county of Peterborough expended about $1000 more to finish it. Knowing that the bridge was likely to be closed yesterday over 100 teams crossed it on Saturday, coming to Peterborough. The permanent closing of this bridge, will not be entertained. The people of the town of Peterborough cannot regard with indifference the closing of an avenue to the town, and the people of Keilly, will not be willing to be deprived of a means of coming to Peterborough. There is no doubt that the Pigeon Creek bridge is a common convenience to the people of both counties, and therefore both counties should assist in its maintenance This Victoria has refused to do, and while Peterborough is unwilling to assume the whole cost of maintenance, county and town is perfectly willing to meet Victoria half way, or perhaps even more than half way in the matter of maintaining the bridge.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

Yarns and Hosiery
—AT—
TURNBULL'S

YARNS.

There is nothing more essential to the health of the body in this changeable climate of ours than keeping the feet comfortably clad, so, in order to supply the large demand for good Woolen Yarn and Hosiery, we have paid particular attention to this department. Our Baldwin and Wheeling Yarns are imported direct from Scotland. Baldwin's Yarns are so well known we need not say anything about them, and Scotland is noted the world over for wools; so that we can show you all the best makes in any color at the very lowest prices. The Wheeling Yarn is a heavy make intended for children's and boys' wear very much like our Canadian yarn only much softer and warmer, and it comes at a low price.

HOSIERY.

You should see our Heather Wool Sox for men, knitted by the grandmas of Scotland. They may seem a little high in price, but they are really very cheap as they wear so long. We have Black Cashmere Hose in plain and ribbed in two or three different makes, from the smallest baby's size to the largest ladies, at prices that are right, as we are confident they are not sold cheaper in either city or town in the regular way. We have also a special make of Canadian Hose closely and softly knitted, without a seam. You should ask to be shown these goods when at the Hosiery counter. You will be pleased with them. We need only to speak in a whisper about a bargain we have secured, knowing that it will spread like fire when mentioned. One of our largest hosiery knitting mills, that supplies the wholesale trade only (as they have to sell in large quantities to find market for all they make), after filling all their orders, had a surplus left, which they were anxious to dispose of in order to make room to commence the cotton goods for spring. Our stock not being heavy, we were able to do with them and can now offer you an all wool perfect knitted hose, ladies' size, for 12½ cents a pair. Remember that all through the season we keep our stock well assorted, and no matter what inducements may be offered we never allow ourselves to be undersold.

Canadian and Home-made Yarns always in Stock.

TOPICS FOR CHRISTIANS

INTERESTING ADDRESSES AT THE MONTREAL CONFERENCE.

"Current Unbelief," "Capital and Labor," and "National Perils" Discussed Yesterday.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—The morning session of the Christian Conference opened in the American Presbyterian Church, under the presidency of Rev. Dr. Mellish of St. John, N.B., who opened the meeting with an address on "Current Unbelief."

Principal Barwash of Victoria University followed with a paper on the same subject, "What it is and how to meet it."

Rev H. J. Vandyke, D.D., of New York, made a brilliant address and indicated the lines modern scepticism follows.

The afternoon session was devoted to "Capital and Labor" and was presided over by Rev. Dr. Hale who introduced the question, explaining the difficulties lying in the way of an amicable settlement.

Rev. Dr. Gleason of Columbus, O., read a paper on the application of the Gospel to employers and employed and showed how a settlement could be effected only on the basis of Christian principles which inculcate partnership and co-operation instead of rivalry and competition. Workingmen must cultivate a sweet reasonableness and a quality of temper that will indicate employers to think such an alliance possible.

Hon. Senator Macdonald of Toronto viewed the question from a Biblical standpoint and held that in the Divine utterance of Christ there were ample rules for the industrial world.

George Hague took an employer's view. The law of supply and demand was as inexorable as the law of gravity, and any amelioration of the condition of the working classes must come from individual improvement of character.

The evening session was presided over by Archdeacon Evans and was devoted to "National Perils." Dr. Hall, of New York, spoke on "Sabbath Desecration" and defended the high origin of the day, its necessity and objects.

Right Rev. Bishop Fallows, of Chicago, made a fine rhetorical effort in favor of "Temperance," and Rev. Dr. Robertson addressed the conference on the "Evils of Promiscuous Immigration.

A DARING ROBBERY.

Sad Experience of a Jewelry Peddler on an Intercolonial Train.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 24.—John Williams, who travels through the country selling watches and jewelry, tells a stirring story about how he was robbed on the Intercolonial express from Pictou on Saturday evening. It was about 5 o'clock and the train was nearing Valley station, the next station to Truro on the Pictou branch. Williams was in a second-class car, the occupants of which were two men, a woman and a girl. The two men were at the other end of the car from the peddler. Suddenly a third man, who had just entered, walked over to a seat on which Williams' valise was lying, wrapped in brown paper, and picked it up. Williams rose to look after his property, and said, "That is mine." "You're a liar," came the answer, quick and fierce, and the stranger began to tear off the paper wrapping of the valise. As he did so, Williams grasped the handle. It was a two-handed affair, and the unknown grabbed the other and a tug ensued, which resulted in a few moments in the valise bursting. A small coat in which were enveloped eight silver watches and a box of gold-filled rings fell out, and these articles were strewn on the floor. As the valise burst the car door was pushed open and two accomplices of the robber rushed in, one of whom covered the peddler with a revolver and commanded him not to move at the peril of his life. Williams fell back into a seat, while the first man of the three, assisted by one of the new arrivals, hurriedly picked up the fallen watches and jewelry and crammed them into their pockets. Then they made a hasty search through Williams' pants and coat pockets, evidently looking for his money, but failed to find it, and running out on to the car platform leaped from the moving train. He says his wallet which contained about $75 in cash, was in the outside breast pocket of his coat, and this pocket happened to be overlooked by the robbers. The other occupants of the car were too frightened to help him.

THE FISHERIES CATCH.

High Prices Ruling—Fresh Trouble in the G. C. F. C.—Hon. Mr. Tupper's Illness.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—Although the fisheries catch this year will fall below the average, the high prices at which fish have ruled will largely compensate the fishermen. Canadian hook-and-line men as a rule did well but other fishermen were paid poorly. About 100 American fishing vessels took out licenses under the modus vivandi, which was more than half the number of American vessels in Canadian waters. If the mackerel had shoaled inshore to any extent, as they did last year, most of the American fishermen would probably have taken licenses.

There is trouble again in the Governor-General's Foot Guards, this time with the band, most of the old members of which have sent in their resignations and swear they will not toot another note unless Bandmaster Bonner is dismissed and a new bandmaster appointed.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, is confined to the house but his illness is not considered dangerous.

THE BAXTER WARRANT.

Nothing Done Yesterday at Montreal With Reference to the Writ.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—The argument on the writ of prohibition to restrain Judge Dugas from endorsing the warrant issued by Magistrate Denison of Toronto for the arrest of James Baxter, in connection with the Barnett case, was to have taken place yesterday, but nothing was done and it is expected that the whole thing will now be allowed to drop.

NOT GUILTY.

Jane Doyle Acquitted of Complicity in Her Husband's Murder.

HALIFAX, Oct. 24.—The trial of Jane Doyle, on the charge of complicity in her husband's murder, was concluded last night. The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," which was received with loud applause by a crowded court-room.

A Wife Murder in Church.

FULTON, Mo., Oct. 24.—A sensational wife murder occurred here last night. Jackson Emerson entered the Pilgrims' Rest Church and without a word of warning drew a revolver and fired at his wife Nina, missing her. A second shot entered the back of her head, coming out over the right eye and she fell dead. The congregation stampeded and the preacher jumped out of a second story window. Emerson is in jail and there are strong threats of lynching him. The parties were colored.

Yorkshire Miners on Strike.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Attorney-General Webster Continues His Presentation of The Times' Case.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Parnell Commission resumed its investigation yesterday. Mr. Joseph Biggar, who is one of the Irish members of Parliament mentioned in The Time's charges, made a personal request to be supplied with copies of these speeches read from by Attorney General yesterday, which referred to him. The Attorney-General promised to supply them and then continued the presentation of The Times' case. He referred to the Kilmainham Jail anti-rent manifesto which was signed with the names of Messrs. Parnell, Davitt, Brennan, Dillon, Sexton and Egan. He pointed out that Mr. Davitt was then confined in Portland Prison and could not have signed the paper. Whether Mr. Dillon was responsible for his signature would be shown. It was a matter of importance as the manifesto disclosed the fact that the policy of the league involved the punishment of tenants for paying rents. The supporters of Mr. Parnell had recently been trying to exhibit him as a man who stood aloof from the anti-rent and plan of campaign agitators. The fact was, however, that as far back as 1880, Mr. Parnell had led the anti-rent movement. In a speech made in County Kerry in 1880 he told his hearers that out of 600,000 tenant farmers 400,000 were unable to pay their rents, and he added that the Land League had plenty of money to defend those who refused to pay. Mr. Biggar also at the same period denounced takers of evicted farms and advocated the League's defending men who were to be tried for shooting these takers or for other agrarian crimes.

It was impossible to exaggerate the wickedness of the advice given by Boyton, Timothy Harrington and Father O'Leary at the Barryclough meeting in February, 1881. They had urged their hearers to the worst forms of criminal violence for the purpose of intimidating the opponents of the league. At that time Mr. Parnell and his colleagues did not conceal their sympathy with the league's emissaries in crime, nor did they take any pains to disavow the outrages which had been committed. As a proof of the Parnellite party's connection with the no-rent movement the Attorney-General quoted from a telegram dated at about the time the anti-rent manifesto was issued. It was from Patrick Ford to Patrick Egan and read:

"Communicate with Parnell and consult with your colleagues. Then issue manifesto."

The reply of Egan was,

"Your suggestion approved. Prompt measures are in progress to procure general rent strike."

If access had been obtained to the books and papers of the Land League, continued the Attorney-General, detailed evidence would have been procured to show the relation of the Parnellites to the criminal actions of members of the league. The book had vanished since they had brought the league's officers to Westminster. The Times had secured two batches of documents which showed the system of communication between the head office and the branches of the league, how men were supported who refused to work for boycotted persons and how others were paid for committing outrages. Continuing the review of the history of the league the Attorney-General quoted from the letter alleged to have been written by Mr. Parnell which appeared in The Times. He said he would not now mention names but before the case was over all the circumstances under which The Times became possessed of the letters would be explained. The names of the persons from whom they were obtained and the sums paid for them would also be made known. He might say in the meantime that not a penny was paid or promised for the documents until they had been in the possession of The Times for several months and until they had been examined by perfectly independent persons and the hand-writing tested by comparison with undoubtedly genuine specimens of Mr. Parnell's penmanship.

The court here adjourned until to-day.

The Murderer Took $100,000.

HAVANA, Oct. 24.—The Inquisidor-street crime is still a mystery. The police, with the help of the press, are doing all that is possible to investigate the matter. The murders were no doubt committed for robbery, an account books found on the premises which were kept by Mrs. Sanudo, compared with what money was found in the house, show a shortage of nearly $400,000 in bank bills. The editor of La Lucha received an anonymous letter by mail signed M. Javert, which was published yesterday, in which the unknown person says if Juan Munoz, the son-in-law of the victims, is willing to pay $25,000 in gold, he will inform the court confidentially who murdered millionaire Sanudo and wife, also giving sufficient evidence to convict the murderers. This letter, together with nearly 3000 others received through the mails by La Lucha, has been placed in the hands of the judge who has charge of the case. These letters are said to contain important details connected with the crime.

WON IN THE LISTS OF LOVE.

Boston Knights Prove That the Days of Chivalry are not o'er.

BOSTON, Oct 24.—"I've got her, and what are you going to do about it?" This was the triumphant crow of George Cowley, a young East Bostonian, last evening as, with his sweetheart on his arm, he promenaded Meridian-street. It was addressed to Howard Wheeler, and was heard by a large crowd of spectators. The indications were that a lively altercation was to take place. Each principal was surrounded by his friends, some urging one method of fight and others another. The two pulled off their coats to have a scrap in Maverick-square, but were prevented.

It seems that both Cowley and Wheeler had been courting the same girl, and that she had accepted their attentions with impartiality. In order to settle the question both appealed to her. She declared that she did not know which she loved the best. A most ludicrous scene then ensued. Cowley asked the girl, "Do you love me?" and she answered, "Yes." Wheeler exclaimed in an angry voice, "Don't you love me?" She answered, "I do, I do." Naturally the spectators laughed. The fiery youths then agreed to settle their love dispute by fighting it out. The girl agreed to accept the man who should be the victor. Between eleven and twelve o'clock, therefore, the rival lovers stripped to the skin and fought seven rounds. Wheeler was declared the winner. He had so completely knocked his opponent out that he was unconscious for nearly half an hour. Both principals were badly injured, but the victor was able to dress himself and escort the young woman who had been the cause of the battle to her home. She had been waiting within gunshot during the whole of the fight. The loser declares that he will live to fight another day.

Ackworthy's Big Swindle.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24.—Treasurer Ackworthy's shortage amounts to $429,437. The police pension fund and the firemen's relief fund, which were unsecured by bond, are gone and over $192,000 of the board of education fund goes into the shortage. This last item is secured by a separate bond of $250,000.

It is believed that Ackworthy's vessel property and real estate will inventory nearly $300,000, and the bondsmen are secured. The city will probably lose nothing as the bonds are good. It is said Ackworthy lost heavily in the recent wheat squeeze, and that he was in the Gogebic iron crash for a large sum.

THE MORMON MINOTAUR.

SHOCKING CONDITION OF THE WOMEN IN UTAH.

A Vivid Portrayal of Life Among the Saints—Mrs. Newman Sizes up the W. C. T. U. Convention in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. The convention of the W. C. T. U. was stirred up to a high pitch when Mrs. Argie Newman, Superintendent of the Mormon mission, began her address yesterday afternoon. She gave a well prepared history of her experiences in Utah Territory. Her graphic description of the shocking condition of the Mormon women in Utah elicited horrified exclamations from all parts of the Opera House. She told of two sisters, Mormon girls, one 16 years old and the other 14, whom she saw in a squalid condition, both with babies in their arms and both girls the wives of their own father. Another case mentioned was that of a man who had married, besides a wife outside his family, his own mother, his grandmother, his daughter, and his granddaughter. All these wives were living at the same time.

The National Union will take steps to ameliorate the condition of the Mormon women as far as lies in its power.

THOUSANDS GONE UP IN SMOKE.

A Big Conflagration in a Wholesale Hardware House at Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.—At 7.30 last night fire broke out in the warehouse of M. & L. Samuel, Benjamin & Co., No. 56 and 58 Yonge-street. Before the flames were extinguished No. 58 was entirely gutted and the stock in No. 56 was badly damaged. The loss will reach $100,000 and the insurance is $110,000 divided among several companies. During the progress of the fire many thousand cartridges stored in the building exploded.

Wm. Doyle, the suspected burglar from Rochester, was remanded for another week.

Yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock a lather named Wm. Watts fell from the fourth floor of the new building at No. 57 King-street west. His back struck the rafters of the fourth story, which turned him sideways. In that position he remained until he struck the floor of the second story. He suffered no serious injury further than the displacement of a couple of ribs and some more bruises. The ambulance was called and he was removed to his home at No. 110 Bond-street.

Acting under instructions from Mr. Badgerow, County Crown Attorney, Detective Inspector Stark has handed over the money which he held belonging to Knight and Vance, the pair of counterfeiters, to the assignees of the insolvent estates of the prisoners. When arrested Knight had $330.55 and Vance $140.20.

Ald. R. J. Fleming and Miss Lydia Orford were married at the residence of the bride's mother, 285 Parliament-street, last night, Rev. A. C. Curtis officiating; and at Knox Church Barrister T. C. Robinette and Miss Jeanie B. Carruthers were made one.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

The Alleged Betrayer of Emma Genereux in the Toils.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—In connection with this case it was reported that one Alfred Belanger, the alleged betrayer of the girl Emma Genereux, had been arrested with another by Detective Gladu last Sunday. This was an error. It appears that there are two brothers Belanger, one called Frederick and the other Alfred, but both are known by the name of "Fred," and on the detective going to the house and enquiring for Fred Belanger, the one called Frederick Belanger being excited by the charge, simply answered "Yes," and was immediately conveyed to the Central Police Station.

Yesterday from enquiries made elicited the fact that he had "bagged" the wrong man. He at once journeyed out to Sellgneurs-street, and after waiting some three hours, succeeded in arresting the real Alfred. He brought him to the Central Police Station last evening, where he was locked up. The prisoner treated the charge with the greatest of levity, exclaiming that he was glad he was arrested, as it would give him a chance to clear himself. He would show the people that he was not guilty. The papers had published rumors which were utterly false. The prisoner, on his way to the station, purchased a lot of eatables, part of which he shared with the other prisoner. The young man, who styled himself a laborer, was exceedingly well dressed for one in that station of life, having a well-fitting suit of broadcloth on, as well as a gold watch and chain.

IN STATU QUO.

No Developments Yesterday in the Manitoba Railway Difficulty.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 24.—Chief Justice Taylor didn't declare judgment on the railway crossing question yesterday, but it is expected will do so to-day. In the meantime matters remain in statu quo, the C. P. R. keeping a small guard at the point of crossing.

The Northern Pacific's slight reduction in rates has been met by the C. P. R.

In the Railway Committee.

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—A private meeting of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council was held yesterday with reference to the difficulty between the Manitoba Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway. Ex-Judge Clark represented the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Mr. Gormully the Attorney-General of Manitoba. It is understood that it was arranged that Messrs. Clark and Gormully should prepare a case to be submitted to the committee on Friday next.

A Farm House Burnt.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 24.—Edward Travers' farm house in Sidney was burnt to the ground on Monday morning. The family had a narrow escape.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

TRAVELS, HUNTS AND SPEECHES OF THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Preparation for the Gladstone Meeting at Birmingham—The Liberals not Also Another a Happy and United Family.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Prince of Wales returns from Vienna highly pleased with his visit, which he has enjoyed immensely. Perhaps his sporting experience are those which he has enjoyed most, for in spite of his late hours and being a heavy man, the Prince is wonderful active, a very good shot, and the sport he has enjoyed in very different from what he usually gets. So it was to him what must be a great [illegible] a perfect novelty. He has lost weight since he went abroad, and is now a stone lighter than in August.

There is a report that Murray is going shortly to publish the Prince of Wales' speeches. He has now spoken in public for a quarter of a century. Many people believe that his speeches are written for him, the Prince only putting on the finishing touches. It is obvious that he must have an immense deal of assistance, for the subjects on which he speaks are so varied that it would be next to impossible for him to prepare the materials for himself. It will be interesting to see if there is any natural development in them, or if they show the work of different hands.

I believe there has been no question on which the Prince of Wales has had stronger views than concerning Ireland. His opinions on the desirability of having a royal residence there are perfectly well known. His feelings on these matters are not shared in higher quarters, and to the Prince's great credit he has never allowed his opinions, if they were in opposition to the Queen's, to become known. He is the first heir apparent in England who never allowed whatever differences may have arisen between him and the crown to become public property.

That Gladstone's power has not disappeared is evident from the enthusiasm shown by the preparations which are being made for the meeting at Birmingham next month. In ten years since he attended a meeting in Bingley hall, at which no fewer than 15,000 persons were present. It looks very probable that nearly the same number will attend on Nov. 7. While there is no charge for admittance to the hall, which can accommodate 10,000 persons standing, the committee is charging prices varying from five shillings to two guineas for platform seats. Political enthusiasm must be very pronounced when it will induce thousands of men to stand for perhaps some hours in a hot hall. Such an occurrence was not unusual in the hey-day of Gladstone's power and popularity in the country. That this is waning, many people will be attracted by the sight of an old man of 80 with the courage to run the risk of such an undertaking for the cause with which he has identified himself.

Some importance is attached to the meeting at Hawarden on Oct. 11 of Lord Rosebery, Morley, Sir William Harcourt and Gladstone. There was something important in it, for I hear that one of the party was summoned to Hawarden by telegraph. Those who know are inclined to believe that there is some idea of Gladstone making a political manifesto at Birmingham. It is no secret that the Gladstonian party is by no means the happy and united family the world would have the world believe. The caucus managers are not satisfied with the prospects. They are dismayed by the open dissatisfaction displayed by the less advanced of the rank and file. The conduct of Gladstone and Morley in attacking Justice Day did not commend itself to many who are among their most influential supporters. This, added to personal jealousy, which is honeycombing the party, is being conveyed to Gladstone, who, it is believed, is not recognizing the fact that abuse of Mr. Balfour and his policy is not enough to command and unite his party. At all events the Hawarden meeting is regarded among the followers as the possible inauguration of a new line of policy and action.

The sale of "Frederick the Noble" does not seem appreciably to have suffered from the premature disclosures of the pirates. During more than one day last week the bookbinders found it impossible to keep pace with the constant demand of the sellers for fresh supplies. Within an hour of it being placed on the book stalls of the city two well known vendors each disposed of 400 copies. The New York Sun published the entire work after all, notwithstanding the smartness of its rival, The Herald, by the contract between the proprietors of Sampson, Low & Co. was so very comprehensively drawn that it is very doubtful whether the payment of the stipulated price can be enforced. Counsel have advised the publishers that they have a valid right of action in several cases, but it is not likely that Sir Morell, whose main object was to defend himself from the gratuitous attacks and aspersions of his enemies, will join in these proceedings.

There are pirates and pirates. An American free-booter has sent Mrs. Humphrey Ward a check for $500 on account of the profits of a filibustered edition of Robert Elsmere. This is golden balm for wounded authors. EDMUND YATES.

No Cause for Alarm.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—The Post says there is no reason for alarm over the reported preparations for the transfer of Russian troops towards the Austrian and German frontiers. It asserts that the Russian Government has decided upon these movements last spring. It also says the probability of Russian warlike action towards the west is entirely out of the question in view of the present general European situation. Russia's relations with Germany have continued to be of a satisfactory nature since the Emperor's recent visit to St. Petersburg.

Berlin Journals a Trifle Stew.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—The Post charges that M. Urnoff, the Russian Minister at Brussels, forged the letters alleged to have been written by Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria to the Czar and which caused the Czar's suspicion that Prince Bismarck had unfriendly designs upon Russia.

SIXTH PAPER.

Anne Hostein.

St. Giles' Church, which has already been briefly noticed, dates away back to the 9th century. It ought to be doubly sacred, the both Catholics and Protestants have used it as a place of worship. John Knox occupies a prominent page in its history, and many covenanters have been imprisoned within its precincts. The south transept contains the tombs of some notable personages, and in-cludes the Albany Chapel, said to have been erected in connection for the murder of the Duke of Rothesay by the Duke of Albany and Earl Douglas, as related in Scott's "Fair Maid of Perth." Many flags, the colors of different Scottish regiments, are depended in the nave. The immediate surroundings are historic,—near by in the site of the old Tolbooth, which received a notoriety as the "Heart of Midlothian." It was one of the typical old time prisons against which Howard raised such a storm of righteous indignation. On its flat roof public executions took place, and it has been described as a grim, dismal, fortid, sinister, weird, desolate hall. Another old landmark is Parliament Square, situated behind St. Giles. A portion of it was in which the body of John Knox was buried. It also contained the ancient Chapel of Holyrood and the Parliament House. The latter has undergone extensive alterations, and in it are numerous cabinets and a beautiful stained glass window representing the inauguration of the college of justice by James V.

A very profitable hour can be spent in the Signet's and Advocate's Libraries. The former fronts on the square, it has handsome Grecian decorations, a large staircase and extensive halls; there are busts, portraits, History curiosities and a fine collection of books. The latter has a great hall, also portraits, 300,000 Mss. and 350,000 volumes, quite enough to read in a life time, but at our visit was limited we had to confine ourselves with a comprehensive view of this vast accumulation of literature.

In Grass Market Square there is an interesting relic, the casket of the old gallows on which many a covenanter showed to the world that faith in Christ is a far more precious boon than even life itself. West Port a little further on is notable for the systematic murders by Burke and Hare in 1828. In wonderful contrast to these fiendish deeds was the zealous missionary work there of the Rev. Dr. Chalmers in his ripe old age. Lauvie Market has its old associations, in one house Hume wrote part of his and in another lived the leader of fashionable life, the Countess of Stair, whose subsequent history as Viscountess Primrose forms the ground-work of Scott's story of "My Aunt Margaret's Mirror." Here may be visited the Victoria or Assembly Close with its massive tower and high spire which figure so conspicuously in many of the views of Edinburgh. It is for the use of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland

With eager steps we begin the ascent to those old castle which in the ages gone by made Edinburgh the home or prison of royalty. Burns has tritely said

"Oh, wad some power the sittie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us."

But our [illegible] wonder back from their mystic land, what wonderful stories they could tell of the scenes that have been enacted on the crest of this rock which so defiantly [illegible] the western sky. The historic old structures have served many a purpose—securely entrenched within their fastnesses, kings and queens have dispensed regal hospitalities, and here was born the [illegible] destined to wear the first crown over the united nation. In its cells, nobles often lay waiting to hear the dread clang of the executioner, and its guards as they came to lead the victims forth to a horrible as well as an unjust and untimely death, and in the [illegible] soldiers have displayed the noblest deeds of martial heroism. But before all these it had a charmed name—Castrum Puellarum, or Maiden's Castle, from being the residence of the lovely Pictish princesses before their marriage. Doubtless, maidens then, as now, to come and take them on that—to the unwedded feminine heart—the most fascinating of all journeys—the wedding tour. Such are the vicissitudes of life, however, that many of them wish afterwards the trip had been indefinitely postponed, yet probably the great majority would prefer repeating it to enjoy (?) the serene loneliness of widowhood.

SIGHED FOR THEIR LOVERS

But we must leave the realms of fancy and come to realities—emerging from Lawn Market we find ourselves on Castle Hill. This was the nucleus of the early city, and even now are to be seen houses that were once occupied by dukes, earls, lords, etc. Adjoining we have the Castle Esplanade. It answers as an airing place for the citizens, and as a review ground for the soldiers. On the north side there is a tall monumental cross erected by members of the 78th Highland Regiment to the memory of their comrades who fell in conflict with the Indian mutineers in 1857-8. Leaving the Esplanade we [illegible] a drawbridge that spans a ravine [illegible] the entrance to the Castle. Here is the ponderous gun gate, and on the left of the roadway going up there is the impregnable rock itself, and, on the right, massive stone walls

DEFENDED WITH CANNONS.

A dismal prison surmounts the archway. We are now on the summit, which is some 445 feet high and about 700 yards in circumference. There is for inspection the Argyle Battery, the Armory, capable of storing 30,000 stand of arms, the Governor's House, Parliament Hall, which has been added to the merriment of loyal banquets, and re-echoed the stately tones of Scottish eloquence; the Royal Palace, in an apartment whose room of which were born that James who united the Scotch and English crowns. Another department contains the ancient regalia, consisting of a crown, sceptre, &c. The half-moon Battery, the Bastion Barracks and monster cannon, Mons Meg, fill up the space. It is scarcely necessary to add that a very fine view of the city can be obtained from this high elevation.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The deaf and dumb institutions are large buildings in which children who can neither hear nor speak are educated. They are taught by signs made by the fingers or lips. It is wonderful how quickly they can ask or answer questions. The girls learn to cook, sew, paint, do fancy work, in fact many of them could teach some girls who can both hear and speak a good many useful things. The boys, in addition to ordinary school work, learn to be masons, carpenters, etc. Some of them do beautiful wood-carving. They play ball by means of signs. It is very amusing to see them talking each other when on the run. They get as excited as other boys do. There is no swearing, no angry or bad words are heard. Can as much be said about boys who can talk?

COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the village council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening, the 22nd inst. All the members present.

Communications from several parties in regard to fire appliances, and from the city clerk, Bellevitle, offering a steam fire engine for sale, were received.

The village clerk reported the result of the vote on the by-law to borrow $10,000.00 for fire and other purposes, which had been declared carried by a majority of 37.—Received and adopted.

The Finance Committee recommended payment of the following accounts.

The report was adopted:—

A by-law, No. 145, authorizing the issue of debentures for $10,000.00, to build town hall, purchase fire engine, &c., was passed in due form.

A motion was passed empowering the reeve and clerk to investigate the title of mill reserve No. one, and complete the sale with Mr. Strickland on the terms specified in the lease held by the council; and, also, to call for tenders and dispose of the debentures to the best advantage and report to the council from time to time.

Councillors Hall and Moore were appointed a committee to procure tenders on fire engine, hose cart, hose and all fire appliances required, and Councillors Henderson and Nelson a building committee to procure the required plans and specifications, both committees to report at the earliest possible date.

NEW WHARF.

The Dominion Government have begun work at the new wharf on Water street; it will extend from the upper end of the wharf constructed during the past summer by the corporation up to Concession street, and will cost between $4,000 and $5,000. When completed it will give us all the wharf room we will require for years, and will add to the appearance of Water street besides being a great boon to the steamers now and in the future employed in the passenger and freight trade on our back lakes. Mr. John Dinwoodie is in charge.

As you will see in another column of our paper Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto advertises to be here at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th, and will have with him the usual big stock of Hair Goods. He makes specialties for both ladies and gentlemen who have been unfortunate enough to loose the whole or part of their hair. For the fall trade he has designed and constructed a great number of new and becoming styles in Frontpieces, Bangs, Waves, Wigs, &c. There is a noticeable peculiarity in the wearing of hair goods; it is a common occurrence for ladies with good, even, abundant heads of hair to wear Frontiepieces, Waves &c. You will probably wonder why simple enough. Fashion demands that the hair should be worn curled or waved in different ways, and to curl and wave ones own hair is injurious besides being troublesome, hence the use of artificial head-dresses. It is within the reach of everyone to have a presentable head of hair. Call and see Prof. Dorenwend and he will show you articles that we guarantee you never dreamt could be made so perfect. Make a note of place and date. At Phelans hotel, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24th and 25th. 2w416d

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Sleepless Nights Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty years ago, I should have saved myself years of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) appeared on my head in a few small scales less than a spot. In two months it spread over my body and gained terrible vitality. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was intense and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have skin disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel glad to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy. Large ring worm, pustules, etc. I had . . . . . Sometimes over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and to none. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. ANT most of these were three bottles of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $500.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (leprous number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

DARING AND SUFFERING.

Long practice had made us skillful in this matter, and the last two stops had shown us that the enemy could not run upon us without great care. So we divided at once into four parties. Scott and a companion cut the telegraph; Knight carefully inspected the engine; two or three ran back just out of gunshot, and heaped obstructions on the track, while the remainder worked with might and main in taking up a rail. It was here that a little occurrence took place that has been much misrepresented. A southern account, widely copied, says that Andrews' men almost mutinied against him at this place. The facts are these: The writer and the men in the box car had come to feel that there was no need of running so long before the pursuing train, which we could see to be a short one, with probably not much if any greater force than our own. Now while as many were at the rail as could find places to work—the process of lifting it with our imperfect tools was very slow, requiring more than five minutes—I said to Andrews: "We can capture that train, if you are willing."

"How?" he asked. I answered:

"Find a good place on a curve where there are plenty of bushes" (as the road had numberless curves, and ran mostly through woods, this was easy); "then let us put on some obstructions and hide; one of our engineers can run ahead a mile or two and come back after us; when the enemy stop to clear the track we will rush on them, and when we have captured them our other engineer can reverse their engine and send it in a hurry down the track to clear the road of any more trains that may be following."

Andrews said, in his quiet way, "It is a good plan. It is worth trying," and looked around in a meditative manner as if weighing the chances. Then the enemy's whistle sounded, we saw them rush up to the obstructions we had placed on the track, stop by reversing, and labor as frantically to clear the road as we were doing in trying to raise the rail.

But our efforts were in vain. The stubborn spikes still held, and as they were ready to move on again, Andrews called out, "All aboard," and we dashed away. That was not the place to make a fight, as we all knew, for revolvers against shotguns and rifles would have had no chance at long range; but from an ambush we could have been climbing into their engine and cars before they could pick up their guns, and the conflict would not have been many minutes doubtful. This was the nearest we came to what a southern account called "open mutiny"—a mere respectful suggestion in the line of our work. No officer was ever more heartily obeyed than was Andrews during the whole of this day, and none of us said anything more about this plan for the time, partly because we felt that our leader was better able to judge what was to be done than we, and partly also, I must confess, because we thought he was only waiting for the best place to turn on our foes, and that we would soon have all the fighting we wanted.

The full speed of our engine was again called into requisition as we neared Dalton, and by the aid of a few ties dropped on the track we were once more a respectable distance ahead. We needed this interval badly, for it was by no means certain that the switches at this point would be properly adjusted for our immediate passage through; and if not, serious difficulty might arise. We might have a battle with forces in front as well as in the rear, for Dalton was the largest town we had reached since leaving Marietta. Here a road diverged to Cleveland in Tennessee, where it connects with the main line from Richmond to Chattanooga, thus making a large triangle, or, as a railroad man would say, a great Y. At that time no telegraph wires were on this cross road; they were not put up till 1877. There were also numerous side tracks, and a probability that cars might be left standing on some of them; and as we had more than made up our hour's delay at Kingston and were now much ahead of time, there was no certainty of the road being rightly adjusted for us. It was therefore necessary to stop at the opening of the switch, which was fortunately a little way down from the large passenger depot, which had a shed over all the tracks, and through which we had to pass.

Here the coolness and adroitness of Andrews shone out with pre-eminent luster. It is likely that when we had spoken of fighting a little way back, his mind was occupied rather with the problem of passing Dalton, and of judging by what took place there whether the enemy was warned. The train was stopped, he ran forward, observed that the track was clear, spoke to one or two bystanders, and was back to his post in an exceedingly short time. To one or two who had come up even in these few seconds, he said: "I am running this train through to Corinth, and have no time to spare;" and nodded to Knight, who once more put on the full force of the engine—there was nothing to be gained by care in avoiding alarm any longer, for the distant whistle of the pursuer was heard—and we rushed at the depot, which then stood right across the double track, and passed with fearful speed under its roof. Here Knight got his most terrible fright. The darting into the partial darkness of the shed was bad enough, but just at the far end the main track bends sharply to the left, and the swerve was so sudden, and the speed already so high, that Knight believed he was rushing on another side track, and that in a moment would come the awful crash. But instead the engine instantly righted, and he again saw the track straight before him. But so quickly had we passed that we could not certainly determine whether the people at the station had been warned or not!

A mile above Dalton, which was about as soon as the headlong rush of the engine could be checked, we stopped again, just opposite to where Col. Jesse Glenn's regiment of conscripts were encamped in a field. Their position, which was within 200 or 300 yards of us, was probably not seen until we were close to them, and it was better to take the risk of their interference than to lose time by seeking another place for more pressing work. Again the wire was cut; but it was a second too late, for a message had just been flashed through, no doubt even as Scott was bringing it down. The usual obstructions were here piled on the track, and we again essayed to take up a rail, for the Chickamauga bridges were just above, and we wanted time enough to get them on fire, hoping that Fuller would stop long enough at Dalton for the purpose of getting his telegram ready, to allow us to finish the trick lifting. No men ever worked with more desperate energy, but all in vain; long before the rail was loose the pursuers were again upon us.

The race recommenced with all its speed and fury. The great tunnel was a short distance ahead—a glorious place for an ambush, where, in the darkness, the guns of the enemy would be of little value. If Andrews was disposed to fight, these would be the place of all others to do it. With the smoke of our train filling the space, with our party in ambush along the sides, success would be comparatively sure, if they had twice our number, for of course we could not tell how much of a re-enforcement they might pick up at Dalton. But we kept right on through the tunnel and the village of Tunnel Hill beyond, where we carefully drew down to conceal our number from the curious eyes of any who might be about the station.

CAPTURED ACROSS THE SEA.

Detective Heidelberg Finds Forger Sambalino in Belgium.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Adolph Sambalino, the confidential clerk of David Spare of 606 Broadway, who last summer swindled his employer out of $30,000 and disappeared the day his peculations were detected, was arrested yesterday on the Red Star Line pier in Antwerp by Detective Sergeant Heidelberg, who had followed him across the ocean.

Sambalino is a Belgian about 42 years old. At the time of his theft he had a wife and family living in Brooklyn. During his employer's absence Sambalino was the recognized head of the firm. He destroyed the books of the concern, and it was only after a long investigation that his peculations were discovered. His wife would give no clue, and was closely watched. She received letters from Europe postmarked Belgium, and the police made a shrewd guess as to who the writer was. Finally she sailed for Europe on a Red Star Line steamer, and Detective Heidelberg sailed the same day by another steamer.

The detective knew Sambalino and met him at Antwerp before he went on the dock to meet the steamer on which his wife was to arrive in. Detective Heidelberg took his prisoner before the Antwerp magistrate, and he was securely housed to await the extradition papers, which are ready and will be sent on as soon as Secretary Bayard has attached his signature.

British American Association.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The national convention of the British American Association resumed its deliberations yesterday morning. After some unimportant preliminaries, it went into committee of the whole to consider a declaration of principles and a constitution and bylaws. The declaration of principles of the British American Association of Pennsylvania was used as a model. It was decided to call the new organization the National British American Association of the United States.

Steamship Collision.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 24.—The steamship Atlas, of the Atlas line, collided with another craft, said to be a ferry, while coming up the bay shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The starboard bow of the Atlas was stove in. She proceeded until she was off the Barclay-street ferry when she went down nose first. Tugs rescued the crew. The Atlas had just arrived from the West Indies.

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

Every mother knows that at this season of the year, and during the spring months, children are peculiarly liable to Cold in the Head, which, if neglected, develops into Catarrh, this in time attacks the bronchial tubes, and the breath passing over the poisonous secretions affects the lungs, often leading to that dread disease, Consumption, and a premature grave. The lives of hundreds of children might be saved annually, and the existence of thousands rendered more endurable by a prompt application of NASAL BALM, when children contract Cold in the Head. As an almost instant relief for Cold in the Head it never fails, while the most stubborn cases of Catarrh will yield to its treatment if persisted in. It requires no douche or torturing and expensive instrument for its use, but is easily applied, pleasant and always effective. It may be as safely used for a child a few weeks old as for an adult, and for infants troubled with what is known as "snuffles," it gives instant relief. As a preventative measure every mother should keep a bottle of NASAL BALM in the house at all times. We append a few testimonials out of hundreds we have received from parents, testifying to the benefits their children have experienced from the use of NASAL BALM:

MRS. M. RAY, CAPDO, N. S., says:—I have used Nasal Balm on several occasions with the children for cold in the head, and always find it effects a rapid cure.

MR. ROBERT LAIDLAW, Editor of the London Evening Times, says:—Our baby was so choked up she could hardly breathe. In fact at one time we feared that she would choke to death. Respiration became more difficult every minute, for which we could get no relief by the usual remedies formerly used. Having a bottle of Nasal Balm in the house my wife suggested trying it and in twenty minutes from the first application the child was sleeping and breathing easily, and in twenty-four hours not a trace of the trouble remained. It is an invaluable remedy for children as well as grown people.

R. A. HARRISON, Druggist, Dunville, Ont., writes:—I use your Nasal Balm in my own family, and find it by far the best remedy we can get. When baby gets cold we rub his forehead and nose well at night, and in the morning he is all right.

MRS. WADSWORTH, St. Thomas, writes: I wish to say my little girl has found the greatest relief in Nasal Balm, as whenever she takes cold she has great difficulty in breathing through her nostrils. But now she flies at once to Balm and gets rapid relief. It is such a pleasant remedy and so easy to use I shall always recommend it, and think every mother should keep it on the house for use for the little ones when they take cold in the head.

MRS. KENNEDY, Clover Hill, Ont., says:—I have much pleasure in saying that your Nasal Balm has done more good for my little girl than any remedy I ever used. I believe Nasal Balm to be unequalled for Catarrh.

MR. E. G. HART, Gananoque, says:—My child was suffering severely from cold in the head, indeed to such an extent that breathing was difficult. One application of Nasal Balm gave instant relief, and in a short time made a perfect cure.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The reputation achieved by NASAL BALM from its wonderful curative properties has induced certain unscrupulous parties to place imitations on sale, closely resembling the style of our packages, and with names similar in sound. Beware of all preparations styled Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc: they are fraudulent imitations. Ask for Nasal Balm, and see that you get it.

If you cannot obtain NASAL BALM from your dealer it will be sent post-paid on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1, by addressing

It is a recognized fact that the hair is the great essential part of beauty. Where is the effect of wearing fine clothes, dresses, jewelry, bonnets, etc., if the hair is not in keeping. A thing of beauty is a joy forever, and a nicely dressed head of hair is a joy hard to discount. A nice Head-dress is the only thing that has a direct improving upon the expression of the face.

I have taken great pains this fall to produce a stock of Hair Goods that will eclipse anything I have yet offered, and I feel confident the Ladies and Gentlemen who patronize me will be well satisfied with my efforts to supply them with coverings for the head which rival nature in perfection.

Advertising Agents.

Mr. Paul Plam, representing the Dot Comedy Company, (with Miss Florence Bindley) is at the Grand Central. His company will appear at Bradburn's opera house Nov. 1st. Mr. J. R. Conner is also at the Grand Central, and is advertising Cool Burgess, who shows Saturday night.

Interesting to Ladies.

Our lady readers will be interested to know that Miss Delaney has a very choice stock of Mantle and Ulster Cloths, Sealettes and Astrachans, in fact she is making a specialty of these, and her customers are more than pleased with the style, fit and make of the garments turned out by her. 1d1w

The "Dawn."

Capt. Eden, of Lakefield, has sold his steamer, the "Dawn," to Mr. H. Calcutt, of Ashburnham, and it will be brought down in a few days by train, and re-launched in the river below the town. Mr. Calcutt, it is understood, will make some changes in her which will make her more comfortable than she now is and at the same time add to her appearance.

Careless Business Men.

The careless habits of business men account for many otherwise mysterious burglaries and other occurrences. The night watchman employed by the merchants could tell many queer tales. On Saturday night he found a fur boa hanging outside a store. A lamp was left burning in the cellar of a dry goods store. A carter left a parcel on the pavement in front of a shop after it was closed, and within a night or two two back doors have been found open. It is no wonder that business men need somebody to look after them. It is immoral to tempt burglars by leaving doors open ready for easy entrance.

The Tenth Anniversary.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Griffin invited the teachers and officers of the George street Methodist Sunday school to their house, the occasion being the tenth anniversary of their wedding, though this fact was not generally known till late in the evening. The party were well entertained, and before breaking up, Rev. M. L. Pearson, on behalf of the guests, made a brief address complimentary to their host and hostess, to which Mr Griffin replied in a neat little speech. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin have many warm friends in Peterborough.

CHANGE OF ADDRESSES.

Any parties who have changed their residences during the past month or so, or who contemplate doing so at an early date, will oblige by leaving their change of address at the "Examiner" office, so that their name and address may appear correctly in the Town of Peterborough Directory which is now with the exception of such possible changes, nearly ready for printing. 2d

Mr. Ragan at Hamilton.

The Hamilton Spectator says :—"Last night fifteen hundred people, packed closely into the opera house, saw the principal places of historic interest and of beauty in and near Paris, and listened to these scenes eloquently described and the historic incidents in connection with them, graphically narrated. The lecturer was H. H. Ragan. Even without his superb stereopticon views, his lecture on Paris, the magnificent, would have been extremely interesting as well as instructive; but the views and the descriptive talk combined formed an entertainment that was really delightful. The hour and a half that it occupied passed very quickly indeed." This lecture will be given by Mr. Ragan at the opera house here on Monday evening, Oct. 29th. d

A Minstrel Farce.

Duncan Clark's female minstrel combination gave a performance at the opera house Monday night to an entirely male audience. The house was about half full—that is, of course, numerically, for the curtain did'n ring down often enough to make the reference point any other way. Viewed from a critical standpoint the entertainment was worthless, but there was just enough "smut" about it to keep up the interest of the spectators. The songs, marches and exhibitions of living statuary were sufficiently suggestive of wickedness to satisfy the tastes of the audience. The company, comprising three men and seven women, is an aggregation of "sticks" throughout, not one having any dramatic or vocal ability; they depend entirely on the subtle attractions to the average male mind there are in glowing advertisements, calculated to raise up expectations of a racy entertainment, to draw houses where they exhibit.

A Sudden Death.

On Tuesday Mr. George A. Saviguy, a well known and highly respected resident of Otonabee, died very suddenly at his residence. He was engaged on Tuesday in killing a pig. He had killed the animal and sat down near the fire. He complained of not feeling well and of a pain in his left breast. He walked into the house, sank down on the floor, only speaking once before he died. He had complained of a pain in his left breast and had come to town on Monday to seek medical advice. The deceased gentleman was a native of Scotland, born there 63 years ago. He came to this country early in life, and living for a time in North Monaghan, about the year 1848 removed to Otonabee, where he afterwards resided till the time of his death. He leaves a widow and eight children to mourn his loss. Mr. Saviguy was a highly respected citizen of a quiet, unobtrusive disposition. In religion he was a staunch Presbyterian, a member of St. Paul's congregation, and in politics a Conservative. The entire community in which he was so well respected, is shocked at the suddenness of his death and sympathize with the family in the sore bereavement which has fallen upon them.

Look Out for Counterfeits.

The other day a patron of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce presented a counterfeit $5 bill that had been passed upon him. The counterfeit was a cleverly executed one, in which, perhaps, nobody but a teller could detect anything amiss. There may be more of them in circulation, and the following description will serve to enable people to distinguish them :—

Montreal, P.Q. $5 Bank of British North America. Check letter D. Dated July, 1877. The genuine note is dated 3d July, 1877. The date can be readily inserted with pen, and is frequently done. The face of the Queen at the right of the note is poorly executed; eyes have an outward cast; outline of nose and mouth imperfect. At lower left, Britannia with trident is poorly engraved; and a white line appears around the lower portion of shield, which does not on the genuine; also at left centre, under word "Incorporated," is a blank space, while on the genuine note two curved lines appear, which are omitted on the counterfeit. On the back of the counterfeit note in the words "Bank of British," the letters "of" are irregular. Note is about one-eighth of an inch shorter than genuine. Paper fair, and is very likely to deceive. The bank is now issuing $5 notes from a new plate having a large portrait of the Queen in the centre.

An Exception to the Rule.

These dull, dark days, when business is generally stagnant and most of the stores are empty, the bankrupt stock sale at James Best's booms along wonderfully. The splendid $11,000 stock of assorted dry goods and gents' furnishings, bought at 55 cents on the dollar, is being rushed off, and the people are benefitting by the immense bargains offered. Goods are sold at less than wholesale prices. The stock must be cleared off at once. Remember James Best's stand, 39 George street. d

A Short Visit by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto.

Gentlemen who have lost the whole or part of their hair, should remember that they can get artificial coverings to replace their departed locks. The hair is given to mankind for protection and adornment, and when it becomes thin or the head becomes bald, artificial hair should be used. Many say they would not wear a wig, this is owing to their having seen wigs that are fit for nothing, put together by persons who know nothing about their manufacture. If you will go and see Prof. Dorenwend's Wigs and Toupees, you will find them so perfect that your aversion to these articles will vanish. He will be at Phelans hotel, on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct 24th and 25th. 2w416d

Confirmation at St. Luke's.

Last night at St. Luke's Church a large class of candidates for confirmation, fourteen males and nineteen females, were admitted to the full privileges of the church, his Lordship Bishop Sweatman, of Toronto, performing the ceremony. Previous to the confirmation the short evening service was held, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw conducting. Then the Bishop delivered an address to the young people about to be confirmed, exhorting them to ever remain faithful to their vows and to make the act a real one by fully consecrating their lives, and surrendering their hearts to service of the Master. Then the ceremony of confirmation was performed, the Bishop laying his hands upon their heads and invoking the divine blessing on each one separately.

St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Corner Stone Laid To-day With Solemn Ceremonial.

The corner stone of the new structure for St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Leonard's Park, Ashburnham, was laid this afternoon with the solemn ceremonies prescribed by the rubric of the Roman Catholic Church, under whose auspices, as represented by His Lordship Bishop Dowling, the building will be raised and the hospital conducted. His Lordship was assisted by the diocesan and visiting clergy and a large concourse of representative citizens. Mrs. Dr. O'Sullivan presented the Bishop with a beautiful silver trowel as a souvenir of the occasion. As the EXAMINER goes to press, the ceremonial having been completed, addresses are being delivered by the Bishop, the local parliamentary representatives and other prominent persons.

The site of the new hospital of St. Joseph, is that of St. Leonard's, Ashburnham, one of the most appropriate and beautiful sites for such an institution to be found any where. Not only does its elevated position give a splendid view of town and country, but its salubrity—the purity of air—answers to the highest degree the sanitary conditions required in a healing institution. The plans, prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher, and approved of, call for a three story building, in the Gothic style, as becomes the site, with a basement of a height of ceiling—10½ feet—sufficient to count as another story. The main, or general, entrance is kept well elevated, but the conformation of the ground permits of the entrance for patients being on a level with the drive. The area of the building is 60x90 feet. There are four general wards—two male and two female—and twelve rooms for private patients. All the necessary accessories are provided for, surgery, dispensary, etc. Altogether fifty-two beds for patients are available. The upper story is devoted exclusively to patients afflicted with contagious diseases, and on this story are rooms for the nurses charged with the sole duty of waiting on such patients. The plumbing, heating, ventilation, and general sanitary regulations are of the most approved kind it is possible to apply. The new building, with its chaste and striking architectural appearance and commanding position, will be a conspicuous figure from all points of view, and will, it is hoped, be as a beacon light for years to the otherwise friendless and afflicted, beckoning him to a haven of help and health.

Illegal Trout-Fishing.

To the Editor of the Examiner :—

DEAR SIR,—In your issue of the 18th inst. I notice a paragraph stating that "Mr. Tobe Fitzgerald and party had been trout-fishing, and had sent to Peterborough a few days ago 91 fine trout averaging two pounds each." How is this? As the trout-fishing season closed on the 15th of September, these fish must have been illegally caught. What is Mr. Gilchrist doing that he will allow these gentlemen to publicly boast of having violated the fishery laws, right under his nose. If he neglect to act, some "true sportsman" should take the matter up and see that suitable punishment is imposed upon such flagrant violators of the law.

Yours, etc.,
TROUT-FISHER.

Belleville, Oct. 22nd, 1888.

[There has been no violation of the law. If "Trout Fisher" will look into the statutes he will find that fishing for "speckled trout" is prohibited after Sept. 15th, and for "lake trout" after Oct. 15th. Mr. Fitzgerald's catch was of the latter variety. —ED. EXAMINER.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 24.

P. M. Dumble presided once more at the regular morning levee at the police court.

"Laboring Jack" Sullivan was fined $2 or 10 days in gaol for being drunk. He went up.

Edward Tanner, who hails from the vicinity of Belleville, was picked up drunk yesterday, and allowed to go by the magistrate with a warning.

The case against T Ritchie, charged with being disorderly, was adjourned till to-morrow morning.

Another young man was fined $2 and costs for being drunk and disorderly.

Personal.

Mr. F. J. Daly, of Lindsay, is in town today visiting his old friends.

Mr. D. W. Dumble returned last night from an enjoyable trip to Texas.

Rev. D. Reddick was appointed secretary for the Foreign Mission Association in Peterborough, at the annual Baptist convention.

Dr. E. A. Spilsbury of Toronto, will be at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough, on Saturday, Oct 27th, for consultation. See card.

The Messrs. Cavanagh, nephews of Mr. T. Cavanagh, of the Belmoral, who have been visiting here for a week or so, have been recalled to their home in California by the news of the sudden and dangerous illness of their father. They left this morning.

Burning Leaves.

A citizen was grumbling to the EXAMINER this morning about the annoying and dangerous custom of burning dead leaves on the streets. Small bon-fires are to be seen on dry days burning on our public thoroughfares in all parts of the town, filling the eyes of pedestrians with smoke and constituting a source of danger should a wind-storm come up and scatter the blazing leaves. If the dead leaves must be burned, vacant lots or back yards are the place to do it. The habit seems to be a prevailing one.

At Loggerheads.

A special meeting of the town council has been called for to-night to straighten out, if possible, the difficulty that has arisen in connection with the Dickson switch line. As readers of the EXAMINER are aware, objection has been taken by the town to the removal of the gravel from the west side of the island for embankment purposes. Tuesday afternoon the town solicitor, at the instance of the authorities, notified the C.P.R. officials that no more of the gravel should be taken, and to-day work is at a standstill. A prominent C.P.R. official is expected in town to-night, and if he arrives the council will confer with him regarding the difficulty.

A Successful Operation.

A successful surgical operation was performed by Dr. Yelland, assisted by Dr. Halliday, on Tuesday, upon Master Freddie, son of Mr. H. Nesbitt, gaoler, by which the distressing deformity called torticollis, or wry neck, with which he was afflicted, is removed, and he will, within a few days—so soon as the slight wounds necessary to the operation, are healed—be able to hold his head erect. The operation, which is a delicate one, called in surgical phrase tenotomy, consisted, in this case, of severing the tendon of the contracted muscle (which held the head a-wry) near its attachment to the collar bone and thus setting the head free. The space necessarily separating the severed tendon will, in a short time, be filled with new growth the free ends of the tendon will unite and it will be as serviceable as its fellow on the opposite side of the neck. Mr. Nesbitt is naturally greatly delighted with the result of the operation, and supplied the above information. His numerous friends will heartily congratulate him on the fate of a promising lad, who has all his life of 13 years been severely afflicted, being restored.

Helping a Fellow Citizen.

The Philadelphia Press of Oct. 19th contains a report of the mass meeting of the representative citizens of Farmount (a suburb) in behalf of James F. Farley, a citizen, condemned to the gallows at Peterborough. At the meeting it was decided if the present appeal of the people of Peterborough to the Canadian authorities should fail, to engage eminent counsel and bring pressure to bear on the Secretary of State of the United States to intercede with the Governor General of Canada for reconsideration of the case.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 23.—More than $600 has been subscribed by the residents of the north-western section of this city, to be used in an effort to save James Farley. At a meeting last night resolutions were passed requesting Governor Beaver to ask the Canadian Government to show the condemned man clemency and to give him a new trial.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,126 for $10,573,777.60, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $3,207.600 00 insured under 1,840 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,969 for $14,081,377.60.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,331.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $495,831.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, or as mentioned in the report, over $1,000 for every working day in the year, and even this be believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years, hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table :—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1872 to 1876, four years	$ 54,611 21	$160,482 69	$1,140,743 60
1876 to 1880, four years	38,580 67	195,188 29	1,167,396 14
1880 to 1884, four years	136,976 84	363,264 31	2,962,934 90
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 89	475,077 24	4,029,373 65
Total in 1887	$495,831 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,573,777 60

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

TELL THAT TO THE MARINES.

No Use Dragging a Red Herring Across the Trail.

THE PUBLIC WON'T BE DECEIVED BY THE HIGH PRICED CLOTHING SHARKS.

We are Carrying the War into Africa! Our Brigades of Overcoats,—Regiments of Suits,—Battalions of Pants,—with Companies of Vests and Underclothing which we have displayed on the field, so skillfully during the last month, have terrorised the enemy, routed him at all points, and carried his fortification on the run. Our guns, double-shotted with Low Prices, have thrown canister and grape into their ranks and scattered the forces which only existed on paper. Our Victory is complete, and the agonised wail sent up is a token of Surrender to the inevitable fortunes of war. WYATT & TURNER have carried the day, and our apparatus have forever broken the Yoke of High Prices that has held the County.

We hurl back Defiance at the Clothing Sharks, who would grasp at the right of an honest and pushing firm to live and do trade. The man who wants to buy Clothing doesn't care a continental whether it is bought wholesale in Montreal, Toronto, Omemee or Pontypool; what the purchaser wants is value, it don't interest him whether the goods are sold from a plate glass palace or from a clapboard shanty, with 7 x 9 window. What he wants is Value and Low Prices. It doesn't concern the buyer whether the goods were brought in by rail, steamboat, wagon, ox-cart or on foot, what he wants is Value, Low Prices and Square Dealing. He doesn't care whether it's rain or shine, hot or cold, late or early, as long as he gets the Best Value, the Best Goods, the Best Treatment, the Best Satisfaction, and he gets these at WYATT & TURNER'S.

Our Stock is our own, and bought at a price which will compete with any imaginary 37½c Bankrupt Stock in Canada. We will sell for as low a profit, as we can sell for and live. Our competitors may howl and squirm, twist and wriggle, but they may as well submit to the inevitable that WYATT & TURNER are doing, and will keep doing, the trade of the town.

See our Stock before buying. Look at some of our prices which will be found to be LOWER than the Lowest.

SUITS from $1.75 up to $18.00. See our Big Men's Suits, at $1.75, it is a marvel of cheapness. Pants for 39c., not Overalls. A lot of Odd Vests to be sold at a trifle.

OVERCOATS, Men's, commencing in price at $2.25, and ranging up to $15.00. Boy's and Youth's Suits and Overcoats at any price you wish, an immense stock to choose from.

Men's Knitted Top Shirts, at 29c. and up. Men's All-Wool Undershirts and Drawers, all-wool, remember 41c. Fine Flannel Shirts for 35c. Home-made Socks and Mitts, 22½c.

Heavy All-Wool Cardigan Jackets for 71c. A special line of Men's Canadian Tweed Pants to be sold on Saturday, and Saturday only, at 78c.

Ties, Collars, Cuffs, Hdkfs in endless variety. A Lovely line of Carriage Rugs, cheap. Come early and avoid the rush.

SETTLING OLD ACCOUNTS.

AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE AT THE CAPITAL.

To Adjust Long Standing Matters Between Old Canada, the Dominion and Ontario and Quebec.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Hon. A. M. Ross, Treasurer of Ontario, and Hon. Joseph Shehyn, Treasurer of Quebec, met Hon. G. E. Foster, Minister of Finance, and Mr. Courtney, Deputy Minister, yesterday morning for the purpose of trying to arrange the outstanding accounts between the old Province of Canada, the Dominion and the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, which have been unsettled since Confederation. There are a large number of accounts pending between the different Governments, amounting altogether to several millions, and although many efforts have been made by the Dominion Government to have the matters straightened out no satisfactory arrangement has so far been arrived at. This time it is hoped that the greater number if not the whole of the items in dispute will be disposed of. Besides Treasurer Shehyn, Quebec is represented by Premier Mercier and Messrs. H.J. Machin and F.X. Gosselin of the Treasurer's Department, and Ontario by Mr. C. H. Sproule, Provincial Auditor, and Premier Mowat is expected here today or Friday. The conference will probably last to the end of the week. It is understood that yesterday the claims relating to the old Province of Canada were taken up and provisional arrangement made for the settlement of all of them except one item, amounting to about $500,000, for Indian annuities.

Hon. Mr. Dewdney, Minister of the Interior, emphatically denies that there is any truth in the report that Mr. Burgess, Deputy Minister of the Interior, is to be superannuated and H. H. Smith, Land Commissioner at Winnipeg, appointed in his place.

John Ross Robertson and C. W. Bunting are here for the purpose of arranging for an interview with the Government by a deputation of the Copyright Association with a view to legislation at the next session of Parliament on the copyright question.

It is understood that one of the results of the recent visit of Mr. Miall, Commissioner of Inland Revenue, to the Pacific coast will be the division of the Province of British Columbia, which is now one Inland Revenue district, into two districts.

Mr. P. J. Mackie of the firm of Mackie & Co., distillers of Glasgow, is in the city. Speaking on the subject of Crofter immigration, he said that there will be a considerable emigration of Crofters from North Scotland next year.

Mr. J. Mowat, Fisheries Inspector for British Columbia, is here for the purpose of assisting the Fisheries Department in the preparation of new regulations for salmon fishery on the Pacific coast. It is probable that the new regulations will be more stringent than those now in force.

Owing to the state of his health, Hon. Mr. Chapleau will be unable to attend the political demonstration at Sherbrooke to-day.

SHE SET THE DOGS ON HIM.

Mr. Martin's Experience with an Insane "Squatter" Tenant.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mr. Thomas F. Martin, of No. 257 Jay-street, Brooklyn, owns the English basement apartment house at No. 304 Madison-street, which was lately constructed. On Saturday an insane woman named Ellen Hardy, who is 53 years of age, moved into the dwelling without permission from any one and took possession of the second flat. Her family consisted of thirteen cats, four dogs and a parrot.

Mr. Martin visited the unwelcome tenant yesterday morning and had such a rigorous reception that he was glad to make his visit a brief one. He told Mrs. Hardy to move out, but she set the dogs on him, and the parrot bade him begone in very strong language.

The aid of the Ninth precinct police was invoked, and a squad of men took Mrs. Hardy and her family to the station house. She was placed in a cell, the dogs were shot and the cats were consigned to a watery grave. The parrot spent the night in Capt. Eanis's room.

Some weeks ago Mrs. Hardy lived at No. 846 De Kalb-avenue. The premises were burned, and she is supposed to have set the fire. About two years ago her dwelling on Lexington avenue was also burned, and the fire was evidently of incendiary origin. To-day she will be arraigned before Justice Kenna.

TROUBLED HAYTI.

Latest Advices of the Revolution—A Night of Terror in Port au Prince.

ASPINWALL, Oct. 25.—Advices received by the steamer Moselle, from Hayti, state that never before had Port au Prince passed such a night as that of Sept. 28. The night, to begin with, was dreadfully dark, the heavens being a mass of black clouds with an occasional flash of lightning. Revolution was abroad, the firing commenced at 7.30 p. m. and the cannon and Gatling guns of the palace did dreadful execution, as did also the shots from the big guns on Fort Alexander, which crashed clean through the buildings, destroying everything and everybody with which they came in contact. The firing lasted up to 6 a. m. of the 29th. As far as has been ascertained 300 persons were killed and over 500 wounded, including many women and children.

FATAL QUARREL OVER DICE.

Two Brother Bartenders Beat a Customer With Clubs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—John and Larry Dwyer, brothers and bartenders in their father's saloon at Stapleton, S. I., were arraigned in court yesterday and held for trial on a charge of homicide. Early Friday morning, John Cummings, a builder of Elizabeth, N. J., was in the saloon and threw dice with John Dwyer. A dispute arose, and it is charged that Dwyer knocked Cummings down with a club. Then his brother helped him beat the man and threw him into the street. Cummings was able to reach his boarding house, a block away. The next morning he felt quite well. He went to work, but was taken suddenly sick, and on Friday night he died. His assailants were arrested Sunday at midnight. They deny the assault.

A Thief For 18 Years.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—In the trial of Emerson & Goss, the policy dealers who got a good deal of the $285,000 which James E. Bedell stole from Shipman, Barlow, Laroque & Choate, Bedell after figuring up from policy slips and account books that were put in evidence, testified yesterday that he had paid to the defendants about $30,400 and had received about $16,177 in winnings. On cross-examination Bedell admitted that before going into the employ of the law firm he had stolen $1000 from Rev. Mr. Huntington. Bedell also admitted that he began to steal 18 years ago. His salary for the last four years had been $4000 a year, having been increased year by year to that figure from $1000, which he received in 1873, the first year he worked for them.

IS MARRIAGE A FAILURE?

Fanny Davenport Gives Her Views on This Great Question.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—The topic which is now agitating England and a great portion of the civilized world—"Is Marriage a Failure?"—was presented to the American Bernhardt, Fanny Davenport, yesterday, with the request that she furnish her opinion. This is her reply:

I have been hourly expecting my opinion would be asked upon this momentous question now upon the tapis, and so fully criticised and discussed by ministers, lawyers, artists, singers. I do not believe any one who can give an opinion should hesitate to do so; but I am certain were the average taken among my own profession as to whether marriage is a failure, the answer would be "No, it is not." Marriage, the joining of two people by a minister to live together through weal and woe, joy and prosperity, is one thing, and, so long as it is looked upon as this sort of contract, can never bring but failure. But two people mated with love and forbearance at the helm, a proper degree of consideration before marriage, looking at the life before us with the man we love, taking him under all and every circumstance and saying to ourself, "now 'tis well enough, but in time to come, when youth, passion, beauty, all are things of the past, is there that in him to still hold my respect and confidence and make him before all men in my opinion." There can be no lasting happiness without respect and a certain amount of dependence upon a woman's part. A woman who marries upon the stage requires in a husband love enough to ignore the world's petty opinions, and above all consideration for the woman he marries, for he must remember no woman in public life—a servant of the public—can be as a woman who has no tie but her home life and her husband. I cannot believe that once married, no matter what misery and wretchedness it brings, two people should drag out their lives together because married. It must kill the soul as well as body in time. Where there are children a man and woman should suffer death of every hope and ambition rather than part for their children's sake, and to keep the fathers and mother's name honored for them; but where there is no such bond, I think marriage lived together in the flesh, when the soul, the heart, the mind are two, a wrong to both and to God. Marriage is not a failure, but its abuse is. A French artist when given this question the other day, replied: "No. An actress should never marry; she cannot amuse the public for three hours and then come home and amuse her husband." This is where the mate, and considerate man, would smart and kill such an opinion. FANNY DAVENPORT.

An Epidemic of Smallpox at Keswick—Contractor Caldwell's Doodle.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, returned yesterday from Keswick, a village of a little more than a hundred souls on the east shore of Lake Simcoe, where an epidemic of smallpox has broken out. The Provincial Board of Health was notified of the presence of the disease late on Friday night, and instant measures were taken to isolate the infected houses. On Saturday there were five cases, and since then the number has swelled to eleven.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.

A Toronto Piano Agent Arrested at Hamilton—Wanton Vandalism.

HAMILTON, Oct. 25.—A. W. Graham, a well-dressed and slick-looking piano agent from Toronto, was arrested on the street yesterday on a charge of false pretences preferred against him by John Prior. Graham is a young married man about 26 years old. He sold a piano to Prior on Oct. 4 for $425, receiving at the same time four promissory notes of $100 each at different dates. Graham explained that the piano was in bond and that he would pay the duty the following day and deliver it immediately. The piano hasn't been delivered yet, and Prior has reason to believe that Graham never intended to deliver it. He also suspects that the defendant has discounted the notes. Graham told the detective that his partner held the notes. Before Prior decided to prosecute he saw the prisoner several times, and the latter always had some excuse for not sending around the piano.

Last night some one deliberately destroyed 150 feet of ornamental iron fencing in front of J. W. Bickle's residence. The fence cost about $200.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

Attorney-General Webster Continues His Presentation of The Times' Case—Imperial Federation Meetings at Glasgow.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Attorney-General Webster informed the Parnell Commission yesterday that the other side still continued to ignore the order for the production of the league's bank books. Justice Hannen intimated that if the refusal to produce the books was final, the court would have recourse to its powers to compel their production.

Attorney-General Webster then continued the presentation of The Times' case, making a further review of the articles on "Parnellism and Crime." He quoted from a letter of Patrick Egan, in which the writer sent $50 for the payment of men who had committed outrages, and said that evidence would be adduced to prove that Mr. Parnell knew that Egan had supplied Sheridan and Boyton with funds to enable them to promote outrages. He would not suggest that Mr. Parnell knew the particular individuals who were to be attacked but he did know that outrages were a part of the league system. Prior to the Phœnix Park murders Mr. Parnell neither did nor said anything in condemnation of the crime committed by members of the league. When Mr. Parnell appeared in the witness box he would ask him what he had done to put down acts of violence before May, 1882, the month in which the Phœnix Park murders occurred. The issue after the murders of the manifesto reprobating them, signed by Parnell, Dillon and Davitt, was only done under necessity. It would be proved by Captain O'Shea that Mr. Parnell objected to signing the manifesto and that he signed it with reluctance.

The Attorney-General further accused Mr. Parnell of possessing criminal knowledge regarding the use of vast funds by the league for criminal purposes. Accounts published by The Dublin Freeman's Journal gave the receipts of the Land League from October, 1879, to October, 1881, as £144,800, only £42,877 of this sum was accounted for. How were the remaining £100,000 used?

The Attorney-General was then proceeding to expand upon the support received by the Parnellites from The Irish World when the court adjourned for the day.

Imperial Federationists at Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Oct. 23.—A meeting of the advocates of Imperial Federation was held in this city yesterday. Lord Rosebery delivered an address and said the scheme for Imperial [illegible] was no dream. A letter from the Marquis of Lorne was read saying: "May Imperial Federation be the hope and aim of all." Lord Brassey in an address maintained that it was against the interests of the colonies to be severed from the mother land.

The Colliers' Strike.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The strike of the colliers is assuming alarming proportions and it is feared the movement will become a general one. In Yorkshire 15,000 workers went out yesterday.

At a meeting at Leeds yesterday, the coal owners resolved to make no concessions to the strikers.

THE GALT MYSTERY.

Hannah Boyd Closely Guarded—Her Lawyers not Allowed to see Her.

GALT, Oct. 25.—Yesterday Tommy Boyd of Hamilton, a brother of the girl Hannah Boyd, who is under arrest in connection with the poisoning of little Meta Cherry, came here on his way to Berlin to visit his sister. He met the lawyers who have been retained by Lowell to defend the girl, Messrs. Milligan and Bell. They told him it was useless to go to Berlin, as the authorities there would not let anyone communicate with his sister, not even her lawyers.

The intention of the prosecution is evidently to keep the girl away from anyone who might try to influence her, in the hope that she may make a confession or give the names of her accomplices.

The prisoner's friends have written to her elder brother, Robert Boyd, who is in Boston, and he will probably come home to look after his sister's defence, especially as her father is old and deaf and her other brother is too young to be of much importance.

Switchmen on Strike.

PUEBLO, Col., Oct 25.—The strike of the Rio Grande switchmen at this point is still on. No work has been done in the yards since Monday and the track is crowded with freight cars. CINCINNATI, Oct. 25.—Last evening John Schaller and his wife were found in their room at No. 64 Carlisle-avenue, with their throats cut from ear to ear. Schaller evidently attacked his wife from the rear, and after killing her killed himself. Jealousy is the supposed cause.

THE MANITOBA MUDDLE.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAYLOR DISSOLVES THE INJUNCTION.

A Public Meeting in Winnipeg Last Night at Which Some Wild Resolutions are Made—Mayor Genereux Present.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 25.—Chief Justice Taylor delivered judgment yesterday morning dissolving the interim injunction restraining the Northern Pacific and Manitoba road from crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway branch, and holding that the Railway Commissioner's proceedings were regular. The opinion states that the building of the line is under authority conferred on the Commissioner by the Legislature, and doubts whether under the circumstances the Court can interfere to prevent him. The Court holds that the balance of convenience is in favor of defendant and, though he regards the question as one of great constitutional import which could hardly be decided on a motion for an injunction, he does not discuss the point whether the Local Legislature had the power to pass the act authorizing the building of the road, as the matter is now before the Supreme Court.

It was expected in consequence of Chief Justice Taylor's decision that an effort would be made to force a crossing to-day and the greatest excitement prevailed. Placards were issued by the Government, calling for special constables, and a public meeting to discuss the situation was held in Trinity Hall.

It however degenerated almost into a farce, the character of the majority of the speakers not being such as to impress anybody with their importance. A Chicago tea dealer named Labbonde wanted to borrow two fire engines to squirt water on anyone who would oppose them in making the crossing. This was carried hurriedly but milder counsels prevailed and it was lost, to Labbonde's discomfiture.

Another resolution endorsing the Government and offering moral and physical aid was adopted and the meeting broke up both in confusion and darkness, the gas having been accidently turned off.

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials on hearing of the Chief Justice's decision at once sent 225 men out on the line where they are now stationed expectant of a row to-day, and in this they are sadly mistaken as the Government intend to await the decision of the court on the second injunction granted the Canadian Pacific Railway by the Chief Justice in the matter. The injunction is returnable Friday, until which time nothing will be done.

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials are apparently satisfied. No crossing will be made if they can prevent it, and they will place 2000 or more men on the ground if necessary to defend what they claim to be their rights.

THE POPE TO THE PILGRIMS.

His Holiness Says God Predestined Rome to be the Church's Capital.

ROME, Oct. 24.—The Pope received the Neapolitan pilgrims yesterday, and made an address to them. After condemning the Italian Government and stating that the hatred of all foes of the Papal See was concentrated in Rome, the Pope said: "In this city they do not hesitate to confirm by new insults, even on solemn occasions, the usurpation and violence which are within the remembrance of the whole world, degrading Rome to the simple position of the capital of the kingdom, while God predestined it to be the See of the Vicar of Christ, and it shall ever remain the Capital of the Catholic World." In concluding the Pope expressed perfect faith in the triumph of his cause.

Boulanger on Revision.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Gen. Boulanger yesterday attended a meeting of the committee of the Chamber of Deputies which is considering the Government's bill for the revision of the constitution. Gen. Boulanger expressed himself in favor of the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies and the convoking of a constituent assembly which should be independent of the executive power and responsible to the country. It should be the duty of the assembly to prevent abuses which might lead to the establishment of a dictatorship. Gen. Boulanger was pretty sharply handled by the Revision Committee, but he declined to be drawn into what he called the details. He adhered to his former opinions in regard to the senate and the presidency. He regarded the restoration of the monarchy as a sheer impossibility. Two-thirds of France, he said, would rise against it. The country ought to decide the religious question. Politics must be prohibited in the army.

Jillian Gets His Divorce.

BELGRADE, Oct. 25.—The Official Journal publishes a pastoral prepared by the Metropolitan Theodosius, in which he says that in the exercise of his power as leader of the Servian Church, and by virtue of rights consecrated by precedents, he dissolves the marriage of King Milan and Queen Natalie, and declares that it is no longer existent. King Milan, in a letter to the Metropolitan, written previous to the issuance of the pastoral, after pointing out that the ordinary laws of the country could not be applied to the sovereign, who stood above them, demanded that the Metropolitan avert the danger threatened for the Servian state and dynasty by dissolving His Majesty's marriage with Queen Natalie.

A Kentucky Affray.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 25.—At Mount Vernon yesterday John Proctor put on a marshal's badge and asked to be admitted free to Robinson's circus. An altercation followed which grew into a fight. Wm. Parker, town marshal, was fatally cut; James Jones, sheriff-elect, was shot through the right shoulder and John Brewer was shot in the head.

A Big Mortgage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—The Southern Pacific Company filed in the recorder's office yesterday a deed of trust to the Central Trust Company of New York, conveying to the latter, for the purpose of securing the payment of a mortgage of $38,000,000, all the property of the railroad company and also the property of branch roads which have been amalgamated with it.

WELL AND TRULY LAID.

The Corner Stone of the New St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Ceremony Performed by Bishop Dowling—A Large Concourse of Priests and People Present—An Event in the History of the Roman Catholic Church in Peterborough.

The ceremony of formally laying the corner stone of the new St. Joseph's hospital Wednesday afternoon, a description of which building appeared in the EXAMINER yesterday, was witnessed by a large assembly of people. The stone was laid in the northwest corner of the building, in that portion which will be used as a chapel. The foundation of the whole building has been completed, and the erection of the brick superstructure will begin at once. At the point where the corner stone was laid a platform had been erected, on which the Bishop and clergymen in attendance took their stand. It was nicely decorated with evergreens, with which the rich coloring of the Bishop's throne contrasted beautifully. The stone was suspended by rope and pulley directly over the spot where it was to be placed, and at the proper moment was lowered into position. A couple of flags floated over the stonework of the foundation, and altogether the scene was quite a gala one.

By half past two a large number of people, probably over 500, had assembled about the building. The fire brigade band was present and filled in the intervals of waiting with sweet music.

THE PRIESTS' PROCESSION.

About three o'clock the priestly procession left the house of Mr. Toole, the caretaker, and wended its way slowly to the platform. The cross-bearer and acolytes preceded, followed by the diocesan priests, wearing surplice and soutane, the Bishop (attired in his robes of office) and his Vicars-General coming last. There were on the platform, his Lordship Bishop Dowling, Vicar-General Laurent, of Lindsay; Vicar-General Browne, of Port Hope; Rev. Father O'Connell, Dour; Rev. Father Conway, Norwood; Rev. Father Kelly, Eamsmore; Rev. Father Murray, Cobourg; Rev. Father Larkin, Grafton; Rev. Father Casey, Campbellford; Rev. Father S. O'Connell, Brighton; Rev. Father McCloskey, Victoria Road; Rev. Father Sweeney, Burnley; Rev. Father O'Brien, Pension Falls; Rev. Father Feeley, Prinoville, Ont., and Rev. Father Doherty, Arthur, (Hamilton diocese); Rev. Father Davis, (Kingston diocese), Madoc; Rev. Fathers McKay, Rudkins and Dube, of Peterborough.

A number of prominent gentlemen found standing room on the platform and its approaches. Among them were Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., Mayor; Mr. John Burnham, Reeve of Ashburnham: Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.; Messrs. T. Cahill, T. Kelly, E. Phelan, J. Hackett, E. D. Gough, J. W. Fitzgerald, C. J. Leonard, Jno. Sullivan, Dr. Kincaid, Dr. King, Dr. Boucher, Hon. R. Hamilton, L. M. Hayes, T. Dolan, J. M. Irwin, Dr. McGrath, Dr. Fife, Dr. Halliday and others.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., the architect, and Mr. John Hayes, the stonemason, were also present and assisted in the operation of depositing the stone.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE.

Upon taking up their stations on the platform, the Bishop and clergy proceeded with the ceremony. At the proper time the stone was lowered into its place, the Bishop declaring it "well and truly laid," etc., using for the purpose a handsome ivory-handled silver trowel presented him by Mrs. Dr. O'Sullivan, beautifully inscribed as follows:—"Presented by Mrs. Dr. O'Sullivan to Mgr. Dowling, Bishop of Peterborough, as a souvenir of the laying of the corner stone of St. Joseph's Hospital, October 24th, 1888." The trowel was furnished by Mr. McClelland. Previous to this a number of papers had been enclosed in a tin box and deposited in a cavity mortised in the under stone. These included copies of the local newspapers, EXAMINER, Review and Times, and the Catholic Record; also a copy (in Latin) of the following document, which the Bishop read aloud to the people assembled:—

On the 24th day of October, A. D. 1888, being the Feast of the Archangel Raphael, the first stone of the chapel of St. Joseph in the hospital of the same titular saint, was laid by me, Thomas Joseph Dowling, D. D., Bishop of Peterborough, assisted by my Vicars-General P. D. Laurent and J. Browne, together with a great concourse of diocesan and neighbouring clergy, and of the faithful benefactors of the institute. Leo XIII, gloriously reigning, as Supreme Pontiff; Her Majesty Queen Victoria, ruling over the British Empire; Lord Stanley of Preston being Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada; Sir Alexander Campbell, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario; James Stevenson, Mayor of Peterborough; John Barnham, Reeve of Ashburnham; John Belcher, the architect of the structure.

In testimony whereof, we, the undersigned, have subscribed our names,

†THOMAS JOSEPH DOWLING,
Bishop of Peterborough.
P. D. LAURENT, V.G.,
(And all the clergymen in attendance.)

THE BISHOP'S ADDRESS.

His Lordship Bishop DOWLING then delivered an address, in which he said the hospital was to be called St. Joseph's, and he wished it distinctly understood that it is to be strictly non-sectarian, that its doors will be open to the suffering of all nationalities and denominations. An event of this kind was an important one in the history of the people of the diocese, because the building, when finished, would be a lasting monument to their generosity, charity and piety. He thanked the clergy who were present and the other gentlemen, particularly the Mayor and town council of Peterborough, the members of parliament and the Reeve of Ashburnham, as well as the other prominent public and professional men there assembled. What was meant by charity was the love of God. This institution was to have a chapel, and the corner stone of the chapel had been laid. It was to be also a house of charity, which meant that they should love God with all their hearts and souls. And, after God, they were bound to love their neighbours as themselves. Who were their neighbours? Mankind of all classes and description, without distinction. True religion is founded upon love, and he assured the people that in erecting this hospital they were actuated by no other motive but the love of God and the love of suffering humanity. He hoped it might long remain as a monument to the piety and benevolence of the people of the diocese, and that it might take a foremost place amongst the institutions of its kind in Canada.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Mr. JOHN BURNHAM, Reeve of Ashburnham, expressed the pleasure he felt at being present on this occasion, particularly as the institution was in the municipality he represented. He hoped the new hospital would do all the good expected of it, and as it was to be open to all creeds and nationalities, it would no doubt do much towards increasing the spirit of fellowship between the different classes of people.

Mayor STEVENSON referred to the worthiness of the institution and said it would stand a monument, when the people of to-day were dead and gone, to the benevolence and enterprise of the Bishop of Peterborough. An institution of this kind should flourish, more especially as it was to be non-sectarian. The people should, and no doubt would, liberally assist it, and he was himself ready at all times to do his share towards its support. It was a credit to his Lordship; a great undertaking, not so much in the mere erection of the building but in its future support.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, after referring to the pleasure of being present to assist on such an interesting and important occasion, said he was sure all present recognized the fact that the ceremony at which they had been assisting to-day was one of the most impressive and solemn—impressive because of the ceremony itself and solemn on account of its deeper meaning. It was a duty, he said, incumbent upon all Christians to minister to the wants of the poor when suffering the pangs of pain and disease. The building which will rise upon the corner stone laid to-day will be a monument to the sincerity of the people. He hoped that the hospital would be a great success and the means of giving relief to thousands of our suffering fellow men, for disease and suffering would always attend our poor humanity. As St. Joseph's Hospital was to be free to the afflicted of all countries, irrespective of creed, it was therefore, on the broad ground of our common humanity, worthy of the good wishes and good offices of all classes of the community. He expressed the wish, in conclusion, that those able to do so would feel it to be their duty to contribute liberally to its maintenance and support.

Dr. KINCAID pronounced it one of the grandest undertakings attempted in Peterborough for many years. It was a necessity to the people, and the Bishop had shown a spirit of benevolence and interest in promoting it. He had been in some of the best hospitals in the world, and he felt that this one would be a credit to the people of the diocese, and he was certain the general public would support them in their praiseworthy efforts. Personally he was in deep sympathy with the movement, and as a proof of it he offered to give his services free to the institution, and back it with his money.

SOME OF THE DONORS.

Rev. Father McEvay then read the names of some of the principal donors towards the hospital fund, Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan leading with $2,000; an American lady living in Massachusetts, who wished her name suppressed, $1,000; and from the Boyle estate, (a property handed over to the Bishop by a liberal friend of the church) $1,000 also.

The Bishop announced that Mrs. O'Sullivan had nobly fulfilled a dying wish of her late husband in giving the $2,000 to the fund, and he hoped God would reward her a hundred fold for her generosity.

Then subscriptions were called for and a good sum was received in $100 and $50 amounts from a large number of the gentlemen present.

The procession shortly afterwards re-formed and passed back to the house.

Thus ended a ceremonial, the importance of which cannot be over-estimated. The hospital will be a refuge and haven to the suffering and afflicted of all classes of humanity. It will be an enduring memorial to the benevolence and brotherly love of the Bishop of Peterborough and his flock, and an undying token of their practical charity—the greatest of all virtues.

A "Put and Call"

This is a funny phrase to the uninitiated, but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent. for the option of buying or selling stock on a fixed day, at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious operation to the dealer, but there is a more serious "put and call" than this: when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold and your friends "call" a physician. Avoid all this by keeping in the house Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery This great cure for pulmonary and blood diseases. Its action is marvellous. The Magic Bottle Imp.

A very amusing trick, by means of which you can cause the cost nothing. It is curiously and a brain puzzler. It will amuse up as perfectly as a firecracker, and will last for years. But as soon as you lay on its side. But as soon as you take it in your hand it will roll about, obeying your every motion. It causes heaps of fun, and wrapped in envelope, and sent by mail to any one for examination. Full directions how to make it go, and how to perform it, sent with each Bottle. Sample by mail, postpaid, 20 cents; 3 for 50 cents. One dozen, postpaid, 75 cents.

SUN

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPY OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE, MONTREAL.

Both in Magnitude and Profitableness, the Business for 1887 has been almost everything that could be desired.

The life policies now in force are 7,120 for $16,573,777.60, on 6741 lives. We have moreover $5,327,000 00 insured under 1,949 accident policies, so that the total current contracts of the Company are 8,069 for $14,061,277.60.

The income for the year shows the very large increase of $122,231.23 over the figures of 1886, the total being $695,681.54. The revenue is now half a million dollars per annum, upon consideration of the report, over $1,000 for every working day in the year, and soon this will be believed was but a mere introduction to what it will be in a few years hence. The gains from time to time are well illustrated by the following table:—

Period	Gain in income.	Gain in assets.	Gain in assurances.
1873 to 1878, four years	$ 84,611 21	$169,482 60	$1,140,743 60
1878 to 1883, four years	82,580 07	186,186 93	1,167,326 14
1883 to 1884, four years	126,976 84	283,264 21	2,922,924 60
1884 to 1887, three years	217,451 59	475,977 34	4,068,273 46
Total in 1887	$495,621 54	$1,750,004 48	$10,573,777 60

It is very pleasing to notice that the gains for the last three years only are 60 per cent. more than those of the preceding four years.

DARING AND SUFFERING.

At Calhoun Fuller had received a small but very effective re-enforcement—only a boy thirteen years old, but worth a dozen of ordinary men—by means of one of those apparently small circumstances which often influence the course of great events. At Chattanooga the chief officers of the road had become alarmed by receiving no dispatches from Atlanta, or the stations below Kingston. They therefore directed the young assistant operator at Dalton to jump on the passenger train just then leaving that station and go south, sending them back word at each station passed till the cause of the trouble was found. He had only got as far as Calhoun when Andrews passed, and Fuller in a moment after. The latter hardly came to a stop before he saw the operator, and called him, and without a word of explanation seized his hand and dragged him on the train. In the run up, however, he made all the necessary explanations, and wrote out the following dispatch:

FULLER'S TELEGRAM.

"To Gen. Leadbetter, commander at Chattanooga:

"My train was captured this a.m. at Big Shanty, evidently by Federal soldiers in disguise. They are making rapidly for Chattanooga, possibly with the idea of burning the railroad bridges in their rear. If I do not capture them in the meantime, see that they do not pass Chattanooga.

"WILLIAM A. FULLER."

This he gave to the operator, saying, "Don't speak to anybody or lose a second till you put that through to Chattanooga. Jump for the platform when I slow up, for I must push on and keep those Yankees from getting up a rail or burning the bridges."

It was terribly quick work. The operator was at home in the office, and almost before Fuller had cleared the shed he was at the desk and the first words were over the wires. Whether they had time to get the whole message over before the cut is very doubtful, and not material, for the first two lines would answer every purpose. Had Fuller stopped at this point, and himself went into the office long enough to set the operator at work, it is almost certain we would have had the rail up, and then all the bridges above that point would have been burned; though it is still possible that enough of the message might have been pushed through to secure our arrest in Chattanooga. This was another striking instance of the many narrow margins on which this day hinged.

As Fuller pressed on toward the great tunnel, even his resolute heart almost died within him, while all his party began to blame him for foolhardiness. He feared to plunge into its dark depths. It was still filled with smoke from our engine; and he well knew that if we jumped off at the far end and hurled back our locomotive at him, it meant a horrible death to every one on his train; and he was by no means sure that we would not do it. Mr. Murphy, who had so ably stood by him all the while, here counseled prudence, pointing out all the perils of an ambush. But Fuller realized as apparently no one else did the desperate need of pressing on to save the road; and he had made so many escapes and been so marvelously favored, that a kind of fatalism took hold of him. He determined not to lose a minute, no matter what the danger might be. It may as well be said here that no prudent and common sense kind of pursuit, such as possibly any other man would have employed, could have had the slightest chance of success. But even Fuller quailed as they dived into the cloud of smoke that hung around the entrance of the tunnel, and held his breath for a few seconds (they were still at full speed), till he saw with a sigh of relief a gleam of light ahead and knew that there was no other engine now in the tunnel! On he pressed, for he knew the value of the Chickamauga bridges ahead as well as we did.

CHAPTER XII.

A BURNING CAR.

But for the wetness of the day all his efforts even yet would have been foiled. We now did what had been in the mind of Andrews, doubtless, for some time past—what he might have tried even at the Oostenaula bridge had not the interval between that and Calhoun been so fearfully short. He ordered us to fire our last car while we were running. It was said easily, but was much harder to do. Everything about the car was as wet as it well could be. The rain fell in torrents, and the wood was drenched in the tender. It was by no small effort and skillful firing that the engine fire could be kept at the heat required for fast running. But desperate fingers tore everything combustible loose from the car, and smashed it into kindling. Some blazing fagots were stolen from the engine and the fire made to burn. The rapid motion with driving rain was an obstacle at first, but as we fed up the blaze and sheltered it as well as possible, it grew rapidly, till soon but one could stay on the car and watch it, and all the others crowded on the tender and locomotive. The steam was now gradually shut off that we might come slowly upon the bridge and be able to leave the burning car just at the right place. We came to a full stop at this first Chickamauga bridge, a large one, and well covered. Inside it was at least drier than on the outside, and we doubted not that with time it would burn well. The only question was: "Will that time be given?" We added almost the last of our oil and nearly the last stick of wood—knowing that a wood station was not far ahead, and if this bridge could be made to burn well, we could have all the time we wanted to get wood and everything else. In fact we put life itself on this last throw, and left ourselves, in case of failure, hopelessly bankrupt. For a considerable time, as it seemed to us, though it must have been measured by seconds rather than minutes, we remained on the other side of the fire watching. Then the lamentable smoke of the fire was seen; the pin connecting the burning car with our engine was pulled out and we slowly moved on. Too clearly we saw the rain of all our hopes! To wait the coming of our foes was vain. They were now near at hand, and we could see their guns, with which they would be able to fight us at long range. The car which, if the day had been dry, would long before this have filled the bridge with a mass of roaring flame, was burning faster than the bridge. To take it to another bridge was useless, for the drenching rain would have given it little chance to burn away from the shelter of the bridge. Very sadly we left the tall column of smoke behind. The pursuers saw the car, and realizing how serious their loss would be if it was permitted to consume the bridge, they pushed right into the smoke and shoved the burning car on to Ringgold, but a short distance ahead, where it was left to smoke and sputter in the rain on the side track.

KINDLING A FIRE IN THE BOX CAR.

LABBY'S LETTER.

The Failure of the Royal Bear Hunt—The Kaiser and the Vatican.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The real cause of the failure of the royal bear hunts in Transylvania was that the peasants had carefully driven the creatures away from the places where the Crown Prince of Austria and the Prince of Wales were to shoot. There were a large number of bears on the ground only a few days before the royal hunt, but when the sportsmen arrived on the scene all had departed to the recesses of the neighboring mountains. The people of Transylvania detest both the Austrians and Hungarians, and whenever a great hunt is announced they deliberately drive the bears and deer to a distance, so that, as a rule, the sporting arrangements of the territorial magnates are kept secret.

Emperor William's visit to the Vatican was certainly not a success, for a well-informed person writes to me from Rome that directly the Pope and the Emperor were left alone his holiness abruptly commenced to discuss the temporal power question, and would not be diverted from it, so that the young Emperor, who is acknowledged, even by the pontifical entourage, to have displayed much cleverness and tact in answering the Pope, was obliged to stop the debate by asking permission to present Prince Henry, who at that very instant suddenly entered the room. It was noticed that the Emperor drove direct from the Vatican to the Quirinal, which was a plain proof of his displeasure, as arrangements had been made, in order to soothe the papal susceptibilities, for His Majesty to change carriages at the Palazzo Capranica. Two of the principal telegraph officers were almost exclusively occupied the day after the Emperor's visit to the Vatican in transmitting cipher messages to and from Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe.

King Humbert's gift to Emperor William was quite unique, being a series of models of the remains of the men, women, children and animals in the famous Pompeiian museum, which have been taken by the well-known sculptor, Achille Dorsi, who has been engaged several months on the work, and the museum has been closed to the public in consequence. These are the first models that have been taken of the bodies in the museum.

I have learned, in a rather round-about way it is true, but still from a thoroughly trustworthy source, that Empress Frederick is greatly pleased with Sir Morell's publication, and that she has written a letter of nearly twenty pages to tell him so.

Mr. Bryce, M. P., who is going to India for a few months for the benefit of his health, has completed an elaborate work on the American constitution, on which he has been engaged for several years. It will be published in a few weeks by MacMillan & Co., in three volumes.

Paul du Chaillu's great work, The Viking Age, which will be published next month in two large volumes, will have 1,200 illustrations. It will be published simultaneously in England and the United States.

John Ruskin has arrived in Venice, and is staying for a few weeks at the Hotel de Europe. This is his first visit to Venice since nearly twelve years.

is an exclamation heard every hour in the day. Toothache is the most common ailment of young and old, and in the aggregate inflicts more suffering than perhaps any other single complaint. A one minute cure is what every person desires to possess. Nerviline—nerve pain cure—acts almost instantly in relieving the agony, and as a sample bottle affords a quantity sufficient for 100 applications, 10 cents hits the bill. Polson's Nerviline is the only positive remedy for toothache and all nerve pains. Sold by druggists and all dealers in medicine 6dw43

The bridesmaids were Miss Swan, of Woodstock, and Miss Eva Kennedy, daughter of Mr. Warring Kennedy, Toronto. The groomsmen were Mr. F. G. Cox and Mr. D. King, jr., of J. D. King & Co., wholesale boot and shoe manufacturers. The presents were very numerous and elegant, a number of beautiful gifts testifying to the esteem and good wishes of the Peterborough friends of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Cox left for New York on a wedding tour. Upon their return to the Queen City they will take quarters at the Rossin House for the winter, pending the completion of their handsome new residence at 140 Isabella street, which will be ready for occupation by April or May next. MULTUM IN PARVO!

A Big Discussion Over a Small Matter.

The C.P.R. Company Given Carte Blanche to Use the Gravel on the Island—The Spur Must Not be Stopped for the Sake of a Couple of Hundred Dollars—So Says the Town Council.

A special meeting of the council was held Wednesday night, at which there were present Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. Hartley, Kendry, Langford, Douglass, Moore, Yelland, A. Hall, E. H. D. Hall, Davidson and Cahill.

It was pretty well known that the meeting had been called for the purpose of dealing with the difficulty arising over the appropriation of the gravel on the island in the river on which the C.P.R. company was building their spur line, for embankment purposes. Among the spectators present interested in the question were Messrs. T. G. Hazlitt, Maldrum and Davidson, D. W. Dumble, W. English, A. Dawson, E. E. Wood, solicitor, and others.

Mayor STEVENSON briefly stated the facts of the case. The C.P.R. company were building a switch line up the river and were crossing an island on the east side. They were cutting down the island on the west side and using the gravel for making their roadbed. The other day some members of the Street and Bridge Committee had come to him complaining that the property of the town was being carried away without compensation, and on their representations he had gone with them to the town solicitor and instructed that officer to notify the company to stop using the gravel. The railway company had, of course, quit work, but the foreman in charge informed him that he has no power to purchase the gravel, but that he understood the town was giving it to the company. Neither did the solicitor in Toronto have authority to pay for the gravel being used, and probably the only man who did was the President, Mr. Van Horne, at present in British Columbia. If work was stopped now, the foreman says, no more could be done this fall, for by the time the matter was considered at headquarters it would be too late to go ahead any further. The matter therefore resolved itself into this—the town would have to give the company the gravel they wanted or the spur would not be built this year.

THEIR OPINIONS.

Several of the councillors expressed their views.

Messrs. Moore, Hartley and Kendry were strongly in favor of giving the company what they wanted. They considered it poor policy to oppose the building of a switch line that would be of such advantage to the manufacturing interests of the town, for the paltry sum involved in the cutting down of an island which, at most, was not worth more than $100. Messrs. Kendry and Moore thought the committee had undertaken too much in notifying the company to stop work; the former said he had got no notice of the meeting at which this action had been taken.

Some lively cross-firing followed Mr. Moore's enquiry as to who had requested the solicitor to make the demand upon the railway company. No one in particular appeared to be responsible.

MR. DOUGLASS gave it as his opinion that the C.P.R. company was not being so badly used. They were he said always trying to get out of paying for what they got, and as it was a rich concern that had cost the country fifty millions and had made the fortunes of many men, he thought they would be able to pay a couple of hundred dollars for the island. It might be known that they were working for their own interests in this matter and not for the town.

MR. YELLAND favored giving the company the gravel; it was of little value and it would much improve the river if it was removed and the channel widened. He pointed out the great advantages railway facilities were to a town.

THE MAYOR'S VIEWS.

Mayor STEVENSON then gave his account of the action of the Street Committee and himself in prohibiting the work, in which he had acted solely upon the representations of the members of the committee who came to him. Himself and Messrs. Langford and E. H. D. Hall had given the solicitor instructions; but since he had looked into the matter, the Mayor said, he was sorry that he had anything to do with it. It was, he said, the patriest thing he ever saw a man engaged in, and he was not afraid to say so. He condemned the spirit that would attempt to stop a railway line for the sake of a few dollars' worth of gravel. He enlarged upon the advantage of railways to our manufactories, and said it looked as if this might be a matter of spite, for a few years ago Ashburnham was allowed to draw away all the gravel it wanted without a word of opposition, while, when a railway that will perhaps be the means of bringing new factories into town, wants to use it, there is a big fuss over it. He could say, further, that from his talks with the C. P.R. people, he believed that in a few years they intended building several tracks along the switch line and making it an important siding. Then the line was wanted by some of our most enterprising manufacturers, and every shipping facility should be given them. He pointed out that there was a flouring mill on the Dickson race doing a bigger business than any other mill anywhere near here, and where a higher price was paid for wheat than any place in the Dominion. Such firms deserved every encouragement, and a switch line that would vastly benefit them should not be stopped by the town for such a trifling consideration.

Mr. LANGFORD, chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, made a statement also regarding the action of the committee, in which he stated that those members of the committee who had enquired into the matter, including the Mayor, had thought it best to prohibit the using of any more gravel until the council considered the question. Personally, he was of opinion that the C.P.R. company were looking forward to making the island of benefit to themselves in the future, and were not doing this simply for the town.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Mr. E. H. D. HALL didn't favor putting any obstacle in the way of the railway line, but the affair stood just this way—the company were using up the town's property, without giving any compensation therefor. The principle was bad. He proposed to introduce a motion that would get over the difficulty by providing for the return of an equivalent. The whole idea of the council had been that this gravel should be taken from the west side of the island to fill in the eastern channel and make a valuable esplanade; this motion, giving the C. P. R. the present use of the gravel, would enable them to return a like quantity when their line was built, to the place where the other was taken from, and it could then be utilized in filling as desired. His motion, seconded by Mr. Langford, read:—

That if the C. P. Railway will give an undertaking, binding on them to replace the same quantity of material that they may remove from the island and the Otonabee river, on the west side of the siding now being built to the Dickson race, at such time and place as the council may require, that they be allowed to remove the island.

OUTSIDE OPINIONS.

Mr. T. G. HAZLITT was given a hearing. He said he had taken precautions against the railway company having control of the street along the Dickson race, by building the line himself from Hunter street to the mills. This of course meant a heavy expenditure for him, but he was in earnest and wanted to see the line built. The C.P.R. line came upon his premises on exactly the same terms as the G.T.R.; neither line had any control. The town should not stop the line on account of the gravel, which by backing up the ice in the river in spring caused the mill-owners damage. It would be better for them were the island removed entirely. The time the council had taken with a small extent of gravel was costing more than the whole amount of money involved, but from the spirit shown towards them. He did not want to see the line stopped, and if the gravel was of such value to the town that they would feel the loss severely, he would give $100 himself for the island.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE urged the council to adopt a liberal policy, and dilated upon the immense advantages a town might reap from it. It was, he believed, the impression that the building of the line would lead to the ultimate filling in of the eastern side of the island, by which the town would become possessed of valuable land. He believed also that the sawdust made at Mr. Hazlitt's mill could be used for filling in, and easily got there by running it down through pipes. (Mr. HAZLITT—Yes, that's quite practicable.) That would fill it in in a short time. Mr. Dumble urged the council to adopt the most liberal policy they could; he would rather have the good will of a railway company than a couple of hundred dollars.

Mr. DOUGLASS pointed to the difficulty in Manitoba, where men were placed to prevent any other line from crossing their route, as a sample of the "liberal policy" of the C. P. R.

Mr. E. E. WOOD was given a hearing. He said he wanted to set his client, Mr. A. Dawson, right in the matter. This objection had been mentioned in his letter to the council simply at the request of a number of people who understood the company were using the gravel without permission and should at least have asked the council for it. Personally, Mr. Dawson would rather see the river widened by the removal of the island.

MORE MOTIONS.

Mr. Moore moved, seconded by Mr. Kendry, that the Ontario and Quebec railway company be permitted to take gravel and soil from the island in the river Otonabee at Peterborough for a roadbed or embankment, without charge, for their railway at or near that point, the company taking the gravel on the eastern side of the island in a proper manner, and that the seal of the town be affixed hereto.

Mr. DAVIDSON in presenting the following motion said the water privileges along the front were too valuable to give away, and by selling the island to the company, and providing that they cut it down below low water level, so to make a good stream at all times, which could be easily got at by letting the water off at the locks, the town would be benefitted as well as the railway. His motion read:—

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Douglass, that the corporation sell the island in the Otonabee river to the C.P.R. Company for the present proposed siding for the sum of $200, provided they take the gravel or earth one foot below the low water mark.

Objection was taken to this by several on the ground that it would take too much time for the matter to go to headquarters, and the result would be that the line would be stopped altogether.

Mr. Moore incorporated in his motion a clause to meet Mr. Davidson's views as follows:—"and with a clean cut, so as to permit a free flow of water at low water mark."

Mr. CAHILL commended the scheme for filling in the island with sawdust, and as the front would soon be valuable, especially when the Trent Valley Canal was completed, the question of proprietorship should be settled now. If the island was sold to the C.P.R., they would own it. But he would not advise selling the island, but favored having the eastern side cut down to widen the river.

Mr. HAZLITT added some words emphasizing his former remarks, coinciding with Mr. Cahill's views regarding the selling of the island. As regarded the filling-in scheme, he would go so far as to say that he would give them all the material free of cost if the town would supply the machinery to convey it down.

The motions were then put, Mr. Davidson's was lost, only the mover and seconder voting in its favor. At the request of Mr. Cahill, Mr. Moore's motion was further amended by adding "that nothing in this resolution shall be understood or construed as giving the railway company any right, title or interest in the said island beyond the right of way."

The motion as amended was carried and the council adjourned.

Political Address at Young's Point.

Mr. Stratton, M.P.P., Banquetted by His Friends of North East Smith.

On Tuesday evening Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., addressed a largely attended meeting of his constituents at the school house, Young's Point. Notwithstanding that the evening was a very disagreeable one, dark and wet, the building was well filled. Mr. Michael Sanderson, Reeve of Smith, occupied the chair and made a few introductory remarks anent the benefit meetings of this kind were to the people who had not the opportunity of becoming conversant with the doings of the Legislature. At the conclusion of the meeting an adjournment was made to Mr. Kearney's hotel, where Mr. Stratton was banquetted. Between fifty and sixty of the prominent residents of the vicinity were present and several from Peterborough and Lakefield, who had been invited for the occasion. The dining hall was nicely decorated with evergreens and mottoes, and a banner inscribed with the words "Welcome to Mr. Stratton," in gold letters suspended from the chandelier.

The repast was gotten up in Mr. Kearney's well known good style and did every credit to the house. Mr. C. Young presided at the feast, with Messrs. Wm. Graham, Richard Anglesy and Josiah Bullock in the vice-chairs. On the right of the chairman sat the guest of the evening and on the left the Reeve of the township, Mr. Sanderson.

The usual programme of loyal and patriotic toasts were proposed, duly honored and responded to. Nearly all the speakers referring to the amount of time and labor Mr. Stratton had expended upon his duties as representative of this constituency in the Local Legislature.

Mr. Stratton expressed his gratification at this token of their esteem, which, in connection with the many other evidences of good will he had received from all classes in the constituency, were to him evidences of their recognition and appreciation of his efforts to serve them faithfully

The festivities ceased about one o'clock, all concerned congratulating themselves upon the pleasant evening they had enjoyed.

Personal.

Rev. W. C. Bradshaw left last night for Denver, Col., where he will rest a while before proceeding to California. Mrs. Bradshaw left for Winnipeg. Both went via the C.P.R.

Mr. C. W. Hawley has been removed from the Ontario Bank here and promoted to a higher position in the Aurora branch. His place here is taken by Mr. Turnbull, of Toronto.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., is in Toronto to-day accompanying a deputation that will interview the government upon certain matters of interest to a portion of the constituency.

There is a practice among the portion of the habitues of our theatres that is fast becoming a nuisance, and which the good sense of the majority should frown down. There can be no necessity five minutes before the curtain falls for men to begin putting on their overcoats and rushing out of the building. Most of the audience like to hear and see the finish of a piece; and it is only an act of ordinary courtesy to those who on the stage have been working very hard for their amusement to have the good feeling to sit still until the close.

News Nuggets.

—F. C. Adams shot four tagless dogs this morning.

—Work is being continued on the C.P.R. river spur.

—At the police court this morning, T. Ritchie was committed to gaol for 20 days in lieu of payment of fine of $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. Another drunk was dismissed.

—Fetherstonhaugh & Co. make a handsome display of seal fur in one of their windows. Horn furniture upholstered in seal, seal cosques, moccasins, etc., and the animal from which the fur is taken, make a pretty display.

—The charge of violating the early closing by-law against Mr. H. Best was dismissed to-day by P.M. Edmison, he holding that while the by-law should be strictly interpreted, in view of the doubtful evidence and the fact that this was the first case of the kind, no conviction should be made. It was understood, however, that the next offender would not be so leniently dealt with.

The Oldest Freemason.

Hon. Samuel Chipman, of Cornwallis, is 99 years old to day, and is the oldest Freemason in the world, having been initiated in 1817.

The A.C.A. Meet.

The Brockville Recorder says:—Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, of Peterborough, one of the committee of the A.C.A., arrived in Brockville last night, and will be joined here today by Commodore Rogers, of Peterborough, and S. Britton, of Lindsay. To-morrow they will go to Gananoque and will inspect several locations on the St. Lawrence proposed as suitable for the next meeting of the A. C.A. The committee recently visited Rideau Lake, and it is more than probable that they will report in favor of that spot.

The New C.P.R. Siding.

About a hundred men are to-day again working on the C. P. R. siding. Most of them have to stand and work in the water, but those suffer no inconvenience who bought their boots of gough bros., for their feet are kept dry and these same boots cost only half what the high price dealers charge. Come on, come—a $7,000 stock of first class, tip-top boots and shoes selling at gough bros. at less than half wholesale cost. Now is the time—don't delay Indian summer won't last for ever, and you will soon need good boots and shoes.

Hospital Donations.

In addition to the list of donations to the new St. Joseph's Hospital published in our report of the laying of the corner stone, the following gifts are acknowledged by the Bishop:—Dr. Kinoaid and Messrs. J. W. Fitzgerald and Jas. Nevin, $100 each; $50 subscriptions—Jas. Stevenson, a friend, John Lynch, sr., E. D. Gough, John Garvey, London, Ont.; Francis Garvey, town, $25; twenty dollar amounts—Rev. Father Davis, Madoc, J. E. Belcher, and a friend; ten dollar amounts—Jno. Burnham, Very Rev. Dean O'Connor, Perth, P. Hamilton, M. H. Lehane, and Mrs. A. Letellier; $5 amounts—Father McIntee, Oshawa, Hon. R. Hamilton, L. M. Hayes, J. H. Burnham, J. Toomey, Fenelon Falls, Jas. Sullivan, Ashburnham, and Rev. Father Twohey, Westport. The clergy of the diocese and several members of the congregation also contributed liberally, and as many others intend to subscribe, the names will be deferred till some future time.

The Physicans who attended the Emperor Frederick having said their worst about one another, it is to be hoped that the discussion will cease. The profession has certainly suffered in public estimation by the display of rancor, jealousy and distrust on the part of some of its most prominent members towards one another. The parties on each side, are, according to the other, ignorant and false and pretensious. However skilful he may be, English people will not regard Dr. Mackenzie as a favorable specimen of the British physicians as regards reticence, courtesy and self-command. So many prominent German doctors have, more or less gratuitously, taken a hand in the hideous fight over the dead body of their Emperor that their conduct cannot be regarded as exceptional in German physicians.—Witness

TEXT: "GOOD GOODS, SMALL PROFITS."

MY HEARERS,—You need not cry or weep any longer, by being afraid of being taken in by some High Priced Clothing Sharks, as the young and pushing firm of WYATT & TURNER have at last got their hooks on the neck of the Wonderful Cormorants. You need not spend your money until you see what this firm is doing, and if, my friends, you cannot get as good, and I will say, better bargains there than any where else, then by no means buy one cent's worth; and if you do not buy, they will not send a boy to follow you, to see if you go into a competing house to buy; they do business on the Square, and besides, sell Fine Goods and No Sheddy. No Slop Work, all their goods I am told, is examined and re-examined before going out of the store. Now, my hearers, if this be true, and I believe it is, you need not be afraid of being GULLED or taken in in any way by this firm. I need not quote prices, as you know prices are all right; but when some people buy a few dollars worth of goods at a price, and then try to make the public believe that they bought them for half what they paid for them; and not only this, but they also double the quantity they bought. Now, my hearers, figures will lie if you wish to make them, but when the firm of Wyatt & Turner say they sell a suit of Men's Clothing for $4.75, you can rest assured they do, or if they sell All-Wool Shirts and Drawers for 45c., who's business is it but their own; as long as you get a $1.25 All-Wool Cardigan Jacket for 75c., go by all means and buy it, and be made happy. By the way, I almost forgot to tell you that they have OVERCOATS from $2.50 up to $15.00. Now, in the last place, I would say briefly, my dear hearers, that WYATT & TURNER, are the Cheapest Clothiers on Earth.
